Two St. Paul farmers started the "seed roll-up" by purchasing the first shares in the St. Paul Municipal Seed Cleaning Project, the first, Mr. Chauvet, is seen receiving the receipt for the initial share from Mr. Lamoreux, Secretary of the Board of Directors. On the right, Mr. G. Lamoureux, another director, looks on. Over $50,000 has been subscribed to date, $25,000 is expected from Mr. Elliot Pearson, Secretary-Treasurer of the Alberta Government Treasury Branches, and the remainder will be sought from the district. The directors are now on the field selling shares, for a $50,000 plant equipment, to be constructed and the personal guarantees of the district and signed by the Municipal District and the personal guarantees of the district and signed by the Municipal District and the personal guarantees of the district and signed by the Municipal District

IT'S A BOY!

Born Monday June 13th, weighing 8 lbs 13 oz. Both mother and son are doing fine. We haven't named him yet. The time allotted for writing this column was spent racing around the corridors of the St. Theresa Hospital. Dr. Dewease tells me that from the busy hum he hears each week after being born he shows every indications of being a good politician. Will have an article next week.

QUINTS COME INTO FORTUNE BY COMING OF AGE

On the occasion of their 21st Birthday, May 28, four of the world's most famous sisters, the surviving Dionne quintuplet,—Annette, left, Marie who has since left convent because of ill health, Yvonne and Cecile—came into a $1,500,000 fortune. Emilie, the eighth whom death snatched the world 10 months ago, was, as a child, prevented from spending the money she earned with her sisters as a child movie star and co-endorser of innumerable products. So by law, her portion will be divided equally among the 14 members of her family by riding the Dionne parents and their identical sisters. The coming of age for these girls means freedom for the first time from Dion Dion Island on a farm at Callender, Ont., from both government and parental domination.

Planing Motor On Boat

Putting a motor on a boat is rudimentary step in boating, but because it is so frequently done improperly, Outboard Marine & Mfg. Co. of Canada Ltd., offers the following suggestions on the subject.

Place the motor squarely on the boat's transom, and tighten the screws securely by hand. Never use a wrench.

Use a rubber chain or rope, attaching it to both the motor and a sturdy boat member.

Check the angle of your motor's driveshaft in relation to the water. Balance the position your boat will be when underway, and set the motor so it will be horizontal.

Open up the throttle once, for a brief run. If over estimated setting was correct the boat will ride on an even keel.

If the bow rides too high out of the water, your motor is tilted too far out. In this case the downward thrust of the propeller starts to squat in the water, pushing the

If your boat seems hard to handle, and the bow digs into every wave or turn, the motor is tilted too far in. Such conditions causes the stern to ride high, forcing the bow down.

This initial motor setting will suffice under most boating conditions. Should your load increase radically, however, it may be necessary to tilt the motor in one notch to make it come up on plane. And if the waves are high you may desire to make the bow to ride higher out of the water by tilting the motor out.

If no setting seems to give proper performance, check your boat's transom. If it is too high, your propeller will cavitate on the turns. If it is too low, the resulting drag on the lower unit will decrease your speed and performance. Most motors are designed for the standard transom of 15 inches.

"Eggs are ... butter in quality and flavor," remarked the chief. "The refrigeration of eggs in transportation, in the warehouses and in all up-to-date stores and supermarkets keeps them fresh longer than in the past."

Test Eggs for Freshness

"It is a good point in economy to know that it is now possible to use grade B eggs and even grade C eggs in cooking. Modern Even grade B eggs usually meet a simple home test for freshness. When broken into a saucer the egg holds together, that is, the centre is high and stirred the white is still thick and does not run all over the dish.

"Grade B eggs are good combined with other substantial foods into quick and easy supper dishes. Save many persons find it difficult to poach eggs, let's give a recipe and several good poached egg brunch or dinner combinations."

Plain Poached Eggs: Half fill a rather deep large frying pan with hot water. Add ½ tsp salt and bring to a rapid boil. Break Grade A or B eggs one at a time, each into a saucer and slide them into the water. Do not stir. Then where the eggs are all in, reduce the heat so the water merely bubbles. Then cover and let cook ... 3 or 4 minutes, or until the eggs are set to the desired firmness. Remove with a ... Serve with ...

Poached Eggs Benedict Tahoe: Toast and butter halved English muffins. Top with broiled Virginia ham, poached eggs and spoonfuls of Tahoe Holland sauce. Garnish each egg with a dot of stuffed pimiento.

WEDDING

Dubuc - Chartier

On Saturday, June 4th., Miss Gloria Chartier, youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs. Wasyl Chartier of Bodkin became the bride of Mr Jerome Dubuc of Edmonton in a double ring ceremony in St. John's Church in Edmonton.

Parents, assisting the bride were a floor-length gown of white organza with lace bloose and elbow length veil. She wore a three-quarter length net veil. Her bouquet was with a cream of orquids and roses. Her jewelry was a gift of a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. Her sister, Miss Mary Chartier of Edmonton was matron-of-honor. She wore a short-sleeved lemon net and lace over-bouse dress with matching glover and picture hat, carried a bouquet of assorted spring flowers.

Her sister, Miss Olga Chartier of Vancouver was bridesmaid and chose a pink short-sleeved net and lace dress with matching gloves and carried red and white carnations with a wreath of pink flowers.

Her other bridesmaid, Miss I. Dubuc of Edmonton wore a short sleeve net dress with a full skirt of peach with a wreath of matching flowers. Both bridesmaids' dresses were identical and they carried bouquets of pink carnations and white daisies and wore a garland in the hair.

The groom was assisted by his brother Mr Wm. J. Dubuc of Edmonton. The groom was attended by Mr Leo Dubuc of Edmonton and Mr Mike Dubuc of Bodkin.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Chartier chose a navy blue three piece dress and wore a corsage of pink roses.

A reception for two hundred guests was held in the [illegible] Hall, Bodkin. The groom's parents [illegible] Mr and Mrs. Chartier.

After the reception, the bride and groom left on a honeymoon trip to Banff and Jasper. For travelling the bride wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Among those from out of town attending the wedding were Mrs. Mary Chartier and Mrs. Anna Chartier and Neville and Ian, all of Mrs. Margaret Pastor and family from Goodridge, an Aunt and Cousin from Winnipeg, Mr and Mrs. Sheela, and a Mr and Mrs. [illegible] from Edmonton.

The happy couple are now their home in Edmonton after their honeymoon trip to Banff and Jasper.

Pioneer Stories, Pictures Wanted

In connection with the Golden Jubilee celebrations this newspaper intends to publish a special issue covering, or using the fiftieth anniversary of this province.

At the moment we are looking for material of a bond nature that will make this history rich in pioneer following and that there are still many of our senior citizens about who could supply some very interesting copy for such an edition.

Personal experience encountered about 1905 when the province was incorporated or around the years 1900 and 1905 when St. Paul was a metis colony and the town officially opened are in the nature of material we are looking for. If you have some old pictures, preserved well enough for reproduction, bring them along with your stories.

TWO HILLS, Alberta

Traffic Safety Lane By J. W. McKay

Inspector Highway Traffic Board Alta.

In my second last issue I dealt with the stability of swing of traffic. Today there is another part of a driver's vision that is very important.

You could understand that a car look at an angle, say at a distance of fifty (50) feet, the cones of focus from both eyes converge on the spot. There are two images from that object at fifty feet but another one hundred and fifty feet the two lines have to be altered to converge to a greater distance. This "readjusting" skills was mostly taken care of by eyes when taken at ranges from them yours and yours may take longer than the other drivers but two people will have abnormal time adjustments.

Now this being so there must be a normal time limit. Some will be faster than normal, some will be slower. We have methods that give us the best of measurements.

Here if your eyes were below normal all time it would result improper in your driving.

You are on a road where there may be holes to watch for, but you must give a fairly high rate of speed and you are concentrated on some big spot ahead. Suddenly you see a car swerving out. The car is travelling at a fair rate of speed and in reaction to the holes concentrating there would be a reaction of the brakes and again you would have to swerve. Now this is where we say you to test your eyes are slow to adjust. He is not a safe driver, but just to find out exactly and just magnitude, he is safer than you think and a safe driver.

It is important that a driver knows if he has at least normal vision in this respect. If he hasn't then he can have glasses ordered or otherwise for the deficiency.

You may even play a very important part in more than one way in driving safety. It all depends on how you have good their eyes were or how poor they were. Then a lot of damaging accidents could be avoided.

People who have poor vision compensate for that partial deficiency.

For instance a driver who has only one eye can drive a car just as safely as if he had two. Suppose it is the left eye that is gone. In place of him depending on his field of vision, or his ability to see out of the corner of his eye, he will have to compensate by turning his head and looking directly into that field with his right eye, that is looking to the left to see if he can see should be looking. Further he will use his mirrors instead placed on the car in a position that will help his right eye cover that left field of vision and has proved to be of major importance.

Then there are good drivers who have only one arm or hand but is outstanding the different manual used to operate a car in a safe way with his handicap. There is special equipment which can be attached to cars or trucks to aid or compensate for this deficiency. The same applies to the drivers with one leg. In fact there are drivers and good drivers who have both legs amputated above the knee. The levers and pedals are manipulated by hand levers are placed on the steering column near the gear shift lever.

Just because drivers have certain deficiencies such as mentioned, does not necessarily mean that he cannot drive safely. The important thing is that drivers compensate for their deficiency. In the case of eyesight many have poor vision in one phase or another and are not aware of it. This sort of a driver is placed in the category of a dangerous driver.

It will be a memorable day when all drivers will have had a physical driver's test. All drivers will know of their deficiencies and will also learn how to compensate for such.

In the next issue I will deal with defensive for which there is no compensation.

IMPROVING DEPARTMENT?

COMPETITION GETTING KEENER

The past six months [illegible] and manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers are [illegible] growth in the tools to increase sales.

The business men in St. Paul have felt the pinch in the past year both through the increased competition and a general drop in sales. Farmers have dropped down to a dangerous stage yet, but the time has arrived when every penny in every transaction counts in order to maintain heavy overheads most of the business men are burdened with.

With the decrease of market, there has been an increase in competition as well as the rates and we find many firms looking for greater business and consequently turning their transient high pressure sales staffs loose on the country and rural areas.

Nobody is against healthy competition [illegible] it is the essence of our demand and supply and equalizes prices on a fair and just basis. The town of St. Paul should welcome [illegible] as a matter of fact promote the establishment of such along with the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce.

The town, however, has the serious duty of screening every applicant for a business permit and assure itself, first that it is in the best interest of all and that no one shall suffer but it is in the best interest of all that no one shall suffer but it is in the best interest of all that no one shall suffer but it is in the best interest of all

Radio Talks From Parliament Hill By J. H. Bechene, M.P.

To my fellow citizens of Alberta, and of course, Athabasca who are still interested in a message from Parliament Hill, I offer at once my very best wishes and my sincere thanks for the generous hospitality given during the course of the present session. My name appears on the list of those talks from Parliament Hill over CJCA for the broadcast on June 13th. I admit that I hesitated in taking advantage of that opportunity to again josh you in the discussion of matters which will have been of interest to all during the last few days of the session of Parliament shortly and, as tempered as any, painfully grinding to an end.

I say that I hesitated because I realize that your interests will, of course be mostly in the Province rather than with any expectedly-called national problem. For a reason which no person everyone in this part of the country has not been explained or justified.

As a long-time resident of Alberta, I see nothing forward to a holiday season which would allow me to join with the other Albertans in the celebration of the Golden Jubilee of Sunny Alberta indeed, we are now drawn into the maelstrom of what, perforce, I consider an unwarranted appeal to the people for

Golden Jubilee Celebration July 14

Achievement Bay Comes For Four Call Clubs:

Mallaig, Ashmont St. Lina, Beaver Cres.

Two families and twenty days of grand and glorious living and learning at camp ... were experienced ... Ghostwood Day Wednesday, June 15, members of Mallaig, Ashmont St. Lina and Beaver Crescent 4-H Clubs ... their respective leaders were patriotically ... and awards presented by the winners.

The Master, animals were first to parade in the morning before judge Lionel Lee, Superintendent of Cattle Judging Abwaitiona Edmonton. Wm. Jones, Farm Manager, Vermilion School of Agriculture and H. Cooper Junior Activities Branch, Edmonton.

Club championship awards were won by Mallaig Club with a Breeford steer. Emile was also awarded an efficiency medal for the most points in his club last year. Reserve champion went to Ashmont Hereford, led by George Hellegaet and ribbed to the Ashmont line up. Joseph Corbierre with a Shorthorn Heifer.

All animals in the top category were judged choice and the balance classified as good. Showmanship awards were featured from the Mallaig Club.

Best daily gain was recorded by Raymond Anysetz, 1.9 lbs. per day for the 120 days since November 20 to judging time

Joseph Corbierre excelled in showmanship to win an Eaton kit and George Belanger followed in second place.

Young George Belanger, first year member in the Club was its efficient president for the year Bernard Chartrand is the Secretary-Treasurer. Other members are Emile Anysetz, Raymond Anysetz, Joseph Corbierre, Omer Corbierre, Denis Corbierre, Gerald Fontaine, Marcel Cadrin, Henri Corbierre and Albert Anysetz. Club Leader who devoted conscientious effort to the enterprise is Mr Edgar Corbierre

Pete Robitaille presented the Club Champion with a cup for the year on behalf of the members after three consecutive years; and the Chamber of Commerce presented a permanent cup.

ASHMONT SHOW

Eight entries entered in the seasonal at Ashmont, with Wells Anysetz moving up to top by position Club Champion and Champion and Mary Anysetz placed third, all with "choice."

Daily game banners were made to Russel Murphy who was also named showmanship winner. Last previous year's record. Showmanship Clayton Cutshaw and Howard Hamelhuis.

Leader of the Ashmont Club Mr Alex Hamelhuis was highly enthusiastic members, namely Clayton Cutshaw, Mary Zawaily, Vyn Provencher, Bella Zawaily, Secretary-Treasurer, Delbert Cutshaw, Hella Hamelhuis, Peter Hamelhuis, Peter Gerlah and Russel Murphy.

ST. LINA SHOW

Long established under the competent leadership of Wm. (Bill) Sutton, St. Lina enrolled 16 members with their calves on parade.

The Club Champion and Reserve were entered at each with the Champion being a "choice." Reserve being rated "good." Both animals were Shorthorn heifers. Third and fourth "choice" animals belonging to Lily Sutton and Lee Sutton. All were purebreds. Balance of the class rated 5 heads and 6 condition

Showmanship Lee Dallaire and Annette Dallaire.

Something New: A Playground

What's new? A playground in St Paul.

What's that? It's a place where children may play together from 9 am to 11 30 in the morning and from 1 30 to 3 00 in the afternoon

Which children? All children of St. Paul, boys and girls of 5 to 16.

They will play what? Baseball, Softball, Rugby, Volleyball, Basketball and a lot of new very interesting games.

There will be only games on the playground? Not at all!

What else? A little prayer every day to ask God's protection for the children, library telling, beautiful stories, Gymnastics, a little bit A lot of lovely songs, in French and in English

It that all? Oh! No. There will be, if we have beautiful weather, a weekly picnic or a "special day" every week.

Where, the picnics? That's a secret Only children who come every day to the playground will come for the picnics

What's a special day"? It's a feast on the playground or in the town, especially for children. We have new plays, big contests, bingos, parties, etc.

When does the playground begin? July 11

How many days a week? Five, Monday through Friday.

Where will the playground go"? In the school-yard with the permission of the School Board

Who will finance this organization? Volunteers committees

Is it possible? Yes here is a proof

1st subscription $200.00, Anonymous 2nd subscription $5.00 in envelope marked Redeed and Sons

Who will be the next subscriber? We will tell you next week

Playground Committee

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our loving mother Mrs. Amy V. Chester who passed away June 22nd., 1954.

There is a truest sacred moment when thoughts and wishes meet.
We think that road in thoughts today,
To the one we cannot greet.
Our re-sheer love is deeping,
We cure is not her lower.
Oh blame is not for weeping,
For we have no mother now

Ever remembered and sadly missed by her loving family Mary, Fry, Rose, Edith, Ethel, Betty, Amy, Susan, John and Richard.

Quoi en est donc le grand secret?

Le premier devoir des parents estuaire dans l'education des enfants Quels parents n'ont pas à cœur de faire de leurs enfants des citoyens vraiment utiles à la famille à la société et à l'Eglise

"L'éducation est une œuvre commune, et nous devons tous nous donner la main pour la favoriser" Il est vrai de dire que cette importante, c'est cette qui a pour but de former des hommes de valeur Une autre part de cette éducation consiste en l'encouragement aux jeunes. Enfin, ce même encouragement aux jeunes doit s'étendre aux parents pour en faire un tout.

Si vos enfants ne jouent pas, ils n'auront jamais de vraie vigueur et le devoir d'y remédier est pressant si vous ne voulez pas que vos enfants soient moins vigoureux que ceux de leurs voisins

"One of the most valuable kinds of serving food," said the chef, "is a dress-maker's dummy. They look glamorous if a set of curls crowns their head and they could soon get the required amount of practice before the Foods that look good never taste better

"I agree, chef," I replied "As an example, let's plan a menu—then proceed to dress it in it."

TOMORROW'S DINNER

Asparagus-Carrots Vinaigrette
Creamed Smoked Pork Shoulder
Creamed Whole Potatoes
Tomato Cabbage
Fresh Fruit Gelatin
Hot or Iced Coffee or Tea Milk

"We start with the asparagus," said the chef, "and we'll prepare it in a simple manner so a little of the delicate flavor will be retained. Cook a small quantity of asparagus tips in a little boiling water until tender, but not soft. Drain and cool. Add 1 recipe vinaigrette dressing and serve in nests of lettuce.

Beef for the Diamond Park Chocolate

Cook the pork shoulder as roast, cover the fat surface with a glaze made by combining sugar, flour dry mustard crumbs and vinegar. Bake 30 min. or until browned at 375 deg. F.

To The People Of This Constituency

Roy Reierson

Your liberal Credit Candidate needs no introduction. Very nearly everyone has become familiar with his friendly, pleasant manner in discussing our mutual problems during the past nine years Especially so in the past three years while representing this constituency in the Legislature

He grew up on a farm in the Camrose district, received his high school education while there, and farmed actively until joining the army

Of his five years of Military Service, four were spent overseas He saw action in the artillery from the Normandy beach head to the interior of Germany where the war ended During this period of service, he rose from the rank of Private to Captain and adjutant of his Regiment. He still maintains an active interest in Military Affairs as an Officer in the local Reserve Unit.

After leaving the army four years were spent establishing 160 veterans on farms under the Veterans Land Act During this time a very intimate knowledge of farm problems was gained

He has been active continuously with the Canadian Legion and served one term as Zone Commander for this area

Between sessions of the Legislature he has always carried on a series of meetings with Farmers' Union Locals in his territory, Rural Electrification Associations and general community meetings to keep the public informed of current Legislation These number over 75 meetings

He has worked in harmony with several Chambers of Commerce in the Constituency while abstaining from accepting membership in anyone of them in order to better serve the constituency impartially

He is a member of the Advisory Board of the St Theresa Hospital in St Paul.

He has always been ready and willing to meet the many problems confronting a rural riding

He and his family live in St. Paul which is centrally located in the constituency He is successfully engaged in [illegible]

His record of achievement during one term in the Legislature is ample proof that he is well qualified to continue as representative in this Agricultural area.

MORE DONE IN AN HOUR WHEN IT'S DONE WITH POWER

What one man can do on the farm in work output has been increased many times by the developments in power farming equipment in recent years.

Tractors and implements now available give control over the work the year 'round and on more and more farms there is less and less need to employ hard-to-get and high-cost farm labour.

Mechanization has meant more to the farm than relief from drudgery and freedom from heavy burdensome physical toil. Mechanization has brought a new concept of farming and has given agriculture the greatest lift in years. And mechanization has contributed greatly to the more wide-spread sharing in higher standards of living.

In the advancement of their operations through mechanization farmers have found in Massey-Harris and Ferguson tractors and machines time and labour saving advantages that help them do their work easily, quickly and more profitably. Your local dealer will be glad to tell you about the latest developments.

The Man Who Fails To Vote - A New Ism

By A. B. SWEENEY

In these progressive times we have too many citizens who are unenlightened in public affairs. They stay at home and leave to others the task of selecting representatives to make our laws. They are content to enjoy rights. They do not vote. They are on the fence. I call this new ism, Neutralism.

In our own lifetime we have seen a small group steam control of a country with dynamic audacious. We have seen people lose their freedom because they were indifferent and neglected to vote. some constituencies less than fifty per cent of the people exercise the franchise and thus are the Socialists endangering our form of government. They have no place in our system and they may even undermine democracy itself.

It should be remembered that this government is composed of a group of ambitious men who believe they are beyond criticism. The former Social Board were brought in a report advocating the elimination of the secret ballot, and Cabinet Ministers have openly stated that an opposition was a nuisance and an obstacle to governmental measures. Little wonder the Mussolini movement does not want an opposition! Opposition have a right of asking how many questions.

The opposition would like to submit that ministerial absences of cabinet members who are interested in stores and farms, wells and rare horses, and stables loom. The opposition would like to know if the outside interests of cabinet ministers interfere with their absolute positions. It has been said that while the twelve cabinet members may have taken a pledge of obedience to him, Mr. Manning may were not asked to take vows of poverty.

Surely the voters who have taken the trouble to vote in recent elections will be sufficiently alarmed about provincial affairs to come out and vote on June 29th. The Manning government claims to be above criticism and refuses to answer questions. The opposition members who try to obtain information, to which they are entitled, are called mud slingers and obstructive gnomists. Surely we have gone far down the road toward dictatorship, indeed we have lost much of the persuasion, which we thought we possessed under a legislative assembly.

Did you ever see a government so greedy for money and so overzealous to collect every penny while they remain in power, without giving a thought to future generations?

Did you ever see a government so prone to measure every advance by the yardstick of statistics and materialism?

No wonder that rural people are now convinced that the Manning has no intention of relieving the tax burden of farm people.

With a budget of 225 million dollars and not one cent reduction in taxes.

With beautiful statements about rising revenues and not one cent additional to the cost of school books. There is little wonder that rural taxpayers are determined to change the government on June 29th.

Every citizen has a part to play in the restoration of responsible government in Alberta, and every one of sound, age is urged to vote Liberal on June 29th. I would urge the young people in the rural areas to learn the facts about the political crisis in Alberta. Join with others to bring about a change of government on election day.

In this election, the voters must decide whether they wish to continue the system whereby members of the Legislature have dealings with the government as whether we should return to the time honored rule, which prevents, those in high office from benefiting by their position.

Social Creditors have challenged the principals that governs in every British Commonwealth country, and the people of Alberta must meet that challenge by turning them out of office. I am confident that thinking people will show their disapproval by changing the government on June 29th.

Quand On Ne Sait Que Dire . . . On Donne Des Noms

Le commencement ne paraît une question des plus embarrassantes. Une très grande partie des Canadiens-Français du comté de St-Paul voterons pour moi et ce n'est pas un mo. dit communiste. Ca ne m'a pas trouvé d'autres grèves déclarés à part cela. Bien-entendu que je mais en bonne compagnie à Premier Diefenbaker, le Premier ministre Duplessis ils et réels, par les votes méchaniques de Québec reposent entièrement à l'Union Catholique et au Devoir d'Ottawa des journaux aux communistes apparemment à part de leur connivence à leur pardonnerait tous autres délents, sauf aussi. D'un côté le clergé catholique condamne le communisme et de l'autre les deux seuls journaux franchement catholiques du Québec sont dominés par le plus haute autorité politique de leur provinces comme une journaux communistes. Elles vont être une ce sont a plaisir significatives Le clergé le donne à ceux qui sont supposés vouloir détruire laroligion. apparemment Duplessis en veut pas être que l'Action Catholique et le Devoir veulent détruire la religion, dans il prête au mot communisme une toute autre signification D'où venue de Laurier le clergé Québecois et la guerre en libéralisme et les louvoirs de Quebec est encore aujourd'hui le nom de Parti Bourgeois (couleur de l'ombre) que portent ailleurs en Canada nos communistes Je n'ai nouvelle aucune de perdre mon temps à combattre la religion, et je crois qu'il est certain de se donner de noms qui ne signifient rien.

La lutte de notre parti (Chevrier Progressiste) est essentiellement contre nos gouvernements qui sont payés par les millionaires pour nous leur pauvres. Vous connaissez du pauvres avoeurs qui sont devenues très riches par le gouvernement. Ce n'est certainement pas leur salaire de député ou de ministre qui les a enrichis à ce point Ils travaillent pour d'autres pas ces plus d'argent que nous.

Au village de St-Paul nous pouvons facilement compagnie le gaz naturel et l'eau. L'eau est communistes et le gaz est propriété privée (communiste veut dire en anglais). Pour l'eau nous avons des bayoudes 7 mailles, ces tuyaux sont mis très profondément avons creusé un réservoir assez, nous avons installé un système de pompes qui marchent continuellement, nous avons creusé un système d'égouts, nous avons installé des réservoirs septiques pour détruire les déchets et on plus nous avons égalment des sommes énormes, pour réparer et dégager le système, et malgré tout cela nous payons pour l'eau et les égouts $4.75 par mois et au moins deux fois plus pour le gaz. Par contre, pour le gaz la distance est moins d'un mille de St-Paul, le gaz sort tout seul de la terre, les tuyaux sont seulement quelques pouces sous la terre et c'est tout ce qu'il y a. Cela veut dire qu'il y a longtemps que nous avons payé pour toute l'installation et que maintenant nous payons pour le gaz dans le tuyau, ce moins $30,000.00 par année. Il est évident que les millionnaires de New York ne se donnent pas aussi diminuer $30,000.00 par année pour L'eau que nous prenons dans le lac des Iles. Pour quelle raison le gouvernement a t'il donné ce gaz à l'administration de New York plutôt qu'à la ville de St-Paul?

Notre parti veut ne faire aire pour remettre à la ville de St-Paul ce $30,000.00 de plus qui sort des poches des voteurs de St-Paul et qui à des gens qui en ont déjà trop.

Nous voulons de même que les profits sur le gaz, sur le sel de la gasoline, l'huile, le ciment, l'électricité, la bière n'en restent au peuple de la province.

Il est inutile de réorganiser de gouvernement si on laisse les richesses naturelles dans les mains des millionaires car il n'est constitué que s'en servir pour contrôler nos gouvernements. Au contraire si le produit de la manufacture reste dans les mains du travailleur au lieu d'aller dans les mains du propriétaire d'où augmentation et si les ressources naturelles restent dans les mains de la province il n'y aura plus d'argent dans les mains des millionaires pour acheter nos hommes publics.

Si les Libéraux ni les C.C.F., ni les Conservateurs veulent changer de système, ils veulent seulement prendre leur tour près de l'auberge ne bourre L'histoire fait le larron, il ne faut pas qu'il y ait d'histoire ni bourre et on veut un gouvernement qui travaille pour les intérets des voteurs

Malgré que l'habitant produise cent fois plus qu'autrefois et à la facille il ne vit pas mieux et l'ouvrier des manufactures est encore à lutter et achète à crédit, malgré qu'il produise dû fois plus.

Il se produit actuellement au Canada, assez pour donner $4,000 à chaque famille par année pour vivre le grand problème est de mettre cet argent dans les mains de ceux qui font le travail Ce n'est pas facille . . . l'Alternative est la dépression et la misère Notre parti ne sera pas au pouvoir après cette election mais dans une coalition ou dans l'opposition nous avancerons le pour du grand changement.

Si j'ai la majorité des votes a St-Paul nous organiserons une delegation à Edmonton pour laisser le prix du gaz d'après les contrats actuels qui n'ont pas été suivis. Ensuite pour se preparer au renouvellement du contrat nous ferons avec l'aid des voteurs un relevé du montant exact de ce que nous deportons en gaz dans un an et nous pourrons imposer un taux à la compagnie propriétaire du gaz. On nous impose avec le consiverez de la commission, des prix exorbitants pourquoi pas leur imposer des taux raisonnables. Il faut que nous prenions nos interets dans nos propres mains si nous voulons obtenir quelque chose Il ne faut pas être timide avec des bandits.

Donnez en envoyez vos sanctions à Harry Reiser pour notre campagne.

The Traffic Safety Lane

By J. W. McKAY
Inspector Highway Traffic Board, Edmonton

In a good driver testing program, many physical disabilities can be found which are of a serious nature. At the same time we find in accident records that some of these disabilities cause serious accidents. The great problem with the driving public, is that many have one of many of these disabilities and are not aware of it. When it is found and pointed out to them then they can compensate.

Half these so- disabilities which drivers may have and which a driver testing program cannot detect. Some of these are of a temporary nature, otherwise permanent.

Intoxication is one disability of a temporary nature and it does not permit compensation of any kind. Accident records show that in a great portion of the fatal accidents liquor was involved. This is one disability which can be easily detected. Intoxication is at the top of the disability list as a killer.

Another disability of a temporary nature and closely related to intoxication is drugs. I do not know of any statistics on this one, but a close watch is being maintained by police and insurance companies.

Now we come to the permanent ones. First we have heart disorders. A lot of drivers are driving today who have a heart ailment. Some of the drivers are aware of it some are not. As you know many people have [illegible] dead from a heart attack, some of them had no warning at all. You can visualize the potentialities of a driver going down the highway and all of a sudden dropped dead. Again I do not know of any statistics for this ailment but there is no computer exists for a driver whose heart is in bad condition. He cannot prepare himself for that unknown time of failure. Another one is epilepsy. Many people are subject to epileptic attacks [illegible] driver's business and driver. In some instances a victim has a warning of an attack but in a great many cases there is no warning at all. You can visualize the potentialities of such disorders behind the wheel.

High blood pressure is another one of the permanent type. Most people realize this disability as it has so many symptoms, but nevertheless, they should not get behind the wheel of a car and drive, endangering their lives and the lives of others. Then there is chronic sugar diabetics.

Then, of course, we have a disability of insanity. This is easily detected and motorists are protected from anyone driving with this disability.

There are others too, which could be mentioned, but it will show you the importance of a good driver-testing program [illegible] unless it is the duty of any driver to satisfy himself as to his physical qualifications to drive.

Let us not wait until the driver testing program [illegible] to do so. [illegible] we are caught by the doctor or the police. Why not get a good check-up and satisfy yourself of your physical condition for driving.

It is a wonderful feeling — that satisfied feeling.

Canada Steps Up Maritime Submarine Detection

With the increasing rate of importance that the Canadian Armed Services are playing in NATO defences, the RCAF are adding more laurels to their submarine detection units in the Maritimes by supplementing them with new PBY-5 Canso aircraft. The 404 and 405 Maritime Reconnaissance Squadrons, based at Greenwood, N.S., now equipped with Cansos, will eventually be completely re-equipped with the Canso. This aircraft has an unrivaled predecessor in speed, range and versatility. Most outstanding part of the Canso is its weapons carrying capacity. It has eight bomb racks and 8,000 pounds of depth charges—by the 10-foot extension to the tail, Canso aircraft are given submarine detection equipment, such as the tail, mounted "stinger" which [illegible] Canso aircraft [illegible]

Here is a great worth thinking about The Bank of Canada holds a similar position with respect to the Federal Government as do the Treasury Branches with respect to the Provincial Government (both are creations of government). Consequently, it during business with a Treasury Branch constitutes a contract with the Provincial Government and therefore disqualifies a citizen from heading seat in the legislature as does "doing business with the Bank of Canada constitutes a contract with the Federal Government and disqualifies a citizen from becoming an M.P. Every person who has a dollar bill has a contract with the Bank of Canada. Read what it says on the Bank of Canada will pay you the bearer on demand." That is an agreement and constitutes a contract between every citizen who has a bill in his pocket and the Bank, and through the Bank with the Federal Government.

Consequently, and only in Mr Manning's wording to destroy the "all use of the Treasury Branches which are a wonderful help especially to the farmers during the depression, and the restrictions by advocates would if made law, deny the right to all citizens to run as democratic representatives in the Parliament or Legislature of the nation.

Mallaig News

Several heavy showers of rain followed an intensely warm Saturday and Sunday. The grain crop is now in the stage of the week. The weather was very supportive and crops are away to a good start.

Mrs. Ernest Chartrand, Mrs. Mike and Mrs. G. Tardif have left on an extended holiday to Montreal. Mr. Lome Duncan left for St. Pascal, Que. where he intends to make his home in the future.

The Mallaig Parish Picnic was held on Sunday, June 15. Although the event was a bit chilly a large number of persons were present during the day. Food items were sold by the St. Lina Ivey organization, the Mallaig Garden society and Mallaig Hotel.

The local people gathered at Lund on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and cleaned up the beach. The place is now fully and ready for the use of the camping public.

A number of enthusiastic workers met Tuesday evening to work and all reported a good catch. [illegible] Northern Pike was the champion [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Golden Jubilee Anthology Covers Wide Variety Of Topics

The Alberta Golden Jubilee Anthology is a significant attempt to collect between covers a representative picture of the whole province. Here is one of Bess Antrell's appealing Babe" stories from the Alberta Farming Page and a brief story by W. O. Mitchell, of High River, on "Jake and the Kid" series on CBC and novels of interest to all Canadians. Dr. Pete Lisoněk, noted Edmonton radio actor, is represented here as well as Dr. S. D. Hanly, prominent physician, short story writer and university classics professor. The entire anthology was prepared under the direction of Jim Hardy, editor-in-chief, and an editorial board.

The second imaginative section contains contributions by writers whose work has been published and as writers who are making their first appearance in print. A fine selection of poetry adorns the work of approximately 30 Alberta poets with Al Menage, for Tomorrow by Dr. Don Pattie, exciting the book.

A reader of the Alberta Golden Jubilee Anthology will see for himself that Alberta is rich in literary talent and that presently in other countries people are about a region peopled of writers. The men brought behind the production of the Anthology are to publish one of the best assemblages of Alberta authors to commemorate the Golden Jubilee. Thanks to the generous assistance of the Alberta Government author, Alberta have been afforded an opportunity of publishing this book which no other province could provide.

The task of preparing the Anthology has revealed an astonishing number of writers in Alberta. More than forty contributors received the royalty cheques for their work and it is certain that many more have been available

Ye Station Floating Lighthouse is Sagaway

—Courtesy Press Cleaning

A giant floating lighthouse is very here as it left Levis, Que., to begin a 180-mile trip down the St. Lawrence river after almost a year's delay. Recent attempts last August to install the 4,300-ton structure near the mouth of the Saguenay river in the St. Lawrence—where treacherous reefs and shoals pose a constant threat to river traffic — were foiled by unfavorable tides and high winds. When it reached its destination, the hulky steel and concrete lighthouse was lowered into a bed of gravel and rock and then to make it secure some 2,000 tons of cement were poured into the bottom.

In appearance, the Anthology is attractive. Its cover is a spine in gold foil and the title is gold on a dark green background. It contains 12 color photographs, 16 half-tone photographs and full-page illustrations by Alberta artists. The appearance is further enhanced by a number of full-page illustrations by Alberta artists. The appearance is further enhanced by a number of full-page illustrations by Alberta artists. NO BIGGER THAN A MAN'S HAND

HOW TO MARK YOUR BALLOTS

This being our last issue before we are called to the polls to exercise one of our [illegible] rights, it seems appropriate that in casting — we believe the — remarks are appropriate

Firstly, no matter what your beliefs are and who you have decided to support after weighing the evidence that has been presented to you by candidates in the election campaign, please vote. Don't leave it to the other fellow who may be trying to infiltrate and destroy your freedom. It's up to you, so preserve it.

Secondly, our system of marking ballots. The Federal or Dominion uses its partially system in which the candidate having the largest number of votes is declared elected even though this candidate received only twenty-five percent of the total vote. In fact it there are ten members, one of them may be elected under this system by a vote of twenty percent in each of the other nine candidates receives close to ten percent of the total votes. Voting in this case is done with a single X opposite the name of the candidate you choose to vote for.

But in the Provincial election we use a method called "the single-transferable-vote system." Please take note that numbers are used here and that an X will most assuredly spoil your ballot.

Here's how it works in principle. You mark your first, second, third and perhaps a fourth choice on the ballot and then your second choice vote is counted if your first choice candidate runs lowest in the count of the first choice votes.

Under the single-transferable-vote system all the first choice votes are counted and placed in piles, one pile for each candidate. Then, if no candidate gets a majority of the total vote, the candidate having the smallest first choice vote is declared "out of the race" and his first choice ballots are all recounted in accordance with the second choice indicated on each ballot. If the addition of these second choice ballots does not give any candidate a majority of the total vote, the candidate with the lowest total on this second count is declared out of the race and his ballots are re-counted according to the next choice on each ballot. This system of dropping off the lowest candidate continues either until one candidate does get a majority of the total vote, or leaving in fact, until there is only one candidate remaining. Usually, one candidate will eventually secure a majority under this system if the voters will mark the second, third and fourth choices as well as their first choice. Voters should mark a second, third and fourth choice under this system, because the second choice is not a vote against the first choice in so far the fact that the second choice is not counted until the first choice is declared "out of the race."

In principle this single-transferable-vote system is the same as the double election system because in a primary election you vote your first choice and then, when your first choice candidate is eliminated in the primary you go to the voting booth at the final election and vote your second choice. Under the single-transferable-vote system you indicate both your first and second choice at the one election so that when your first choice candidate turns out to be the "last-out" candidate, the election officials can go ahead and count your vote for your second choice because you have already indicated your second choice on the one and only ballot.

In the St. Paul Constituency on June 28th we have three candidates in the running. Consequently the candidate of your choice should be affixed with a 1 after his name, second in preference with a 2 and the third if you wish with a 3, or 1 and 2 if you do not choose to give preference to a third party.

The one and only caution here is NOT to use an X. It might be indicative of your chosen [illegible] one only, but it will be thrown out because the rules say it must be an Arabic figure — 1.

Should you, through any circumstance spoil a ballot, do not use an eraser on it. Bring it to the attention of the officials and they will replace it otherwise your ballot may be judged invalid and your vote will not count.

OBITUARY

Louis de Dalley

Louis de Dalley age 77 years, of Dewberry passed away in the Hospital on June 3rd. The funeral services were held in the Dewberry Hall Tuesday 7th., and interment was in the Dewberry cemetery.

Mr. [illegible] deceased was born in Dalley, Switzerland in 1877. He came to Vermilion in 1899 went back to New York, came back to Vermilion and homesteaded in 1907, moved to Lloydminster in 1910 moved to Dewberry 8 years ago to make his home with his only daughter Mrs. Harold Craigs.

Surviving members of the family are his widow in New Westminster one daughter, Mrs. H. Craigs, two grandsons, Harry and Bruce Craigs, two granddaughters, Jean and June.

Mayers were in charge of funeral arrangements.

The wrongdoers Union in Australia has called upon farmers in that country to voluntarily relinquish their wheat acreage. Australia ended last year with a surplus of about 60 million bushels and the crop harvested this year seems yielded more than 100 million bushels.

Mr and Mrs Steve Sworik got a surprise early visit from the stork last week for he brought them a little sister for David.

Seems as the June air is affecting a few people lately, namely Alexie Wenzel and Rosalie Lawrence, who became officially engaged. Lil Shurley and Vera Wynne followed the same example.

Bonhoer, Alberta, was the scene of a beautiful wedding last week. The couple were Bernard Vinge and Evelyn McFadden. Among the numerous people who attended the wedding, from here were, T Horton, Nancy Crook and of course all the Vinges.

Jimmy Wilson has work with Surveying Outfit. At present they are surveying the newly proposed highway between Elk Point and Lindbergh.

The Dewberry Co-op Store and Feed Office were robbed McKay's cafe was also ransacked but only a few dollars were found and taken.

Several visitors in town were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mykiliw and boys from Dowdale.

The John family took a trip to Bonnyville for the weekend, where Mrs. John is Godmother for a friends baby.

Mrs P. Mack has overtime the hotel cafe. At present she has Mrs Wilson helping her.

L. Kupsch were over visiting a new boat at Lake Wabamun. He is not a loss for a name for it any suggestions.

Alice Gregor is recovering from an operation at the Elk Point hospital.

Mrs. Coombe made a hurryied trip to Two Hills last week, by both in her garden again today.

The community sewing last week turned out quite successful like a few more interested people would be appreciated. Plans now go ahead for the booking of a brand new hall with maple floors. Members are busy crocheting and many members are selling shares at $10 a piece to whoever is able to buy them.

FINAL MESSAGE

TO THE

Electors Of St. Paul CONSTITUENCY

FROM

YOUR

LIBERAL CANDIDATE

This will be the last issue of the "Journal" before voting on June 20th and I should like to make this final appeal to the electors of the Constituency of St. Paul.

The campaign has been interesting and I have been pleased with the reception received in all parts of the constituency. I have been encouraged by the interest of the rural people, also central residents in regards to the government. The people have been shocked and aroused by the disclosures in the Social Credit Government.

A few label and insulting transactions have confirmed the government and the evidence of waste and extravagance only in the need for a full investigation.

The disclosures of the administration of the Treasury Branches show mismanagement like methods and loose handling of commercial loans while Hon. Mr Manning was Provincial Treasurer.

In general, the issues of the campaign have been centred on the record of the government, the disclosures of wrong-doing and the unsatisfactory explanations by the government, the personal wealth of cabinet ministers and the violations of the Legislative Assembly Act by Social Credit Members. Actually the Manning Government has fallen apart from the inside and the actions of some of the Social Credit members precipitated this election which provides the unexpected opportunity of changing the government.

If the people vote wisely on June 20th, they can have a real Jubilee present—a Liberal Government. Make yourself a present on Jun 20th—VOTE LIBERAL.

Farmers' Day Picnic And Baseball At Spedden Beach

By

KERRY THOMPSON McCHEA

The Farmers' Day picnic with hard ball, the chief attraction drew quite a large crowd. Approximately one hundred and fifty cars and trucks were lined along the excellent parking area —commendable improvement of the grounds since my last visit two years ago.

The ball diamond has good light loitering along the northern and eastern portion to keep over enthusiastic fans in their proper place. This will be a perfect set-up when balcony seats are provided for the customers. This community project started by a few Spedden citizens is now a well established public meeting place that is now assisted by the Parks Board. The famous John Hagel the original organizer, has moved to other fields of endeavour but leaves behind him as fine a specimen of community betterment as can be found in any part of Alberta.

AN ALBERTA PAPER SPEAKS on SOCIAL CREDIT

Is This What The People Want?

"Every Social Credit cabinet minister is a crook," is the theme of most of the candidates of all three opposition parties. "They have been dipping out of the public trough long enough," they say. It's time you elected us."

One Alberta newspaper which indulges in such malicious and self-satisfied gossip quickly turned a public, complete and humble apology to the minister affected. Here we see the Calgary Herald has printed a picture of the "country home" of the same minister. Mr Maynard implying that he has more than one. Such inferential abuse is even worse than the open kind, because it is more cowardly.

What about the insinuation in Time magazine that the late Mr Ure made a $300,000 fortune out of five years as minister of agriculture? The astonishing detail is lifted by Conservatives, Liberals and CCFers that the treasury branch was heavily involved in the financing of his farm.

Of course no proof is offered, but everyone "knows" that the charges are perfectly true "I've got it from someone who is right on the inside."

Mr Ure entered the cabinet as a public servant, at a salary of half what he had been earning. Then he requested a farm in the usual manner, partly out of his own accumulated savings, with a substantial loan from an Edmonton branch of a chartered bank, and the balance carried by the party from whom he bought.

After exceptional service in the cabinet and proving beyond one of the best ministers this province has ever had, he was killed in an automobile accident. The farm, livestock and equipment had to be sold to pay off the debts. The net value of the estate accruing to his widow and children is very small indeed, the most authoritative report putting it at $19,000. They would have been much better off financially at this time if he had never gone into the cabinet.

This is all very private business — or should be. The only reasons we bring it up is to try to show that the slimy and unsupported accusation of corruption carried in a prominent magazine and doubtless emanating from the Alberta newspaper office is completely untrue. And yet it is being repeated as fact by unscrupulous politicians in this campaign.

Similar tactics are being used to try to destroy the reputations of other cabinet ministers. But never are facts presented. Always it's a report heard "from the best authority," always gossip, always something that can't be nailed down.

If the above statement on the Ure case is not accepted if it does not answer those who are slyly seeking to discredit his good name, then The Albertan is prepared to go right to Mrs. Ure and ask her for the exact figures.

But why should it be necessary? Why should this newspaper or the writer or anyone else be reported to try to establish the honesty and integrity of anyone in the face of totally unsubstantiated evil rumors being circulated for political purposes? Are there no principles left in politics? Is the slaughtering of the character of persons living and dead smart politics? Is that what the people demand? Is that how they decide their vote?

The Albertan has only respect for those who oppose the government on mature and responsible grounds of policy but there is no word for those who would climb to power by maliciously assailing the integrity of their opponents.

The contract signed by the United Auto Workers with Ford guaranteed him and his fellow workers an income regardless of whether there is work for him to do or not. Mistake To Drop Fair

The Federal authorities will be making a serious mistake if they drop the International Trade Fair at Toronto. The Financial Post

In the eight years of its existence, this institution has built up for Canada millions of dollars worth of prestige and goodwill among world customers As well, it has been directly instrumental in bringing new plants and new processes to the country For a young and expanding nation like Canada and particularly for a country so vitally concerned with international trade, the Trade Fair is first-class national gesture.

Canada Imports Rhesus Monkeys From India For Polio Vaccine

Seen upon their arrival in cages at airport at Malton, Ont., Rhesus monkeys from India's jungles are used in Salk polio vaccine. The first shipment to Canada directly from India, worth about $20,000, they are flown to Connaught Laboratories at the University of Toronto, to be used in the production of anti-polio vaccine. In the past, the animals were imported from the U.S. a few at a time. The new plan to import them in large numbers—this shipment numbered 4 thousand — directly from India was drawn up at a meeting of representatives of the health, agriculture, trade and commerce and external affairs departments in a move to speed production of the Salk vaccine.

The answer is simple. The nervous system — brain, spinal cord and nerves — controls the function of every gland, muscle and tissue cell in the body. If pressure or tension was touch, taste, smell, hearing and sight and transmits these impressions

SUMMERFALLOW—GOOD OR BAD

In a recent issue of "Seedtime and Harvest", some of the latest principles of soil management were discussed. With the 1955 crop of fallow preparations soon to begin a thorough consideration of the principles would be well worthwhile.

Conducting Personal Weeds Destruction: Last time we discussed perennial weeds here in connection with stem-borne. Conceptual means may end-over it necessary to eradicate these fallow land again and again this summer for seeds to eradicate these pests. Some of the bad effects of extensive cultivation need to be considered here. Overworking the summer-fallow can be disastrous in three ways: First, it will prevent the "starvation" of perennial weeds. Second, overworking the soil can result in serious wind and water erosion. And third, a good deal of needless expense may be incurred.

Cultivation to destroy perennial weeds should be made at about two-week intervals. This allows the top-growth to produce considerable top-growth thereby expending a good deal of the stored-up food supplies in the roots—a starvation process.

Provide Protection. A summer-fallow which kills a few perennial weeds and results in the loss of many dollars worth of plant food per acre through erosion is not good business. The actual plant food removed by crop production alone is not great; and it is replaceable. However, the loss of an inch of good topsoil through erosion represents the loss of enough plant food to grow at least fifteen 30-bushel acres of wheat, plus a loss of that topsoil which in total mixture nurtures to produce.

A good summerfallow kills weeds but above all it prevents erosion.

Heaving Rail Derails Freight Train Throwing Six Cars In Right of Way, 1 Mile East of Owlseye, Monday

Five Crew Members Escape Injury When Engine Coupling Breaks From Tender

Five crew members on freight train No. 8m narrowly missed serious injury when a heaving rail overtook the water tank and derailed six cars into a deep ditch onto the right of way about a mile east of Owlseye, Monday afternoon at 4.30 p.m.

Eyewitness evidences on the view of the accident seems to indicate that a rail had in the grade, loosened the ties which heaved the rail up and sideways. The engine rode over the hump but the tender and the tank car derailed and were dragged for about 650 feet before the tanker tore itself loose to entangle into the rails, pulling several other cars behind it.

Practically the engine broke loose at the coupling and dragged on in a slow a few yards away. Crews were able to lift the tender back on the track and the engine proceeded on to St. Paul.

When asked how it happened, by reporter Malcolm Gould, Engineer Corzie Chappelle could give little explanation, but said he "felt a rough ride in an engine dragging 16 cars, six of which are skidding along the line and the road bed." He considered himself and the two others, Brakeman Armand Cyrenne and brakeman George Brisk who were riding the engine, very fortunate the tender ripped off at the coupling before jackknifing into the ditch, and pulling the remaining cars along to suffer the consistent the colliding respect

Conductor Ted Watkins and brakeman Art Heatherington, the other two crew members, were riding the caboose at rear of the train and felt only the jar of the impact.

Bus car immediately behind the tanker was the only car carrying a cargo made up of four automobiles for a local dealer in St. Paul. It turned over on its side in the ditch. Three other cars involved in the derailment were empty stock cars on their way to St. Paul to pick up livestock for the Tuesday market.

Where the main part of the derailment took place the track for a jumbled mass of twisted steel ripped from the road bed, apparently by some gargantuan hand with the aim of twisting a scotch stick. Trees wheels and boxcar accessories are piled up in a confusion of debris by the borrs of the twisting cars.

The Canadian Pacific repair train from Edmonton, with its crew was on the scene at about 10 o'clock yesterday and by ten Tuesday morning the track was clear for normal traffic.

This is the third such derailment on that stretch of grade within a month. Two previously occurred half mile east of Abilene, one about six months ago and the other a year previous.

HONEST MEN STILL LIVE TODAY

Joe Krawlowsky, Manager of St. Paul Feed Mill was happy to report that human nature is still basically good and there are still honest gents in the world.

Advertising last week, through the columns of this paper, he called for return of a tire, tube and wheel complete from his truck. Value estimated at about $12.00. The stripped wheel was returned by the honesty and co-operation.

COMING EVENTS

United Grain Growers meeting to be held in Elk Point Tuesday, July 5th., 2.30 p.m. at the Legion Hall.

Exhibition Dates Set For Friday, Sat. August 5, 6

New Entries To Conform With Times

The St. Paul Exhibition, St. Paul's biggest and most important annual event, will be held on Friday and Saturday, August 5 and 6th.

The Agricultural Society, sponsor of the Exhibition have completed plans for the coming Fair. To keep pace with the times many changes and improvements have been planned, particularly in the addition of a number of new attractions. Horse events are, those outside fair, will be made fair's equipment farm truck and exciting farm open special events and week nights all these to the Exhibition.

Prize list for the Society is offering over 18,000 in prize money with best nouveau from and chinese addins, another adds in open list prizes. It is felt that with this amount of prize money offered, there should be a sharp increase in the number of exhibits to make the 1938 Fair the largest on record.

Entertainment for the patrons will be supplied by the same firms as in the past years, namely Copeland Shows Midway and Bob D. Pardo's KDS Enterprises Grandstand performance. The Grandstand show will again be the very best attainable, as Mr DiPardo is reputed to have the best such show on the road.

Prize List books are presently being distributed and anyone wishing to obtain one may do so by writing Mrs Hilda Powers, Secretary-Treasurer or calling at the M.D office or the D.A.'s Office in the Provincial Building.

Brownies End Season's Work

The first St. Paul Brownie pack concluded its season's activities by a picnic at St. Vincent Lake on Saturday last.

Brownies were in full attendance and did ample justice to the good things provided.

This concludes a very successful season. Keen interest was maintained throughout the year — the attendance being 95 per cent.

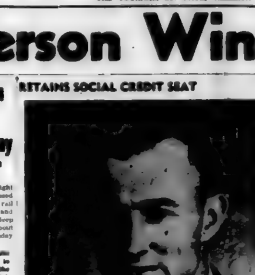
The Brownie Pack and leaders wish to thank the Local Committee for the fund provided, St. Paul Beverages Ltd for the donation of soft drinks and Mr. Cathcart, Mr Morson, Mr. Bigelow, Mr. Fox for transportation to and from the Lake.

Chicken Coop Burns

Intense noon-day heat, Tuesday too much for Bill Chadwick's Coop. It flared up in a conflagration which added up to Brosseau's discomfort but was quickly brought under control.

Located in the corner of the back yard, the old building was completely destroyed with-out causing any damage to the surroundings. Abandoned — no chickens were fried. Cause of the fire is unknown.

REMAINS SOCIAL CREDIT SEAT



Mr Ray Reierson, who, for the second time has carried the Social Credit Standard successfully and been elected to represent the constituency of St. Paul in the next Legislature. He defeated two opponents, Mr. J. R. Sweeney of Vilna, Liberal and Mr. Daniel Thompson, St. Paul Labor Progressive. He had a majority of 668 over his nearest opponent, Mr. Sweeney.

St. Paul M.D. Assessment

In keeping with the general policy of reassessment at 10-year intervals, the Municipal District of St Paul has, called for a general assessment, which will include a reassessment of all farm lands and hamlet parcels in the M.D.

The purpose of the reassessment is to compensate for any changes that have occurred since the last assessment. It is particularly timely and necessary because of boundary changes with new areas being added to the M.D. where the general level of assessment may not be entirely the same as in the rest of the M.D.

The Assessment will be carried out by three assessors. Sheriff Powers was named Chief Assessor with W. L. Scrivor, Enfranchisement and L. V. Bisette of St Paul as assistants. During the past few weeks these men have undergone intensive training in assessment procedures. Their training included a course in real identification at the University of Alberta and field training under C. J. Powers, Supervisor with the Department of Municipal Affairs Field Staff.

To ensure that the assessment in the M.D. compares favorably with other M.D.'s in the Province, the work will be conducted under the supervision of the Inspectors of Assessments of the Assessment Branch of the Department of Municipal Affairs.

Anyone to information received from the assessors if there is no indication that the general level of assessment will be either raised or lowered. The general level will depend entirely on the level set by Department officials who use the same basis for the entire province. Any modifications applied to the basis value to allow for soil variations, climatic conditions and other pertinent factors.

Powers also stated that the farm land assessment is based on the same general method as used in soil surveys. Soil samples and tests will be taken at a number of places on each parcel to ascertain that soil variations on each quarter will be taken into account.

The assessors are presently working in the area south of Elk Point which was acquired from the M.D. of Vermilion River They will then proceed North and West until work is completed.

FUA Convention In St. Paul July 5

The Annual District Convention of District 4 of the Farmers Union of Alberta will be held at St. Paul Parish Hall, July 5

District 4 comprises the territory from Bonnyville to Cold Lake and Cherry Grove and has a former membership of 1,000 members Mr Henry Yaine, President of the F.U.A. and Mrs. C.Y. Armstrong, President of the Women's Section will address the Convention. A separate session is planned for the Juniors at which the F.U.A. Junior President will be on hand.

W. S Scott, the District President, will give the Annual Report, after Mr. A. Mary's, the District Director, resigned to enter the political field. The financial Report will be presented for adoption. Resolutions from the F.U.A. Locals will be presented to the Convention for consideration.

A large attendance of delegates is expected and a lively interest in the business from the district members in the area All farmers are welcome as visitors.

Hunters, Crows Reduced At Shoot

The delayed crow shoot held last Sunday was reduced in the number of hunters and birds bagged. Reasons for poor weather conditions this spring the outing had to be postponed to a week-sunday day when many preferred to be members of the benches to the trials of the green foliage which provided natural protection to the black predatory birds.

However, thirty hunters turned out to bag 6 crows and many magpies. Twelve aims hunted under the steady sights and fire of Steve Prodaniuk of Lake Eliza who registered the biggest kill.

The shoot is sponsored annually by the St. Paul Fish and Game association. President Phil Gorniak was in charge with Wilf Arsenault who had lunch and refreshments ready for the hunters at the Three Mile Lake residence where final account was made and expense of the day discussed over a chunk of sausage.

Jeevenger Wins Bonnyville Seat

Mr. John Jeevenger, Liberal Candidate in the neighbouring constituency of Bonnyville defeated his opponents Mr. Fred Mosher, Social Credit and L. F. Kravchuk Independent BC. Glendon.

Count was Jeevenger 2317, Mosher 1511, Krowchuk 778. 46 of 46 polls reported.

Gets Majority of 668 Over Sweeney, Gamache To Represent Constituency Of St. Paul For Second Term Of Office

The people of St. Paul constituency have spoken in favor of Mr Ray Reierson and elected him for a second term of office in the 13th Alberta Legislature expressing forever their satisfaction of his efforts during the past four years and endorsing the principles of the Social Credit. Provincial Government movement now under attack by the opposition during the campaign.

He defeated Mr. J. R. Sweeney, Liberal of Vilna and Mr Dan Gamache, Labor Progressive, St. Paul. Final count before press deadline with 46 of 53 polls yet to report gave Reierson a majority of 668. He polled 1,483 votes, Sweeney 1,000 and Gamache had 115 deposit. Another 52 votes, less than one fifth of the total required.

Liberals were credited with the lead at the opening count, but 461 behind when the St. Paul polls gave Reierson a majority of 146 and Sweeney received only a 27 majority on Vilna, his home town

Comparing Mr Reierson's victory with the 1935 election when he made his first and against Loyal Fortier we find that at that time he gained 2581 votes against 2133 for a majority of 448, indicating that he has gained in his three years of public life. One vote in 1935 was cast for Independent Social Credit. A slight increase of 203, (of course counting the six polls straggling)

The trend of the election generally indicates that the Social Creditors were swept into power on a 63 per cent popular vote compared with 56 per cent in 1935. It is too early to determine how many waverers will accept but the swearing they had gained at last were leading at first. The majority will be cut down and the opposition may with powerful pen to fifteen votes on the left.

All Set For Ball Tournament On July 1st and 2nd

Rollie Miles Guest In Attendance

If you haven't planned to attend St. Paul's $3,000 Baseball Tournament July 1st and 2nd, don't. It's the biggest sporting event in the history of Northeastern Alberta and arrangements have already been made for something new every hour on the hour.

Rollie Miles, famous baseball star who is considered the best all round baseball player in Canada, will be present to help open the tournament. Miles is the greatest baseball player to ever don a baseball uniform in Canada and is considered by many baseball fans as the greatest baseball player in the world. Miles is coming to St. Paul at the request of the Tournament Committee and will be the guest of honor at the baseball banquet to be held in the Legion Hall on Saturday evening, July 2nd. Miles will be accompanied by his wife and baby daughter.

Miles is coming to St. Paul at his own expense and will be the guest of the Tournament Committee during his stay in St. Paul. Miles will be available for autographs and will be glad to meet baseball fans and baseball players.

Miles will be the guest of honor at the baseball banquet to be held in the Legion Hall on Saturday evening, July 2nd. Miles will be accompanied by his wife and baby daughter.

Miles is coming to St. Paul at the request of the Tournament Committee and

BRITAIN EXPORTS PRIZE BULL

Valued at more than $6,000, "Prentice Boy" surveys the village from the top of a silo platform as he arrives by air from Nova Lodge, London. The three-year-old prize bull, weighing a lively 1,764 pounds, was shipped to Fred Lucas of Bainbridge.

WEDDING

St. Helda's RC Church was a scene of a pretty wedding when Miss Anna Mae Devine daughter of Mr and Mrs James Devine of St Brides was united in marriage to Mr Maurice Gaudet son of Mr and Mrs. Arthur Gaudet of Thorsby.

Mr. Father Vaz c

Wedding took place June 14 The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a floor length gown of nylon net and lace over satin. She wore a tiara of pearls and lace and carried a cascade of carnations and pearls with a floral bouquet.

Bridesmaids were Miss Kathleen Devine, sister of the bride Miss Lucette Gaibault, friend of the groom and Miss Sara Devine, sister of the bride. They were dressed alike in floor length gowns of nylon net and lace carrying bouquets to match

Attending the groom were Mr. John Gaudet, brother of the groom, Mr. John Devine, brother of the bride and Mr. Tony Donald, friend of the bride

The bride's mother wore a black dress complemented by pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses

The groom's mother wore a navy dress, also centred by pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses

A reception was held in the church hall at the bride's home for a large number of guests and in the evening at the groom's home

A large number of guests attended the dance which was later held in Park Ha

The couple will take up residence in St Paul

WEDDING

Rainbow United Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on June 18th the participants being Mr Bernard Charlton Vange, son of Mr and Mrs Oswal Vange of Hemsburg and Miss Evelyne Ruth McFadden daughter of Mr A L McFadden of Rainbow

Rev Father Pannier officiated

The bride's gown was a candlelight length white nylon net over and veil She carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations and ferns. The bridesmaid, Miss Joyce Vinge, sister of the groom wore a pale mauve net and taffeta cocktail length gown and net headpiece to match, the carried Shasta daisies yellow

The bride was given in marriage by her father while her brother acted as best man During the signing of the register, the bride's little sister sang a solo.

The reception was held in the Rainbow weiner which was beautifully decorated and the lunch which was served was delicious. The lunch was sponsored by the Ladies Aid. The first toast proposed, by the bridegroom was to her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth then the bride's brother proposed a toast to the bride The bride's father answered to the toast with a few well chosen words, wishing the couple happiness in their marriage life

The couple will take up residence in Calgary after spending a week honeymooning at the vacation beauty spots of Alberta.

Celebrate 25th Anniversary

The Legion Hall at Ashmont was the scene of a very happy gathering on Friday, June 24th

The many friends of Mr and Mrs Joe Hampshire pleasantly surprised them on their 25th anniversary

The afternoon began with a very responsive sing-song led by Mrs. Fred Smith — "When I Grow Too Old to Dream" was especially dedicated to the happy Hampshires. Following this they were each presented with a corsage.

A delicious tea was served from an attractive table centered with the anniversary cake, made by Mrs. Wm. Stanley.

During the tea Mr. Cubitt Ashdown spoke briefly in presenting a silver tea service to Mr and Mrs. Hampshire from their friends Mr Hampshire very ably replied.

We all wish to thank the Harticks, Ashdowns and Burtchaders who planned such a pleasant afternoon, and those who helped with the serving.

Nature has a most efficient method of warning us that there is something amiss somewhere in the warning signal is Pain.

In many cases we know the cause of the trouble by the location of the pain — in the liver, eye, abdomen or elsewhere. Not so with headaches — they can be caused in almost any disturbance anywhere in the body.

Our first reaction to pain is to find something that will kill it quickly and get on at our usual rapid, if really not a very sensible thing to do, but we do it day after day. We too easily allow Nature to tell us when we are ill and we do not wait to hear it's whisper but wait for it to tell us when that some part of the body is suffering severely, and then the sensible thing to do is to find out what has gone wrong with it.

The nervous system heads the list of health since it controls the ... and ... and ... and

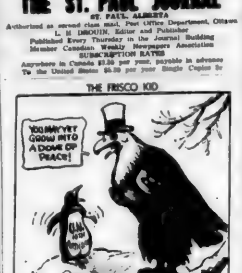
THE FRISCO KID



CIVIC PRIDE

In the past few years Lethbridge, in area and also prominence has increased in stature, thereby changing the appearance of our town considerably. That is especially the case with the many shops in the downtown area. Many individuals who are taking steps to improve their business places are serving a very useful purpose in the surroundings in live in pleasant surroundings is very much worthwhile.

Extra hours also have to be considered out of consideration of the fact that many of these people have to work to be combined with their own problems in beautifying their surroundings, but that of public property and the citizens as a whole who have to live in the vicinity must not respect the right of others — we have such instances.

Town right of ways bordering the streets and avenues have been neglected . . . weeds are allowed to grow quite high, sending into the winds which carry the pests into unfortunate properties. Adjoining neighbours are also guilty of the same crime against each other, placing themselves in a lack of pride in themselves their surroundings and that of the community.

We have received the news that the Town, at a recent meeting has approved the idea of doing some clean-up work of their own on public properties. A moderate program of mowing ditches, etc., will be undertaken.

In addition to this we would suggest co-operation from delinquent neighbours to take out their gardening tools and join us to help St. Paul into a beautiful town place to live. Once you've started, the pride of your accomplishment will carry you away. So further encouragement is to be had in Lindemoyne beauty.

NECESSARY LEGISLATION

The Federal Government's new legislation to give a levelling control on the Canadian end of prices affecting cattle is a step in the right direction but will be accepted in all sensible, farsighted Canadians says The Financial Post.

If B.C.'s Premier Bennet dislikes the fact that I was his deal with Kaiser that limited Ottawa's role in passing the legislation, he has only himself to blame.

Bennett's sincerity got him into a position where he was giving away something definite in return, if not certainly, but for a very dubious merit. Smart traders and good public servants only trade something for something.

U.S. Leader Lee Loevinger, assistant attorney general in charge of anti-trust prosecutions, has proposed to do away with the development of cheap power out in British Columbia but south of the international border. What sense does that make?

In this case, Ottawa's interpretation was useless and vital.

EROSION

According to Gordon H. Sterling, Alberta's Supervisor of Soil Conservation and Weed Control, lands that shall wealthy wisdom have caused considerable damage during the past spring. A good track record with proper soil treatment dating towards Mr. Sterling on the other hand, water courses which have eroded require more than a stubble mulch to hold the soil.

Gully water course should be filled as early in the year after spring run-off as possible. Some of the deeper ones will require rather large industrial machines, but many of the smaller ones can be filled with ordinary machines, such as ploughs, tillers and dusters. A road grader is also very effective and can be used to level the bottom of the ditch when the fill is complete.

The bottom of the ditch should be 15-20 feet wide and level in order that the water does not flow faster. The old grass, suggests Mr. Sterling, should be seeded forage crop mixture and also a light seeding with cereals, which should not be cut. The grass from the cereal crops will form a thatch to protect the soil during the spring run-off times will protect it in future years.

THIS HELPS A LITTLE

Proposed changes in the rules and procedure of the House of Commons as laid before Parliament are not revolutionary suggests The Financial Post.

They will still leave plenty of time for speech-making and dawdling.

But half a loaf is better than nothing, and for any speeding up of the nation's business the public will be thankful.

In the one previous attempts to improve the working of Parliament, one point seems clear enough. If there is to be any substantial reform from the pressure for it must come from outside Parliament. The special committee which worked on the present proposal got very little general encouragement from the House itself. Even the moderate restrictions on speech-making there was a good deal of objection.

School Division Winners In Farm Safety Essay Contest

The Farm Safety Essay Committee of the Alberta Safety Council reports the conclusion of the essay competition for the province. Grand prizewinners were awarded from forty-six school divisions. Approximately thirty-seven thousand five hundred pupils of grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 were eligible to compete.

Grades 5 and 6 comprised one division of the contest and grades 7 and 8 the other. Seven teachers reviewed the entries and Leo Lavoie ended only the best for final judging.

A poster was provided for each room illustrated with various farm accidents. The pupils were free to write their essay on any farm accident caused by farm machinery. A great variety of accidents were discovered and, according to the judges, the quality of writing was good.

School Division prizes consist of attractive wall plaques and a cash prize in school rooms and a smart cash prize for the pupil writing the best essay.

Hon. R. D. Jorgenson, Minister of Welfare, is Honorary Chairman of the Essay Committee. Members are Rudolph Hennig, President of the Alberta School Trustee Association; W. E. Evans, Chief Superintendent of Schools for Alberta; E. B. Swindlehurst, Department of Agriculture; Superintendent H. Wurtzburg and R. P. Lawrence, Alberta Safety Council.

Local winners are as follows: Gloria Hutchuk, Derwent; Mrs. Alice Wrench, teacher. F. Hanchuchuk, Boyt Johnny Blumenson, Vermilion, Mr. R. McMillan, teacher.

STOP, LOOK AND LIVE
By Jolene Simpson

It was a beautiful September morn as the threshing crew wound its way down the old dirt road. The men were busy at the neighbors. The clatter of forks and happy singing men mingled with the songs of the birds to serenade the peaceful morning. The melodious typical of a busy autumn harvest day. Little did they realize that a tragic accident was in the making.

Of their party members would be lying in a clean hospital bed, serenely singing lullabies.

When half an hour the men were busy pitching in the sheaves of wheat while the glorious golden harvest kept mounting, bushel after bushel into the granary. As the day drew on the crew began to feel the ever watchful glance to the autumn sky. The quality clear countenance of Mr. Brown's face turned to a very grave look. There were dark threatening clouds gathering over head. A storm was brewing. If they were to finish before the storm broke upon the men must hurry. This word was quickly conveyed to the bundlemen.

There was no time to groan now, as each minute meant money in the pocket Mr. Brown would gamble the machine while a man running frantically he pulled on to old sprung cart and sweated and prayed, and realizing that what the successful farmer need is never the caution and half the speed. As he bent over to grease the blower pulley, the tremendous belt gripped his collar, battering him to and fro. Soon he could give way, and slumped limply to the ground. Leonard sent incoherent. He was rushed to hospital where he lay in unconscious state for many days.

Air brown, now a most wiser farmer, looks at his scarred fingers and grimly recalls the moment he tried to hurry. Now we all know it impossible to hurry.

STOP, LOOK AND LIVE
By Doris Simpson

On May 16, Mr. Harrison and his son, Billy, were plowing the field to new their grain later that summer. They were busily working when a tree root struck between the two blades of the plow. Billy didn't want to disturb his father by telling him to stop, so he jumped off the tractor, but the roughness of the ground caused Billy to stumble and fall. Suddenly Mr. Harrison heard a scream and turned around quickly to discover his son Billy lying on the ground with his right leg pinned under the plow. Hastily Mr. Harrison stopped the tractor and jumped off to pull Billy up from under the plow. He lifted the plow to discover Billy's leg, cut off just below the knee.

This accident caused a loss of a leg, for his son, as well as expenses involved with Billy's hospitalization.

The accident could have been avoided if Billy had asked his father to stop the tractor instead of jumping off to get the root from between the blades. Furthermore, Mr. Harrison should not have taken Billy along with him on the tractor, as it is impossible to pay close attention to both the work and his son.

TO REPEAT ELSWORTH'S FEAT

The plane shown here is an exact copy of the machine used by Louis Bertal in his historic flight across the Atlantic. It was built at the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art, Calgary, Alta., by a class of industrial students to commemorate the flight. It was started evening on July 30 in Peace. Edmonton pilots to be picked to go on show in Edmonton will depart on August 1 for Montreal and shipped to France—will be met Jean de la Bruyere, St. of Edmonton.

One of the mockery of modern motor cars, one car stands out.
Whether you see it a quarter of a mile down the highway—or watch it flashing past in the line of traffic—there is absolutely no mistaking the beautiful new Pontiac.
Coming, passing or going, it's the one car that carries the great stamp of individuality.
And this wonderful difference in favor of Pontiac goes far beyond appearance.
There's the same superiority in performance.
Put the Pontiac through V8, the Strato-Streak V8 or the Big "8" through their paces on the getaway, for instance—you'll see that you never need do that again! Here's spirit to lift anybody's spirits!
Steering is so easy and nimble that you almost drive with your mind. The ride is as level as a level road.
This is a great car. It's new from the ground up. And assuredly, this gives it a big advantage over all other cars from many automobile manufacturers.
Why don't you get a Pontiac? Come in on the getaway fast next week and Above are Alphonse Fontaine, Marcel Chevrette, district agriculturist, and Leon Fontaine, examining the good silage which they have been using to feed their cows.

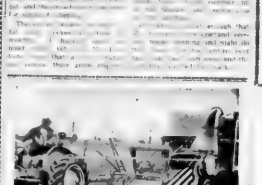
Self-Feeding Silage Given To Beef Cows On Fontain Farm

Building a self-feeding Gate Greatly Reduces Chore Time

The following story is reproduced from the March 1953 issue of the Canadian Feeder. It is a worthy tribute to the progressiveness of one of our district farmers and we publish it for the benefit it should set for other farmers.



THE KEY

to unlock new wealth from your pastures

The splendid, yard-long cylinder in the Allis-Chalmers Forage Harvester is the key to a new system of mechanized grazing that can unlock a wealth of extra forage from your pastures.

When you take your pasture to the cows, its carrying capacity goes up 50 percent. You can chop enough in just a few minutes to satisfy the herd all day.

The operation depends on the smooth cutting of the curved and cupped knives on the rugged 15-inch cylinder. Cutting edges are carbo-nitrite hardened and built-in power sharpeners make it easy to keep them keen and powerful with the chore boy.

Come in. We'd like to show you this power key to extra pasture profit.

Please note that this is the type of Forage Harvester the Pontiacs work with and used to pick silage for the project described in the above story.

IN MEMORIUM

In loving memory of our dear mother who passed away on June 26, 1953.

Three years have passed away and gone
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home to earth
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The house is now a place upon her grave
Very wintry and dreary,
But the love of her who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.

Sadly missed by her loving children, Mr. and Mrs. William Wilds.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank my neighbors and friends for their acts of kindness at the time of the illness and passing of my cousin, Wm. Henderson. Also the undertaker and minister, Mr. Adam and parishioners.

LES DANGERS DES VACANCES

Chaque année, des centaines de Canadiens meurent accidentellement. Pour ne pas augmenter le nombre de ces victimes, suivez quelques simples conseils: Ne nagez jamais seul. Ne nagez pas immédiatement après un repas. Ne plongez pas dans les endroits inconnus. Ne faites pas de canotage en état d'ivresse. Ne vous exposez pas au soleil trop longtemps. Ne faites pas de ski nautique sans être accompagné d'une personne qui connaît bien ce sport. Ne faites pas de plongeon à moins d'être certain de la profondeur de l'eau. Ne vous éloignez pas trop du rivage. Ne faites pas de canotage sans gilet de sauvetage. Ne laissez pas vos enfants jouer près de l'eau sans surveillance. Ne nagez pas pendant l'orage. Ne nagez pas trop longtemps

LETTERS "FARM" AND "FIELD DAYS"

During the next two or three months many Field Days and Farm Tours will be held throughout Western Canada. Most of your local Field Days this year and are the latest developments in farming practices, right in your own district. Plan to attend, support your local Fair.

Field Days. The Experimental Farms, the only three Dominion farms, will be holding Field Days in the districts where improved crop practices will be demonstrated. Soil and conditions Provincial Farms, and other agencies will be holding various types of Field Days both in the country, and at the Agricultural Schools. Attendance at these events gives farmers an opportunity to obtain valuable rural information, through research and demonstration. Agriculture is developing at a tremendous pace these days, and competition on world markets for farm products is severe. It is the farmer who keeps abreast of modern farm methods who will win in the end.

Farm Situation Plots. Each year, about 1,500 Crop Variety plots, which include a large number of wheat, oats, barley and flax, are placed and cared for by Line Elevator Agents throughout Western Canada. Farmers, 4-H Club members, and others are cordially invited to inspect these plots and compare the performance of the different varieties in their own district. See the nearest agent in charge.

OBITUARY

Mr William W Anderson of Armstrong passed away Tuesday, June 21 at 6 a.m., after an all winter's illness. He took to his bed for the last two months and was always cheerful and never complained.

Mr. Anderson was born in Colchester, Ontario December 18, 1874. The only child of William and Jeanette Anderson, he married Agnes Allen of Williamsburg and 3 and a half years of age. He then lived with his grand-parents Mr. and Mrs. Anderson married again and took him home.

He is survived by his three half sisters and brother all live in Michigan, also a cousin Harry Anderson of Lucknow, Ont. another cousin, Mrs. Nellie Coleman of New Liskeard, Ont. and the members of the office Commanding R.A.F. Station, Cold Lake, Alberta

Mr. Anderson, on his earlier years, threshed in North Dakota before coming to Alberta. He was also employed for a number of years with the CPR on Rockyford and Drumheller Subdivision at Bow River Dam. He then came to Armstrong and farmed for many time this year, as he sold his farm and bought a little acreage at Armstrong.

He will be sadly missed in the district, as he had a host of friends. The sunny disposition won him many.

Funeral was held Thursday, June 23rd from Elk Point United Church Rev W. Adam Officiated, buried in Elk Point cemetery

Wait until all danger of frost is past before setting out tomato plants. Check your temperature and play safe. In fact, you'll probably harvest a better crop if you wait until the weather is warm before setting out tomatoes.

Here are a few additional safety measures.

After planting, cover each seedling with a flowerpot, as shown in the Garden-Graph. The pot will protect the plant from all the sun until danger of wilting is past. Take off the pots at night and on cloudy days.

Protect the plants against cutworms by wrapping a paper collar around each plant, as illustrated. The collar should be about 2 inches above ground and 1 inch below the soil surface.

Space tomato plants well apart. Even earth either. Early tomatoes are not to be staked, should be set at least 36 inches apart and vary, as illustrated. If you intend to stake them, 24 inches apart will be enough.

Place each young plant in a hole filled with water and press on the loose soil firmly about the roots. A balanced fertilizer mixed in the water will hasten growth.

When you stake tomatoes use stout stakes some six feet long. Set them 12 inches into the ground. When fastening the plants to the stakes tie with strips of soft cloth.

The Traffic Safety Lane
By J. W. McKAY
Superior Highway Traffic Board, Edmonton

Continuing on with the subject of disabilities, we come to one that is very prominent in modern life, especially in our driving life. That is another disability which is a great killer on our highways and certainly one that contributes in a greater portion of our accidents

Some statisticians have been able to put their finger on alcohol as a menace, much has been said about drinking and driving Possibly the phrase "if you drink don't drive" is the one that it causes bitterness and resentment but, if we are interested in Highway Safety, I'm sure that we can over come both the subject and possibly learn more about it. If education can be gained in the account, no matter how small on the subject, then an accomplishment has been achieved. So let us here and now take another look.

Members Of The United Church Bid Farewell To Rev. Taylor

On Tuesday evening a very few gossip gathered in the United Church Hall to bid farewell to Rev Roy and Mrs. Taylor. The Ladies of the W.A. served a Pot Luck supper which proved delectable and everyone enjoyed the fine fellowship of the supper.

Mr W G Fuller, then gave a reading appropriate to the occasion following which he made a presentation of a Mercury limited United Church Hymnary to Mr Taylor on behalf of the congregation. In a well-worded speech he spoke of the work of Mr Taylor and Mr. Taylor during their two years support and expressed the deep regret that Mr Taylor was leaving for a field of service at the request of the Home Mission Board of the United Church. He repaired along with the Congregation that this was an effort an opportunity when Mr Taylor was well qualified to fill On the fly-leaf of the Hymnary were inscribed these words Presented to Rev. Roy C Taylor by St Paul United Church Congregation in grateful acknowledgement of his unparalled Christian leadership on the St Paul, Ashmont, Elk and Saleh Lake charges, and manifold acts of Christian service to members, adherents and friends of all charges, and especially to our Indian brethren on Saleh Lake and Goodfish Lake Missions during his ministry from July 1st, 1953 to June 30th., 1955."

Invited W. D. Guthrie, Sec Board of Stewards Mrs. Taylor received a presentation from the W.A.

On Sunday evening, after the evening service, a Social Hour was held in the Ashmont United Church attended by a large number of the friends of Rev. Roy and Mrs Taylor Mr Bobby, an ardent fan was well down the front to express regret on the departure of Mr and Mrs. Taylor He stressed the fact that the Minister and he "Liked the pig's ear" in a different style, and had been an important cog while attending there. An adult baptism was held and a reception of five members into membership in the United church.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were presented with an auto rug and a rug container attended with the good wishes of the people of Ashmont in their new sphere of service at Duffield, Alta. Refreshments were served at the close of the social by the Ladies of the W.A.

Transatlantic Telephone Project Begins in 1956.

—Central Press Canadian

The initial segment of the world's first trans-Atlantic telephone cable is landed ashore from the largest cable-laying ship afloat, the British Monarch (background), in ceremonies held at the fishing village of Clarenville, Newfoundland, Canada, that will rent an estimated $40,000,000 and is expected to be completed late in 1956. Cable is to stretch from Clarenville to Oban, Scotland, a span of 2,250 statute miles.

Health Practices To Prevent Teeth Decaying

By Dr. L. G. MANDEN

We've all watched houses being built and noted how the framework is set up, as soon as the foundation is complete. Then workmen apply layers of plaster on the inside of the framework and often stucco on the outside.

Now, this is all very much like what happens when teeth are being built before they come through baby's gums. First a framework is laid down — an outline of the shape of the tooth. Then an army, or rather two armies of worker cells start bringing dozens of material on the framework. One army works inside the framework, building inside the other, like the stucco workmen, applies layers of hard material on the outside. Well these interesting worker cells in have nothing more to say about future issues.

Everyone knows that workmen must be well fed and cared for, and they must be enough good material on hand for them to work with. Otherwise, the job will not be well done. That applies just as well to the worker cells that build teeth. There must be plenty of nourishment for the worker cells, and there must be enough good material for them to use.

This naturally brings us to the subject of pre-natal before birth care of the expectant mother.

The foreman controlling the job of building baby's teeth can only be the mother. She must supply the food to keep the worker cells active and healthy, and see that there is more than enough good building material available.

We have all been to houses where we have noticed large cracks in the plaster. We've seen stucco jobs on the outside walls that were far from perfect too. If these faults have been very obvious, we assume that something went wrong somewhere during the building process. Perhaps the workmen weren't well cared for, or possibly the supply of building material ran short, or was not of the best quality.

That can and does happen to teeth too. Small cracks appear in the surfaces, because the worker cells were not properly nourished or because of some interruption in the flow of building supplies. The next article will explain how these faults or cracks may bring much trouble in later years.

Lloyd A. Bartling Returns To Elk Point From Brazil Employment

Lloyd A Bartling, raised and schooled at Elk Point has returned home for a short visit before going to Australia on a two year contract to search for oil

At the age of 14, when school finished off for rest of June, he left for Waterways where he undertook a private trail cut a road that travelled from Waterways to Fort Smith Portage NWT and terminated in Grand until school opened September 1 then returning to finish his grade 12 at the age of 17 and joining the Air Force as a pilot. The war was on and he received his wings. The Air Force was in need of observers so he was enlisted with 18 other pilot of the year. He joined the observers training and took to the air as P/O

One of the closest men that he can remember was when his Air Crew was flying and ran into a bad electrical storm and the plane was struck. The radio blew up, because of the power surge of the operator leaving the plane to fly home on a star. Lloyd told the pilot to get above the storm as much as possible and when he did, Lloyd lined up a star and with the aid of his map reckoned the plane to be 75 miles from home.

Following the end of the war he spent one year in Calgary on the technical school training which repair work and returned to Elk Point for such a time as he was operated for about 1 year Ernie Kline of Edmonton offered him a job repairing radios, clocks and watches. He closed up shop and went to the city where he worked for two years and made his jewellery box for Lorraine.

Lloyd being an outdoor boy didn't like inside work so he sought employment with Geophysical Service Inc and started working around Lacombe. The company, searched for oil over across Alberta, Sask., Manitoba and North Dakota, in the winter they worked at lower Hay Lake, and Port St. John.

Following as an account taken from the Geophysical Magazine Section Team

Selena, Para, Brazil, the Amazon Valley has been conquered, she has been made to give up her wealth An 800 barrel well is producing oil which looks like it flows naturally. The crude is a little darker than Lloyd says and is of paraffin base in char Folita, she's a beauty They state we G.S.I's on the Valley have the story of hardships and obstacles of perseverance and overcoming on Hilly—jungle, of mosquitoes which can breed a pint in a day, of which looks like single rod that can drive a stake deep, the story of a place that separates the men from the boys that big Bus, he would have died me up me quick I wouldn't be here to tell the story."

While there the crew lived on the Amazon in a large cabin boat The boat was much cooler to live in besides getting the mosquitoes under control and malaria. Last Christmas Lloyd says the temperature was 110 degrees.

Natives of Brazil are a happy people and most of them are also lazy When a young couple get married they build a house of palm leaves and palm leaves, live together with other. They head rubbers mostly of brazil nut tree to wood, butter pelts fur and many of the other fruits which are out in Canada coffee is cheap in Brazil fifteen to twenty cents a pound and the natives make a very strong brew.

When Lloyd was returning by plane, it was grounded for two days at Cuba, on account of bad flying weather Lloyd went into the night factors of Havana and watched them make cigars. He also bought his Dad A J Bartling a box of cigars right off the wrapper

Lloyd has now left for his new job at Perth, Australia He sent Vancouver by TCA will stop in Honolulu for one day then continue to Perth where he will start his work on an unknown

Best of luck Lloyd in your new venture

JAYCEES JUST CAN'T WIN

All the farmers in this district have to do when they want a good turn is to phone the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce to request a [illegible] and it will turn a few days before, raring and ready to go.

Mind you, nature is only change to compare the value of the [illegible] at last at one time it was a very [illegible] and a mint struggle, the past few years, it was a modest [illegible] but now we are signed on the dotted line for once, a small have been encouraging to make a success in our sports day.

If you don't agree with us close contact with the Jaycees and witnessed how hard many of them worked to organize and complete [illegible] this campaign would be very misinformed.

In the case of the judges, it took them three weeks to make the [illegible] best in public for eating Pounding mustaches after [illegible] almost a day. Just like beating your head against a brick wall.

In passing, we would like to recognize the work of prominent [illegible] who took the lead and the brain of the [illegible] with Mike Pangrik, chairman of the Bingo Hall, many a hard night in the arena supervising operations; Elma Lonchurst, in charge of the Queen's Ballot and Dance; Lavel J. Poirier handling the baseball end of it, the Jayettes, headed by Mrs. L. Poirier and helped by Mrs. Rose Bugon, Ann Trudeau and many others whose tasks at times disappointed and tried their patience.

As a Jaycee member we faced one of the most bitter experiences of our lives . . . the wrath of an unreasonable and unreasonable mob. Faced with the prospects of $1500 deficit at the car bingo, the proposition was advanced to [illegible] the cash, but the fact remained that if it failed [illegible] would have to make a quick exit out the back door through nature service to try to find a place to [illegible] to [illegible] with him, trample him, gouge him, so that he can never get up again.

If we lifted more than veil of civilized restraint, in this [illegible] we might find that atrocities of concentration camps are possible. The wonder of the world cannot live at peace with themselves when people within a nation, a province, among communities and within the [illegible] will not be generous toward each other.

Of course, had the Jaycees been backed by a better representation of St Paul supporters at the Bingo, they might have received more sympathy than the [illegible] one apiece for the one day ball tournament. The few St. Paulites [illegible] to show up. Their presence could have made the difference even in the face of the washout, to future operations in the black.

Three hundred more persons at the bingo would have [illegible] even. A rough estimate indicates that hardly a hundred [illegible] attended.

Hence, we stand that kind attitude we would recommend that the next of the Tournament be reduced in size and pace by [illegible] for the organization to have [illegible] to make a profit [illegible] Most national [illegible] organizations [illegible] and [illegible] business men also are interested [illegible] in the [illegible] though.

It is only when we lose something that we later appreciate its value. Give it thought St Paul

NO LOCAL SUPPORT

Editor,
St. Paul Journal,
St Paul, Alberta.

Dear Sir:

In regards to the first of July Car Bingo [illegible] by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of St Paul, I personally know the amount of work and effort that went into the project with the idea in mind of liquidating delinquent debts with local business establishments as well as furthering the improvement of the arena for the benefit of St. Paul people. These debts were incurred last winter from the sponsoring and [illegible] of hockey in St. Paul.

The total attendance was 850 odd people, mostly from out of town. The local people being contemptous by their absence. What is the matter with the local citizens that they do not support a thing of this nature when it is there and [illegible] to their children's benefit?

I understand from good authority that one of the local beer parlors took in approximately $900.00 and the other one took in that much if not more. Obviously some things are more important to some people than supporting worthwhile community projects.

I am not a Junior Chamber of Commerce member,

Yours truly,
S. B. COOPER

Mrs. Ivy Gould Passes Away

In June 12 Mrs. Ivy Gould, 44, of St. Paul Alberta, died in a North Battleford Hospital after an illness of nine months. Rev. A. M. Legge conducted the funeral service which was held on Wednesday, June 15, in St. Paul's Anglican Church in the city. Members of the Loyal and Royal Lodge were in attendance, and conducted their burial ritual. Miss Dorothy Yorkston sang "The Old Rugged Cross." Interment was made in North Battleford cemetery.

Mrs. Gould was born in South Edmonton, on January 14, 1907, and came to Canada with her parents in 1926. She was married in St. Paul's Anglican Church to Malcolm A. Gould on Christmas Day, 1926. She was a member of St. Paul's Girls' Circle of the W. A. and of the Emerald Rebekah Lodge.

Surviving are her husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Lane, North Battleford; two sons, Ray of Paul, 14, and Wesley of North Battleford; one daughter, Mrs. Ben Rondeau of new brunswick, Cyril Lane of Vancouver; two sisters, Mrs. Harold White of Mrs. V. E. Greenwood, both of North Battleford, and one grandchild.

Pallbearers were Messrs. Geo. Grey, Bert Verhoey, Charlie Bleasdell, A. Belsgeder, Lloyd Sparks and Fred Saxton.

Mr. Gould is CNR Roadmaster in St. Paul and Mrs. Gould lived here for three years prior to her illness.

STARTS LAWSUIT AGAINST MINISTER

Instigator of an unusual lawsuit is Mrs. H. Record of Woodstock, Ont., shown with her daughter. She is claiming damages for libel and slander from Ray Ridley II Latimer, minister of Oxford Baptist church, and eight deacons. Principal exhibit in her suit is a letter from Mr Latimer in which "impropriety" was supposed to have been seen with a gentleman friend of her husband. Mrs. Record says that as a result of the church officials' attitude other people in the town shunned her.

Facts On Automobile Insurance For Alberta Car Operators

Parts of this article are generated to you at the request of all full time general insurance agents in St. Paul.

(3) The rates in Saskatchewan, Alberta, Compulsory and Package Policy are, in many cases, only the starting rates. For a minor at fault accident or one failing to stop at a sign — there is $10 deducted from the settlement in normal time. For two such accidents, the northern is $25. If a car has two drivers and each has two such accidents in the year, the insurance ends in Saskatchewan become $100, instead of $35. In Alberta under the Safety-Responsibility Plan, the individual costs would be about $150.

(4) The Saskatchewan rate provides no rebate for winter driving despite the fact that most of Saskatchewan's accidents occur in winter. Alberta not only gives a great many cars the Saskatchewan "No Claim" rebate but gives them one half a year only.

(5) Saskatchewan gives no rebate up to 45 per cent of the cost and Alberta gives none at all. Saskatchewan gives no rebate for collision coverage to the car owner — that is, the owner of the car himself. Alberta gives a rebate of 10 per cent. Saskatchewan gives no rebate for fire, theft or transportation coverage. Alberta gives 10 per cent rebate on all these coverages.

(6) To some extent at least, the Saskatchewan system is actually financed by the Alberta and other companies through the overwriting of a low risk in charge to Saskatchewan. Anywhere else in the world it is an established fact that when insurance rates have part of the same risk, each will make a proportionate contribution on the speed of a claim to Alberta here so, however, the car accident that when a person has private insurance as well as compulsory insurance, the private insurance pays only after the compulsory insurance has been used up. Saskatchewan residents have no "No Claim" rebate on their private insurance for a year's driving in Alberta. Alberta residents have to pay only half a year's rebate on private insurance for Saskatchewan. Saskatchewan gives no rebate for fire, theft or transportation coverage. Alberta gives a 10 per cent rebate on all these coverages.

(7) Saskatchewan rates fluctuate violently from year to year. The year increases ranged up as high as 60 per cent. In Alberta the increases ranged as high as 100 per cent. Insurance rates everywhere are supposed to be based on experience of the past three years. The government in Saskatchewan has consistently ignored Alberta experience in setting Saskatchewan rates. The public did not know that Saskatchewan rates were increasing much more than Alberta rates. In Saskatchewan, rates increased automatically with the increase in the cost of living. Alberta rates have automatic increases only when the experience of the province justifies them. Saskatchewan insurance companies are not required to pay taxes to the province. Alberta insurance companies pay a premium tax of 3 per cent

Let's Eat

BY IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"Welcome, I have the honor to extend the newest thing on the food horizon—the pre-wrapped paper plate."

Picnic Food Wrap

"Reynolds Metalwrap (this is a pronounce) paper plate (the H pronounced as the three serious words) is designed for picnic food. Let a paper plate serve as the wrapping for the picnic plates ahead, and refrigerate them until ready to go."

That is an idea with great possibilities, I feel." I told him "If the sandwiches, brownies and cookies assembled on Reynolds thin paper plates could be wrapped and frozen many days in advance—the same days in holiday. The home would then within 30 minutes ready to eat."

Husky Sandwiches

"All of the foods on this plate, except the cookies, would be suitable for freezing. Madame do have her husky beef filled sandwiches pickles and America's favorite chocolate-nut raisin cookies, and freshly prepared stuffed eggs. Limit and a cold drink for a fine meal."

However here's a tip for the ladies! More husbands will be in favor of parties if the sandwiches are tender and contain as much meat as they usually would eat at the dinner table."

Husky Beef Sandwich Filling: Prepare as much for as possible from 2 to 6 lb. boiling beef. Place the meat in a kettle. Add 4 c. boiling water, 1 sliced peeled onion, 2 tsp. salt, ½ tsp. mixed pickling spice tied in a piece of cheesecloth and 1 tsp. monosodium glutamate.

Cover and simmer 3 hrs., or until fork tender. Most of the liquid will evaporate. Then the meat into small pieces. Boil down the liquid to make ½ c. Stir into the meat. Put into a refrigerator dish, cover and chill before using.

Correspondence

Dear Editor:

Somehow lately, I just couldn't resist writing this letter to your paper.

After sizing up the situation in our fair town, thought about the pro's and con's, I finally made up my mind to write for the reading public of our fair town, for I should say a week-to-more on what is being done with the taxpayers money, for the maintenance of our town.

How long are the people going to put up with side street filthy-ness like we're having now? The street looked fairly good when we passed in the form of sidewalks — how, oh, what about the sidewalks for the quick grass which covers them. Many places there are holes under our walks, which should be repaired before the walks crack or cave in.

Coming from the front streets to the back alley's — alley's, you may call them, but who can see them for the four feet of quack grass growing in them? This is shameful to us who like to think we are so proud of our town.

We have spent a great deal of money trying to make our drainage system more perfect, well how can it be when all this has there to be parked in the spring causing drainage to go through or staying in our lots.

It may be our Council may think it would cost a little money to hire a couple of men through three months to do this, but may-be another 5 cent tax through the roof, on a dollar, on a generator for that matter adding a dog-on-it to our already high price roads taxes.

Accidents through the fact of one tire taking a leap on a partial sidewalk cover here left off for six months such as we know of.

The town never dividends of dollar, on a generator for that matter from our taxes, but we have to see in the summer rains, when it should be cleaning.

One guy put it this way: The taxes are high, but the quack grass and weeds are higher."

Try all you want to honestly keep your property, but the front streets and back alley's weaken the latter get the best of you.

P.S. Thank God Pete Bell still cuts a little grass for his poor old children.

Your truly,
A Taxpayer

a farm improvement loan?

Farm Improvement Loans can be applied to almost anything that will improve the efficiency of your farm. If you've ever wondered whether F.I.L. money is available for some improvement you wish to make, talk it over with the nearest manager of a Toronto-Dominion branch. He cannot always lend money but you can be assured that he wants to, and appreciates your interest. In every case he will be glad to explain Farm Improvement Loans to you in detail so that you will know exactly where you stand.

At the Toronto-Dominion Bank we are particularly interested in working with Canada's farmers . . . and we will welcome an opportunity of discussing your banking problems with you.

Suicide Attempt Leads to Another Probe in Vancouver

DEP.-SGT. CUTHBERT — TRAFFIC HEAD ROOSTER — CHIEF SULLIVAN

Known as Canada's crime capital, Vancouver now faces its third major police shake-up in 23 years following suicide attempt of Det.-Sgt. Leonard Cuthbert, 44-year father of three children. Twelve hours after Cuthbert fired a bullet through his chest because he had been named in a weekly report on laxities at on graft within the police force Mayor Fred Hume announce that Police Chief Walter Mulligan, had been placed on leave of absence, and that Attorney-General Robert Bonner would conduct a public inquiry into charges that corruption had again crept into the department. In a second move, combining the jobs of the sprightly 1046-51 mayor's post, Hume appointed Mulligan as director of police. Mulligan's successor will be Deputy Chief Thomas Plommer, 52, a 30-year veteran of the force. Plommer will be assisted by Inspector Stanley Wilson, 48, who will be promoted to superintendent. Wilson's son, Ronald, 20, was killed in a car crash in 1953 while driving a car owned by Cuthbert. Cuthbert's son, Leonard, 20, was killed in a car crash in 1953 while driving a car owned by Cuthbert. ST. PAUL MAIN STREET IN 1927

This is what St. Paul's main street looked like nearly three decades ago. Picture was taken in 1927. In June, as it says on the cover, and the people in books like St. John Baptist Celebration on the 24th. Cars of that year's vintage are numerous and prominent. The Old Masonic Hotel stands to all its glory before it was destroyed by fire and the St. Paul Journal building of that day along with many early buildings of the old timers will certainly remember. Most have been destroyed by fire or replaced to make way for the new. Photo was the property of Miss Ella Clement.

Salute To Brave Men and Women

Our pioneers came from all over the world to settle Alberta . . . to smile in the district of St. Paul. We, "The St. Paul Journal" salute their magnificent endeavor that has made life in this community and this province so rich in the worthwhile things of life for so many.

This Jubilee edition has not been an easy task. Would that we could remember each pioneer who has contributed to our life in this district, but that is a task which staff limitations have made impossible.

We of the "Journal" realize fully that there is more to the story of our district than has been exposed in this issue. We are then prepared to write additional stories for publication the coming Jubilee weeks to our regular issues. We urge pioneers to let us record their histories so that they may not be lost to future generations.

If you have a story to tell, or know of someone who has a story of interest . . . and feel that you are not able to write it down for yourself, give us the facts, or drop us a line. If it is possible to compile your personal story will be published in full.

And so in this Jubilee issue to the Golden years of Alberta, we pay tribute to the pioneer men and women who came to Alberta and St. Paul to find a better way of life and leave prosperity to future generations. We are holding the final chapter of a great geographic area in a province and district whose future is going to be better than the year before. Let us continue to pray that each new year will be better than the one before.

—L. H. DROUIN, Publisher St. Paul Journal

50 Years In Alta. For Six Of Family

The Guilbault family has the distinction of surrounding six of its members as 50-year residents of Alberta.

On the honor list of pioneers are Mr Henri Guilbault, St. Lina, Mr Arthur Guilbault, Therien, Mr George Guilbault, Mallaig, Mr Alphonse Guilbault and Mr and Mrs. Philias Bellerive, Therien. Mrs. Bellerive came to Alberta before 1905. All the others were born in St. Albert before coming to the Northern Districts of Mallaig and Therien.

They have been invited to attend the celebrations in St. Paul on July 14th.

Plan To Build Separate School

A recent meeting was held in St. Paul for the purpose of considering the establishment of a Separate School in St. Paul Municipality.

The proposition was favorably received, and it is reported that a public meeting of non-Catholics in the district will be convened in the near future when details of the proposal will be presented to them, and in accordance with the provisions of the school act, a referendum will be held when non-Catholics will be given an opportunity to voice their opinion of the proposal

Philip Richer Finds 10-Pound Mushroom

Not long in a mushroom growing country, the fact that a 10-lb plant was reaped by Mr. Philip Richer is certainly big news.

Mr Richer, who found it growing in a wheat field on his farm had it in town for display last week. Too heavy to carry it straight on the scale, its mushroom was lying sideways on the ground. It was all in one piece, with perfect symetry and of the eating variety.

Homage Paid To Pioneers Of Alberta By Ray Boisrson, M.L.A.

Fifty years ago when Alberta was declared a Province at an impressive ceremony in the city of Edmonton, the territory was just beginning to develop as a farming settlement. The Saskatchewan River and a wagon trail were the only means of entry and exit.

Despite the hazards and the hardships, hardy men and women, with their families, came in ever increasing numbers to settle the land and build their schools and churches. The country had only hard work and often privation to offer as the struggling pioneer fought for survival. The way was hard, the problems the numerous, even to think about, but their faith was strong, and determination to succeed gave us the progress we are around us fifty years later.

Many could not be spared to celebrate this Golden Jubilee with us, having passed to their final reward. Their names will always be remembered for the contributions they made to their country.

This year, reserved to celebrate Fifty Golden Years of Progress is yet aside in de honor and homage to the courage of the Pioneer. To the opportunity is ours to fittingly show our appreciation for their sacrifice by making the next fifty years of progress as outstanding as the last.

RAY BEISERSON, M.L.A.

Mr. Ray Boisrson, Social Credit received 3701, Mr. J. R. Sweeney, Liberal, 2667; Mr. Dan Gamache, Labor Progressive 413.

The voter list contains 7918 names, 5302 of which voted. 326 ballots were spoiled.

Bus Catches On Fire At Vilna

The Cold Lake-Edmonton bus on its way to the city in mid a half miles east of Vilna short circuited an electric causing a conflagration to 15 passengers aboard at the time

Smoke started coming out by one passenger as he was leaving the bus Bob Harris, driver quickly ordered his passengers, 5 men, 7 women and 3 children

With the use of fire extinguishers and sand some dozen passengers put passing motorists to fight the threatening fire which was eventually quelled Most of the damage was confined to upholstery.

A school bus had to pack the stranded passenger and continued on to Edmonton in what was described as one passenger "on a very rought trip" Arrival was delayed for one and a half hours.

Congratulations Are Extended To Old Timers Of District By Mayor

As mayor of St Paul, [illegible] I extend hearty congratulations to all [illegible] Alberta on the occasion of the Golden Jubilee [illegible] Alberta. I extend congratulations to our pioneers of 1905 and prior who are still [illegible] and pass on to [illegible] Banking and hope they have carried every [illegible] to receive the work the initiation and the courage of the [illegible]

Let us now rededicate [illegible] Province, who has developed upon us so splendid a heritage. We remember the sacrifices, et de travail [illegible] Let us remember [illegible] réserve de notre pays, venus établir en Alberta après 1905, et qui avec l'aide des pionniers, de leurs parents et de leurs amis, sont travaillé jusqu'à ce jours faire de l'Alberta, de St Paul et des districts environnants des [illegible] dans une terre si riche au point de vue [illegible].

Nous devons beaucoup à tous ces colons, ces hommes, ces hommes de la première heure, et il me fait plaisir de leur dire au nom de la population de St-Paul, un grand merci du fond du coeur.

Ensemble remercions Dieu, qui dans sa Providence a daigné nous donner des années qui nous ont légué un si bel héritage.

Histoire de la Paroisse de Saint-Paul

Le feu de prairie et le ravage de la grele faillirent toute aneantir au debut

Le nom de Saint-Paul, comme celui de Saint-Albert, se rattache au souvenir du Père Lacombe et d'oeuvre déjà aux premières pages de l'histoire de l'Eglise catholique en Alberta.

En 1896, trois ans après la fondation de Saint-Albert, on trouve le nom de Saint-Paul des Cris, mission établie par le Père Lacombe à l'endroit actuel de Brosseau-Duvernay, à la traverse de la Saskatchewan. Ce fut un premier essai de colonie agricole dans les Indiens, mais sans beaucoup de succès et la mission elle-même disparut quatre ou cinq ans plus tard par suite d'une épidémie de petite vérole. La paroisse de Brosseau-Duvernay fut établit au même endroit que longtemps après.

Le Père Lacombe avait obtenu du gouvernement fédéral une réserve de 144 milles carrés. Elle comptait 12 milles de front sur 12 milles de profondeur, formant quatre cantons contigus, pour y grouper les Métis dangereux dans la prairie.

Lorsque le R.P Adiodat Thérien arriva en juillet 1896 pour prendre charge de cette oeuvre difficile, il n'y avait que trois familles métisses, et le missionnaire logea dans une pauvre cabane qui fut aussi la première église.

Au 1er novembre 1896, il n'y avait encore que 32 familles et toutes bien pauvres. Le gouvernement n'avait donné que $3.- 000 pour l'établissement de la colonie métisse, et l'administration centrale des Métis en avait fourni autant, mais compter le travail de plusieurs Frères coadjuteurs qui développèrent la terre et qui bâtirent, avec le temps, une maison de résidence, une scierie, le couvent, l'église et une grande école industrielle pour les enfants.

Le Père Lacombe et le Père Therien firent appel à la charité de la province de Québec pour le soutien de cette oeuvre. Cet appel fut entendu.

L'entreprise connut bien des angoisses au cours des premières années. Une fois les feux de prairie faillirent tout anéantir, une autre fois, la grele ravagea toute la moisson qui était l'unique moyen de subsistance. Enfin, le 15 janvier 1905, un incendie détruisit la grande et belle école construite depuis deux ans: il devenait impossible de songer à reconstruire.

C'était la fin d'une oeuvre et le commencement d'une autre. Les Métis eux-mêmes commençaient à se rendre compte que, dans leur propre intérêt, il fallait ouvrir leur réserve à d'autres colons.

Avec beaucoup de tact et d'habileté du R.P Therien, ayant obtenu le consentement de la population primitive, travailla dès lors à l'établissement d'une colonisation.

Le 11 avril 1900, les quatre cantons de la réserve étaient ouverts et cinq cents Canadiens attendaient leur tour à la porte de l'agence des terres à Edmonton, du mercredi au samedi par de la semaine sainte, pour faire inscrire le numéro de leur terrain parmi les quelques 300 heureusement disponibles. C'est de ce moment que date véritablement la fondation de la paroisse canadienne de Saint-Paul et la naissance de la colonisation Saint-Edouard, Saint-Vincent, Lafond, Brosseau-Duvernay, Saint-Léon, et même Bonnyville, Fort Kent et le Lac Froid.

Le progrès réalisé dans toute cette région est frappant. Il l'est particulièrement à Saint-Paul devenu une forte paroisse de 475 familles, en grande majorité de Francais Bi-Paul est aujourd'hui une paroisse munie de tous les organismes nécessaires: écoles, couvent, hôpital, salle paroissiale. Il faut ajouter un Monastère du Precieux-Sang, une école industrielle pour les Indiens, et l'évêché du Diocèse de Saint-Paul.

La paroisse est intensément catholique, avec une belle amitié entre à la messe et communion.

REV. FR. ADIODAT THERIEN

Entrusted with the task of colonizing the metis of this region by Fr. Albert Lacombe, missionary pioneer of the west, Reverend Father Adiodat Therien, after the failure of the venture became the First Parish Priest of St. Paul. He was a brother of Mr. Clovis Therien, first Postmaster of St. Paul.

Editor,
St. Paul Journal

Dear Sir:

I promised during the last election campaign that if I got the majority of votes in the town of St. Paul I would organize the gas users of the town of St. Paul to get the gas company to stick to its contract rate regardless of the charges to the U.K. of the Public Utility Commission.

We pay for water monthly for an average home $3.00. For natural gas we pay for the same house, an average of $12.00 or $16.00 for the year round. This is computed on a take-in of $62.000 last year. On low meters it is $16.00 for 800 meters; if $13.00, We don't need a corporation lawyer to prove to anyone but the Public Utility Commission that $13.00 is over 4 times more than $3.00 or that $16.00 is over 5 times more than $3.00

Mr Roberson said in the parish hall on June 27 that the fault of our town council was in not having had a first class lawyer to present their case to the Commission.

The town of St Paul has a surplus from the $3.00 monthly collection for water and every one in St. Paul knows that the maintenance of our water is many times more costly than the upkeep of the gas installation.

I stated in the campaign that our government is the tool of the big companies, helping them overcharge us. I look to ?. Roberson to disprove that by seeing that our gas is lowered at least to contracted price. (even this is many times too high). When the franchise renewal comes back again you will hear from me, as I intend to take time out to organize to get a fair deal

START OF GENEREUX CONSTRUCTION

Forty-six years ago the building above was the first basementerts of Genereux Sash Door Building Supplies. Located where now also Bigbug Ladies Wear Modern Brass Shops. It was built by Mr. Wilfrid Genereux in 1936, the left section going up first, the lower right next, one section at the top and finally it was finished. Mr. Genereux can be called the pioneer of construction in St. Paul, having had a hand in nearly every one of the properties now standing today, although most have been remodelled to meet the styles of the current day.

Mr. Genereux is still in business today, and with the help of his sons "Ted" and "Eugene" operates a outstanding firm in St. Paul. He still as a number of workers along. While engaged at his trade he found time to his spare moments to prove a humanized, one and a half miles west of town on which he established his own Airport and another one Robert is also on the farm. Mr. and Mrs. Genereux have other good achievements in town.

A Salute TO THE Men Who BUILT THE TOWN OUR PIONEERS

It took men of foresight and convictions to build St. Paul from a prairie wilderness in 1900 to the thriving town it is today . . . and it is to them and their memory that we say

St. Paul Sales Has Grown To Be One Of St. Paul's Largest And Most Modern Garage . . .

We are proud to pay tribute to the pioneers who built up Alberta from a standing start just 50 years ago and those who came to the St. Paul District to develop what we have today.

Working against odds, they carved homes for themselves and their families in the new country and paved the way for Alberta and for St. Paul.

For a period of ten years we have been selling and servicing Chevrolet and Oldsmobile cars and Chevrolet trucks. It has been a pleasure to contribute to the advancement of St. Paul in our modest way . . . we believe in the future of this district and will try to justify our pioneer's trust in this generation and continue to work, primarily for the betterment of the district.

SEEDTIME AND HARVEST

By Dr. F. J. Greenway, Director, Line Elevators Farm Services, Publications Branch

WEEDS OF THE PRAIRIES "AN ILLUSTRATED GUIDE"

The Department is privileged and pleased to announce the publication of a new revised edition of the weed bulletin, entitled, "An Illustrated Guide to Prairie Weeds". Although the bulletin has already been distributed to 90000 farmers, rural school teachers and pupils, agricultural students, 4-H Club members and others, there is still a widespread demand, particularly from the young farm people of Western Canada, for adequate and reliable information on the common weeds of the prairies. It is in response to this important and continuous demand that a Third Edition of the weed bulletin is being published at this time.

The first step in any effective weed control program is the correct identification of the weed or weeds to be controlled. Thus the main purpose of the weed bulletin is to make available to western farmers information that will help them to identify the weeds they are most likely to find on their own farms. More than 80 common prairie weeds, and their seeds, are illustrated and described, and brief mention is made of many others. In describing the weeds, the use of technical terms has been avoided wherever possible. We feel that the great popularity of the weed bulletin lies in the fact that it is well illustrated, and written in non-technical language. The revised Third Edition is published with the hope that it will assist farmers, and young farm people particularly, not only in identifying weeds but in learning more about their habits of growth, methods of reproduction, and the best methods of combating them.

Copies of "An Illustrated Guide to Prairie Weeds" are available to farmers, free of charge. They may be obtained from local grain buyers of any of the elevator companies listed above, or by writing to Line Elevators Farm Service, Winnipeg or Calgary.

Building for the FUTURE

Was no easy task for the pioneers who treked the western wilderness of Alberta and St. Paul But they came full of hope and determined to establish themselves and develop this country of our present day towns and villages, a monument which speaks for itself.

As a pioneer contracting firm of St. Paul (1910) we were the first to go in this line of business. Along with the old timers we put everything we had to make St. Paul what it is and will continue to serve the people of this district in the same capacity and pioneer spirit.

Fr. Lacombe and Therien First Pioneers of Parish

The celebration of the twelfth Jubilee of the province of Alberta recalls to our minds at the same time the splendid growth and development of our Roman Catholic parish of St. Paul, as in the next few years will also celebrate the 50th anniversary of its foundation.

Looking over the pages of the history of the early years, we see the name of Father Lacombe associated with that of Father Therien, brother to His J. C. Therien and Mrs. Celine Jolly.

In 1896 there were still only 32 families all told in the district, when the first permanent grant of land for the establishment of an agricultural college by the Oblate Fathers almost a century ago. The government at once set aside 640 acres for the purpose and the necessary buildings, residence, separate convent, church school, etc., and in spite of the fires later on the Lac La Biche farm lands were handed out and an appeal was made to the province of Quebec for help. In 1904 a frame church was built on the site which is now the parish Temple Choir and the brick church was replaced by the present edifice in 1919. The school of the Assumption were also opened in 1904 by Mother Gertrude, arriving in 1896 and maintaining her vestige of the first school from the East and educating their children since then their descendants and prayers have been continuously entertained with the general progress of this region.

REV. FR. JEAN-MARIE LECLAINCHE

A biography of St. Paul, excluding recognition of Rev. Fr. Jean-Marie Leclainche, would be incomplete. To all interested persons, visiting and future, a priest, who has the longest missionary record in the district having come at the advent of the white settlers, when its district was used to mile colonization in 1897. His life was primarily devoted to the spiritual welfare of his parishioners, but he was also a contributor to his parish and to the community as a whole. Born at St-Edouard-Saint-Urbain, Laval Province, Quebec, he was ordained at Rome in 1892, ministering at the sick until his last breath.

Dr. Charles H. Lawford Pioneer Doctor Of The Pakan District

The following article from Dr. Charles Lawford is taken from an issue of the Alberta Medical Bulletin of May, 1953 and speaks for itself of the qualities and achievements of a pioneer doctor. He was the father of Mrs. P. J. LaBonnette of St. Paul.

This is more than a story about a man, even though without the man much of the story would never have come to pass. It is a story about a way of life — settlement, in part about a church and you, almost about a nation. In all of it runs the history of Dr. Charles H. Lawford Lawford. It was one of those who came to the country in the early days — the pioneers of the west — who, wherever the frontier was, our primitive Alberta, needed only the Dr. Lawford to answer confidence in and leave on his memory such an aura of unique service and selfless humanity as remains that he stands alone amongst our medical pioneers.

Charles Lawford was seventeen when he came west to join his father in 1879. They left Toronto and came to Bismarck, where Mr. Lawford was farm instructor to the Indians for the next ten years. The fact is, most of them the miles from Portage la Prairie where supplies had to be bought and from there on the nearest post office. Hazard years they must have been and there is little wonder that they succumbed for the development of the self-reliance which Dr. Lawford was to display later in his medical practice. A sense of heavy responsibility was a prime characteristic of the men and, often with a deep religious sense, led him into the ministry. In 1890 he was a Methodist probationer in Yorkton and in 1892 he was ordained and was a minister at Carlyle. Between that year and 1898 he served as minister at Whitewood and also completed four years of training at Wesley College in Winnipeg.

It was in 1898 Dr. Lawford resigned from the ministry and undertook to study medicine. His immediate aim was to serve as a medical missionary in China but the war there at the turn of the century made that impossible. As a result, Lawford was persuaded to pursue his work in the Territories and he was posted West at Pakan around which had settled many families of the New Caledonia from the Ukraine. It was here that George McDougall had established a mission and school before coming to Edmonton, and it was here, in 1900 that Dr. Charles H. Lawford established his first medical practice.

The following are some extracts from an interesting letter from Dr. Lawford. In common with other pioneers of the West he has had to work under conditions which most of us would fear to face today. The nearest hospital was 45 miles away, and the nearest railway point was at Strathcona, an even greater distance. The area he served was greater than 1,000 square miles and the trails were at very few and not too easily travelled. But Lawford, without a hospital or a car, braved the people's ghosts and, where the occasion demanded it, operated upon them in their own homes or in his. With the help of an interpreter he cured for their bodies and for their souls. He held regular Sunday services in the homes of the people, not with any idea of proselyting with their own orthodox faith, but rather with the desire to help them in their pioneer life and, as he himself put it "to bring to them a fuller knowledge of the will and love of God."

A good example of the life Dr. Lawford had to lead at that time is to be found in his own memoirs where he tells the story of an incident, to him was not unusual.

"I recall a trip made in January, in a Model T touring car, to go to draw a cancerous breast from a woman who lived on the Beaver River. The doctor of this picture, Mr. E. A. MacDonald of St. Paul is featured as a wrangler, second, right of the chuck wagon at the Calgary Stampede. Three more former part of the Calgary Camp Concord round up over. According to Mr. MacDonald, the small cattle pooled in with the Lawrences is a pretty reasonable one year which says them area, from home all summer. In June they branded, buying in July and beef round up ended in August. Now 75 Mr. MacDonald was 21 at the time of the round-up. He was the youngest cowboy in the group. It was also brought in cattle from the Lawrence ranch. In those days were more of the latter type than the modern conception we have today of them galloping around with stetsons on the hip, slinging lead. Among the group one has won a member of the Northwest Mounted Police who was on hand to check for ticks and means d'amour and one that the cattle were "dipped."

we had operated on in the previous week. It was sub-zero weather, the wind was drifting, and it took all day to make the round trip of 36 miles. That same evening I was called from a meeting of the school trustees which was being held in our home, to make an emergency trip to Saddle Lake and Grand Path Lake. I started out at once — about 9:00 p.m. — but had to break about eighteen inches of snow all the way. I reached Saddle Lake at 8:00 o'clock the following morning where I attended to one patient, and then, with a fresh team, I set out for Grand Path Lake where the second case was dealt with. I returned to Saddle Lake about 8:00 o'clock the same night and left at once for Pakan, arriving there at sunrise the next day. After breakfast I set out again and made my rounds until that night."

Lawford's memoirs tell us many of the efforts he made in some of his most exciting cases to deal immediately medical and surgical emergencies. I many of them he relied heavily on the help given him by Mr. Lawford who was a trained nurse and like her husband, had prepared for missionary service in China. He recalls that on one occasion he and Mrs. Lawford were sitting down to their dinner when a young lady was brought in with an infected mastoid. Lawford was afraid of a fatal abscess developing, so Mrs. Lawford prepared the patient. The patient was placed on the dining room table, the help given him by Mrs. Lawford and the latter operated. The mastoid completed operation passed some blankets on the floor, put the patient on them, ate there with the doctor's wife, cleared the table and he and his wife completed their meal.

The follow up on such surgical cases was difficult particularly when the patient was operated on at some distance from Pakan. There was a tremendous amount of dressing to be done as the infected matter was continually coming out. Lawford says: "I used to get letters from patients who had been operated on, telling me that they were about as well as could be expected, but I soon learned to appreciate what had been written as were used. We felt that Divine help and blessing attended our work."

By 1907, the importance of Lawford's work became fully recognized and plans were made to found the George McDougall Pakan Hospital. In November of that year the Hospital was opened and received a few lessons and labour for Pakan's treasuries. The whole settlement was excited and interested over the event. Lawford says: "Everyone was there, and the whole settlement had turned out to help." Lawford had received a letter from Dr. Lawford, who was also allowed that he would be present for the opening. Armed with an invitation to the opening ceremonies, Lawford left Pakan on the morning of November 1st, 1907, arriving at the hospital in the afternoon and was introduced to the Lieutenant-Governor and other dignitaries. He himself was very much in the limelight as the first doctor to practice in the district. He was also allowed that he would be the first patient to enter the hospital for a long-awaited operation. A few days later Lawford had the satisfaction of seeing the first baby born in the hospital, a boy named Lawford. Lawford's own daughter, Mrs. P. J. LaBonnette, was born in 1912 and Dr. Lawford was present at her birth. The baby received a message of congratulations from the Governor-General, Earl Grey, and Mrs. Lawford received a gift of $5 which was spent on a silver mug. Mrs. LaBonnette has this mug in her possession today.

Dr. Lawford was elected Member of the Legislature for Athabasca in 1913 and served in that capacity for one term. He was also a member of the Senate of the University of Alberta from 1913 to 1919. In 1914 he was appointed Medical Officer of Health for the Pakan district and in 1919 he was appointed Medical Officer of Health for the Lac La Biche district. He was also a member of the Board of Governors of the Provincial Mental Hospital at Ponoka from 1919 to 1921.

The Arrival Of Kenowens To Canada

John Kenowens, son of Nick, was born in Austria in 1889 and is the fourth eldest of a family of six.

The entire family set sail to Canada in April 1909 and in two weeks docked in Halifax. Boarding the train there they traveled westward in search of farm lands, stopping off at Winnipeg and then continuing to Edmonton, a village with two stores.

With friends already in and about Edmonton, the entire family was sadled in trekking to St Michael where temporary residence was made. The father then set out on foot in search of Ukranian land lands which were found on the Whitford Lake area now known as Mundare.

The Kenowens family was poor like other families, were at that time, so maturally suffered severely the hardships of those days.

Their wants all something the young generation will never see. The farming of Alberta in 1909, as well as those tedious trips to Edmonton by oxen which took 3 days, was travelled in one hour or less.

Years went by and John, like other future farmers, set out to make good for himself by first working as a farm hand, saving and then as lumberjack. Eventually taking up farming after marrying Tilla May in the Vitne Mundare district then finally to the St. Paul district in 1928 where he family of ten reached adulthood.

John, like many others like him feels that if he had to do it again he would do it like he did it in the first place, for he feels grateful for being a Canadian and belonging to Alberta, a land to be proud of.

Liberals Hold First Alberta Assembly In Thistle Rink, Edm.

The Thistle Skating Rink, located in downtown Edmonton, was decked with flags and bunting on the morning of March 13, 1906, as the whole town prepared for the first meeting of the Legislative Assembly of Alberta.

Thistle Rink was the largest closed building in Edmonton, had been selected as the site for the historic session. On Monday, four days before the occasion, two teams met at the rink to play the last hockey game of the season for the Coveted Calgary Brewing Cup. Then the ice was cleared away and the building transformed from a hockey rink into a Legislative Chamber.

Alberta had been formed as a Province in the previous year with the first election bringing the Liberals into power under Premier A. C. Rutherford. Until a provincial capital could be selected by the assembly, Edmonton was chosen as the temporary seat of the new government.

Large Audience

More than 4,000 people jammed the rink on March 15 to watch the opening ceremonies. For two days the northbound trains on the Calgary and Edmonton Railway had been crowded with people and accommodation was at a premium in the bustling city of 14,000 people. Lieutenant-Governor George Bulyea, accompanied by his suite, arrived at three p.m. After the Appointment of Hon C. W. Fisher of Cochrane as Speaker, Hon Bulyea read the Speech from the Throne.

"The organization of the Province upon proper constitutional lines is a matter of first importance," stated the Lieutenant-Governor during the speech, and in order that public affairs may be efficiently and expeditiously conducted, it is necessary that the management of the several branches of public service be put in charge of appropriate departments."

Following the official opening of the session, members and visitors proceeded to MacKay Avenue School — which is still in use today — where the premier held his reception.

The business of the new legislature swung into action on the following day, when Premier Rutherford introduced An Act Respecting Statutes," "An Act Respecting Public Services" and "An Act Respecting the Treasury Department." These were the first of 77 bills passed during the session.

Betterment of Land

The bills discussed by the legislature were primarily concerned with setting out regulations for provincial departments and the revision of several Territorial laws which had been inherited by the new government. By the end of the session, final approval had been given to bills concerning the operations of the Departments of the Attorney General, Agriculture, Provincial Secretary, Public Works and the King's Printer. Approval also had been granted for the incorporation of the cities of Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Wetaskiwin, and for the establishment of seven licensed clubs throughout the Province.

Railways

Six new railways were incorporated during the session, including the Vermilion and Cold Lake Railway, Kootenay and Athabasca Railway, Alberta Central Railway, Edmonton-Athabasca Railway, Alberta Southern, and the most impressively named one — the Alberta Oil, Coal and Wheat Railway.

The selection of the provincial capital was a lively issue, with Edmonton and Calgary providing most of the debate, while Red Deer and Banff came in for their share of discussion. Promoters of Calgary stated their city "will continue to be the largest business centre in this province," while Edmonton boosters said their choice "will shortly have three transcontinental railways passing through the city." The Red Deer enthusiasts spoke of "the little town down the line half way between these two towns," while Banff boosters said, "No greater advertisement could be had than to place the capital in the national park." The final vote in favor of Edmonton 18 to 5, with the Red Deer and Banff bids being withdrawn.

One bill which should interest the motorized public of today was "An Act to Regulate the Speed and Operation of Motor Vehicles on Highways." Among other things, the bill established a speed limit of 15 miles an hour "in the country," 10 miles an hour when passing a horsedrawn vehicle and five miles an hour when meeting one. It also required motorists to register their vehicles and to carry lights at night with the license number exposed on the glass.

Official prorogation of the assembly took place on May 8, when the last of 77 bills had been approved.

ALBERTA

OWES PROGRESS TO HER PEOPLE!!

As we look about us on this, the 50th Anniversary of Alberta, the growth of our Province is really apparent. In a scant half century, the population has jumped from a mere 110,000 to 1,024,000.

Many of these Albertans are Canadian born and bred— and many have come from distant lands to build a bright future in this country of promise and opportunity. The skills and knowledge they have brought with them have proved an invaluable contribution to the progress of Alberta.

Today we stand on the threshold of a new era. Looking back, we pause to salute those early pioneers who braved so many obstacles to establish the Province. Looking ahead, we see a happy, united people enjoying the fruits of their common prosperity and progress. Thus we enjoy at this time.

The year Alberta is celebrating her Golden Jubilee, we express our joining together to offer their good wishes to the Golden Province of the West.

Alberta GOLDEN Jubilee

GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ALBERTA

ALBERTA'S Golden Jubilee

"1955 is Alberta's Golden Anniversary Year. It was in 1905 that this territory joined Canada as a province. Now Alberta is recognized as a region with an bright a future as any of the provinces which go to make up the Dominion of Canada.

Agriculture has made the greatest contribution to the economic advancement of Alberta, and the Alberta Wheat Pool pays its tribute herewith to the men and women engaged in that great industry.

Within the space of a single generation the enterprising and energetic farm people of Alberta have created a record of diversified production of quality food products which is unsurpassed by any other province.

The wealth produced by Alberta farmers has permeated the economy of the province to a greater extent than all other sources of wealth combined. It sustains villages, towns and cities and provides the basis for employment for most Alberta people.

Agriculture provides the most freight for the railways and other forms of transportation, the main source of raw materials for Alberta manufacturers, and a constant inward stream of wealth from the substantial exports of food to other parts of Canada and other nations.

While Alberta people celebrate the province's Golden Anniversary they should keep in mind the immense contribution made by the people on Alberta farms to the prosperity and progress of this growing province.

In Recognition Of Our

PIONEERS

The St. Paul Chamber of Commerce, a community organization dedicated to the progress of the town and district, more than any other body is in a position to recognize the valuable contribution our early pioneers have made to the establishment and progress of St. Paul.

They laid the foundation with hard labor and the real trials that have set the solid base on which St. Paul today prospers.

The foresight and initiative of our pioneers followed by industrial progress of their successors have placed St. Paul amongst the foremost towns in Northeastern Alberta.

Our congratulations on this, the Golden Jubilee Anniversary of our province.

The Arrival Of Konowans To Canada

John Konowan, son of Nick, was born in Austria in 1889 and is the fourth eldest of a family of six.

The entire family set sail to Canada in April 1908 and in two weeks docked in Halifax. Boarding the train there they travelled westward in search of farm lands, stopping off at Winnipeg and then continuing to Edmonton, a village with two stores.

With friends already in and about Edmonton, the entire family was assisted in trekking to St. Michael where temporary residence was made. The father then set out on foot in search of Ukraine Settlements which were found in the Whitford Lake area, now known as Mundare.

The Konowan family was poor like other families, were at that time so naturally suffered severely the hardships of those days.

They slumbered something the young generation will never see. The farming of Alberta in 1905, as well as those tedious trips to Edmonton by oxen which took 2 days to a travelled in one hour by car.

Years went by and John, like other future farmers, set out to make good for himself by first working as a farm hand farming and then as contractor. Eventually taking up farming after marrying Rose May in the Vilna Mundare district then finally to this St. Paul district in 1928 where he has family of ten reached adulthood.

John like many others like him feels that if he had to do it again he would do it like he did it in the first place, for he feels grateful for being a Canadian and be ongoing to Alberta a land to be proud of.

BIRTHPLACE OF A BOLD UNDERTAKING

1909 — A shack, barely four walls and a roof, all of hand-hewn and hand-sawed lumber and a few primitive blacksmith tools, a young man — our man, but a man with a foresight and courage — and a big enterprise was launched in the wilderness. A fortune maker speaketh and the blacksmith (Dr. Lionel Maillaux) descendeth a walking plow at the door, and two customers traveling in buggy — quite an event in those days!

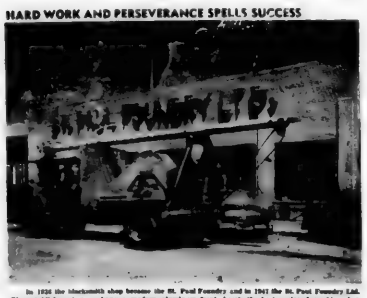
TODDLING DAYS OF A PROGRESSIVE VENTURE

And the enlargement grew. Already progress forecasts the success of the future. Here, before the War of 1914, we see that the shack of 1909 has benefited from a fare lifting. And the business has taken proportions where it has be one necessary to hire a helper. Plows are more numerous, customers too. The harness maker has moved to permit the expansion of the blacksmith shop.

ADOLESCENCE OF A GREAT ENTERPRISE

Toddling days are over. The place is ever growing, growing with the province — growing with the Maillaux family! While the little boys — "Mac", Maurice and "Pete" are slowly getting over their toddling days at home, Mr. Maillaux has expanded his business activities in the point where there are now three men and—in 1924—two buildings, one in honor the Carbolsmith agency and the other—again the original shack of 1909—to house the shop and automobile repairs, for automobiles had then come to St. Paul.

HARD WORK AND PERSEVERANCE SPELLS SUCCESS



In 1926 the blacksmith shop became the St. Paul Foundry and in 1941 the St. Paul Foundry Ltd. The establishment now shows a modern aluminum front, boasts the best equipped machine shop in North-Eastern Alberta, operates a separate foundry, maintains three warehouses, operates a fleet of eleven vehicles, employs an average of forty men — the staff at peak seasons being seventy and one hundred men — yes, the generous of the Foundry is linked with that of the Province because, as for our Province, its success is due to men of vision and foresight.

Introduction Of Winter Wheat Aids Farmers In Replacing Caravan

Fifty years ago, southern Alberta was experiencing a flood of immigration from the United States and eastern Canada. The introduction of winter wheat, the development of irrigation, and the decline of large-scale ranching all played a part in the rush of settlers.

Several newspaper and magazine editors sent men to the Canadian west to discover the facts about life in a new land. One of the most interesting reports was published by "Opportunity," a magazine from St. Paul, Minnesota. In its March issue of 1908, its reporter gave a vivid picture of life in Calgary and district.

With the awakening of western Canada which began about four years ago (1901), the picturesque days began to pass away for Calgary, commented the magazine. "Farmers from other parts of Canada and the United States began to pour in, and the cattleman found that he was not relatively so important as formerly.

Rancher Replaces Cowboy

"In the last few years, thousands of homeseekers have been taken up where the cattleman formerly held free range, and in consequence some of the big cattlemen have been compelled to move out and look for quarters in parts of western Canada not yet reserved for by the homesteaders.

"The it came to be generally understood that winter wheat would be a moderately successful crop in southern Alberta. Finally, the success of irrigation having been demonstrated in the extreme southern part of Alberta, the C.P.R. announced its great project for irrigating something like [illegible] acres of land tributary to Calgary.

City Expands

"Then the little city began to grow with spurts and bounds — building permits were issued at the rate of $750,000 a year, wholesale houses began to be established in blocks, factories started up, real estate branched out and multiplied. Almost before it knew what had happened, Calgary was no longer a big village but had become instead a bustling progressive city, looking forward to a population of 30,000 within a few years.

"Four years ago, it was merely a ranching town which enjoyed a certain distinction because of the interesting people that lived in and around it in large numbers. These people were immigrants from England, largely of the 'upper classes' of that country, sons of the gentry and nobility who for one reason or another found life in the cattle country more congenial than life in grey old England.

Some of them have not been very successful in life in a new country, while others have prospered exceedingly, but in either event they were and are pleasant gentlemen, good fellows, good friends and full of the life of sport and adventure. They are largely of the kind who would rather fight than eat, and when the fight is over will invest [illegible] a word of what they regard the best moments of their lives.

Progressive Citizens

"Calgary is fortunate in being possessed of a large number of such awake, progressive citizens, who are willing to spend time and money for the advancement of the city's interests. The city government, headed by Mayor John Emerson, is progressive & watchful of the city's best interests.

"An example of this zeal occurred in the first week in February when the council appropriated $2,000 for the expenses of a delegation to visit Ottawa. This is in the interests of Calgary becoming the capital of the western provinces — a consummation devoutly to be wished not only by the citizens of Calgary, but by those of the province of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Assiniboia and a part of Athabasca.

"At present the Board of Trade and, indeed, the citizens of Calgary in general, are giving a great deal of attention to the subject of winter wheat raising. It may seem strange to those who know that winter wheat cannot be successfully raised in Minnesota that winter wheat can be raised with the greatest success on a district farther north and at a much greater altitude [illegible] such as the case, and a winter [illegible] is now superseding spring wheat throughout southern Alberta.

Irrigation Invaluable

"In the past, central and southern Alberta has been looked upon only as a sheep, horse and cattle country. The introduction of irrigation on a large scale will introduce a large agricultural population but it will also lend [illegible] some phases of the [illegible] industry, because [illegible] winter feed [illegible] for the market [illegible] the conditions of [illegible] and sheep raising are [illegible] Alberta will at no distant [illegible] as a stock country. It is well destined to be one of the finest livestock districts in the world.

"From what has been said above, it is plain that there is ample justification for Calgary's ambition on a big scale. And the town is growing rapidly also [illegible] Its handsome [illegible] business houses and public buildings, [illegible] built of a splendid quality

Health Practices To Prevent Tooth Decaying

By Dr. L. G. MANSEN

Worker cells building baby's teeth go on strike! Such an announcement shouldn't make the headlines, for it happens so often it isn't news.

In a previous article we told how worker cells build up the inner and outer walls of the tooth framework — the framework that started about six months before birth.

The worker cells building the hard enamel coating on the walls of the framework are the ones that get us into trouble if all goes well while the tooth is being formed, that enamel coating is laid on evenly and firmly. But if some disturbance takes place during that process a disturbance caused by a fever illness such as measles is most frequently good nourishment — these enamel cells stop work.

Result of grey sandstone found right at hand, are the boast of the residents and the wonder of the visitor.

There are some splendid business openings in Calgary. A Portland cement factory would fund all the material it needs, and a good market. There is an excellent opening and favorable situation for vitrium cement works. Calgary is a good place for the location of flour mills. A pork and beef packing establishment is needed. Woollen mills would do well at Calgary. There is a splendid opening for a good foundry and machine shop, and a blacksmith would undoubtedly do well.

It should be said that Calgary enjoys cheap coal and has a large water power available for [illegible] water power it may be [illegible] 20 the horse power can be generated in the Bow River near Calgary."

They must be easily damaged if conditions are not just right, they must be there in sufficient quantity surrounding the enamel cells that build the dentin or main body of the tooth. They don't quit. The tooth would collapse growing. And of course, roughness, cracks and pits where acid-forming food particles can lodge causing decay.

You might ask why the enamel-building cells can't repair this. That is impossible because they are no longer there. They finish their job, perfectly or not, before the tooth erupts through the gums. So enamel can never be re-built or repaired, excepting by artificial means.

Now, if these enamel-building worker cells always did their job perfectly there would be little for the dentist to do to those teeth. And those worker cells would perform much more efficiently if we would see to it that they have enough good nourishing food, and even an arrow of the best building materials to work with.

Plans For Construction On New Legislative Building Commence

Alberta's first government, led by Hon. A. C. Rutherford, held its opening convocation in the Thistle Rink on March 13, 1906. It was natural that one of the primary subjects for discussion and decision should be that of providing a structure to house the [illegible] government.

There was some degree of controversy as to the selection of the city to be its ground, certain members favouring Edmonton and others advancing vigorous arguments on Calgary's behalf. There were those too who suggested Red Deer and Banff, but Edmonton was the eventual favorite by a vote of 16 to 5.

Site Chosen

There was no doubt, however, as to the actual site of the present building and the choice commended both historical significance and physical prominence. On the north bank of the North Saskatchewan River rises the hill Hudson's Bay Company's fort. The actual site of the Legislative Building was to be where the fort's "Big Room," the main apartment of the chief trader, once stood. The palisades and bastions of the fort were removed in 1913 to make room for a new driving ground.

In 1906 a temporary building had been decided on to be used only until the permanent Legislature Building was completed. This building was known as the Tarbure Building and stands south and east of the main building. Constructors of the Terrace Building was so planned that it could be turned into an apartment house when it was no longer required by the government, but the expansion of administrative facilities was more rapid than anticipated and the structure still houses overflow offices of [illegible]

Alberta's Legislative Building was designed by A. M. Jeffers, architect and chief of the engineering branch of the Department of Public Works, and later date the work was taken over by R. P. Blakey. F.R.I.B.A. Construction was supervised by Hon. W. H. Cushing, Minister of Public Works; John Sparks Deputy Minister of Public Works, John Chisholm, Interdepartmental Engineer; John Gillespie, Superintendent of Buildings, and the two architects. Although contracts were let for wiring, heating, plumbing and ventilation, the actual work on the building was done largely by day labor.

Excavation Work Begins

Excavation work began in August, 1907, under the supervision of John Gelling. Concrete footings were put in for the basement in the spring of 1908 but quicksand was encountered and it became necessary to sink concrete piers reinforced with steel channel beams, before the footings were laid. This delay commenced much of the building season of 1908 but a start was made on the steel work that same year and the major part of the exterior had been fashioned by 1909. The steel was supplied by the Structural Steel Company of Montreal and the Canadian Bridge Company of Walkerville, Ontario. Steel fabrication was directed and superviewed by A. T. Fraser.

The first granite to be used in construction was for the base, or first storey, including the steps at the main, east and west entrances. The granite was quarried on Vancouver Island and construction was by Kelly and Murray of Vancouver.

Cornerstone Laid

The cornerstone was laid on October 1 of that year. Approximately four feet by five feet, it is located at the northeast corner of the building and the brass plaque bears the inscription.

The cornerstone was laid by His Excellency the Right Honorable Alberta Henry George, Earl Grey, G.C.B., G.C.M.G., G.C.V.O., Governor General of Canada, October 1, 1908." Under the stone were laid copies of each of the three Edmonton newspapers, a complete set of plans of the building, coins and currency, a copy of the city charter and a list of the officials who had supervised the [illegible]

It had been decided that the main portion of the Legislature Building, above the British Columbia granite, should be constructed of Alberta sandstone. With this in mind the superintendent purchased the Glenshaw quarry, near Calgary. The contract for getting out the stone was awarded to John Quinlan of Montreal and W. Carter of Edmonton. A company was formed, incorporated under the name of Quinlan, Carter and Company, and the cutting and fitting were carried out in Edmonton under direction of A. Walters of Toronto, [illegible] of the carving was done by Mr. Chetterhall of London, England. Erection of the stone work was supervised by Calbert Lend, Assistant Superintendent of Buildings.

Construction continued throughout the years, 1910, 1911 and much of 1912. The wiring contract was awarded to the Canadaglass Electric Company of Calgary and the electric lighting fixtures were supplied by J. A. Beard Manufacturing Company of Chicago. Plumbing, heating and ventilation were completed by A. Lee Company of Edmonton.

First Sitting

On November 26, 1911, although construction was far from completed, a session of the Legislature was opened for the first time in the new building. The official opening took place on September 3, 1913, although the building was still far from complete. Just 16 days before the convocation the rotunda was filled with scaffolding, and masons, sculptors, electricians and cut painters were rushing to complete their work where it would count most. However, upon the arrival of the Royal Party, the main entrance, the rotunda, the Legislative Chamber, the dining room and most of the east wing were ready.

The Duke of Connaught, then Governor General of Canada, officially opened the building and was later presented with a replica of the key which he had used to unlock the main doors. It was made of Saskatchewan River gold and was surmounted by the Provincial Arms wrought in the metal. In his address His Royal Highness complimented the government of [illegible] upon the location of the Legislative Building upon the highest structure itself. "You, gentlemen, have chosen well," he observed, "your sentiment of the dignity of the duties which have to be performed here."

Even our few years of being in business in St. Paul has made us realize the tremendous efforts and forethought our pioneers must have given in the planning of this district and its development. Today we are reaping the benefit and genuinely acknowledge the task that has been performed before us

Congratulations to Alberta and St. Paul, and to the Pioneers who have made it what it is today.

Half-way Mark Shows Alberta Has Golden Years

Alberta has reached the half-century mark [illegible] province of Canada. Through fifty years of war and depression which could [illegible] boom years of fantasy she has grown and prospered and turned these years into Fifty Golden Years. It is worth recounting. In this year of 1955 all present and former citizens of Alberta will be joining in the Jubilee. By attending Church Services on the Provincial Day of Prayer they will be entering into the true spirit of Thanksgiving. They will be celebrating with stampedes, fireworks, parades and pageants. They will be honouring their pioneers and senior citizens and making Dominion pride in Alberta manifest to all the older Provinces. TRIBUTE TO OUR PIONEERS

THERE IS NO DOUBT THAT ST. PAUL IS A PROGRESSIVE AND GOING CONCERN IN NORTHEASTERN ALBERTA . . . BUT WHO MADE IT THIS WAY? NOT NECESSARILY THOSE OF US WHO CAME HERE 20 YEARS AGO OR SO. NOT NECESSARILY THOSE IN BUSINESS HERE TODAY.

IT WAS OUR PIONEERS

These men and women pioneered a district in which there was no development, but they could foresee a thriving town and district . . . and they had the fortitude to stand behind their ideals and make St. Paul Grow. Most of these pioneers have passed on . . . some are still with us though and to them and all the citizens who have a pioneer spirit and are helping St. Paul to progress, the Mayor and Council would like to say WELL DONE and "the very best for the future."

Let's Eat

BY
EDA BARRY ALLEN

Many people have asked me if I really enjoy cooking.

Indeed I do. In fact, I often prepare the meals and when I do, whatever I cook, I usually try something new—even when the family is the everyday kind.

One evening last week, I mashed boiled short ribs of beef. Why not serve them with mustard sauce? Then is what I invented—and even the chief approved.

Mustard-Sauce: Melt 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Add 1 medium-chopped onion, cook, ¼ teaspoon sugar and 1 tablespoon mustard, simmer 5 minutes. Then stir in tablespoon flour and 1½ cups beef broth. Season. Bake the beef.

Leftovers

The next morning I decided to use up the meat left over from the short ribs. With this I combined the beef bouillon, given in this column, to create some delightful stew.

Savory Fishy Stew: This time I cooked 1½ cups long-grain converted rice by the fleky method and for once, succeeded in getting it as "buttery" as I liked. Instead of stirring in the butter after the rice was cooked, I added 2½ tablespoons butter at the end of 10 minutes. Of course, it cooked less and brought the rice. A delectable difference.

Freeze shredded [illegible] and use in a change. I cooked them reversed for family. I [illegible] onion in salted water to only to cover; then taste-tested. They were bite-tender, flavorful and beautifully green.

Rhubarb Pie

Rhubarb Pie: Mix 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 2 cups rhubarb cut in ½-inch pieces, 1 tablespoon butter. Put in unbaked pie shell. Cover with pastry. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 40 minutes.

Rhubarb Sauce: Cook rhubarb with a little water and sugar to taste. Serve hot or cold.

Rhubarb Cream Pie: Mix ¾ cup sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup cream, 2 egg yolks, 2 cups rhubarb cut in ½-inch pieces. Put in unbaked pie shell. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 40 minutes. Cover with meringue made from 2 egg whites and 4 tablespoons sugar. Brown in oven.

Rhubarb Meringue Pie: Mix 1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups rhubarb cut in ½-inch pieces, 2 egg yolks, 1 tablespoon butter. Put in unbaked pie shell. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 40 minutes. Cover with meringue made from 2 egg whites and 4 tablespoons sugar. Brown in oven.

Rhubarb Custard Pie: Mix 1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups rhubarb cut in ½-inch pieces, 2 eggs, 1 cup cream, 1 tablespoon butter. Put in unbaked pie shell. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 40 minutes.

Rhubarb Crumb Pie: Mix ¾ cup sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups rhubarb cut in ½-inch pieces, 1 tablespoon butter. Put in unbaked pie shell. Cover with crumbs made from ½ cup flour, ½ cup sugar, ¼ cup butter. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 40 minutes.

Peace River District Develops RCMP Sent To Install Telegraph

Fifty years have seen plenty of changes in the rich and fertile Peace River district. The Edson Trail has come and gone, the railway spotted the area for pioneer settlement, and only in such districts as Blueberry Mountain and the Mackenzie Highway do the pioneers still fight the elements.

In the spring of 1905, a company of men from the Royal North-west Mounted Police were sent north in the Peace River district to erect a route over which a telegraph line could be established. From Edmonton the men were to travel to Fort St. John, B.C., where the work was to begin.

The trip was a rugged one. The police were sent north from Edmonton on August 1, arriving — then all isolation bent within an overland trip that river basins from the north for its existence following the old Peace River Trail trail, the men reached Moose Portage, just north of the modern town of Grande there the show was still camp and before the portage had been completed, the horses were no worth out that the party had to camp several days to let them rest.

As spring was almost upon them (it was early in April) the police changed from sleighs to wagons at Lesser Slave Lake. They now procured a plentiful supply of hay and oats, but discovered later that the rich Peace River district offered plentiful forage.

"Blondin and Carswell have a good story here," wrote Sir Cecil Denny to the Calgary Herald from Lesser Slave Lake on April 18, 1905. It supplies their trading posts at Peace River Landing and Fort St. John. This farm does a good trade in furs and their prices for goods are not at all unreasonable, considering the distance they have to freight."

Mail service was apparently regular, but infrequent, at that time. "They have a monthly mail contract to and from Slave Lake to the Athabasca Landing," said Denny, "but only a letter mail is carried during the winter."

Continuing his journey, Denny wrote: "We took four days to cross over the Peace River, with four-horse wagons pretty well loaded. The trail is a terror, mud up to the axles for miles, but the trail was not quite out of the ground, so the wagons did not altogether go out of sight. I understand that in wet seasons this road is sometimes impassable for two months at a time, and I don't in the least doubt it."

The high-lay situation in 1905 was much simpler than it is today. For example on the main travelled Calgary-Edmonton Trail, a mile from the stores. The mission and half-breed settlement, and the English element are united on the north side, some 13 miles up. Good crops of wheat and barley, also vegetables, are grown there and I am told that the season is two weeks earlier on Peace River than at Lesser Slave Lake. It is certainly very early this year. When we arrived, no snow was to be seen, but green grass was knee high, then on the open hills and even flowers were showing up."

It was at Peace River that the police suffered their first casualty.

"We were informed that we could cross over on the ice," wrote Denny, "and with every precaution we tried it. But the head waters (the rush waters) broke through the ice on the further shore and two men narrowly escaped drowning. Although the horses were got out, one of them died on the ice. The first horse lost on the trip. Most of the baggage, with the wagon, was recovered, and we remained in the south shore and set our camp with the police detachment."

This was their only chance to cross the river before the breakup. Because the law was absolute the party decided to wait until the middle of May, after the breakup, when the small steamer from Shaftesbury Settlement could ferry them across.

We shall remain here until the middle of May," said Denny, "and then cross over and go on to Fort St. John with three or four wagons and the best pack. We shall travel light, the supplies going up to Fort St John by steamer from Fort St John we can use wagons. Making that place our base, visits, and upon a month or so we can until winter drives us out."

Denny's closing comments reveal the sturdiness of the men. "We have no sickness whatever the men are all in good spirits and getting hardened and do the work well."

HARVEST SCENE IN PEACE RIVER DISTRICT

It Takes A Lot Of Co-operation TO Pioneer A Country

Proof that Co-operation is the essence of accomplishment and success is vividly brought to our attention by pioneers who banded together in prairie wilderness to develop it into the modern progressive territory it is today.

Their spirit of community enterprise, working individually and in groups for the betterment of all is in great part responsible for our existence today. As a similar co-operative movement, we, who are working on the basis of unity, for better service and economy, take pleasure in recognizing the efforts of our pioneers, paying tribute to those who have passed into history and to those still living, our most sincere congratulations.

OUR PIONEERS MADE IN DEVELOPING THE PROVINCE AND ST. PAUL

It took a lot of idealistic "PEOPLE" with courage, foresight, stamina, and endurance to withstand the storms of pioneering the wild lands which were then St. Paul and District.

"PEOPLE" in common were the farmers of our rich-soiled district, small at first, but they laid the sound foundation under which we are progressing today.

With deep gratitude we say thank you for a job well done.

We are celebrating the month of October by hailing the "PEOPLE" in this district through our advertising. We are presenting it a "PEOPLE'S STORE" where we give the best service and satisfaction.

FOSY PIONEERS

Mr and Mrs. Alex Yetten of Fosy, posing by their first homestead shack in pioneer days. They are dressed in the best style of that day.

Early Pioneers Of Fosy District Yettaw's Arrived In Spring '05

He immigrated to this country from the United States and came from the State of Michigan in the Spring of 1905 accompanied by his wife and two children. Their first stop was the city of Edmonton. They camped for a few months before moving out to the Fosy district where they now reside. With two companions, Mr. W. L. Smith and M. Armitage, they came in search for land discovered by Mr Armitage they in a region which is now Fosy.

After locating the site of his new home, Mr Yettaw returned to Edmonton. In October he made the trip back via the road and common route in those days, the Saskatchewan River. It was cold and the frost set in early, freezing the river at Pakan. The Valley Press there the trip had to be finished by boats and the services of an Indian guide. The first shack, built by Mr Yettaw, was a rather unimposing picture was of heavy native lumber, only further available at that time, with a sod roof and two half windows.

In November it was time to move the family in. They came down as far as Vegreville on the C.N.R. and for the rest of the journey, Mr J. Berlinguette supplied the transportation via the covered wagon.

By the time the youngsters had returned to their new home, it had snowed heavily and the snow acre broken were covered as well as the shack impossible to find it in the night, the kind hospitality of Mr Saunders, killed in the second world war, was accepted. In the morning the shack is as found and the pioneers dug in for the long winter months of seclusion with nothing much to do but wait for spring, trap and hunt for their means of existence.

In the spring, money was needed to make a start and prove the homestead. Mr Yettaw headed back out to civilization looking for work. With Vegreville as his destination, he started out walking and as he puts it "was chased by a bull for two miles," all of which proved his travels into Vegreville and Edmonton.

Hired up for summer, Mr Yettaw was served to accept the hospitality of the Police Department and sleep on the "mattresses" for one night after which he established work from J. J. Duggan on the same line.

Although farming was just displacing ranching in Alberta, at that time, Mr Yettaw nevertheless became a boy, not a cowboy herding cattle across the front of about the site where the low level bridge is today. In the summer of 1906 he took 25 head of cattle across the low level bridge, to a lower heavy owned by Mr Bolton two blocks west of the old C.N.R. depot. Next day he herded them to a ranch near Hemaa.

Possessing on those latitudes days was one harrowing experience after another, said Mr Yettaw. On one occasion, while he was going to work Easter Sunday, he had to cross the Saskatchewan at a point where the ice was not considered too safe. With a hand sled and oars, just in case something happened, and it did, he started to cross. The ice gave in, but with his two life belts he was able to stay on top and managed to get his days work done.

Another time, in the night, having lost his sense of direction, he wandered into the Vermilion River arriving in Vegreville not until the next day. Jack Richardson came to the rescue with a change of clothing and the incident was forgotten as just one of those little tribulations encountered with pioneering.

Most homesteaders of that era were forced to abandon their holdings for months at a time, in search of work to buy the necessities until they got a foothold on the land. Mr Yettaw left his wife on the homestead to keep the home fires burning. And it was hard on her and the women of that day, most of whom were not used to the hardships of isolation in the lonely wild-ness but they bore the trials and tribulations without complaint.

Today, Mr and Mrs. Yettaw have raised and educated a family of eight children who at the same time contributed enormously to the progress and development of this district. Their friend out as an example of the pioneer spirit and courage which kept them on the same land all these years. Theirs is an achievement that is only equalled by other family pioneers whom we are honoring on this Golden Jubilee anniversary of this Province. May they live long to enjoy the fruits of their labor

OLD TIME FAMILY REUNION

There wasn't too much entertainment in the early days, so it was common to spend Sunday visiting with the neighbors. Here it is some of the old families way by Mr. Alex Yettaw's log cabin. While the ladies all donned silk, the men are having a bit of . . . we haven't said what it was, but it can't be coke. In the picture are Mr. and Mrs. Alex Yettaw, Mr. and Mrs. Gaudin, Mr. Charles and Frank Bocoska boy.

Congratulation To Our Pioneers On The Province's Golden Jubilee Anniversary

It took a lot of courage to break our district into profitable farm lands. We are young in business but hope to "quickly our pioneers" trust in the future by giving you the best service.

with Hope, Courage and the ART of NEIGHBORLINESS

From far and wide, - dark-skinned and ruddy ones, themselves of rosy cheek and warmer, untainted clime than here routinely, drawn here by the promise of a land on which there was room to grow

They came with one purpose To build new homes for themselves and their children.

They brought little with them, for the most part, except for great courage, high hopes and the art of neighborliness. They bartered and traded co-operate with one another because they were blessed with the art of neighborliness. They worked together to build their homes They shared their machinery and their work. They fought side by side to beat off pioneer fires Together, they built the institutions they needed for a tolerable life in a Whitney Lake

They learned, too, to apply the lessons of co-operation to their business affairs. They created great co-operative marketing organizations for their grain and livestock and other co-operatives to bring their goods and services

All these things grew up out of the hope, the courage and the art of neighborliness with which the prairie settlers were so well endowed. Tackling their problems together as they arose, the pioneers of Alberta built better than they knew.

Today, your valued division, with the same idea of co-operation, is planning for the celebration of your district, fulfilling dreams of our pioneers in that important respect. Tomorrow out of this heritage of hope, courage and co-operation, the people of Alberta can push on to new horizons of achievement.

Show Time In Elk Point 29-21

Elk Point Legion are presenting "SHOW TIME" with all local talent and Minstrel show at Spring Fort Hall on Wednesday and Thursday nights, July 20 and 21, curtain time is 8 17 p.m. Proceeds from this show will be used by the Legion to carry on their work in the community.

"SHOW TIME" the last moving stage show that uses all homegrown folks, has a colorful history background and uses the top talent of the community, which will include singers, dancers, musicians and impersonators

The local boosters and professional men of the community will portray such famous characters as Amos and Andy, Mr Blue and Madam Queen, Kingfish and Brother Crawford, Ball and Aunt Jemima, Beebeeler and Sapphire, Bumstead and Blondie.

There men will appear in Blackface, wearing special costumes, and tell jokes, sing songs, and lead the other usual be-jokes that are the foundation of the basic work comedy. There will be an interlocutor who will introduce the Amateur Specialty Acts and also act as a foil for the laugh provoking antics of the Bones and Belles of the Minstrel Circle

Colorful silk and satins costumes are worn by four groups of teen-age chorus girls, who do tricky dance routines and sing catchy songs to add color and beauty to "SHOW TIME."

Woven between the antics of the Minstrel men and the dances of the chorus girls will be various specialty number by local amateur talent.

There will be a Tiny Tot Popularity Contest in connection with "SHOW TIME", a King and Queen, Prince and Princess, Duke and Duchess and Fay Day will be crowned and awarded prizes on stage of "SHOW TIME" Thursday night, July 21st at 8:17 p.m.

Successful Sports Day Held Wed.

Wednesday, July 6th was a big day at Elk Point Sponsored by the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce the day full of sports and entertain was enjoyed by about 300 people With typical July weather the day passed with only one heavy shower of rain in the afternoon but did not interfere with the ball games but did cause one hour delay

Six teams competed in the ball tournament, Elk Point, Edmonton, St Paul, Glendon, Cold Lake and Heinsburg. The first game was between Vermilion to Elk Point. The final game between Cold Lake and Glendon was the best ball playing ever seen here by the Lake boys, Glendon, with no score, one error by Glendon gave Cold Lake the victory. Cold Lake moved to Glendon and thurd to Elk Point

Other games were entertaining Horseshoe Playing, Tug-o-war and racing for the young people. The dressberry Boys Band did a good job and many of the older people enjoyed their attendance. This was the band that so many people missed when they visited the High School last summer

Another Duck In Chimney

Ducks are finding great attraction to chimneys this season. We have the report of a young duck having crawled all the way down Rennie Plouffe's chimney and died at the intersection of the stove damper.

It took quite some navigating for the one to bury himself in the location he was found. From the chimney on the two-story building he slipped from his perch to the elbow with the stove, down another chute and came to rest on the damper of the converted kitchen range. We imagine the flood of water apparently the last shed from engravings of the gas furnace. By now a wood duck again seems that species will never learn to stay away from chimneys.

Shares For Seed Cleaning Plant Being Taken Up

Construction As Soon As Shares Sold

The sale of shares in the proposed seed plant is progressing so well that a Seed Cleaning Plant for St Paul is a certainty.

Following a meeting of the directors last week, it was announced that around the shares had been sold to date and farmers having more than half their prospects yet to contact. With only 300 shares required to be sold financing is half completed. Farmers wishing to purchase shares should contact their local FUA officials most of whom have all the information regarding the proposed plan.

A committee was formed to select a site for the plant and will report their findings to the next general meeting to be held on Monday, August 1st.

If financing is completed by that date, the directors will make arrangements for immediate construction of the plant. This will, however, be dependent on the response from business men and farmers in the district who will be required to buy sufficient shares to enable the organization to get under way.

Jubilee Theme Will Set Pace For St.Paul Fair

The St Paul Fair, to be held on Friday and Saturday, August 5th and 6th will be opened by a pageant of trade depicting the floats from business firms in town and local and district organizations.

The being Jubilee Year, the general trend will probably follow the theme "Fifty Years of Progress" and it is expected that most floats will attempt to portray some phase of that theme.

Walter Guenter, perennial Parade Marshall for the Exhibition Parades will again be in charge of arrangements and all persons and organizations who are planning a float in the parade are asked to contact him as soon as possible.

The Agricultural Society Trophy for the Best Float, which was won by Darling Ladies' Wear last year will again be up for competition.

Voluntary Donations For St. Paul Beach

The management of St. Paul Beach at Lake St. Vincent has gone to a good deal of personal effort and expense to clean out the beach for the use of the St. Paul Public.

Next Sunday, July 24, the bar will be passed around for voluntary donations to help defray the expenses of the tractors, etc.

Although the Beach is privately owned, the public has had the privilege of free access to its refreshing shores. On some localities, with less facilities, there is a charge of 25c to 50c per car to get in, consequently the small donation should cause no hardship and should be willingly handed out for this special case.

Paraded and Applauded Down Main; Banqueted and Entertained, Grands

One of the pioneers celebrants of the St. Paul District on September 2 to 14 1955 as a tremendous tale to tell their children and grandchildren as for the third years of pioneering in Alberta and St. Paul for the tremendous task of developing the district for leaving to posterity an heritage that conversation as well as any effort that put into clearing the northern Athabasca and prosperous surroundings.

The day's activities started at the meeting with Church Services rendering thanks for the pioneers harvest of St Paul.

At eleven o'clock parade lined up at the Parish Hall to which he was down main street finished with thousands of spectators loudly applauding the old-timers who rode by in two large floats, built by the Municipality.

The Legion, on the second, with some twenty members of two world wars during which time many pioneers left the homesteads to defend their native land.

Mr Pierre Charron, a proud old-timer, rode erect, in spite of his years, atop a prancing stallion accompanied by his younger son Henry Charron and Adelard Chamberland, amongst the first pioneers and farmers in the district.

A long line of colorful floats, arranged in the theme of the day, entered the various stages and spectators of pioneer life during the course of the historic Float. Among the prominent were Dr. Hospital, St Paul, M.D. [illegible] the Rotarians, Knights of Columbus, St Paul Ladies of I.O.D.E. the Town of St Paul, and a miscellaneous array of [illegible] and floats.

At the Exhibition grounds, the pioneers were treated to a sumptuous dinner served by the ladies of the parish, taking plenty of time to reminisce over the old days and receive congratulations from the younger generation.

At three in the afternoon, games and sports were commenced in order to introduce the old-timers in attendance and present their

Pioneer Pageant, 2-year old Clifford John, former known as "Chubby" stole the act and the whole show. Knee-high to a grass hopper, the little brave was the crowd's love and applause with his scrap tinging pioneer.

On the eve of Armand Laird, member of seven-years, Dusty Wolverton opened the concert with an expert demonstration of [illegible] Pete Paquette accompanied on the [illegible] Quartet, Two Parents Pau, Laurentian Lumberjacks, Richard and Joe St.-Clifford entertainers from Edmonton with a few specially numbers Madeleine Gervais and sang You Forgot to Remember" and "Tzigane". Jaime Beauregard with son and daughter supplied music for an old time dance party. Roger Paquette put on a comedy act St. Paul Square Dancers, with Alex Bernadette calling squared off for a modern dance. Ronald Choir directed by Mrs D Gamache featured with vocals and Mrs Benadry with several songs.

Contract Let To Complete 36

ASHMONT NEWS

In the first game of the Ashmont Baseball Tournament, July 17th., Ashmont proved easy pickings for the Glendon squad.

In the second game Speiden played Mallaig and the latter team came out on top. St Lina was eliminated for top money but managed to take third place.

The final game between Glendon and Mallaig put Glendon in to rifrat money and Mallaig took second prize.

The weather was ideal and a good crowd of spectators witnessed the days play The refreshment booth, was kept busy during the entire day

Our thanks goes out to all those who helped make the day a success, especially Bruce Draper who is our baseball coach and manager

Nervous Disorders

This is a subject which could be widely discussing of permanent disability and will, but I'll discuss it as a temporary disability

To date very little research has been carried on this field but we do know that a nervous condition plays a great part in driver accidents. You do not have to let your imagination work too hard to realize that the potential hazard in a nervous person would be in the form of a car in normal traffic let alone heavy traffic

Some people become nervous and also there is no rule to make decisions of how one could judge it. I have noticed people who think a car and the driver can be fixed inwardly when the driver is stopping they feel they want to help too This is just a mild case Another common mild case of nervousness is found in the so called "back seat driver" Their nerves will not allow them to relax in a car no matter how good and efficient the driver may be These are just examples Then there is the driver, I have noticed drivers coming up to a red light and their nerves are on edge waiting for the green light. In fact their nerves are bad enough that they sneak out on the orange light. They cannot relax.

If people allow the little performances to act on them, it won't be very long until their condition gets worse and more than likely they will soon be involved in an accident.

I think the reason people keep getting worse is that they do not try to check themselves. They are unaware that such a thing is taking place in their systems It is like a drug, it will finally get you down.

There is one thing research has found. Suppose you are the driver who has had a hard, trying day at normal street Another Things didn't go the way you expected them to go, so you are upset. Your nerves are a bit on edge You go home, have supper and after suppers decide to go for a drive in the country Just as you go in the car, you spot an old flat tire You go to the garage and get it blown up. The trailer is heavy going to the driver. They won't let you out on the street Finally you get on the street The next is a stop street with light You have to make a left turn but traffic is so heavy you wait for ten or three lights You can imagine what is going on inside of you After all day then this You are boiling over! Your nervous system is "keyed up" Finally you reach the open highway You turn on the radio and you start to relax

Now you draw a line on a piece of paper which represents your normal nervous tension, but after a day at work and this incidence in traffic, your tension has risen to a point above that line So as you relax on the highway this point starts to come to the normal but it doesn't stop there. Research shows that the point will go below that line so far as it went above So you are below normal. All of a sudden a car is parked just around the corner In order for you to avoid a collision you have to arouse yourself to the normal line in order to react.

If you are physically tired as well it will be quite a chore to arouse yourself. Now see what might happen because of a nervous tension.

This is only temporary and can be compensated for by rest.

If Garden fresh peas are a favourite with you and your family, why not try a late planting in the space vacated by an earlier to vegetable?

Late varieties of peas can be planted even as the first cool days of early fall approach and still mature to give a crop before the first frost comes. The yield will not be as large as earlier planted peas, but will add substantially to the family food supply.

In order to give late peas a quick start, soak the trench in which they are to be planted, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

Peas planted late in the season should be sown deeper than those planted early in the spring when the soil is full of moisture. In a heavy soil, plant late peas about four inches deep. Plant them six inches deep if the soil is very light.

When the peas have been covered with soil, "rake" the soil to firm it, as shown in the Garden-Graph.

Late peas are not to be a bit temperamental. Mulching after the plants are well up helps in hot weather. As uniformity heat wave as they are forming pods, or a cold, wet period while they are blossoming can reduce the crop to almost nothing. For late plantings, select varieties that are locally recommended.

Late peas should have some sort of support. Brush does very well for this purpose. Leggy twigs can also be used.

Alberta's First Inhabitants Believed Migrated From Asia

Last year from last week's Golden Jubilee issue, because of a shortage of space, we still have several interesting articles on Alberta's history which at this time is pertinent here. We will publish them, along with some pictures, during the next few weeks of this Golden Jubilee year.

For years the Indians were the only inhabitants of the Alberta plains. There has been many speculations as to whence and when the red men came and now believe that they came across the North Pacific at the narrow part where North America and Asia thrust out fingers to a vain attempt to meet. It has been estimated that when the white men came, not less than 100,000 Indians roamed the plains between Hudson Bay and the Rocky Mountains.

The first white men were attracted by their urge for exploration, or the profits of the fur trade. The first white man to what is now Alberta was Anthony Henday (sometimes spelled Hendry), a Hudson's Bay Company employee who in 1754 crossed the Saskatchewan near Nipawin and wandered over the great plains between the two rivers some miles south, but he did not get nearer the Rockies than the trail of a band of Blackfoot warriors who were hunting buffalo. Henday had never before seen Indians on horseback and determined to catch up with them. Shortly afterwards, he overtook them and was invited to join the band. Henday's diary gives one of the earliest descriptions of the manner in which the Indians hunted buffalo with bows and arrows. He spent the winter on the first Dave River west east of the Calgary-Edmonton trail and in the spring returned to York Factory by way of the Saskatchewan.

For the next 50 years there was a race between the Hudson's Bay Company and the North West Company of Montreal to open up sources of the fur trade of the Northwest. One of the aides of the Nor'Westers was Alexander MacKenzie, who in 1787 was placed in charge of the Company's trade in the Athabasca region. From his headquarters at Fort Chipewyan on Lake Athabasca he led an expedition down the Mackenzie River to the Arctic Ocean in 1789, he ascended the Peace River to its headwaters, crossed the Rockies by Le Pas Pass and descended to the River Fraser as far as it was navigable. From this point he struck northwestward overland and at last reached the Pacific. The idea of a white man to cross the continent of North America was thus established. - Ed. Journal

In the early days interest of the white man in the land now Alberta was confined almost entirely to the fur trading activities and Christian the natives. The strife between the rival companies became more and more bitter until there was practically open war. When it became apparent that the situation could not continue, negotiations brought about a union of the two companies in the summer of 1821.

The company's factors moved power to Hough with little opposition, and quiet conditions prevailed.

The year 1867 saw a turning point in the history of the Canadian West as well as in that of the Indian province. The Fathers of Confederation had envisaged a dominion that would reach from coast to coast. But the union sought at the time of the Canadian Confederation two years after Confederation purchased control of the Hudson's Bay Company territory for $1,300,000 — a vast tract of land. Most of the vast and north country this became the North West Territories.

To maintain law and order, the Canadian Government organized the North West Mounted Police. The Indians now that they had respected the courage and integrity of the red-coated British soldiers, so of the same colour was selected for the new force. In July 1874 the march of the Mounties began across the treacherous muskeg between the Red River and the Rockies. One division of this force reached Fort Edmonton in October, the other, under Lieut.-Colonel J. F. MacLeod established a fort in southern Alberta near the town which years has come. The following year a post was established on the Bow River and named Fort Macleod, in honor of Colonel Macleod's birthplace in Scotland.

With law and order assured, and a railway in prospect, settlers began to trickle in and a few years later the press of the arrivals rushed it started. The federal government introduced a system of surveys by which all farms were to be square blocks. The half-breed settlers were accustomed to long narrow strips fronting on a river, like the rivers Louis Riel also had laid the first request before the Canadian land the half-breeds and Indians arrived resistance against the Canadian authorities. Settlers in the area along the North Saskatchewan River took kindly to the Hudson's Bay fort at Edmonton and for a time the population seemed certain but a reform under General Strange moved north from Calgary and upon its arrival the rebellion was over by fall and Edmonton was reformed. The disturbance centered in what is now the Province of Saskatchewan, although Alberta experienced the terrible Frog Lake massacre and the galloping of numerous trading posts.

JUBILEE CELEBRATION APPRECIATED

Many old timers have reflected the opinion that they were more than pleased at the celebration given them on the occasion of the Golden Jubilee celebrations in St [illegible].

They did not go through the years of toil simply for the honor, acknowledged, but recognition of a job well done is always mutually appreciated and we feel our celebrants are justified in taking pride of their accomplishment. It was a fine salute of a job well done.

The organization in St. Paul headed by Mr Maurice Meilleur, chairman, and Mrs. Rose Dagon, hard working secretary-treasurer, are to be commended. All pitched in for a co-operative effort that is bound to improve the old-timers that the prosperity and the future of this country is in good hands and the work they have not the least for is going to continue along the path of progress.

PLEA FOR THREE-MILE LAKE ROAD

Three-mile Lake, once abandoned mainly because of rumours questioning the quality of the waters, is again becoming a popular place for St. Paul district farmers and residents who like to take advantage of its closeness to cool themselves and their children off during hot spells such as we have been experiencing the past week. Last Sunday we counted over forty cars dispersed along its spacious beach.

Trouble with the place, despite of its nearness, three miles from Town, is that it is twice as hard to get there as going to a Lake forty miles away [illegible] that as if you can get there at all.

Bearing in mind this return to popularity, it might be in order to suggest that the councillor in this part of the Municipality give a little attention to fixing the quarter mile beyond behind Henri Van Brabant's farm.

It's a dirty piece of road, hard be being to very good standards but if a watchful eye was kept on it, very little work would at least make it passable when the weather is opportune and inviting to the ratepayers.

It is understandable that the few farmers needing access to this road cannot place much pressure on the councillors, in view of the economic factor, but they at least deserve a little more attention. All they want is to be able to get through, not a paved road.

FULL STEAM AHEAD

Canada is in for a new era of free capital spending by the federal government, reports the Ottawa correspondent of The Financial Post.

A buoyant and expansionist outlook has taken hold of government thinking. It is now firmly based on the idea that Canada's population will grow tremendously in the next half century and that public services must match that growth.

The Government is now ready to run into debt, if necessary in order to finance capital projects which will contribute to national development or provide improved amenities for a growing population.

Public investment is viewed not just as a make-work expedient, but as a long-term program. The aim is to use it

1. To meet the future needs of a growing economy
2. To help keep the economy going at full tilt by flexible timing of expenditures.

The dynamic new approach will get its first official unveiling at the October conference with the provincial governments.

GOOD CROP NEWS

A lot of things can happen between now and the time when farm trucks start trundling grain into local elevators. There's still rust, weeds, worms and weather to worry about — not to mention the real possibility of flooding rains for our wheat and coarse grains.

But, right now, the crop is in far better shape than anyone dared predict six weeks ago.

There's distinct chance of a Prairie wheat crop of 400 million bushels.

That's 75 per cent longer than last year, though only about 45 per cent of its tremendous 1954 wheat yield.

But it would be an impressive total, and especially as if quality is high.

ONLY WAY TO CUT TAXES

There is a fair prospect that Canada's Gross National Product might reach $30 million a year within a decade, according to J. Harvey Perry, director of the Canadian Tax Foundation. This would be a 33 per cent increase over recent level of $24 billions.

The rise in productivity, rather than any reduction in tax rates, is one of the best hopes of lowering the income tax burden on Canadians. The business program, rising welfare expenditures, and the need for more schools and highways as Canada's population increase will require a continuing high level of tax revenues.

Health Practices To Prevent Tooth Decaying

By Dr. E. G. MANDIN

"But Mummy! Baby hasn't got any teeth!" Sister Rose, peering into the mouth of the two-year-old taken a dim view of baby that came without a full set of accessories.

But Rose was wrong for baby's four teeth when he was born. They're not in sight yet, and they're not fully formed either but they're present. They are the foundation teeth and form a large part of the permanent set under way, deeply buried in baby's gums. The first teeth of the permanent set begin to develop about two months before birth.

So, as soon as it is known that baby is on the way, the expectant mother should see that her own mouth and teeth are in good condition. Anything that might interfere with good chewing should be corrected, and, of course, shareware or other forms of infection should be removed. Then she can be sure that the material she swallows has been well prepared — for baby and her own nourishment, but how to feed and building materials for the worker cells that build baby's body and teeth.

The doctor will see that the expectant mother is fully informed about a good nourishing diet so that information may be had from public health nurses in the office or obtained followed month by month the other cells will be developed for and the job of building good teeth will proceed to best advantage.

Something more than a normal diet is required at this time. The building supplies for the worker cells come from extra quantities of raw foods as milk, citrus fruits, tomato, oranges and grapefruit, other fruits, raw vegetables, yellow vegetables whose colour is derived and cereals. Liver, cheese and eggs are particularly necessary form of the main protein and liver.

A strong well built house depends upon the health of a strong foundation. The best materials should see that her own mouth and teeth are in good condition. Anything that might interfere with good chewing should be corrected, and, of course, shareware or other forms of infection should be removed. Then she can be sure that the baby is getting the best possible materials to build sound strong teeth resistant against decay, depending upon the care of the expectant and the nursing mother, who sees that the worker cells are well nourished and that the supply of good building materials never fails.

Record Attendance At Farmers' Union Convention In St. Paul

The annual meeting of the Alberta Farmers' Union at St. Paul on July 5th was one that will be long remembered as one of the largest attendances on record.

Many of the delegates were accompanied by their wives and families, and the whole affair took on the aspect of a picnic. Delegates were registered from all parts of the province, and there were also a number of visitors from other provincial farm organizations, including the Farmers' Union of Saskatchewan and the Farmers' Union of Manitoba.

Registration committee chairman was in charge Mr. Max Shepherd, assisted by Mr. M. Robertson and Mr. Robertson of Beverly Lake did a very good job of stimulating the large attendance.

Mr. W. S. Scott, District President, told from Lamont was chairman of the meeting.

Besides a report on behalf of the activities of the executive, Mr. Lesson from the secretary-treasurer, also presented

PIDGEON

Reports of District Officials (an account of the resignation of A. Mack district director who has retired and was the oldest in the Local district executive, a very fine man all have to regret his loss.

Secretary's Report

The secretary's report gave a picture of the past year's activities. More new life and interest has been shown by members in the past year as much of which is to be received by the Round-Up Limited which was held last The District boss boasts of over 6,000 members, practically one-third of the total FUA membership. Some other district surpasses the amount of participation.

The Financial Report shows a healthy surplus out of the years activities.

Provincials Report

Following the secretary's report W. S. Scott congratulated members for the seven district boards had shown during the year. He also told of the Round-Up Limited to be held also in the early afternoon but urged to keep going on this direction.

Results of efforts to formulate a farmers' policy and Program will be submitted to the members in Local district conventions in November

The president was proud that District 4 has one of the most active and interested members' clubs in the Province.

AFTERNOON

Alfred Maugh, re-elected District Director spoke on the past year's activities followed by Mr. Percy Tweed from the Alberta Farmers Union who gave a picture of the activities and accomplishments of the Marketing Board especially in connection to Provincial and Federal Governments. The provincial board feels at least of a district on Union affairs.

Mrs. C. I. Armstrong, President of Women's section of FUA, FWUA spoke on her annual report. She stated the year of the activities of the Women's Section and their accomplishments during the past 10 years. She asked for more interest by the farm women in co-operative affairs, health and school problems, providing an ever rising standard of living for all.

The following executives were elected District Director Fritz Weith Alternate Director Mrs. Dietrich FWUA Director Mrs. Alex Bogdan FWUA alternate director, Mrs. Elizabeth Hagen

GINGER COUNTERS REPLACE FISHING RODS

—Central Press Canadian

Tales of "hot" uranium strikes have replaced the old fishing yarns in the uranium-happy Haliburton resort area in Ontario. Wood-and vacationers have been transformed into amateur prospectors and ginger country now are more common than fishing rods. Honeymooners Mr and Mrs. Bob Stevenson, above, of Carnwall, Ont., are two of the holidayers who are combing the area with geiger counters. One Ohio holidayer, Mrs. Dorothy Hodgson, has named several "hot" spots in the area.

Come To The St. Paul Fair

A country fair can only be a success if the citizens of the district take time out to prepare and exhibit their wares and handiwork.

There are well over 400 classes of exhibits which can be entered in this show! Classes include cooking, sewing, flowers, domestic science, agricultural products, livestock, poultry, pigeons, rabbits, dogs, horses, and many others.

Of particular interest this year are the new classes which pay top money of $25.00. They are the Inverness Farm Mechanics, Farm Tool Sharpening and Farm game. A winning exhibit in any of these classes will pay well.

In addition to the new classes which were added this year, the Society retained all other classes which they have given over the years. This year they are paying special prizes in all classes which should make exhibiting much more profitable.

Anyone wishing to exhibit and has not yet received a prize list book may do so by calling at the Municipal Office, D & L Office or by writing to the Secretary, Agricultural Society at St Paul

WEED PROBLEMS ARMED? FIGHT WEEDS WITH CHEMICALS

Weeds are bad news for farmers anywhere, any time — but they can be a real problem in Western Canada this year. Delayed seeding combined with unusually wet soil conditions, will limit pre-seeding cultivations for weed control, and favour early, rapid and vigorous weed growth. This year, then, the timely and proper use of 2-4-D MCP, and other herbicides will be more important than ever in controlling weeds in growing grain crops. Here are the important rules in using to a successful chemical weed control program:

(1) Know your weeds. Examine your weed problem and decide on the right chemical in the right amount at the right time. (2) Choose the right chemical. 2-4-D should be your first choice for wheat and barley crops in general, the Ester form of 2,4-D is best MCP, rarely than 2,4-D, is recommended for oats and flax, and where wheat and barley are seeded to oats and clovers. (3) Use the right dosage. Follow chemical manufacturer's instructions closely as to the rate of application. (4) Treat early. Early treatment eliminates weed competition at a time when weeds are most damaging to grain crops. Furthermore, it will do a better weed-killing job at lower cost. Get them when small! (5) Watch growth conditions. There's a right and a wrong time to apply 2,4-D and other chemicals to small grain crops. Follow recommendations closely. Wheat, oats and barley may or may not safely and effectively treated when the plants have reached a height of 3 inches. That should be tested very early — as soon as the crop is large enough to spray. Several years should be required between the application of 2,4-D to grain crops crop rotation. Use recommended rates of chemical weed control on [illegible] Make sure your [illegible] and have seen on [illegible] Above all — the wise and careful [illegible] chemical weeds [illegible] to weeds [illegible]

House Set Fire By Lightning

The recent storm which fanned the interior heat and Friday brought disaster to Joe Sumerlynsky.

His house on the same lot as the Dunlop & Setzer Building east of the creamery was struck by lightning and I believe in the ensuing fire that followed the house was completely destroyed. The Elk Point Fire Brigade in their usual prompt manner turned out but flames were out by the time they reached the scene. However the Brigade managed to prevent the fire from spreading to the surrounding buildings.

WEDDING

Mr and Mrs. Frank Miller of Elk Point recently returned from a trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls Miss White of Consul also attended the wedding of their daughter Marcia to Mr R P Tod, Sommerville of Toronto.

The ceremony took place in the Anglican Church Consul Sask. at 2 p.m. on June 25th. Mr. Tod is employed by the Toronto Dominion Bank and is at present stationed at Toronto.

After a honeymoon spent in Eastern points the couple will be at home after August 1st at Toronto.

A reception was held at the garden of the bridegroom's parents where the bridal supper was served.

Ted and Marcia are spending the summer at their cabin at Bonnie Lake Waterton. After Ted returns to Toronto he will commute his Provincial Education course at the University

The Millers report that although they enjoyed their trip to Ontario and the East they still prefer our Alberta to Ontario.

St. Paul Fair Billed For Three Big Days

Baseball Tournament August 4th and 5th

To answer many queries regarding the Fair Date, the officials of the Agricultural Society have given the following explanation. The dates August 4th., 5th., and 6th., were set early in the year with Thursday, August 4th., to be Jubilee Day and the Exhibition to take place on August 5th., and 6th

However, later in the year a decision was made to hold Jubilee Celebrations on July 14th thus leaving the 4th of August open for other activities.

Since the Grandstand Show and the Midway would be available on that date, it was decided to hold a Baseball Tournament beginning Thursday August 4th., with the finals being played on August 5th.

Since the Fair has been plagued with rain for the past three years, it was felt that to three days there would be a better possibility to get a rain free day to allow all the people to be present for the celebrations.

The Baseball tournament will be held on Thursday and Friday, August 4th., and 5th., and the exhibition on the 5th., and 6th., while the Grandstand Show and the Midway will play all three days.

The Exhibition will officially open with the Parade next week and get underway at 1 p.m. on Friday, August 5th., with Parade Marshal Lambert in charge

Bob Dipalo Presents Grandstand Show Three Nights Of Fair

Bob DiPalo has again obtained some of the top acts in America for his Grandstand Show and is being acclaimed as having the best Grandstand Show in Canada even surpassing the shows performing in the City Exhibition.

Reports from Manitoba, where he is presently performing, indicate that he is playing to capacity audiences which return to see the show on the second and third nights.

The Appollon, one of the most sensational high pole trapeze acts will be sure to thrill young and old This act consists of 4 world famous trapeze artists performing on four poles simultaneously These is DiPalo's special Jubilee Year Act and is one which will keep you on the edge of your seat throughout the entire performance.

The remainder of the show, which consists of 3 major acts are all designed to entertain and thrill every member of the family for two full hours.

Bob DiPalo's Parade of Stars is the one show which you cannot miss a point of seeing on one of the three nights which he will be performing in St. Paul.

Exhibition Entries Coming In For Good Farm Displays

Mrs. Doris Berthiaume, who recently took over the duties of Secretary of the Agricultural Society reports that entries are steadily rolling in and the number of entries to to date indicate that entries will reach an all time high for the Fair

Mrs. Berthiaume will be at the District Agriculturist's office each day from 10 to 11:00 a.m. and from 2 to 5 p.m. to receive further entries and to answer any enquiries regarding the Fair.

A THRESHING CREW IN BORDENAVE, 1918

Mr Joseph Edward Robinson of Leland is eight in this old-timer to show us how threshing was done in 1918. The occupation on the left was called a "horsehay machine." Mr. Robinson is had no blower to stack up the straw and was powered by a stationary engine. Caddy helped to Pierre Bolduc, and the engine to Emilien Mercier. Pushing fuel pitchers are on the front of the engine, left to right, Mr Joseph Hresley, Mr Bachoffer, Mr Robinson and Pierre Bolduc. Among others that can be identified in front of the thresher are Pat Lefevours, Mr. Dubeaver and Mr. Brenon. Mr. Robinson told us that of the original pioneers in the Leland district, only two besides himself are actually still resident on their farms. They are Mr. Alex Yetlow and Mr. E. Foley.

To Complete Sidewalk Blvds.

Town Council at its regular meeting Monday discussed installing of tank-cillers providing for better drainage.

The Town Works foreman, Mr Eliel Cassavoy, was instructed to work out a plan for the completion of sidewalks boulevards which were installed some years ago, but not completed as was intended that a 4 to 6 foot boulevard would be extended out and likewise provided from there

Many residences, it was noted, have makeshift driveways without culverts, forcing pools of water to accumulate in unsightly manner.

This program, will be worked out, by individual blocks, completing the work progressively

St. Paul Army Spend Week Under Canvas

Twenty-one soldiers of St Paul's Army Reserve Corps went under canvas for a week's intensive training on the practical side of soldiering at Sarcee last week.

The summer camp is supplement to the Dominion Day parade we have made, during the fall, winter and spring training programs which are designed to prepare a cadre of men and officers who will need a maximum of training in the event of a national emergency.

The aim of the summer camp is to train as much practical training as possible into a week or so, as time is scarce and the training necessary at home is the reserve units Officers, NCO's and the ranks are each trained on their own levels.

Headed by Captain Maurice Mailloux, a veteran of service of the St Paul Unit, the following took part in the week - long course Captain G H Primeau of Mallaig, Lieut H Campeau, Lieut Paul Nichol, WO2 H Tweiter, Sgt. A Lord, Sgt A. Tymchuk, Sgt Porter and Gers Ray Niemen, J MacLean, R Auderin, G Joly, Roberge, H L. Pinay, Paul Fagnan, J J Lariviere, Ted Theroux, P Beaudoin, Bob Colborne, J. L Piquette There are 65 officers and men in St Paul Corps who are from all over Canada attended the Sarcee Camp

Most of the training was devoted to heavy artillery practice including drills with a 25-pounder.

All ranks attending the camp are paid regular soldiers' wage on the basis of their ranks. They receive all travelling expenses, plus subsistence when in camp. Married men having attended 15 parades or more are entitled to an extra $60 for what is considered separate holidays and the single men $30. Option of spending by car or rail is granted and incidentally receive the equivalent of the train fare.

According to Captain Mailloux, all the St. Paul boys were highly satisfied with the training schedule and promises to return to the camp next year.

Crop Leaf Aphids Infests Barley

By STAN POWERS

The insect which is attacking and damaging late barley crops is the Corn Leaf Aphid The infestation now covers the three Prairie Provinces It was first noticed in Manitoba during the first week in July and since that time has spread to Saskatchewan and Alberta

The Aphids cause damage by sucking the sap from the leaves and stems of the plants Heavy infestations can cause the plants to turn yellow then fatally cause a complete kill Advance crops which are well headed out can withstand heavy infestations and very little crop damage will be noticed The only crops which are likely to suffer any damage are late fields of barley which have not yet reached the heading stage

The life span of the Aphid is about two weeks They begin reproducing when about a week old and can produce winged or wingless offsprings Unlike most insects they do not lay eggs, but give birth to living young These marculum green crops are available they give birth to the wingless type but when crops begin to mature a winged generation is produced which can migrate to other areas Although the winged type can fly their travel is largely governed by air currents

Hot humid weather is most favourable for the increase of these pests The natural enemy of the Aphids is the Lady Bug but unless they are present in considerable numbers they cannot cope with an infestation as serious as the present one

The last major outbreak of Aphids was in 1946 but they are present to a degree in many areas every year. Suitable late evening and moisture conditions that promoted heavy growth are responsible for the present plague The infrequency of trouble from the insect makes it difficult for Entomologists to establish much information on the pattern of their activities Provincial Department of Agriculture officials stated that crops with an infestation as serious

Health Practices To Prevent Tooth Decaying

By Dr. L. G. MAUSER

Among with the first step, and the first sound that youngsters speak, baby's first tooth marks one of the milestones in its life. One or perhaps two at once, appear at six to eight months, coming in the front of the lower jaw. Others come through shortly afterwards until normally, there are four upper and four lower front teeth present by the 10th to 16th month.

We should know and remember that teeth do not always erupt on schedule according to the charts or tables. So the mother must not worry if they are a few weeks or even months, early or late.

After the first eight teeth are in place the mother often wonders if she has been "short changed" for the next eight. Appear on suffocating, heaving gags in the four quarter intervals. About half attempt after the first of the longer molar teeth (molars) and they come through about the twelfth to the sixteenth month.

How mother will be re-assured, for the gaps in front are filled next, as the so-called eye-teeth (cuspids) erupt a few months later. Finally, the last of the grinder teeth, or molars, come through at the back of the jaws, and the first set of temporary teeth, twenty in all, is complete, usually at the age of two to two and a half years.

At this age many of the permanent teeth are forming, and attempts to bring last minute improvements in the formation of the forthcoming teeth. The enlightened mother will always remember that the other side is there now building the permanent teeth require the same materials that she provided for the formation of temporary teeth.

The child's first visit to the dentist should come soon after the last set of teeth is in place. It is important that an examination should be made at this time to ascertain if all is well with the mouth and jaws. Also to see whether or not there exists any faults or defects there in the surface of the enamel.

In a later article, this important occasion will be discussed.

Driver Attitudes

Attitudes also play a very important role in driving.

A driver's ability is made up of the following parts:

1 Physical
2 Knowledge
3 Attitudes

The physical qualifications carry 15 per cent of the weight of driving ability. Knowledge carries 35 per cent of the weight. But driving ability and attitudes carry 40 per cent.

A person may be physically qualified. That is their eyesight is good, reactions are good and the physical system is good. But they do not understand the rules of driving they do not understand the car they drive, well, that person cannot be termed as a good driver. Or he knows all about a car and the rules of the road but is physically unqualified, he would still not be a good driver. Even if a person had physical qualifications & all driving knowledge but his attitudes were poor that still disqualifies him as a good driver.

What are attitudes? There are too many drivers of today who have poor attitudes. First of all their respect for others and personality is nil, all they care about is themselves. They have selfish motives. The road was built for them, their car is better, faster, more powerful than any other. The laws were made for the other fellow, not them. They demand respects for the right-of-ways at all times. These are some of the characteristics of a poor attitude. They have no respect for law, property of others, has enforcement.

Too many drivers, although qualified in the first two phases of lack in the third one known as attitude. An equal or unqualified driver who has combined. We can test his knowledge but it is hard to ascertain a person's attitude. Psychiatrists are the only ones who can properly determine this measure. Otherwise time will be the best. The possible cure is the penalizing loss of driving privileges, along with education.

Such a person with poor attitudes can easily be pointed out on the highway by several of his actions. Usually such causes as overcrowding the speed limit, tailgating, and so on. Drivers with poor attitudes are accidents looking for a place to happen.

Best drivers have defined attitudes as "a positive or negative reaction to the total situation."

I believe that poor attitudes

LINE UP YOUR FLOATS FOR THE FAIR

It's nearly exhibition time Many features of a good fair is the opening parade which usually draws the largest crowds and introduces color in a small or a big fair. Again this year the business men of St. Paul are asked to co-operate in the effort through the following circular letter If you haven't received one take note of this reproduction and if you have received yours, don't forget to start on your blue prints for the best float in the parade

TO
All Business Establishments,
Community Organizations

Dear Sirs:

As you are probably aware, the St Paul Fair will be held on August 4, 5 and 6th As usual the Fair will be opened by a parade which we hope will be worthy of the Fair an I the Town This can be done only with your co-operation and participation.

This is Jubilee year — Alberta's 50th Anniversary We expect that the parade will take on that general theme with floats saluting old timers or depicting the 50 years of progress.

It is reported that towns like Lloydminster, Vermilion and Vegreville will have parades between one and two miles long St Paul should make an attempt to match these

Business firms are also invited to display their machinery and other wares in booths on the streets These booths have considerable advertising value and I am sure that you would benefit from a display on the grounds

Mr Walter Lambert is again ur Parade Marshal and all entrys for the parade should be made to him

Although plans are not finalized the Parade is expected to begin at 1 p.m. on Friday, August 5th

I trust that the Society will be favored with your co-operation on the request, I remain,

Yours very truly,
(Mrs.) Hilda Powers
Secretary-Treasurer

ELECTION INJUSTICE

Editor,
St Paul Journal

During the recent Election the Liberal Candidate was the victim of a malicious story in the Spedden-Vilna districts The story was whispered around that a letter printed in the St. Paul Journal in 1940 under the name of 'Subscriber' had given offence to the Ukrainian people and had caused much controversy at the time. During the Election campaign some Social Credit supporters alleged that Mr Sweeney had written the letter and the story was used to injure Mr Sweeny in the Ukrainian districts.

When the story came to Mr. Sweeney's attention he stated that he had never written a letter to the St. Paul Journal or to any other Newspaper.

In fairness and justice to Mr Sweeney we believe the information should be brought to the attention of those responsible for spreading the malicious story. An apology is due him for the injuries sustained. It should also be noted that the Alberta Election Act provides a heavy penalty for the circulation of false statements during an election.

In this case the attack was made on a highly respected citizen who enjoys the confidence of the Ukrainian people with whom he has been closely associated for many years. It is unfortunate that some people will resort to such low tactics in the hope of gaining political advantage

Vilna Liberal Association

ED NOTE. We have taken the trouble to investigate the story, which appeared in the "Journal" before our time and have been assured by the previous Editors and Publishers that the letter in question above was NOT written or submitted by Mr. Sweeney.

BUSIEST BUSINESS YEAR

This year promises to be one of the most remarkable — and certainly the busiest — in Canadian commercial history, says The Financial Post in a survey of the economic outlook.

Current signs definitely indicate 1955 will set new highs in most phases of business activity. The normal summer slowdown will be only slight this year — not enough to flatten out the rising industrial production curve of the fast-growing economy.

The first booming half of 1956 set the pace. For some of Canada's most important basic industries, the second six months look even better than the first.

The steel, pulp and paper, chemicals, rubber industries —and others— have enough orders on hand right now to maintain for three to five months their speed of the first two quarters.

That's significant indication of what to expect from a broad range of secondary industries which process the output of these primary sources.

Improve your holiday visitors by fixing up your home . . . bring it up to date economically with quality materials and suggestion from us.

THE CARTERS ARE LUCKIER THAN THEY KNOW!
Like all families, the Carters have plans and dreams for the future. But, unlike the families of just a generation ago, they have a better chance of making those dreams come true.
Why? One important reason is because life insurance is much more flexible today During the past 25 years, many new policies have been created. The modern family income policy, for instance, provides maximum coverage while children are young, and reduces an amount as they become self-supporting. Other policies have been developed so cover mortgages, and so provide retirement income to fit in with the government old age security benefits.
This wider choice reflects just one of the ways in which life insurance companies and their representatives have adapted their services to the changing needs of Canadians as all make it for!

Pioneer Days For Paper Advertising

Fifty years ago, newspaper advertising in Alberta had not reached the peak of perfection it has gained now in taking an idea to the public But there was a few promoters—fast talkers both vocally and in print—who always knew how to sell an item no matter how far-fetched.

There was one Chicago man who used the Alberta newspapers of 1908 to tell a miracle "cure-all" named "Lupamaroo" — gained from the words "lupine" and "marrow" It would cure 39 diseases including cancer, tuberculosis, asthma, blood poisoning, dandruff, tumors, sleepy and sunstrike. For 25 cents a bottle, the Alberta public could have the privilege of buying a medicine which "attacks the germs wherever they are And when the germs are destroyed, the disease must be banned In virtues are declared solely from one — largely myrrh. The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does"

The newspapers of Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge at this time were concerned primarily with the furtherance of the new province World news was relatively taken up with the Russo-Japanese war (ended two days before Alberta became a province), the result in Russia and tenement fires in New York Locally the public was worried about immigration, polygamy among the Mormons and the sensational King murder case It was said that the days of the ranching business were past secured in the spring, when the old Cochrane Ranch was sold to the Mormon Church.

The price of clothes during Alberta's birthday year appeared to be within the reach of everyone There were men's suits for $6.95, ladies' hose for $0.60, hand-made lace curves for $3.00, lace-garnished bed quilts, cutout Lonsdale for $1.50, hand-made linen towels for $1.50, and Pinkeye Shirting for 39 cents a yard

Real estate prices also were in the lower brackets. In Edmonton, a six-room house with two lots was offered for sale for $1.10; within a five-minutes' car ride, three lots fetched $1,500 Standard lots were on sale at the Great Estate for $125, at one third down and so taken for the first year In Calgary two houses near the fair grounds were offered for $2,300 for the two, and a twelve room house with four lots was listed by real estate agents for $7,850 There also were two lots on Thirteenth Avenue valued at $300 each Typical rural offer was on improved farm Millet, including all stock, horses and poultry for $3,850

As would be expected, the wages in the cities and income for the farmers was on par with the retail prices A calgary rate announced for a address at wages $3a a month while in Edmonton a male teacher was wanted at $45 a month and a chambermaid at $17 a month

A typical day's listing on the farm page showed that an Alberta farmer could expect to receive 41 cents a bushel for No. 1 hard wheat, 28 cents a bushel for oats and $3 a ton for straw Cattle were bought for $1.30 a hundredweight, live hogs at $6.25 each, chickens 16 cents a pound, eggs 25 cents a dozen and butter at 25 cents a pound

Wheat expansion at that was growing near, more superlatives began to appear as advertisers pushed their wares "For Christmas there there is nothing that will add to its festive character like good pure beer," stated an Edmonton brewery It catalogs the rosy glow of the burgundy or the sparkling amber of the champagne because you can drink it with impunity and each glass, bottle or demijohn is full fresh and invigorate This same company also declared "family trade solicited and delivered free"

A welcome gift for dad were hand-made Cuban cigars which sold for 10 cents each, or the regular manufactured variety at eight for 25 cents Popular brand cigarettes, some of which are still sold today ranged from 10 to 15 cents a package For mom, a merry Christmas could be expected if she received a $1 handbag, a 1" 50 sewing machine or a $1.25 silk fascinator

THRESHING IN THE EARLY DAYS OF ALBERTA

Here's a threshing crew of Alberta's earlier pioneer days reaping in the golden harvest. Steam engines of the type illustrated were very common then as a matter of fact they were the only locomotive power available. Today they have been replaced in many cases by modern tractors, engineered with both horse and label.

Farm Work In Cost.

Farmers are reminded that students are still required for Ontario haying and harvest operations. As previously announced, a worker may go to Ontario at a cost to him of $10 to and return at a cost to him of $1.50 Wages in Eastern Canada will approximate $60.00 a month plus board and room.

This is an opportunity for farmers and their sons, or other experienced farm workers to enjoy a trip to Ontario and assist in harvesting in that Province Anyone wishing to take advantage of this opportunity should make contact immediately with the nearest District Agriculturist

Safety Sam Says...

Never attempt to make a right hand turn from the inside lane
One of the causes of damaged fenders and frayed tempers is the habit of too many motorists trying to make a right-hand turn from the inner and left-hand turns from the right-hand lane. As well as being dangerous, and a traffic hazard this constitutes a traffic violation.
The proper procedure is to signal well in advance, then move into the lane on the side that you will be turning to and slow down on approaching the intersection. And, remember, when a pedestrian has stepped from the curb or is crossing a marked or unmarked crosswalk, the vehicle approaching on his side must remain until the portion of the street upon which the vehicle is travelling is clear of pedestrian traffic.

Canadian Weekly Newspapers Are Lauded By Liberty Magazine

Canada's 800 weekly newspapers, with a combined circulation of 5,618,140 are the backbone of Canadian country life according to the current July issue of Liberty magazine.

Appearing under the title "Canada's Country-Bound Citizen" this Liberty study by former Brampton Pool Gazette reporter Robert Webb says that editors of weekly newspapers have certainly advanced from the frontier days parts memorialized in the older Canadian whose sand-operated press turned out stinging editorials. But their editorial spirit of getting gently, but at need vindictive, gets no public support but commonly encounters, and welcomes, more enthusiastic kinds. Some are well known in the business.

Although some country newspaper editors earn considerable money, interesting facts. According to Liberty, 80 per cent have served as president of their local Chamber of Commerce or Board of Trade; 45 per cent have been mayor or reeve or held other high public office in their community; 30 per cent work an average of 55 hours weekly; 22 per cent reported enormous of over $5,000 annually and many of them are university graduates.

What is the weekly newspaper's most widely-read feature? Over whether, editor-publisher of the

There are few outstanding the weekly newspaper editors and publishers. Hal Linton of Maitland has stated "Yet there are few men and women who so well deserve the label from enterprisers with a special emphasis on enterprise"

—Liberty News Release

Abbotsford NEWS says it's the Lemon-Ade Table Column of the classified page, while George Mackay, owner of the 2,100-circulation Picton (N.S.) ADVOCATE, once his woman's column, Ann Advocate Says, is his paper's most widely read page. It's written by his wife, who was named Mrs. Weekly Editor at the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association annual convention last year.

But if the editor of Canada's weekly newspapers disagree on most questions there must start by read features, they are all united with Mr. Helen Worth's hot-tempered editor of Alberta's Mid-Summer Meeting Of FUA Board

At the mid-summer meeting of the FUA Board held in Edmonton, July 14-15 and 16 several important decisions were made

It was decided to hold the next Annual Convention in the Alberta College Auditorium, Edmonton, on December 5th to 9th next.

Plans for the new membership year which starts November 1st were discussed. It was decided to hold a special one-day membership drive October 1st of FUA Junior Day. The objective will be to enroll every farm family in Alberta in the Union.

During the FUA Board Meeting a joint session with the AFA Board was held to discuss closer collaboration on matters of concern to farmers. It was agreed that joint action should be taken on such matters as Marketing Legislation, Car Insurance and Electric Power

The Board endorsed the action taken during the election campaign to contact Candidates and seek endorsement of the Farm Program. Further public relations work in the new Legislature will be undertaken

PET DEER MAKES GOOD PLAYMATE

Bustling a two-week-old deer for a pet has haunted Billy Hunter's popularity rating in Kitscoty, Alta. "Bambi" was rescued by Billy's dad, a game warden, from wild animals in nearby bush where the animal was found. Now that the deer and Billy are such good friends, the six-year-old boy has been busy organizing his new pet with his family and friends.

WEDDING

United together in holy wedlock on July 16th were Miss Rose Marie Bartling of Elk Point and Mr Urville Snell, resident of Edmonton. Wedding took place in the United Church, under the officiating of Rev W Adams

The bride, given in marriage by her father donned a white satin dress and her veil was flowers with fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of Amourous Beauty roses. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls - gift from the groom.

For her daughters wedding, Mrs Bartling wore a dress of pink corded with pictures hat and gloves of the same color. Her shoes and purse were navy blue and she wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Only bridesmaid was Miss Lucille Bartling dressed in a pale blue nylon net over taffeta gown.

Matron of honor, the bride's sister, wore a yellow nylon net over taffeta dress, carrying a bouquet of mixed spring flowers

A wedding reception was held in the Legion and a dance followed.

For their honeymoon, they will tour Yellowstone National Park and return to Edmonton where they will take up residence

Vermilion Tigers Defeat Hussarettes

Last Sunday, July24 the Elk Point Hussarettes played host to the Vermilion Tigers in Elk Point in the first three innings, Elk Point led with a score of 6 to 5 but lost their lead in the fourth when Vermilion tied them 7 all. The Vermilion hurler, Ray Jones, held the Hussarette batters down letting only 2 runs in, in the 5th inning.

The game ended after nine full innings of play with Vermilion leading 17 to 11.

Elk Point Battery was Phillip Shepherd to Dan Hessian with Grindon, Twerdun, Pascoe, Koch, Kruck, McIntyh, Derichuk, Willmot Schwenker.

Farewell Party

A farewell party was held in honor of Boris Melnyk by the Elk Point Fire Brigade. The Brigade, after its usual practice last Friday, July 22, motored to the river where, after a verbose meal, a very long and a lonely, they presented Boris with a Fireman's Club jacket. Boris, who recently lived in Elk Point, has been transferred to Myrnam where he is manager of the Beaver Lumber Company Store.

Elk Point Boy In Little League

EDM JOURNAL July 23 — Two 12 year-old Edmonton up in a hard-fought pitcher's battle Monday night at Rentfrew Park and when the smoke cleared Ken Ciszewowski and his mates from the South Side became the city Little baseball champions.

Ciszewski and Fredie Dergrave both went the full six innings as South Side All Stars shut out East End All Stars, 4-0 before more than 300 fans

Dergrave followed up his 13-strikeout performance in the semi-finals by fanning 11 batters while Ciszewski whiffed five.

The South Siders produced the first double play of the playdowns as the fourth inning to snuff out what looked like a dangerous rally.

Catcher Dennis Hurulak hit a long triple to right field with one out. Dergrave, a little fellow with hits a long ball, flied out to right field. Hurulak raced for home but was called out when the ball was relayed to third for failing to tag up after the catch.

In the fifth inning, East End threatened again, but Ciszewski came up with a good effort in the clutch to end the threat

Ciszewowski's real trial came in the last of the sixth Cunningham batted for Ken Truss and smashed a single through second base, but was forced out on Hurulak's fielder's choice.

With Dergrayty at bat, Ciszewowski turned the heat on and fanned him. Dennis Nault reached first on an error and the little South Side righthander struck out Dale Elmish to end the game.

We were quite interested in the above account of Kenny Ciszewowski's success as a little league pitcher. Kenny was in Grade 2 in Elk Point when his father, Mr Frank Ciszewowski owned the Pioneer Cafe, resided it and moved to Edmonton. The Ciszewowski's were back again for a few months last term, before they sold the cafe so we feel that Kenny is an Elk Point product and are very proud of him.

Holiday Ends In Tragic Death

A summer vacation ended in tragedy Friday when Adrian Jean, 27, was fatally shot by his brother at Lakeland Point on the shooting was accidental.

Jean who lived in Vancouver was at the farm home of his brother, Hector Jean. The two men were practice-shooting at the farm yard when the fatal accident occurred.

According to witnesses, the men were using a small old type .32 calibre rifle (relief gun). They were handling it on a game, traveling it over their shoulder and then firing at a target.

Adrian Jean was standing behind Hector Hector threw the gun over his shoulder and it accidentally discharged, hitting his brother in the chest. The case died instantly.

Dr F E Dorosse, coroner, said no inquest will be held.

St. Paul Army Cadets At Camp

VERNON B.C. — Six St Paul boys are among more than 600 B.C. and Alberta Army cadets now in camp in this Okanagan Valley centre taking seven weeks training.

Representing more than 50 cadet corps in the two provinces, the boys and youngsters travelled here by road, rail and air from home town districts as far Vancouver Island in the Saskatchewan border.

Constant during the seven-week, program is a split into two main components. These are the Senior Leaders' Wing, training more than 200 boys as instructors in infantry subjects for their own corps, and the "Skill at Wing," training 200 youngsters in drilling and maintenance of three-ton Army trucks. Other boys are training as rifle marksmen.

Training is undertaken by Regular Army, Militia and Cadet Services of Canada officers and NCO's assigned to cadet training for the summer.

Following are names of local boys at camp Cherry Beauregard, A.J. Fuller, Bernard Bellard, R. J. Belanger, Emile Bechard and Claude Langlois.

Grey Leaf Aphid Infests Barley

a heavy rain such as was experienced in the St Paul area Monday night may reduce the population to some extent.

According to the best information available only very late barley crops may survive an aphid population of susceptible to control the Aphid and prevent further damage. Spraying of a crop would reduce the infestation for a period of 8 to 15 days and the crop in advance enough so that a subsequent build-up may not seriously affect the crop.

Malathion is the only chemical recommended for Aphid control. Other insecticides such as DDT, Aldrin, etc., are relatively ineffective against this pest.

Malathion may be purchased in two different formulations, a wet powder or liquid, however for spraying with a field sprayer the liquid must be used. Due to the heavy infestations in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, supplies of Malathion are difficult to obtain and in some cases importations are being made from the USA and eastern Canada.

Malathion 25 per cent Emulsifiable concentrate should be applied at the rate of 1 to 1 and a half pint per acre, in a minimum of 2 gallons of water per acre. Cost of the spraying will be from $1.50 to $2.00 per acre. The Municipal District of St Paul will carry a limited stock of Malathion and anyone in the area and latest information is last 2 still not 1 prior to July 28th.

Following is a list of chemical impulses to all parts of the body. The cure is obvious and simple. The Chiropractor locates the interference to the nerves, and removes it. A high percentage of migraine headache cases reported very favorably under Chiropractic care, with the period of time required for a complete cure ranging from three months to a year.

If you are suffering from migraine headaches see your Chiropractor without delay. It has been found that patients respond best during the early stages of the disease

Migraine Headaches Cured by Chiropractor

By Dr. E. W. Towne

Migraine headaches present no particular problems to the consistent Chiropractor This in spite of some dispute as to their exact origin The record of Chiropractic in providing relief from migraine headaches is truly remarkable

The Chiropractic principle is that all sickness stems from some interference with the nervous system The severity of the sickness will depend on the extent to which the nerves have been interfered with, and the nature of the illness will depend on which set of nerves are affected

It has been established that like all other sick people, migraine headache patients are the victims of disorders caused by the inability of the nerves to carry their full quota of energy

Reierson Named Cabinet Minister

St. Paul M.L.A. Chosen After Only Three Years

Thirty-Five Years Old, Considered As Youngest Member With Portfolio

CABINET MINISTER

Member of the Alberta Legislature for St Paul Mr Ely Reierson, 35 years has been appointed Minister of Municipal and Labour.

A 41-year-old farmer cabinet ministers chosen by Premier Manning, Tuesday, the name of Mr Ely Reierson, M.L.A. for St Paul was in prominence for months and residents of this district

Mr Reierson was first elected to the Alberta Legislature in August 5th, 1952, running for the Social Credit party. He was re-elected in the June 29 Provincial Election, he won against two rivals with a decisive majority of 894.

His strong, sincere views of home, community and government interest of his constituents, won him admiration in government circles and the present promotion to cabinet minister

Mr. Ely Reierson was born in Edmonton, Alta., located in the Vermilion district. He is 35 years old and perhaps, except for Premier Manning himself, one of the few members to receive a portfolio at that age

The [illegible] completed his high [illegible] at Vermilion. He left [illegible] and [illegible] farm hand and in [illegible] 1941 he chose to join the [illegible] and served for five years [illegible] as a private with [illegible] Captain and adjutant [illegible] Infantry Div [illegible] he served as [illegible] to which he is [illegible]

Upon discharge in June 1945 Mr Reierson went to work with the Federal Civil Service and was Settlement Supervisor of the Veterans Land Act at St Paul

Since then he has been employed as a salesman for a local [illegible] and implement firm.

He married Irene Dorothy Swart, at that time a District Home Economist for the provincial government Mr and Mrs Reierson have two children, a daughter and a boy, born a few days before the last election

A proud feeling for Ely has been expressed by St Paul and district citizens who join in with the "Journal" in congratulating Ely on the distinction of the high appointment. It is indeed an honor for St Paul to recognize its first cabinet minister

RCMP To Bear Down On Boat Owners

To Curb Accident Rates On Lakes

The article below, reprinted from the Edmonton Journal was submitted to us for consideration in the interest of safety, by Sgt Hutton of the [illegible] RCMP Detachment Purpose of it is educational in the interest of water safety and preventive measures in order to cut down the increasing number of drownings which have occurred in this district during the past holiday month Your kind attention and co-operation will be appreciated

The police are not interested in convictions, but for the sake of safety they are required to check motor boats and operators of 10 horsepower and will do so in this area Licences are free and can be obtained in Edmonton.

OTTAWA (CP) — Starting immediately, the RCMP is going to crack down on motorboat operators who break the federal Shipping Act

The main objective is to see that every motorboat is equipped with life-saving equipment—roughly one life preserver per person—and thus reduce the risk of persons suffering from small boat accidents.

In 1953, last year for which figures are available, 354 Canadians perished in motorboat accidents, nearly all by drowning An other 43 were injured.

There is no accurate estimate of the number of motorboats in Canada but the RCMP say that in the Georgian Bay area of Ontario alone there are some 30,000 such craft.

PROPER LICENSING

The RCMP also wants to see that small boats are properly licensed, that they carry firefighting equipment and proper lights and that users pay attention to rules of the road.

"Few boat accidents would result in death if proper equipment were carried," an RCMP spokesman said in announcing the drive.

The intention instead first to try to educate boat users with existing laws. Then warn their delinquents and finally to prosecute if warnings go unheeded.

However, the spokesman said it may start prosecutions immediately if there are flagrant breaches of the regulations.

The regulations do not apply to vessels, sailing boats, canoes or any craft in regard to the carrying of proper lights.

FINES VARY

Fine for not carrying life-saving equipment is a maximum of $50 and a maximum of $100 for fine for reckless operation of motorboats. Penalty for default of $200.

All power boats of 10 horsepower or more are required by law to be licensed. Licenses may be obtained from the local police constable collector.

A spotlight on the crackdown is that the RCMP expects to find, proportionately, as many offenses on the reservoirs to an inland waters. The force said boat users on the coasts, on exactly Newfoundland fishermen, vary little attention to lifesaving equipment as a millionaire with a big, pleasure craft on some small lake or river

To Choose Mayor For Playground

Yes, an electoral campaign is in full swing at St. Paul. Before long the Playground will have its Mayor and Mayoress.

Why? To preside over the closing activities of the Playground

This election is not simply an acclamation. Nominations were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Each candidate was to fund at least ten supporters.

Below is a list of names who solicit the honor of the Mayoralty

BOYS

Patrick Cooney, Raymond Dupuis, Eugene Dubois, Paul Dutrisac, Jean Lafrance, Robert Richard, Victor Thivens.

GIRLS

Marguerite Dutrisac, Aurice Quenneau, Clarabelle Lamont, Yolande Tremblay.

Election shall take place on Monday, August 8th., at the Playground, at 2:30. Girls and boys will have separate voting booths set all may vote for both the Mayor and the Mayoress.

After the election, a parade will proceed from the Playground in the Lions Club Park where Miss Honor Joan Van Brabant, Mayor of St Paul and Mr Mayoress, in the name of the Town of St. Paul, will preside over the official reception for all the children of the Playground and especially the recently elected Mayor and Mayoress of the Playground In case of rain, the parade will take place the following day.

Only those who have registered at the Playground are allowed to vote, but we must earth and all of them to come and vote on August the 8th., to take part in the parade and witness the official reception to which parents are cordially invited.

Parents, do not forget your invitation to the Playground Children's Party, August 11th., at 8:30 p.m., in the Parish Hall.

Farewell Given To Ed. Desmarais

It was with regret that a large number of St. Paul residents gathered at the Knights of Columbus Club Rooms to bid farewell to two native residents of town, Mr and Mrs Edmond Desmarais.

Guests of members of the St. Paul Curling Club and the Fire Brigade, Mr and Mrs. Ed Desmarais were presented with gifts of a coal miner and for Ed something handy to attend football games.

Presentations were made by Mr John Bagan and Mr Phil Germain with expressions of regret at the departure Mr Bagan recognized Ed as a pioneer curling, having been one of the original members who built the first curling rink, with many years of devotion to the club.

As a member of the Fire Brigade, Ed was one of the most active He joined the brigade in 1936, 25 years ago.

Edmond was also one of the first Junior Chamber of Commerce Presidents in St. Paul and a founder of the movement.

Mr and Mrs Bertzer and family of Edmonton were visitors of Mr and Mrs Howard Flemington.

Mr and Mrs Vic LaBossiere are away on holidays down Bylran Lake way.

Mr and Mrs Fortunatic Charron and family of Vancouver were visitors of Mr and Mrs. Henry Charron and the family in the district

Mr and Mrs Greg O'Neill have been spending a holiday at Banff We regret to hear that Mr Bill Guthrie was taken to Hospital Tuesday evening, seriously ill.

Odd Ted Pullrabek with Orchard Lawson and family attended the Lloydminster Fair to see the [illegible] run, but a muddy track intervened A few horses were standing by at the post, and Ted

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hogarth of Los Angeles were guests of Mr and Mrs Art Quinn the past two weeks. Mrs Sayergen is a sister of Mrs Quinn.

A shower was held on Monday night to honor Mr. Les Lambert and Miss Carmen Bellemare, whose wedding took place on Wednesday morning.

Mr and Mrs Paul Marcoux of Edmonton were visitors to St. Edmond and St Paul district over the weekend

Electors Give Approval To Three By-laws

Without too much interest, 52 qualified electors of the 1,200 or out of 256 gave their approval to three money by-laws involving expenditures of $28,500.

By Law No. 702 for expenditure of $3,500 on installations and extensions of sewer mains received approval of 91 with 1 against.

By-law No. 703 involving expenditures of $5,000 for water installations was approved 90 to 2.

By-law No. 710 calling for new sidewalks and crossings, a $20,000 expenditure was ratified 80 to 12.

It is one of the lighter votes on record for a money problem.

REALS Financial Statement Shows Profit For Year

The annual meeting of the North-Eastern Alberta Livestock Co-operative Ass'n which was held on July 2-3rd, 1953 in the Parish Hall at St Paul, was presided by Mr J R Tomlinson, president of the Association Mr J. Jolly secretary-manager, read the financial statements and reported that the Association had shipped during this fiscal year 900 hogs 3,342 cattle and 888 sheep to the total value of $1,-96".10.67, resulting in a surplus of $19,1.03

Mr H Winkler, manager of the Edmonton Office of the Alberta Livestock Co-operative Limited addressed the meeting, dealing with the livestock industry as a whole He also spoke on the value of a marketing board suggestion. The farmers study the question extremely before reaching any conclusion.

A directors meeting was held in the home the short for officers for the coming year Mr J R. Tomlinson was re-elected president, Mr O Hallbe vice-president Mr Frank Augusto as secretary-manager It was decided at that meeting that the earnings to distributed at the rate of 6c per hog

By J. W. McKAY

Editor Traffic

I have just returned from a vacation trip to the West Coast. I travelled in Canada and the United States.

When people go on such vacation trips they always notice the things that are of interest to them. Some people note the scenery, others will concentrate on historical sites etc.; others go in for shopping, others for the social life and so on. Everybody has not the same interests; mine, in this case, was traffic. I watched traffic in the bigger cities, in the towns and villages, in the country, at the resorts and on the highway.

There was one point of interest that was outstanding and I thought I would take this opportunity to bring it to your attention.

As you know, traffic in Canada and the United States is the heaviest in the world. In Canada, there is one automobile to every 3.2 persons. In Alberta there is one automobile to every 2.3 persons. These are two highest points in the world. Now you can readily understand with all these automobiles moving about on our highways and streets, especially at this time of the year it means that there is continuous traffic, coming and going and not for a distance between them. Day and night, there is always a train, this heavy flow is continuous.

With this tremendous volume of traffic each individual driver should give serious thought to the actions of others. The driver in front should govern his speed in the speed zone and those following should govern their speed according to him. In other words if Helen Jones won't pass us in a hazardous or hasty turn, each player governing their actions by the actions of others.

If such could be the case in the driving on our highways, there would be less hazards and fewer accidents.

I was in traffic that was on a two-lane highway and the volume of vehicles was so heavy that they were almost bumper to bumper and this particular lane was almost seven miles long. Traffic was moving and good. All that could be reasonably done was to follow the leader, but there were drivers there who would not play ball. They were in a hurry, they wanted to get going.

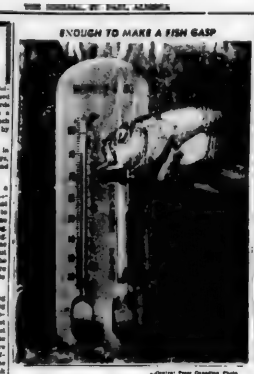
In one incident a new hudson quarter convertible was following just three cars behind me. I figured that he was hurrying and going so he would swing out in the middle lane of 2 to take a look ahead and "I am sorry back business of our swing traffic. At last we had a valid cut of him and passed me. There was a break in the oncoming traffic, there was no going traffic, there was one of my right side of the left lane, in a very few seconds we were across an accident, two cars in the ditch after hitting each other. One was the Dutch convertible. Only a very few seconds and he was allowed to stop.

I learned later on, that one passenger in the Dutch car was killed and three others in the hospital, one with serious injuries.

This was just one of the many accidents that took place across the continent. What was the reason for it? Apparently the Dutch driver did not want to "play ball" like the rest and let his actions by the actions of others.

If you are going on holidays, or maybe just driving in holiday traffic, remember you should be prepared to take action to save your fellow driver. Yes, it may be an inconvenience for you, it may cost you some time, but in the end you will save hours on one piece in one of many pieces.

Teamwork in our modern day traffic is the basis for highway safety.



ENOUGH TO MAKE A FISH GASP

Like humans, this fish gags in the thermometer stuck into the mouth its. But he can't do anything about it then anyone else. Or maybe he can fix himself with his fins?

Marcel Bolzil Attends Poultry Short Course In Charles City, IS

A big step ahead that's easy to take

Stepping out in a new De Soto is a wonderful way to move ahead in the world!

How's a truly modern car—bold and breath-taker and long. It's motion-designed for The Forward Look—chosen concept in car design that's setting a new trend in automotive styling.

How's spirited power—a mighty 135- or 200-h.p. V-8 engine eager to carry out your commands.

Yet, a big new De Soto is easy to own! You'll find it costs less than many models of smaller cars. And a De Soto provides you with many conveniences, such as PowerFlite automatic transmission, at no extra cost. On many competitive cars, the automatic transmission alone adds more than $200 to the price!

Your dealer can give you dollars-and-sense reasons why De Soto is your smartest buy . . . as well as the smartest car on the road! See him soon. He will gladly arrange a demonstration with you at the wheel.

OBSTACLE COURSE

Members of the St. Paul Branch of the Canadian Legion joined in for an enjoyable family picnic on the shores of Three Mile Lake last Sunday. Even the weather man cooperated to make the day a happy one for the big and little kids having all kinds of fun.

The only cloud in an otherwise entertaining day was the quarter mile road distance behind Hazel Van Brabant which again had to be detoured through private properties by the kind permission of owners to whom we and the Legion, as well as farmers in that territory, using the road are very grateful.

We brought the matter to the attention of the Municipality and its councillors several weeks ago in a mild manner We forgot to mention that the councillor responsible for this section of the road is Mr Steve Demetrosk of Lake Elsie Either Steve has not bothered to look at the map since the new realignment of sub-division borders and is not aware that this stretch is his responsibility or perhaps he is too far removed from the scene to take any interest.

This road without a doubt warrants attention It leads to a favorite summer beach, used by many farmers in that region and a great number of St. Paul residents including many who live within the boundaries of the Municipality

Let's get a grader out there and a couple loads of dirt.

FEW INFLATION WORRIES

The Canadian Government took little concern about inflation says The Financial Post This, in spite of Washington's inflation warnings

Top level opinion in Ottawa has not swung around from its winter anxieties to the point of fearing a new wave of inflationary pressure in Canada

It is admitted that
Many prices may rise moderately between now and the end of the year Especially manufactured goods and imported industrial equipment.

Shortage of skilled labor could show up in a few industries

Supplies of certain important materials (e.g. copper and aluminum) may be lighter

The over-all price level of 1955 may be 2 per cent to 3 per cent higher than 1954's.

But these things do not add up, in government view, to an inflationary situation which requires corrective measures

Although the carryover of grain on western farms will be at its lowest point in several years, elevators, both country and terminal, will go into the new crop year practically filled to capacity. It is therefore necessary that the Canadian Wheat Board again use delivery quotas to ensure a reasonable fair division of available storage amongst producers The same plan will be employed as was used last year After a date to be announced every permit holder will be entitled to market 100 units of grain regardless of his acreage A unit shall consist of three bushels of wheat or 5 bushels of oats or 5 bushels of barley of five bushels of rye The 100 units may be all one kind of grain or any amount of different kinds The Wheat Board, however, asks that wherever possible it would like producers to give preference to coarse grains when making these initial deliveries.

Durum wheat and flaxseed will not be on a quota. These grains may be delivered to any elevator point and need not be entered in the permit book. The number of the permit however, must be marked on the participation certificate when durum wheat is sold in order that the producer may receive further payments, if any, from the Wheat Board.

The Board will consider applications to deliver one carload of malting, pot or pearling barley in excess of quota after a representative sample of the shipment has been accepted by a malting firm.

After the initial hundred units have been delivered, further quotas on "specified" acreage will be announced as space becomes available at individual points.

RUST REPORT

Rust development in western Canada is much less extensive last year In Manitoba it is being restricted by the large acreage sown to rust resistant varieties, Selkirk and Lee The Saskatchewan crop, however, is late and considerable leaf rust may develop before harvest but it should not be nearly as extensive as last year.

Arrival Of The CPR Heralds New Era In Alberta History

When the CPR pushed its rails westward to reach the Montreal Police beats of Calgary in 1883, it heralded a new era for the west —the beginning of large-scale immigration to the rich agricultural lands in the North-West Territory (now Alberta).

But it was the construction of the Calgary and Edmonton Railway in 1890-91 that really put Alberta on the limelight as an agricultural area. The stopping places along the old trail—Lone Pine, Scarlett's, Peace Hills—were replaced by earth bustling centres as Olds, Lacombe and Wetaskiwin. The virgin parkland was disturbed by the rumbling of covered wagons and the rush of settlers unloading their effects from freight cars.

The immigration increased uninterrupted until the turn of the century, with the early 1900's seeing the peak of the rush. Each spring, big hamlets and small towns produced great things for their areas — and their towns usually right.

So great did the tide of immigration flood that the boomers of such centres as Toronto, New York and Washington were astounded. Typical is this comment from the New York Tribune in the spring of 1903.

"Immigrants, first by tens and hundreds, and more recently by the thousands, trekked their way across the plains to found new homes and become the builders of a new empire These 'invaders' were picked men from Minnesota, the Dakotas and Manitoba, as well as many from the old country — bold, ordered, industrious and adventurous — the kind of men any country is glad to gain (and any country sorry to lose."

In almost every part of south and central Alberta the new immigrants came Points like Strathcona, Fort Calgary, Medicine Hat, which had previously been tiny settlements, saw rules of fences strung across the open plains, and sections of grazing land broken under the plow

Calgary was footing the rush of immigration so much so any centre, as it was actually the jumping off place for land speculators north of Nanton. Early in 1884, the Calgary Herald proclaimed a very year for the town and the area.

"The prospects are very general for the heaviest immigration since the opening of the west to settlement," declared the newspaper "Not in the history of the west has settlement in this district have so many letters been received as have come to land This indicates the increasing interest in this section of the west Ordinarily there is little activity during the winter months, but for the past four months, the land sections have been writing to the Dominion government officials in the Calgary district."

Edmonton and district was not to be outdone. The townspeople saw a mammoth of immigration built before they ever reached the North Saskatchewan River — buried by the deluge of settlers.

ADMITS SOLD IN BABY ADOPTION

Admitting her part in the baby adoption racket exposed by the Kefauver committee in the U.S., Miss Ruth Hall (above) said she sold the baby boy for $1,500 and "wanted unfortunate girls." She denied she had 75 or 100 babies as a time for adoption but said she "took care of nine-to-five or six a year."

The Board of Trade discussed the situation and came up with a neat 60-page booklet entitled "Farming and Ranching" which was published in 1906

The first purpose of the booklet was to exhibit the richness and fertility of available land in the Edmonton district, and to dispute the claims of other areas

"Edmonton district, in fact, district, "don't make the mistake of thinking that all land in Alberta is like that in the Saskatchewan Valley. There is abundance of good land in the district to suit or otherwise between the Edmonton district and other portions of Alberta.

With that point cleared up, the booklet got down to business "It is a safe statement to say that nowhere in any part of the world in which cereal grain can be grown is there any such area of uniformly rich lands as surrounds Edmonton for about one hundred miles in every direction. In the matter of rapid and vigorous growth under ordinary conditions, it is probable that the Edmonton district will produce more and better vegetables than other centres of the Dominion."

But the booklet wasn't restricted solely to agriculture It described the vast deposits of coal "which even under the somewhat crude methods of handling at present employed, can be delivered on to wagons at the mines at $1 a ton." It also spoke of the vast deposits of timber and other natural resources — as natural gas and crude oil.

"This is not illuminating oil," the booklet was out to admit, "but will have enormous commercial value as fuel, and may revolutionize the problem of fuel, and power in all these districts."

With the generosity of a superior centre, the booklet proceeded to lend any towns within shouting distance its services.

When published, this booklet was distributed far and wide. There is no way of knowing just how much effect it had on the 1903 tide of immigrants, but it was certainly not adverse By the summer of 1906, the immigration agent at Edmonton reported "The North Saskatchewan valley is at least filling up rapidly and it will not be many years until the Peace River Valley lands will be in demand. They many inquiries are received about the Peace River country and it should be surveyed into townships as soon as possible."

EARLY NEWS

This year Saskatchewan and Alberta are celebrating their Fiftieth Anniversary. Although rapid development and progress and enormous increases in growth have taken place industrial growth have taken place in these prairie provinces since they were organized in 1905, it is more especially in the field of Agriculture—the farmers and their families—that has given, and continues to give, Saskatchewan and Alberta their principal claim to fame and fortune.

The agricultural production achievements and records of each of these provinces in the past 50 years cannot be equalled by any other province in Canada. Saskatchewan and Alberta are not only rich as soil and other natural resources, but in natural beauty as well However, the greatest wealth of these young prairie provinces lies in the character of their people

Facing honestly in the early pioneers of Saskatchewan and Alberta should be the keynote of the year's "Golden Jubilee" celebrations. This is the time for all of us to remember with thoughtfulness and respect the men and women who through faith, courage and hard work laid the foundations on a great and prosperous and free society, which surmounted most serious trials all over the world to come and make their homes in Saskatchewan and Alberta. The 50th Anniversary will pass, but the great writers of the early pioneers of Saskatchewan and Alberta will remain to inspire future generations of Saskatchewan and Alberta people to even greater achievements in the years ahead

Protein Protein

"A generous filling can provide most of the protein needed for a summer dinner, Chef." I told him.

The boarders or board provide carbohydrates, fats, minerals, vitamins and water. Meat and fish provide most of the protein. The fat of meat, cream and butter is the visible portion, bowls of a hot or cold milk pudding, and combination top fruit pie and a beverage and every nutritional need is met."

"Another good point about such a dinner, Madame," he said, "is that it can be prepared in advance. The soup can be made and the pie baked in the morning while other kitchen work is being done. BE SAFE

It is better to be safe than sorry.

Be careful crossing the street. Use caution when driving a car. If you work with machinery see all the safety devices with which it is equipped. Follow instructions, obey signals, don't take chances, and you will be safe instead of sorry. Better always to take a little caution than to feel the pain of injury, or the anguish of regret.

Be prudent in matters of health. Don't overindulge. Avoid dissipation. Be safe. There is not much satisfaction in knowledge that is bought at the price of injured health.

As a safety measure one of the most important things you can do is to take care of your ... Remember that through the spinal cord there is a vital source of supply of nerve impulses for the millions of nerve fibres that radiate to every part of the body. Remember that a displaced vertebra in the spine, causing pressure on the spinal cord, may interfere with the flow of these essential nerve impulses.

Accidents and falls should be followed by a visit to your Chiropractor, to make sure that your spine is in perfect alignment. Be safe. Many illnesses can result from a fall or accident. In some cases months may elapse before the full extent of the damage is apparent, and by that time the accident may be forgotten.

If you are not enjoying good health, and just can't make up your mind what the main trouble is, a visit to your Chiropractor will probably find that cause forgotten accident started the trouble.

Remember, what Chiropractic has done for others it can do for you.

United Church Centennial

The United Church at Goodfish Lake Indian Reserve near St. Paul was jammed to the doors for the memorial service beginning the two-day celebration of the 100th anniversary of that Indian settlement last weekend. The ... was conducted by former ... in the reserve. Rev. W. E. Cumbelon, Rev. Mr. ... Rev. J. B. Rogers, resident missionary. Dr. Thomas Hart of the United Church home mission board, and Rev. Roy C. Taylor who preached in Cree. Dr. R. E. Findlay, pioneer minister who came west at the request of the late Rev. John McDougall also took part. More than a hundred persons received ...

A loudspeaker carried the service to the many persons unable to crowd into the church.

HISTORY PORTRAYED

The centennial celebration the work of Rev. Henry Bird Steinhauer, Wesleyan missionary, a half-breed Ojibway Indian from Ontario, educated at Upper Canada Academy, now Victoria College, Toronto. In 1835 Mr. Steinhauer, accompanied by Rev. Thomas Woodsey, arrived in the Saskatchewan country to take up the work left some eight years previously by Rev. Robert Terrill Rundle who had arrived at Fort Edmonton in 1840. After Rundle's departure for England, the work had been continued by Peter Erasmus, ... by preacher from Moravian Home named Mr. Beckstead ... planned to establish his mission at Lac La Biche ... Rundle but arrived at Fort Edmonton ... Mr. Steinhauer ... Goodfish Lake as the preferable site. Here he organized the first community of native people west of Fort Garry, built a church, a day school, and taught the former nomadic Woods Cree agriculture and settled living. Thus, Mr. Steinhauer, an elder of the reserve, aptly stated, "We will find us different from other Indians, we have been civilized for 100 years."

In the afternoon, at the organ at site at Whitefish Lake, some eight miles north of the present church, a pageant was presented portraying historic scenes from the history of the reserve. Looking out across Whitefish Lake, the audience, seated on the sloping shores, saw trappers, hunters, fishermen, boats of the Red River carts moving to and from the lake.

Members of the reserve portrayed in pantomime each historic happening at the meeting of Wesley, Steinhauer and Sinclair, the first ploughing at the settlement when 12 men guided the plow because the half-wild ponies would not submit to harness, the first public examination of the day school pupils by Chief Factor William J. Christie, William Hardisty from Fort McLeod. At intervals, a choir from the reserve, ... by Peter Chief, sang old hymns in Cree to provide a musical accompaniment. The narrator was Rev. G. M. Hutchinson of Televille.

At the site of the original settlement where he the remains of Mr. Steinhauer, the faithful Benjamin Sinclair, and the famous Chief Pakan, the people are building a small church. This place, the site of one of the earliest Protestant churches in the Prairie Provinces, will no doubt be not only a memorial but also a place of worship for the residents of the northern part of the reserve.

LEGAL LIMITS

The second day's program consisted of games and sports ending with a banquet prepared by the ladies of the United Church congregation. Speakers were Mr. Cumbelon, Mr. James Steinhauer, grandson of the founder, and others Chief William Bull was ...

With this reserve are also associated stirring events linked with the disorders of 1885. Here the death blow of Riel's hopes was dealt when Chief Pakan dramatically asserted his loyalty and that of his people before the messengers of the rebels. After the rebel messengers had been sent about their business, Chief Pakan evacuated his people and after a harrowing trek through the mud and snow of early spring, reached Fort Victoria to offer his services to Commissioner Strange's column on his way down the North Saskatchewan by boat.

There was an interesting display of relics of the early settlement, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Ruzicka and family and also relatives attended ...

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Day have returned from their trip to Toronto, Ontario. While there they visited several of their relatives and friends. One very pleasant part of their visit was a trip to Burnes Lake where they enjoyed seeing firefighters of the United States, Canada, France, Sweden and Norway on the St Claire River. They also crossed on the Blue Water bridge from Port Huron to Sarnia. While in the East they visited Mr and Mrs. C. F. Schroeder and Mr and Mrs. L. G. Mason and picked fresh cherries from Doug's tree.

Mr and Mrs. Mike Kovach, Karen and Valerie have spent the past three weeks with Mrs Kovach's brother on his farm at Smoky Lake. On returning they were accompanied by Miss Pauline Billey who plans to stay with the Kovachs for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Eaton left for Calgary last Saturday, July 30th, accompanied by Mr and Mrs. George Davis, Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, Mr and Mrs. Dalton Powers and Miss Jane Hobden.

Mrs. R. Mulholland and her daughter Joan, left last Wednesday, July 27 on a ten day holiday. They plan to spend a few days in Hanna and also in Regina before returning through Edmonton, where they will visit friends.

The Fyfels are back from their trip and Darren has been down at Whitney Lake camp, with the girls staying in Bonk's cabin.

Mrs. Pearson and Jill left Thursday, July 28 for Fort MacLeod where they will visit Mrs. F. Kerigan for a few days.

Miss Jean Reed is home visiting her parents, Mr and Mrs. Nick Brenko over the long weekend.

Mrs. Bell Wimmerth returned yesterday, July 31st from Redwater, Mississippi, where she has been receiving medical treatment over the past few weeks.

Mr Craven and his daughter Eileen left Monday, August 1st., for Calgary, where they plan to stay for a week before returning to Elk Point.

Kenny Gienowski of Edmonton, is in Elk Point visiting his relatives. Mr and Mrs. Steve Ruzicka and family and also relatives and friends.

Mr and Mrs. M. L. Day have returned from their trip to Toronto, Ontario. While there they visited several of their relatives and friends. One very pleasant part of their visit was a trip to Burnes Lake where they enjoyed seeing firefighters of the United States, Canada, France, Sweden and Norway on the St Claire River. They also crossed on the Blue Water bridge from Port Huron to Sarnia. While in the East they visited Mr and Mrs. C. F. Schroeder and Mr and Mrs. L. G. Mason and picked fresh cherries from Doug's tree.

Mr and Mrs. Mike Kovach, Karen and Valerie have spent the past three weeks with Mrs Kovach's brother on his farm at Smoky Lake. On returning they were accompanied by Miss Pauline Billey who plans to stay with the Kovachs for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Eaton left for Calgary last Saturday, July 30th, accompanied by Mr and Mrs. George Davis, Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, Mr and Mrs. Dalton Powers and Miss Jane Hobden.

Kenny Dubota of Edmonton is visiting his Grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shoreboh in Elk Point for the following three weeks.

Mrs. R. Mulholland and Joan are back from their two week trip to Hanna where, after visiting relatives, they were accompanied to Regina, where Mrs. Mulholland's daughter is living. Sherril returned to Elk Point with the Mulhollands and plans to spend a few days here

ELK POINT SCOUT CAMP

Scout Troop Holds Camp At Muriel Lake

A camp for the First Elk Point Scout Troop was held at Muriel Lake from July 3rd, to 11th. Fourteen boys attended the camp out of a troop of eighteen. Planning for camp began in early May with the organization of groups to acquire tents and tools. Each boy took home a list of articles he should bring for himself, each patrol had a list of the equipment they would require, and the activities required by the troop as a whole were subdivided between patrols.

The scouts met on Sunday morning, July 3rd at the Hall and had nearly all the necessary articles of equipment, as each of the boys, were there. Everyone was anxious to get started, particularly the parents who had delivered their boys to the Scout but The boys were conveyed to the camp in a bus, while the equipment travelled in two trucks. They arrived at the camp site about three p.m. Each patrol took a tent and attempted to "set it up." The first attempts were fair, the second good, and the third extraordinary.

By the end of the afternoon, a ... Staffed had been ... all the tents were up, all gear, food, etc, were stacked away and supper was started.

After supper a dinning table was started and garbage pits, etc., were dug. Everyone was a little sore by now and the boys dorked into their tents. Lights went out at 10 p.m. came back on at 10:15, out again at eleven, on again as soon as the Scoutmaster went back to his tent. There was considerable chatting and giggling until 1 a.m. when the Scoutmaster sounds the last call. Lights out. warning all to get to sleep A few did. At 4:30 the late demons up, and at it working on the dinning table The scoutmaster ... and ... Sherman ... appeared at 5 a.m. From then on the boys worked at such activities as heading water, making breakfast, washing dishes, gathering wood, cleaning up tents, raising the flag and building the table etc. Speaches All day it went on until one boy was heard to exclaim, "This is no holiday, all we do is work."

The Council fire that night provided some fun The duty patrol had to have a program ready — tea and — so they lived up and pushed potatoes around their plates. Then came the campfire ceremonies. Then after counting constellations, and drinking cocoa they staggered off to bed Lights were out at ten and what happened then knows" — Dead silence after 10 o'l

The remainder of the week followed much the same pattern the duty patrol alternated each day on the menu varied as to time, taste and temperature

The boys learned to set up a camp, to carry on arm, to swim, to cook, to signal with semaphore flags, to tie knots, to build a fire, to hike, to march, to track and by the end of the week and how it's spill their Scoutmaster out of a bed

Weekly Garden-Graph

By DOUG HALLIDAY
Editorial in Charge Press Chemicals

Many gardeners fight garden friends and foes alike When it comes to insect control in your garden, it is better to learn to distinguish between friend and foe-like.

One friend, often mistaken for an enemy, is the praying mantis, known in the accompanying Garden-Graph. It is an formidable looking that many take it for a garden gangster, yet it is one of the gardener's best friends. It feeds on grasshoppers, crickets, butterflies, worms, beetles, leaf hoppers and plant lice.

A real foe of the garden, although not always recognized as such, is the grasshopper, also illustrated. It is a "chewing insect" with strong jaws for biting off pieces of vegetation. It will eat almost any green part of any plant.

Grasshoppers have such voracious appetites that they often strip our leaves from plants, destroy fruits and even bite off tree and tender stems. They continue to feed until frost comes.

Stomach poisons are the control weapons to use against all chewing insects, including grasshoppers. When such poisons are sprayed or dusted on the plants to be protected, they make the leaves unfit for insect food insects that eat them are killed. The most common stomach poison is arsenate of lead, available at any garden shop or hardware store

Deep cultivation, or plowing, helps in destroying the eggs of the grasshopper, which are deposited in the ground in late summer. When the eggs are turned up to the surface of the ground, they are eaten by birds or killed by frost.

Send - Off For Mike Nikiforuk

A farewell party was held in the Legion Hall on Saturday, July 30 for Mr. and Mrs. Mike Nikiforuk who has recently been transferred to take over management of the Imperial Lumber Co at the Vegreville branch.

Mr Nykiforuk had been well known in Elk Point and district, serving it through his management of the Elk Point branch of the Imperial Lumber Co, and many friends and relatives joined to wish him well in his new position

A silver tea service set was presented to Mr Nykiforuk in token of his friendship. This was followed by a dance with the Derwent Orchestra in attendance

Earlier in the week a farewell party was also given in honor of Miss Rose Marie Nykiforuk at the home of Miss Judy Farber The party began at two o'clock and after a session of games, lunch was served at three-thirty, when Rose Marie was presented with a matching set of earrings, bracelet and necklace, and also a book and marker. More games were played, after which the children donned until six-thirty when the party ended.

Plans Drawn For New School

Architects, Hope-Campbell & Associates are drawing up plans for a ten room school with a large auditorium for Elk Point which will cost $150,000 before work can be started the architects plan to be removed and approved by the Board of Public Utilities and the Department of Education. This has to be done for all ten projects in the Province ... they have been awarded the Hemsburg project also. The may require no much time that it may be that the project can not get started before spring but there is a possibility that the excavating and cement work may be done before Freeze up.

Present intention is to build the new school building on the area west of the water tank and face it south. This will have room for a circular gravel drive between the two school buildings and a fair sized campus behind ...

When the tree planting program is completed, Elk Point ... will have one of the most pleasant school projects in Alberta.

There will be fifteen rooms in operation this fall This will require one extra classroom which will be supplied by a country school placed in the north-east corner of the old school ... 288 will be available for use ... by ... when the new school is ...

A CHEMICAL STUBBLE-MULCH SUMMERFALLOW

A features of great interest in Western Canada is to attempt to grow crops with summerfallow. The main object of this practice is to build up a immature supply by reducing or eliminating weed growth. Clean fallow is, of course, subject to soil erosion by wind and water. On the other hand, the use of chemicals to control weed growth in summerfallow ... A CHEMICAL STUBBLE-MULCH SUMMERFALLOW

A new ... and plot experiments have been made recently at the Swift Current Experimental Station to determine the effect of various summerfallow methods upon water intake. Of several fallow treatments tested, the application of weed-killing chemicals on stubble-mulch fallow, with no sub-surface tillage treatment, gave the best results. Under artificially-produced rain of approximately 2.5 inches per hour, plots on which weeds in the standing stubble were controlled with chemicals took in 0.92 inches of water per hour compared with the 0.08 inches intercepted by bare fallow plots which took in 1.48 inches per hour. On other land, plots which were spring-cultivated and those treated with subsurface cultivation took in only 0.06 inches of water per hour. Surface cultivation ... and tillage tools are being developed. Different methods of ... have been developed. The use of chemicals for weed control in conjunction with stubble-mulch (trash cover) fallow may be the answer to more efficient and moisture conservation and weed control in Western Canada. We will attempt to keep our readers informed on the subject.

Will Carter In St. Paul On August Ninth

Will Carter — the world's greatest Cowboy Recording Artist is coming in person to St. Paul on Tuesday, August 9th! Canada's Living Legend" — idol of millions — one who has recorded more than 200 different songs and ballads during the past 25 years — is coming to stay awhile. What a terrific family show recently returned from a tour of Australia where he is by far the most popular cowboy singer. His show is once again thrilling over capacity audiences and with the line-up of talent there is little wonder.

Sharing the spotlight with Will and his daughters will be Canada's Champion Old-time fiddler Wavi Allen. He won the coveted award over 27 other contestants in a three day competition in 1953.

Jack Kingston, television star from Grand Ole Opry, Nashville WLS, WWVA, Arthur Godfrey Show and the Mainstreet Jamboree over the Dominion Network is the Master of Ceremonies for this jam-packed two hour show you cannot afford to miss.

Also in the cast will be Joe Brown on Base fiddle who has appeared with almost every American western artist who has come to Canada.

An steel guitar will be Lynn Strout television star direct from WWVA, Wheeling, West Virginia. A real wizard on both guitar and base fiddle.

On accordian is a man rated as Canada's most versatile accordianist He is Bill Mathieu and has taught over 1200 people how to play. He also doubles on base fiddle, guitar, piano, fiddle and sings.

To complete the all-star cast of eight will be a truly hilarious comedian who will leave you in stitches.

This show is not just another cowboy hillbilly show but a wholesome family variety now breaking attendance records all across Canada. Each of these versatile artists are the very tops in their respective fields, available to maintain the show's reputation as the finest to tour in Canada.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Ed Krucki and family wish to extend their sincere thanks to the kind people of this district who have contributed to help recover from the loss of their property and home which burned down. Special thanks to Mr. Pete Shatska for his devotion and canvassing efforts.

Vultures Seen At Long Lake

George Mason, a keen naturalist who keeps an eye on the habits of wild life and is a good outdoorsman, reports that while he was driving along Long Lake last week he spotted a flight of vultures circling the lake shore, proving an dead fish washed ashore.

This is a rarity in this district, because vultures are a bird of the desert, southern regions and tropical areas. Mr. Gunnarson was given to to why they have stopped south.

Bonnyville News

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith of Vancouver, B.C. were visiting for several days at George Hordyniuk's. With them was Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Albert Erickson of Killam, Alta

Mr and Mrs. John Ellerman and daughters Joan and Judy of Flin Flon, Man., were visitors at George Hordyniuk's. John and George were old school pals and came to Canada together in 1928. After working around Alberta, John decided to head east, where he made good. It has been 27 yrs. since they saw each other, and they spent a few happy hours reminiscing over the good times they had together.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to neighbors and friends who came to our assistance during the tragic death and subsequent bereavement of the late Mrs. Jean Jess. The floral and spiritual tributes were greatly appreciated.

Mr. Manning Appoints Ministers And Shuffles His Cabinet

By BEN MANOR

EDMONTON — The biggest governing group in the history of Alberta politics ended last week when Premier Manning appointed four new ministers and made a major shuffle of provincial cabinet portfolios.

He surprised everyone by naming four ministers instead of three, which was all he needed to fill the vacancies left in the front ranks by the June 26 provincial general election.

The new ministers are: Frederick C. Colborne, Calgary, minister without portfolio; Allen Russel Patrick, Lacombe, economic affairs; Raymond Reierson, St. Paul, industries and labor and James Hartley, McLeod, public works.

It seems fairly obvious now that the premier was faced with a political problem and solved it very neatly by the appointment of Mr. Colborne as minister without portfolio.

The City of Calgary hadn't been represented on the cabinet since Premier Aberhart died in 1946, and the southern centre was asking that a minister be appointed from among its three Social Credit MLA's. It probably looked like a good political move by the government, because Social Credit isn't notably strong in Calgary.

Fred Colborne was the logical contender, but he had certain commitments with his employer, Western Airlines, which prevented him from taking a full-time cabinet job. The appointment without portfolio was a good compromise. Calgary has its cabinet representative it wanted, and Mr Colborne can keep his airline job He will contribute to Edmonton for Monday morning cabinet meetings.

The major surprise was the appointment of 47-year-old Jim Hartley to the public works portfolio, one of the strongest portfolios in cabinet. He has been a Social Credit MLA since 1935, and had been bypassed in so many cabinet shuffles that most observers didn't even consider him eligible.

Mr Patrick and Mr. Reierson were both mentioned as strong choices for the cabinet and had just been appointed to the cabinet late last year. The treasury job is considered top spot in cabinet next to the premier.

Other extensive changes were made in cabinet duties. Premier Manning took on the attorney-general's portfolio from Lauren Maynard, who was defeated in St. Albert riding.

This gives him three portfolios. Besides being premier and attorney-general, he is minister of mines and minerals. Some feel he is trying to be too much. The Calgary Herald says an editorial on the cabinet changes headed up with "The Hon., Hon., Hon., Mr Manning." Even the Calgary Albertan, which supported the government during the election, said the premier has too many portfolios.

Among the other changes, Hon E. W. Hinman, minister of municipal affairs, became provincial treasurer. This was considered the biggest promotion of the lot Mr Hinman has been in the legislature since 1935 and had just been appointed to the cabinet late last year. The treasury job is considered top spot on cabinet next to the premier.

Hon. Norman Willmore, minister of industries and labor, was named minister of lands and forests. This also was considered a boost up the ladder for the representative of Edson riding.

Hon. A. J. Hooke, who was replaced by Hartley as minister of public works, was sworn in as minister without portfolio. Keeping the municipalities happy is turned one of the biggest headaches of the government, and Mr Hooke has the personality to do it if anyone has. Besides public works, Mr Hooke also had economic affairs, which was given to Mr Patrick

The rest of the cabinet remains unchanged. For the record, here are the names of the ministers not affected by the shuffle Hon. Dr W W Cross, minister of health; Hon A. O. Aalborg, minister of education; Hon L. C. Halmrast, minister of agriculture. Hon R. J. Jorgenson, minister of welfare and Hon. Gordon Taylor, minister of highways.

Following is a brief biography of each of the four new ministers:

Mr Colborne, 52, is Alberta sales manager for Western Airlines, with headquarters in Calgary. Born at Saint John, N.B., he was educated in Calgary and was an alderman on the Calgary city council in 1947 and 1948. He was a wing Commander in the RCAF during the Second World War, and was awarded the DFC

He first entered the legislature in 1944 with the Servicemen's group, and was elected as a Social Credit on the general election of 1948. He has been re-elected at every election since.

Mr. Patrick, 53, was prominent public and high schools in Lacombe, and was first elected to the legislature as a Social Credit in 1952. During the war, he served with the Queen's Own Rifles Regiment in 1942 as a lieutenant and with the RCEME in 1944.

As minister of economic affairs, Mr. Patrick will direct operations of the government travel bureau, publicity bureau, film branch, —tourist activities branch, immigration bureau and industrial development branch

Mr Reierson, 53, also was first elected in 1952. He was employed as an automobile and farm implement salesman in St. Paul During the war, he served for five years in the army and rose from gunner to captain adjutant of his regiment.

Mr Hartley had been deputy speaker of the legislature since 1942. He was born in England, came to Canada in 1906, and was a sheep rancher in the Fort McLeod area until his retirement a few years ago Last summer, he went to Nairobi, Kenya, as Alberta's representative to the Commonwealth Parliament Conference.

The Traffic Safety Lane

By J. W. McKAY

Inspector Highway Traffic Board, Edmonton

DRIVING FAULTS

I would like to continue with some of the faults of drivers on our highways.

No one is perfect in all respects, but some are so much worse than others and they are so conspicuous that they are noticed.

Not every driver is familiar with the rules of four-laned driving. But it might be that you will visit cities with multi-laned highways. Here are marked for more than two lanes. As far as a driver is concerned there is one thing that determines whether a roadway is to be used as a multi-lane (more than two lanes) is the paint lines

Three-Laned

If there is one line down the centre, then that road is only a two-laned road, one lane of traffic going each way. If the line is a solid line it means no crossing over. This one is the middle lane. Some of the older highways have a solid line only, but they will be changed as soon as possible

Four-Laned

Then there are lanes where two lanes of traffic are permitted to one way while those travelling the opposite way are allowed one lane. This type of roadway will be divided into three equal widths or lanes. One lane will be marked off by a solid line that means no crossing over. Then the other two will be divided by a broken line. Slow traffic should be in the outside lane and the faster traffic on the inside. Outside of cities no

DOLLAR DOWN, HUNDRED YEARS TO PAY

FAIR SUCCESS THIS YEAR

The Agricultural fair ... recently renewed the right break from the weather men. The annual Fair and ... season was held over the weekend without any downpours to mar the celebration.

Although the crowds were not too large, it is believed substantial enough to clear expenses and make a small profit. Main item of attraction was the timed horsehead tournaments which replaced harness racing and stock car racing which had been planned for this year.

Baseball seems to have lost some of its appeal as an attraction and it was observed the crowds were small. It might be a good idea for the Association to plan for enough ahead to get permission to rep gare matinee and bring back horse racing to the St Paul track.

There was good revival of exhibits in the grains, grasses, ladies' work, cooking vegetables, etc., but the livestock section showed a decrease in the number of displays, accountable by the absence of many breeders unable to attend due to the busy season.

Midway Despite grandstand attractions were good, and well received, if somewhat of short duration. The midway afforded the usual run-of-the-mill entertainment expected.

In general the whole show was better than last year and it is hoped, with the co-operation of the weather, the interest of the crowds will continue to increase in the future. A fair is an essential part of our social life, joining town and country to better understanding each others problems and appreciate them.

CROP REPORT

In the week ending July 26th, Alberta crops again made satisfactory progress under favorable conditions, says the Alberta Wheat Pool in its latest crop report. Heavy rains fell in all parts of the province north of a line through Stettler and Red Deer, while scattered to heavy showers, maintained generally satisfactory moisture conditions. Those parts of the Peace River which have suffered the severest drought damage of the season received from three to five inches of rainfall.

Damage during the week has been confined to a few scattered hail storms of small proportions, and a still undetermined amount to the barley crop from attack by corn borer aphids. Reports indicate that the latter damage will be severe in the late barley, but much less serious in fields headed before midsummer. The percentage of barley in the highly susceptible stage is not large enough to cause a drastic reduction in the overall crop and is largely located in a strip across the central part of the province from Edmonton south to Olds. Although infestation is reported all the way south to the International boundary, the barley acreage is not so large south and east of Calgary and the barley crops in this area are generally further advanced. Practically no infestation has been reported from the heavy barley producing areas north of Edmonton.

With 100 representing a crop growing under favorable conditions and free from damage, the present numerical condition as compared to the same time last year is:

	This Year	Last Year
WHEAT	91	93
OATS	89	94
BARLEY	84	93

RESEARCH UNLIMITED

Although agriculture is among the world's oldest industries, there is still the widest sort of opportunity for the research scientist, reports The Financial Post.

On this continent alone, crops are measured by no less than 10,000 known diseases. Every time we bring ... of these under control, we raise useful production without adding one square inch to the land under cultivation.

Most output in North America, it is conservatively estimated, is cut 10 per cent annually by insects ... cause one parasites.

Mice, rats and insects destroy enough grain in the United States to feed 10 million hogs each year or the equivalent of two billion pounds of pork. And rats, rats and insects, unfortunately, do not confine their depredations to the U.S. side of the border. They are just as destructive in Canada.

One-fourth of all the fruits and vegetables grown in Canada and the United States spoil before they reach our dining room tables.

Make Profit From Poultry

If "nobody here but us chickens" meant "nobody here but us pullets" it would serve as a reminder to poultrymen when it comes to housing pullets. For it is important, says Robert H. McMillan, Alberta's Poultry Commissioner, to remember that under no circumstances should pullets be housed with older birds if mortality and profits are to be housed in the same house must a wire partition to keep the hens ages separated.

Overcrowding is one of the greatest problems in the poultry industry. The standard recommendation of 2 sq. ft. of floor space per light bred housed, or 3 sq. ft per heavy bird is a guide These allowances may be reduced somewhat depending on each factors as size and shape of pen and management of flock. However, if these floor allowances are cut by much, they are cut at the poultryman's expense

These factors are uppermost in the minds of poultrymen as they prepare for the housing of early pullets says Mr McMillan. Before the pullets are moved from the range into the laying house the house should have a thorough cleaning and washing with a disinfectant solution. The nests, roosting boards and floor should be well scrubed and sprayed with the disinfectant This is also the time to make any necessary alterations and repairs to the house

After the fresh air of the range it is important, advises Mr McMillan to have plenty of ventilation in the laying house as a shortage of fresh air at this time may result in colds for the pullets. Screen doors and windows will provide the necessary ventilation in the laying house

Health Thru Chiropractic

By: DR. K. W. TENOVE
ST. PAUL

ARTHRITIS

Arthritis responds favorably in a great many cases under correct chiropractic care.

This condition is the result of an accumulation of toxic and bacteriological materials in the blood stream, causing inflammation and swelling of the joints, and destruction of the surrounding cartilages. Because of this the oil which provides essential lubrication is lost Nature, in an attempt to compensate for the weakened areas, eventually fuses the bones together, and you have the handicapped cripple — the chronic arthritic.

These toxic poisons and bacteria accumulate in the body because the purifying and eliminatory organs are functioning below par Each day they leave a percentage of toxins in the blood stream, and the rate at which the disease progresses depends to a large degree upon the rate of accumulation of poisonous material Arthritis can take may forms depending on the nature of the poisons and bacteria involved

Since the nervous system controls the functions of the liver, spleen, kidneys, etc., the Chiropractor first examines the nervous system to determine if anything is interfering with the nerves supplying these organs If he finds a vertebral misalignment is interfering with the functioning of any of these nerves he adjusts it, thus enabling the organs concerned to function properly and cleanse the blood stream of all impurities

This is why such a large percentage of arthritics have been restored to normal health through Chiropractic.

Japan To Become Wheat Eaters

Within a single generation over two-thirds of the people of Japan will be eating bread instead of rice Keio Matsudaira, Japanese ambassador to Canada The bad news for Canada's wheat farmers is that the Japanese are switching to wheat because they can't afford rice.

Parity Price Defeated

A CCF amendment calling for parity prices for Canadian farm products was defeated in the House of Commons. Agriculture Minister Gardiner said that parity price is impossible to ascertain. He said that if it could be worked out it would mean that farmer would sell, not for parity but for what they could get with supporting countries.

Southern Alberta In Midst Of Agricultural Boom In Early 1906

Early in 1906 — Alberta, throughout that year — many southern Alberta towns were in the midst of agricultural and railroad construction booms. To obtain first hand information on the growth and economic situation, The Empire Review sent a reporter out into the area to get some information from the local residents. The Empire Review was a prestige publication based in Germany. It had thousands of readers and spread both the reputation and the economic wealth of Canada. Magrath, founded by Mormon settlers, was considered a model community. The reporter's article, giving full details of their growth and expansion, follows.

"In the new Province of Alberta," he commented, "Clarenholm takes its place as one of the promising towns of the southern portion its growth has been phenomenal and the enterprise of its citizens is equal to the new responsibilities thrust upon them."

Those fine words were well received by the good people of Clarenholm, as the reporter soon left with ads from Walker and Hatson, furniture brokers, the Wilton Hotel, W. M. McKenzie, "The Home Goods Man," and a few other businesses which are a very good start, cafe and drug store.

Fall wheat is now being grown in great quantities around Clarenholm," he continued. "Oats and barley are also grown with great success, averaging 50 to 125 bushels per acre, and the latter from 60 to 80. Vegetables certainly deserve an article devoted exclusively to them. Turnips as big as a man's head are grown, and potatoes, carrots, onions, cabbage and turnips such as can be raised here."

Those were flattering words, but Your Clarenholm had earned it. Always localized by land on location, the town had the Empire, Hills and the Rockies close at hand. In 1901, but previous to that, Mormon immigrants were settling in the area, a factor in the town's development.

"Cattle do equally marvellously well in this locality," wrote the diligent reporter, "being on the range from the time of birth until they are rounded up for beef, without shelter or the owner's ever putting up one spear of hay. The winter being so mild that cattle turn out in the spring fully and well-fed and in the pink of condition."

Turning next to Magrath, the reporter described it as "one of the busy towns of Alberta." He didn't shortchange.

Here again he found the ladies of settlers had greatly affected the outside activity of the town. "Magrath is a thriving little farming town of about 1,600 population with an undoubted future before it.

At present it boasts of several stores three blacksmith shops, a branch of the Massey Harris Co., a hotel, post office, barber shop, restaurant, drug store and a physician.

But it was in Carlstone where the reporter really became a prophet. It was his idea that the "Temple City of Canada" would become the major metropolis in southern Alberta, while Lethbridge would be its satellite.

"The people of Carlstone and district have laid the foundation for a city and a commercial life that should, from their combined population of nearly 3,000 souls, rise to magnificent proportions, extend in every direction and will become one of the largest cities in the Dominion's diadem.

"This is the inevitable decree of Carlstone, and southern Alberta, for when the consignation from Utah and the Rocky Mountain states is completed and the tens of thousands of people now in Great Britain and on the continent of Europe are directed either, have shall be cities and towns springing up and prospering, second to none in the Territories. Here Carlstone will be the metropolis of Lethbridge as the chief and flourishing entry port."

On his return to Calgary, the reporter stopped off at Okotoks for a short visit. This is one of the prosperous towns of Alberta," he commented. This particular section of the country is unexcelled in Alberta, if not in the entire west, in the growth of oats, peas enough for milling purposes. The production of oats is very heavy, being sufficient to warrant the erecting of a flour and oatmeal mill, one of the most necessary things which the town lacks."

1954 Grain Quota Hold Open Till Car Space Is Available

The following statement was issued from PUA Headquarters on August 6th

It has been brought to the attention that there are still a number of Elevator points in Alberta where the delivery of the 9 bushel quota for the 1954 crop year has not yet been completed because of lack of space The situation is aggravated to late deliveries being much heavier than anticipated.

The PUA has urged the Wheat Board to allow the 1954 quota deficit sufficient cars can be provided to make it available for the full 9 bushels

Assurances has now been received that this will be done as far as possible Farmers having difficulty in delivering the balance of their 9 bushel quota should contact the PUA head office in Edmonton."

PROVINCIAL AND CONSTITUENCY AFFAIRS

By RAY SEDGSON, Town Social Credit Candidate

In this first article since the Provincial Election it is a special pleasure to sincerely thank the many friends who attended their congratulations on my re-election as the Legislature and appointment to the Cabinet.

The cabinet appointment brings many new responsibilities, as well as a call to serve all of the Province, rather than just the constituency of St Paul as was my privilege in the past three years.

The development of industry and the maintenance of harmony between management and labor as serving agriculture in this country to a large degree serves to expand population and an expanded economy will create greater home markets for Agricultural produce.

One of the most outstanding factors in stabilizing agriculture is the removal of rent and dependency on outside markets. Any effort that one can make to hasten the day when we consume all we grow within the boundaries of the Province is directly in the interest of farming The proper approach, to maintain prosperity, to increase population, not restriction of production.

Accepting a Portfolio in the Cabinet necessitates living in Edmonton, and a loss to some extent of the very close contact I have enjoyed with the whole constituency It is not my intention however, to allow local problems to suffer at any way due to the change in status Every effort will be made to visit the constituency as often as possible and I can assure everyone that letters and personal calls to my office will be promptly considered.

My address in Edmonton is Department of Industries and Labor Administration Building Edmonton, Alta

THE PLAYGROUND

Two popular fields of entertainment at the summer playgrounds are baseball and the swinging department. Seen in the above in front of a specially built back stop are a group of boys taking instruction from Fr J. Morin. Below, a contingent of the younger ones are swinging to their heart's content on a custom built swing, designed by Carl Hannan who has donated it over to the playground.

Health Practices

By Dr. I. G. MANDEN

People love to brag about their operations, their illnesses and their sufferings in the dental chair. Be exasperation, their hope to show their courage or ability to withstand various forms of torture.

Unguarded conversations of this sort, in the presence of young children, are largely responsible for the fears of a sometimes experienced in hospital children in the dental office. I care of teeth. So often, children go through life as what might be called dental cripples, simply because parents or other older people have planted misleading ideas in their young and impressionable minds, and it has been found next to impossible to induce them to permit treatment of any kind from doctor or dentist.

The time of torture in dental offices is past, long since. Modern methods now universally in use make it possible to avoid all but the most minor forms of discomfort. A child trained to accept simple injuries experienced in everyday life without complaint will have no difficulty in undergone any form of dental treatments.

But children are quick to detect falsehoods. A child should never be told that there will be no pain connected with dental treatment. And particularly, the fuming parent must not stand behind the chair and say "Now, it won't hurt a bit, dear." Let there be the very slightest sensation of pain, after such assurance, and the child will promptly lose all faith in similar assurances. The place for the parent is in the reception room. Leave the hospital remarks to the dentist and the anesthetist.

No greater service can be given by parents to the child than to teach it to regard minor discomforts as of no concern — to be tolerated without fussiness. The normal child, so trained, is often a better patient than its parents. But the child that has been told falsehoods about such matters is distrustful and suspicious, loses faith in those who betrayed it, and sometimes becomes difficult to handle.

"Treat a child like an adult, and treat an adult like a child," is advice often given to young dentists starting to practice.

It is true that a child likes to be treated as an adult, and it will respond amazingly well if parents will learn it to make less of petty injuries and ailments. It will treat well in the suggestion that it acted "just like a grown-up," and to praise for having done so.

PRECIOUS CARGO FOR ARCTIC SHIP

Separate School Situation In The Town Of Elk Point

The Editor cannot draw up a plan and school activities will have regard to control for our Separate School Project And Finals who may have lost last for a while will no doubt be interested to hear of the progress and the situation to date

For from being a closed matter, the Project is very much alive and has only been through a slowing down, normal at this season, owing partly to the shortage of staff at the Department. A certain amount of confusion also surrounded the provincial elections in the latter part of June and neither our constituency nor Vermilion have been

Although no definite date has yet been set there is a chance that we will be able to have holding another Plebiscite on the matter. It is thought the Department to be as fast as possible and subsequent meetings will take place. Because of the situation which existed at that it was decided that special representatives would first go to Elk Point to settle matters in relation with the local group but one of them is at present in the East and will be returned for two more weeks.

As has been pointed out on different occasions, the Church wishes it a moral obligation for Catholics to provide religious education for their children wherever possible After a complete investigation of the matter, it was found to be definately possible in Elk Point, and the necessary steps were taken to organize a Separate School district. Who can blame the Church for availing use of the present possibilities and exceptional government grants — both building and operational — offered to all school districts of its province. Separate or public Protestant or Catholic "Separate" schools can not to be confused with "private" schools

It is true that according to the Public Notice of the terms of reference by the St Paul School Division, published on April 1955, the program calls for new construction or additions to ten schools in the division and Elk Point is one of them. These plans are, of course, subject to the approval of the Department of Education and other authorities Our Separate School project which is also subject to the approval of the same authorities, is completely outside of this program, when settled may influence some decisions in connection with other plans under study

In the meantime, architects may also have been busy drawing up attractive plans for our proposed Separate School — who knows! Why should it not be equally possible for our Catholic children to benefit by all the advantages of a modern well-equipped R.C Separate School for all grades, with vocational training, spacious auditoriums, set in a choice location." There still are such when available in Elk Point Nor are Our grants lacking, being the same as in Public School districts. The number of school children is certainly sufficient (November 1954), in Elk Point Sub-Division, those of the Catholic faith making up 60 per cent.

The local R.C schools population of Elk Point may not be very large yet but the number of districts constituted in Elk Point is constantly increasing since the number of Catholic children does. Increase in proportion to separate schools proportionate a more urgent need. In the meantime which existed and which it was decided that special representatives would first go to Elk Point to settle matters in relation with the local group but one of them is at present in the East and will be returned for two more weeks.

RARE WHOOPING CRANES SIGHTED

Four rarest whooping cranes have been sighted in Wood Buffalo park, in Northern Alberta, which leads ornithologists to hope that the world's whooping crane population is now at least 25. The birds winter in Texas and fly north to nest in early spring. The last count of the species was made this summer the 22 cranes were located. Two new nests have been seen since 1952. Airline operators will be asked to fly high over the park, so that the birds will not be disturbed.

Weekly Garden-Graph

By EMMA HALLIDAY Released by Central Press Canadian

Home gardeners who grow herbs and have recently been gathering the tender, aromatic leaves for use around the kitchen can remembered the practice as a useful hobby. Most herbs can be used the year around in either green or dried form.

Sage, for example, is particularly useful. The young green and red leaves of sage are used for seasoning dressings, meat, gravy, sausage and cheese. During the summer and fall the fresh leaves can be used. A sprig of them is delicious in the accompanying Garden-Graph In winter, the leaves in dried form can be used.

If sage shoots are to be used for drying, they should be cut and dried before the flower buds appear. Cut shoots 6 inches in length, and bunch them together. Hang them in a dry, airy place to dry. Store the dried leaves in tightly covered containers.

Parsley another useful herb, may be grown in pots and moved indoors during the winter, or it may be dried and used at this time of flavoring. Parsley when transplanted for indoor use not only makes a pretty house plant, but will provide a continued supply of leaves for table use.

Parsley has a special way to be dried. Pick leaves from stems, plunge into boiling salted water for one-half minute, strain off water and spread the leaves to dry in a warm room long enough for them to become crisp dry. Crumple the dried leaves into fine powder with bright green color.

Glass jars for storing dried herb leaves should be painted black, wrapped in dark paper, or kept in a dark place to keep the color of the herbs from fading.

Golden Jubilee Fund Shows Cash On Hand

Surplus To Go To Exhibition Grounds

The financial statement disclosed a balance of $276.82 left in the coffers, all expenses of the St Paul Golden Jubilee celebrations being paid.

The committee's budget called for an expenditure of $650.00. The actual expenditures were $651.82 divided as follows:

Parade	120.38
Advertising	69.54
Free Meals	139.11
Reception for pioneers	24.67
Grandstand show	112.00
Prizes of sports	123.95
Insurance	58.00

The funds were provided as follows:

Town Jubilee Grant	$400.00
MD Jubilee Grant	$400.00
Profit of Smiths	$ 79.00
Donation, St P Utilities	$ 26.00
TOTAL	$1006.42

The committee expressed great satisfaction at the Esprit de Corps observed by all organizations, each in its own sphere contributed its part to make of the whole day, a summer long remembered.

Thanks also go to many individuals not directly connected to participating organizations.

As a memento of the Golden Jubilee a medal was voted to spend the balance of the fund on a definite project for the benefit of all on the Agricultural Society Grounds. The medal in mind will be announced as soon as the Agricultural Society is obtained

Hot Weather Brings Silo Construction

Record wet harvester has again turned the farmers' attention to silage and the possibility of erecting a silo to store feed that they had intended for hay.

Mr. Clarence Chadburn, Alberta's Agricultural Engineer advises that horizontal silos are generally recommended for Alberta conditions. The lowest type is generally used by the farmer himself, the lumber type allows the farmer who operates on the land to do the horizontal silo and still obtain drainage The silo should however be made too wide. For the average farm, a bottom width of from 12 to 16 feet is generally advocated and if the silo is 8 feet deep the top width should be approximately 3 feet greater than that of the bottom. A deep silo is to be preferred to a shallow one in order to reduce the amount of spoilage — which is generally closely related to the amount of surface exposed to the air

Good drainage at the base of a silo is essential, gravel is very desirable for this purpose. It should be placed to a depth of not less than 6 inches and then tamped down. The floor of a rubber tired tractor before any silage is placed on it. The floor should slope toward the open end and a smooth of the silo at least one foot for each 10 feet of length advises Mr Chadburn If self-feeding is to be practised this slope should be increased to one foot in 5 feet for each 10 feet of length. A crown of about 2 inches should be provided in the gravel floor so that the center of the silo, where traction is required, will not slip.

Many trench silos do not require lining unless soil boding is to be practised. However, in light soil some type of lining is suggested In the above-ground type of silo it is generally necessary to provide lining, however, this should be reinforced with a backfill of earth, which provides both strength and insulation to help overcome the hazards of frost during the winter.

The silo walls must be airtight in order to reduce spoilage to a minimum. Material such as slabs or planks may be used for the lining and in this case the earth used for the back-fill must be very thoroughly packed against the wall Plywood may be used and provides smooth, airtight walls, while concrete is also suitable. It has the advantage that size and shape of the silo cannot be modified once the walls have been constructed Too, the cost of cement etc for it would be to be used for the silo lining it should be treated with a preservative and for that purpose paints is recommended The wood should be coated in a 5 per cent penta solution until each cubic foot of wood being treated has absorbed approximately two-thirds of a gallon of the solution, according to Mr. Chadburn

Canadians Not Afraid Of Lung Cancer

Canada continues to puff away apparently not one whit deterred by the so-called lung cancer "scare" which has given tobacco companies the jitters during the last two years, declares The Financial Post

Per capita leaf cigarettes will someday be proved carcinogenic to have some connection with lung cancer. But it's obvious from tobacco consumption figures that Canadians aren't being stampeded into giving up smoking.

Even in the U.S., where the scare first hit solid, factory sales in spite of that year And the profit picture for tobacco companies in both Canada and the U.S. has been quite good

Last year in Canada, 34.9 million lb of leaf tobacco were consumed compared with 31.6 million in 1953 and 30.4 million in 1950

This year there's every indication the upward is still on.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Dramatic Proof of Chevrolet's Success!

Just look around you! On the highways, in the cities and in all the towns and villages across the land -- everywhere it's Chevrolet. That's because, consistently, more Chevrolet cars are sold than those of any other manufacturer. And now, to a greater extent than ever before, the 1955 Chevrolet is the favorite of Canadians from coast to coast.

This is Important To You!

Because Chevrolet builds so many more cars, each one costs less to make. That's the simple, provable effect of volume production. And this saving is passed on to you in the form of more value, and more features for the money than you can get with any other car on the market. Check the extra features you get at no extra cost with Chevrolet, and see how much extra you would have to pay for them on other cars. You'll find it amounts to hundreds of dollars. Then compare Chevrolet's price! And you'll know for sure at least one reason why so many more people buy Chevrolet year after year -- especially this year.

Day by day, Chevrolet gains in popularity -- value -- sales!

The Traffic Safety Lane

By J. W. McKAY

Inspector Highway Traffic Board, Edmonton

DRIVING FAULTS

Traffic Safety Lane

As I have said before I now repeat, "No one is perfect in all respects." But that does not mean that we should not strive to be as close to perfect as we can.

Last week I dealt with Highway Lanes. This week I wish to discuss Traffic Lights.

Traffic Lights are of a major importance in our day of heavy traffic. Where lanes of heavy traffic intersect one another supervision by Police is required. The traffic Light relieves such personnel and can produce the same effects if drivers and pedestrians obey.

First of all there are three colors of lights, Red, Green and Amber. For the person who may be color blind the colors are placed, in an order that is adopted by most States and Provinces. In the horizontal battery Red is at the top, amber in the center and green at the bottom. Anyone who is colorblind may be assured of the color by its position. The vertical battery has the red to your right, the green to your left with the amber in the center. In addition some batteries may have a green arrow pointing to your right

The Red Light

The red light in front of you means that you are to stop as long as the red light is showing. It very confusing intersections should be watching for a red light especially if strange places where you are not familiar. At night time in cities where there are a lot of Neon lights, the red light is hard to distinguish. It could be on a side post or hanging over the center of the intersection. Drivers should be on the alert and not allow themselves to be pre-occupied

The Green Light

The green light signifies a GO But as an extraordinary measure relieve you of all responsibility of right-of-way, you must exercise all care and precaution. You may be permitted to turn right or left on the green light

The Orange Light

The orange light comes on while the green light is on and just before the red comes on. The light is for the purpose of clearing the intersection. No one is allowed to start in motion or come on to intersection while this light is showing. This is where many accidents happen. Someone gets anxious and is a bit hurry to cross. If there should be two such drivers at the same time who are in the habit of jumping lights, then an accident generally takes place

The Green Arrow

If the light is red ahead of you then you may see a green arrow at the bottom pointing to your right. This allows you to turn to your right on the red light But you can do this only when it is safe, all other traffic has the right-of-way Each driver is to come to a stop before turning on the arrow. You have no other right-of-way privileges

Then there is the flashing red or amber light The red flashing light means that each individual vehicle comes to a stop and then proceed when safe to do so The flashing amber light means that each individual vehicle proceeds with utmost caution and care.

To Prevent Tooth Decaying

By Dr. L. G. MANDEN

"Why bother filling baby teeth" They fall out in a few years, so why throw away money having them filled"

To enlightened parents it may be surprising this is a common reaction, even today

Well, why?

We've spoken of "foundation" teeth, rather than "temporary" or "baby" teeth, and that term expresses very well just what these teeth are for, besides the chewing of food

As th child grows, the body needs firmer and more fibrous foods, so first and most important, the foundation teeth help the child to change over from soft, mushy infant foods to food that needs to be chewed

Besides preparing the food for use in building the body, the act of chewing tougher foods helps to develop the muscles and bones of the jaws and head--to give shape and pleasing form to the face

Foundation teeth help the child to learn to speak. Speech defects are often traced to missing or broken-down teeth

Recently, the writer observed a boy, sensitive to the loss of a prominent front tooth, deliberately training one side of the upper lip to droop to cover the defect. His speech was affected by talking through one corner of his mouth, and his appearance marred by the unnatural position of the lips. The effect was almost a sneer, rather than the normal pleasing expression.

Vitally important is the fact that foundation teeth develop and preserve the proper spacing for the growing permanent teeth underneath them. If one or more of the foundation set is lost, or even lessened in width by decay, space for the succeeding permanent tooth is lessened or lost. Attempting to work through the gums, later, the tooth finds insufficient room, and crowding results in irregularities that may cause much trouble in future years.

The shedding of the foundation teeth starts, normally, at about the sixth year, and continues until the twelfth year, or later

In a later article, the effect of lack of space for erupting permanent teeth will be discussed, together with methods of preventing and overcoming such faults.

Seven Grain Precipitation Report

Compiled from Canadian Pacific and Canadian Pacific Express Records up to and including August 9th, 1955

The total overall moisture condition of the three Prairie Provinces now stands at 131 per cent of normal compared with 121 per cent last week and 116 per cent at this time a year ago. Respective figures for the three Provinces were as follows Alberta 110 per cent of normal, Saskatchewan 127 per cent of normal and Manitoba 133 per cent of normal

Growing season rains from April 1st to August 9th now stands at 97 per cent of normal on the case of Alberta, 113 per cent of normal in the case of Saskatchewan and 135 per cent of normal in the case of Manitoba, giving a weighted over of 110 per cent of normal.

In Alberta, all Crop Districts, except 1, 2, 6, 12, 13, 15 and 16 have had less than average growing season rains. In Saskatchewan, all Crop Districts, except 1 and 5, have had better than normal growing season rains and in Manitoba, all Crop Districts, except 1, 5, 6, 8, 7, and 14 have experienced better than normal rains from April 1st to August 9th.

During the past week rainfall was quite light throughout most of the Western region except for extreme localities as well as southwestern Manitoba and southeastern Saskatchewan. Generally warm, dry weather has brought the crop along well and has lessened the threat of any damage

By DR. E. W. HEMPEL
St. Paul

THIRTY MILLION MOONERS

Chiropractic's biggest boosters are the millions of happy patients throughout the world who have been restored to good health by it. They and they alone are responsible for Chiropractic's position today as the second largest healing profession in the world. And all this in the short space of fifty years.

The enthusiastic endorsement of former patients proves better than anything we can say in this column the soundness of the principles on which Chiropractic has been established. These patients have not spoken from hearsay, or theory, but from actual experience. They were sick--now they are well.

Chiropractor results are no guesswork. Scientific research by Chiropractic disregards the symptoms of disease, and deals with the cause of it. It is now definitely established that disease is caused because the glands and organs of the body are not functioning properly Chiropractic has solved the question "WHY are they not functioning properly?" and has found the right answer

All function is directed and controlled by the nervous system. The brain is the direct centre, and the spinal cord the main cable from which, like a telephone cable, the nerves reach out to every part of the body Over those nerves run the nerve impulses which supply life and motion to all our glands, organs and muscles.

It is obvious that these delicate nerves must not be disturbed in their essential truth. If an accident, fall or bad habit should displace a vertebra in the spine so that it exerts pressure on the nerve root the flow of energy over the nerves will be curtailed and disease will result.

Chiropractors have been specially trained to locate and correct such interference. With all parts of the body getting their full supply of nerve energy the return to good health is merely a matter of time. That is why millions today bless Chiropractic for saving their lives.

THE CARTERS ARE LUCKIER THAN THEY KNOW!

Like all families, the Carters have plans and dreams for the future. But, unlike the families of just a generation ago, they have a better chance of making those dreams come true.

Why? One important reason is because life insurance is much more flexible today. During the past 25 years, many new policies have been created. The modern "family income" policy, for instance, provides maximum coverage while children are young, and reduces in amount as they become self-supporting. Other policies have been developed to cover mortgages, and to provide retirement income to fit in with the government old age security benefits.

The wider choice reflects just one of the ways in which life insurance companies and their representatives have adapted their services to the changing needs of Canadians in all walks of life!

LOYAL SUPPORT

It has definitely been proven time and time again that a town without life . . . most of its community has suffered a dismal collapse. Lasey-ar-... has been proven that a community will with surely collapse unless it receives the wholehearted support from its independent merchants.

Our local independent merchants congratulate our "Editions" who have risen to the heights of true champions in response to the loyal fans; let's also give our support to the champions of business.

In every shopping area there are independent business people who deserve the support of their communities, and nothing on our economic life is more important than keeping these independents a strong force within the structure of our free enterprise system. Are we not entitled to the opportunities for our young people . . . the benefits of free enterprise . . . and of competition for the putting her of the big chain store or the savings which a few manufacturers claim they can bring about by eliminating millions of people between producer and consumer.

Remember, you lift the lid on freedom every time you patronize independent business. Support the independent merchant in your community.

WHEAT AGREEMENT

The International Wheat Agreement is now entering its third and final year. Late in October a meeting of the International Wheat Council will be held at which a new Agreement will be discussed and probably drawn up. A preparatory committee is already at work considering possible modifications which would be desirable to incorporate in a new part and its report will be presented at the October meeting.

Whether a new Agreement is reached will depend mainly on the position of the United States. There is considerable opposition to the part from the grain trade and flour millers and even some sources in the government. George Swartzeck, writing in the "Northwestern Miller" says the general opinion is that the U.S. will continue for another term. Canada will press for a renewal of the Agreement and Australia is also expected to give its support. The fourth exporter in the present pact, France, with a quota of only 342,000 bushels, or only one-tenth of one per cent of the total quantity covered, may not re-enter. Other world exporters, Turkey and Argentina, are not likely to join, although it is rumored that Russia may.

On the side of the importers, the big question mark is the position of the United Kingdom which stayed out of the present Agreement because it felt the ceiling price of $2.05 per bushel was too high. In this connection the "Northwestern Miller" says that U.S. government officials are recently quoted as having said that it is likely Britain will re-enter when the Agreement comes up for renewal. It adds that American and Canadian traders in close touch with British affairs believe this will happen, notwithstanding general opposition in the U.K. from the British grain trade. The re-entry of the United Kingdom, the world's largest importer of wheat, would do much to strengthen the International Wheat Agreement. —Wheat Pool Bulletin

BIG STAKE IN ATOMIC POWER

Canadians have much more than a passing interest in the commercial production of atomic power, says The Financial Post. It is of vital concern to Canada that Canadians we are a major producer of atomic raw materials but also because we are a major potential user of atomic power. If we are really going to participate in the atomic age, as we should participate, then we cannot afford to sit on the sidelines.

Cost of power production is not static. What looks like high cost today may prove to be cheap, ten or twenty years hence. The time is clearly in sight when Canada will be using all available sources of conventional power. We will need power from the atom not to replace that from water, steam or gas, but to supplement it, until or two more per kw. in cost will be neither here nor there.

KING OF CAR INDUSTRY

Chevrolet is still king of the Canadian new car market, reports The Financial Post.

The Ford — chief rival of General Motors' low-priced — isn't even close this year, as it has been for the past two. A mid-winter strike wrecked Ford hopes of overtaking Chevy in 1955.

Pontiac — another GM product — was the No. 2 seller in Canada during the first six months of 1955.

Right behind, so closely bunched you could throw a car robe over them, came Ford, Dodge and Plymouth.

Chev appears to have captured about 31 per cent of Canadian car sales in the first half, Pontiac around 13.5 per cent. Ford, Plymouth and Dodge reportedly were in the 10-12 per cent range.

Vernon Gray To Appear Here

A picture of great interest to Elk Point and the surrounding district is being shown at The Arrow Theatre, Elk Point on Monday and Tuesday, August 22 and 23.

The picture "To Paris With Love" has Vernon Gray, son of Mr and Mrs A. T. Rabson, very recently of Elk Point, starring in it.

Vern received most of his education in Elk Point and after working as a model in New York, as well as appearing on television, he was signed by the J. Arthur Rank Organization.

In his first picture, "To Paris With Love" he played a very small part, however in his second picture he co-starts with Alec Guinness and appears throughout the entire picture

To Paris With Love has been given good comments by the critics and advance notices describe the picture as a very enjoyable comedy

Demand For Raise In Gas Rates Brought To Board
Ask For Increase Of 6.1c Per MCF

Town received notification this week from counsel for Plains-Western Gas and Electric Company, parent company of St. Paul Utilities, that the latter's demand for 6c per Mcf for their domestic gas, an increase of 6½ rates has been submitted to the Board of Public Utilities for arbitration.

At a recent meeting of St. Paul Utilities, Mr. F. J. Symington, General Manager of the Company, and Mr. S. R. Kaufman, Secretary-Treasurer had presented their financial statement to the Town demanding an increase of 6.1c per Mcf in the present allowable 6 per cent profit established by the Public Utilities Board.

According to the contract signed with the company in 1948, the consumers were supposed to get the benefit of a decreasing scale as their use increased but due to the basis of 6c per Mcf now being asked for an increase above the contract of 6c per Mcf or 8c.

To counteract the demand for increased rates the Town has submitted a counter demand of 3½c according to the contract and down from 6c who has presently being charged.

Hearings before the Board of Public Utilities are scheduled for September 6th at Edmonton. Utilities wants the new increased rates, effective October 1st of this year.

Defeat Elk Point Enter Into League Finals

The local St Paul Bears, baseball variety, advanced into the Finals of the Eastern Alberta Baseball League by virtue of their double win over Elk Point here last Sunday. The Bears won the semi-finals two straight and now advance to meet the winner of Derwent-Vermilion semi-finals.

In the first game Hector Auspete struck out 11 and walked only one as his mates gave him solid support at bat and in the field to register an 11 to 1 win. Humphrey was the loser. John Kotowich was the big gun getting on base 4 times in as many times at bat.

St. Paul broke loose for 7 runs in the first inning of the second game and never looked back, winning 9 to 3.

Andrukah & Sandhoe shared the mound duties for the winners while Wyenski was the loser. Buck Jolly went four for four by virtue of a single, a double and two walks. Berutski and Hretzko hit solo home runs in a losing cause.

The Traffic Safety Lane
By J. W. McKAY
Inspector Highway Traffic Board, Vermilion

Our department deals are full of letters from all over the Province asking for information regarding 5-ath weights, licensing and allowable loads.

For the protection of roads, bridges and highways, we have to put restrictions on weights on trucks. To successfully carry the load the law has to be a formula to guide us. The Latter then in this formula we use is the tire. For every size of tire that is manufactured, there is a limited weight which the company allows or will guarantee that certain tire to carry. These tire weights is put out by the manufacturer are the foundation for our weight laws.

For instance any tire company will guarantee a 700x20 tire to carry 2,750 lbs., a 1000x20 tire to carry 3,750 lbs., and 900x20 to carry 4,500 lbs. These are some of the popular sizes.

When the truck is a two-axled job the dual tires on rear, we find that the front axle carries approximately one-third of the weight of the rear axle. That is, the proportion will be a balanced load and will allow the maximum of steering efficiency. If four truck, therefore, has 750x20 duals on the rear the maximum load allowed will be 4x3,000 lbs. equal 12,000 lbs plus one-third for front axle which gives an overall maximum (truck and load) of 16,000 lbs. Therefore, when your truck is weighed on a Government scale, the rear axle should not exceed 12,000 lbs. and the overall weight should not exceed 16,000 lbs.

If you should have 825x20 duals on the rear and 700x20 tires on front then the same formula applies; 4 x 2,750 equals 11,000 plus one-third or 14,666 plus 8,000 equals 24,000 lbs. maximum load. And so on for every size of tire that is manufactured there is an allowable weight for that tire.

For the protection of roads, etc., we are required to limit the weights and that limit is 18,000 lbs. for an axle. If your truck has 1000x20 tires on rear and 900x20 on front, the weights would be computed as follows

4 x 4,500 equals 18,000 plus one third equals 27,000 lbs., but as 18,000 plus 6,000 is the maximum you would only be allowed 24,000 lbs.

For licensing purposes all trucks are classified. These are farm trucks, other trucks, registered commercial vehicles along with busses and driver-yourself trucks. All of these are licensed according to their wheelbase but they are still subject to weight restrictions. Then there is the Public Service vehicle and the Commercial vehicle, the license plates have the letters P.S. or C.V. thereon. These are licensed according to their carrying capacity as governed by tire size. For instance, if a truck is to this class and has 750x20 tires, your license fee will be $120.00. If you have 825x20 tires on rear, your fee will be $280.00, and so on.

Next week I will deal with semi-trailers and tandem axles.

Sparks Grain Rain Report
(As of August 20th.)

The total overall moisture condition of the three Prairie Provinces now stands at 121 per cent of normal compared with 121 per cent last week and 111 per cent at this time a year ago. Moisture figures for the three Provinces rate as follows: Alberta 118 per cent of normal; Saskatchewan 136 per cent of normal and Manitoba 122 per cent of normal.

Growing rains from April 1st to August 19th now stands at 82 per cent of normal in the east of Alberta. All crop districts, except 1, 5, 13, 15, 15 and 16 have had less than average season rains. Rainfall has ceased to be a factor so far as a major portion of this year's crop is concerned. The final outturn will now depend upon favourable weather for the maturing and harvesting of the crop.

Reserve Decision For Future Meeting; Date Forthcoming

A plenary session of the Town Council, sitting as a normal meeting, Monday night attended by a full house of ratepayers, tabled second and third reading of a By-Law to give Mr. L. P. Meichel, Secretary-Treasurer superannuation upon his resignation to take effect at the end of [illegible]

All the councillors and the Mayor were of the opinion that further thought and deliberation should be given before the important legislature, which has been under consideration in the interest of the public be passed. Date of meeting for final decision has not been set.

First reading of the By-Law approving superannuation of gratuities of $7,200 representing Mr. Meichel's aggregate salary for the past 12 years was given at a meeting on August 15th with a vote of 3-2.

Objection had been voiced by Mr. George Perry and Mr. O. Lemay who both questioned the By-Law. Monday Mr. Perry said that he was still of the opinion that the Town did not have the authority to pay the money and that if the council passed the law it would have final recourse to a court.

Mr. Lemay giving his reason for voting against the By-Law said he believed the sum too large for council to hand. With reference to the letter from Mr. Meichel, copy of which the Large audience following his statement, Mr. Hamelin, Town Secretary, read a letter of inquiry he had written to Mr Lemay, Deputy Minister of [illegible] and Municipal Affairs and the reply received from Mr. Lemay.

Mr. Lemay stated that the Municipal Act did not provide for superannuation of Town employees but that the Act did provide for the payment of gratuities. Mr. Lemay stated that the Act provided for a maximum gratuity of $2,000 and that the Town could not pay more than this amount.

Mr. Lemay stated that the Town could not pay the money, in accordance with the By-Law, and that the By-Law duly passed in council did not require a plebiscite from the ratepayers.

The By-Law in effects grants Mr. Meichel $7,200 over a period of five years, the council and resigned to take a secretarial position with the St. Paul N.D. No. 45 against submission of gratuities of $7,200 representing the total aggregate salary he earned in the last five years and that the money would be paid over a period of five years. $720 on retirement, the balance on 20 monthly payments of $300 starting on January 1st.

Mr. J. A. Beauregard councillor who had moved the motion was moved by Mr. Romeo Bedard spoke in favor of passing the By-Law, presenting to the council a set of figures and the plan which is in effect for civil servants and school teachers. He said that Mr. Meichel stands to gain less by his grant than an ordinary civil servant resigning. Mr. Beauregard moved the motion as a civil servant eligible for pension under such a plan.

Mr. John Bagan and Romeo Bedard also supported the By-Law explained that their decision was based on Mr. Meichel's long and faithful record and the fact that a similar By-Law had been accepted in the case of Mr. Johnny Brunelle when he resigned as Public Works Foreman.

Mr. J. A. Joly, a previous supporter of the motion had an statement to make Mayor Jules Van Brabant called a point of personnel of the decision and Mayor Van Brabant stated he would be taken.

Council decreed that the Secretary get a further opinion on the By-Law from the legal adviser of Union of Municipalities to substantiate the points he had raised.

Ratepayers attending the meeting were recognized and several were permitted to ask questions and voice their opinions on the matter.

First Load Of Barley Brought To The Elevator

Well ahead of last year's delivery, grain harvest area being completed in St. Paul district and indications the first load of grain was delivered this week at the UGG elevator.

The early harvests by Mr. Wm. Lisy of St. Brides, was abandoned at the elevator on Wednesday.

Grain weather generally has been favoring farming and farmers in the district are cutting at last about ready to go if the weather continues to hold out.

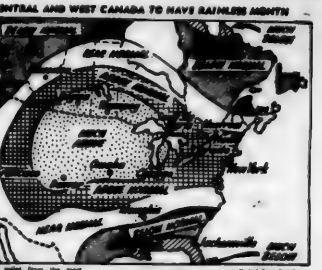
CENTRAL AND WEST CANADA TO HAVE RAINLESS MONTH



Little relief from the most [illegible] drought in Eastern Canada is in store for most of the Province's crops to be hard by the sweltering heat. The next 30 days [illegible] and [illegible] heat and heat rainless month of the year [illegible] of Canada extending from Manitoba to the B.C. border. Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan [illegible] Quarts crops have already suffered [illegible] which endured a good deal of along with oilseed and the early growing season. Only hope [illegible] to find the full force of drought to thousands of acres of grain and hay.

Why have COLD FEET?

GET "HEAD TO TOE" COMFORT

with a DUO-THERM "LIVING LEVEL" HEATER

If your rooms are cold at floor level, chances are heat is being wasted at the ceiling. And "lazy ceiling heat" is not only expensive—it's unhealthy and unnecessary.

A Duo-Therm Home Heater with Powr-Air Blower puts "lazy ceiling heat" to work—turns the heat from floor to ceiling, wall to wall, room to room . . . gives you living level comfort you'll really enjoy. Saves as much as 33% on fuel bills, too!

Save heat from every drop of oil! Duo-Therm's exclusive Dual-Vent system lets you clean, quiet heat. Exclusive Safti-Pilot (optional) lights the fire, shuts it off when you desire. Automatic thermostat lets you set it and forget it.

As low as $49.95*

Duo-Therm Window—Oil Home Heater with optional Powr-Air Blower and Electric Self-Lighter Fits Period furniture design. Immune from fuel line flooding. Optional Automatic Thermostat. 50,000 BTU capacity.

Duo-Therm Insulated—Circulated Console. Its fuel tank is insulated to prevent sweating. Its cabinet is insulated to prevent heat loss. Two separate—but 2 in 1 units.

Duo-Therm Regulator Oil Kit. Heats the water in your furnace for all 4 seasons. Fits most furnaces. Heats water for baths, showers, kitchen, laundry. Saves 50% to 75% on fuel bills. Provides for future optional oil burner.

Safety Sam Says...

Don't hold up traffic . . . let the other driver make a left hand turn through your lane

You are proceeding with the green light through an intersection. You see a motorist trying to make a left turn. Do you make it a habit to slow down and wave him through?

This courteous act only takes a few short seconds of your time and often much more can not embrace the way for other motorists turning left through the intersection.

So, spare 5 seconds for courtesy and wave the motorist through wherever you can. He'll appreciate your kindness and you'll be pleased with yourself, too.

Higher Grades For Your Eggs

Poor returns for high quality produce point to something drastically wrong. Reasons for A grade eggs being degraded can help to point out where B and C grade eggs come from.

Robert Sandilian, Alberta's Poultry Commissioner, points out that eggs of A quality remain as in spite of their size They may be graded A large, medium or pullet — the grade rule between these groups are small The real price cuts come between A large and B and C

Mr Mehtilian advises that dirty or soiled eggs go down to B or C grade. Cracked eggs or eggs with poor shell texture, are degraded Candling shows up the latter defects much as does yolks (often referred to as "green yolks") and enlarged air cell. The size of the air cell is a definite indication of the age and interior quality of the egg. There is no air cell when the egg is first laid The longer the egg is stored the more the water is evaporated through the pores in the shell and the larger the air cell becomes. This dehydration represents a general breakdown in the egg.

Some of the corrective steps to be taken when low grades occur are then to make sure there is plenty of clean litter in the nest. Floors should be kept clean and dropping boards should be used to prevent the birds from getting "filthy" nest conditions before going on the nests If eggs are gathered often enough, cracked and enlarged air cells are prevented Ample oyster shell with extra good shells, should be stored in a cool room — up to 60 degrees F and broody hens should be confined. And, by Mr. Mehtilian repeats, eggs must be gathered often and marketing often Dark yolks are usually caused by allowing the hens to run at large over the barn yard Birds should be confined to a fenced run if they are allowed outside

There are always a few blood spots or meat spots which cause eggs to be degraded, but when these are occurring in unusual amounts there is probably little wrong with the flock to correct this trouble. The Alberta Department of Agriculture has a bulletin entitled "Production of Quality Market Eggs" which may be obtained by writing this office in care of the Poultry Branch in Edmonton.

Bumper Crop In Turkey

In Turkey, the wheat crop which is now being harvested should yield midway between the crop of 150,000,000 bushels of last year and the record million of about 360,000,000 bushels for the 3 preceding years. With the exception of these two years, a crop of the size indicated would be the largest recorded. The current estimate contrasts with the 1946-50 average of 135,000,000 bushels. The principal cause of the increased harvest compared with the 1945-49 average was an increase of two-thirds in acreage, although higher yields were also an important factor

Glendon Pioneer, Metro Man's Relates Events Of His Life

Following the Golden Jubilee theme of relishing true experiences of our old timers, we publish below the life story of a Glendon pioneer related from memory in his own words.

I was born in a place called Nelson, State Bukovina, Capital Chernovtz, Country Austria, Hungary Ruler at that time was Emperor Franz Joseph

My parents were not of the wealthy type. There was a lot of work but not much pay All they earned was from hand to mouth with the future unknown. There were a lot of rumors of a country called America where you could get a lot of land for $10.00 and if you had a strong back and plenty of energy they could do well over there So, on the spring of 1899 they decided to go to this country.

We started from Chernowitz through Poland on to Hamburg Germany Here we stayed for three days for medical examinations and other reasons. On the 4th day a small boat took us to a big ship named Karlsburg After boarded it started for Halifax which took 12 days On the 13th day we got off and took the train to Winnipeg Due to financial conditions we remained in Selkirk that summer and winter

In 1901 we started by train to Strathcona—the end of the C.P.R. at this particular part From here we hired a man by the name of Kost Thaduik and he took us to the place where is called Andrew where I went to school

My father homesteaded the S.E. quarter section 4-37-16. He had to go to work in order to make ends meet and we did all we could at home. I worked for a farmer, Jack Ingram for $2.00 a month, then for Archie Whitford for $4.17; Hod Carrie and Charlie Devaus for the same sum. I got $6.00 from a man by the name of Sandy Tate cutting grind on the Saskatchewan River, north of Shandro.

I can cut grain with a scythe, grind grain with two stones, the bottom one stationary while turning the top on the same principle as the old stone mills. My first break was in 1902 when I went working for a contractor named Foley Welch & Stewart, getting $25 per month and board and I was a good boy and stayed through the summer They would pay me an extra $15.00.

I stayed with this firm from the 1st day of May until the 9th of November driving a span of mules In the 1910 I went with a different party, this time working for Peaton and Shirley Contractors from Canada. The outfit payed better wages and I worked for them three summers Later I was invited to go to Montana but I never went, in place I took up a homestead northeast of Glendon on which I still reside

Things were cheap in the early days: flour $2.00; strong bakers $2.80, coal oil 15 c, which burned in the best drop, matches 15c for a while grass of 36 packages in it, but I bought a brand new suit for $6.00; shoes $1.25 per pair.

Wages were low also. Nobody or holidays they would get together and talk things over but not now, today everyone is for himself

With the grade three education that I got and learned language at logs, how far would the general child go?

Moisture Conditions Good In St. Paul Area Heavy Rains

The St. Paul grain growing district finds itself in an area where light showers have occurred over most of the area and moisture conditions remain good. Crops on the whole are progress with rare and sorry barley ready for cutting at many stations. Wheat is turning color.

In the southern part of the province, hot, dry weather is maturing crops rapidly Swathing of oats is fairly general, and is advanced at some points. Swathing of winter wheat and barley is under way General conditions good

Peace River district moisture conditions generally good and hot weather bringing crops on rapidly.

SUMMARY: Moisture conditions throughout the Provinces are generally satisfactory and hot weather is maturing the crops rapidly. In the south, swathing of Rye is fairly general, and swathing of Winter Wheat and Barley is under way at many points. Throughout the rest of the Province early Barley is almost ready for cutting and wheat is beginning to ripen.

A 500-mile canoe trip along the route of the fur traders of a century ago has ended for five middle-aged men in the Arctic Ocean, and they are not just starting. The trip took 21 days, starting at Fort Smith in the Mackenzie district of Prince Albert, and took the route used by Alexander Mackenzie, the first white man to explore the region. Mackenzie and his men depended on their own muscle power to paddle their canoes and portage their equipment. In the group were Dr. H. H. Saunderson, head of the delegation from Bear, Dutch Ambassador to Canada A. H. J. Lovink, and Group Capt. Eric W Stone, historical director of Canadian clubs. D. M. Collins, president of the Arctic Institute of North America, is Chairman of the U.S. National Ports of Entry.

The Fabulous United States

By JACK ALLEN, Humber

I came to Canada in 1910. In 1914 I went to the United States to "look" Upon returning a few weeks later (for reasons unknown) I was "he-ed" you like it down there"

One word remained, and U.S. is a big place—one would need do a lot of travelling to properly answer that one word—state.

Texas, is as big as France—look some of the other—and there are 67 more or less—each bigger than so many farms around Barnyville

Of course, born and brought up in the States, the same general position never staggered my imagination. It is not a novelty—like the Dionnes.

American hospitality is the extreme. Most Westerners agree that is welcomed like a long lost brother to homes, "the best in town," but once outside, "sorry, I'm busy—I'm off," then off he goes like mad this is not just pleasant unsociety The proud is the plain people will go, unasked to help one on their way It is fabulous country and to one need be disillusioned Some nations modify of course, state opinions change, fundamentally agreeing with a man I met while there, who remarked, "you know when you try to tell 'outside' people about America, they think you're boasting—but it's the truth."

Business is out for cash there—this they never deny—lay it on drumhead There is nothing hundred—they speak a language everyone can understand

Television is the rage "Drive-ins" dominate the countryside Today, the middle west farmer can argue the merits, or demerits of his home chair, of a favourite fighter, just as easily as the man in ringside who travelled a thousand miles to see the bottle, which is now viewed from $60.00 for a ringside seat.

Naturally, there are "off" realms of fabulousness here are far from being entirely obliterated; where there is uniformity in some things, there is enormous variety in others.

It would be someone but misleading to suggest the travelling in the U.S. is an unmixed pleasure at $20 a night at 2nd rate hotels exclusive of meals—and gasoline—all this is expensive business

To me, U.S. hotels were a disappointments—one pays one's way both hands. Also, service tends to be slow, and in many cases poor I for a time I could see by her tortures. What—no room service?" I asked If dinner carried when I asked her, "Are you in October" He tried to square his shoulders Sorry, Jack got it—it just must rustle it—collect on by tomorrow night"

I watched as he hobbled down to and into the crowd — in minutes the crowd swallowed his every trace

Lethbridge was Alberta's wettest spot last spring and the third wettest in the three prairie provinces Between April 1 and July 11 it received 12 inches of precipitation compared with a normal of 6.6 in

QUALITY IS PARAMOUNT

Kernal damage to cereal grains during threshing is a frequent cause of lower grades at the elevators according to Robert L. Pharis, Alberta's Supervisor of Crop Improvement.

Wheat which should grade 2 Northern, may grade 3 or 4 as a result of split kernals. Barley which is graded as feed is not acceptable for malting and Japanese purchasers broken kernals. Oat groats, after milling, object to skinned kernals. Oat groats, after milling, object to skinned kernals. Oat groats are also lower grades. Mechanical damage can cause reduced germination and make grain unsuitable for seed.

Under normal harvesting conditions much of this loss can be avoided by correct combine adjustment. Growler cuts in concave and cylinder settings and attention to cylinder speed will return dividends in grain quality advises Mr. Pharis. Cylinder and concaver should be watched for damage and if necessary be repaired. Close attention to the threshing and separation operation is important during actual harvesting.

At his present low quality is paramount if we are to compete for new markets and maintain our present outlets for export grains. It is in the interest of every producer to market high quality grain.

CANADIAN WHEAT EXPORTS

Exports of Canadian wheat and wheat flour during the 1954-55 season amounted to 394.3 million bushels, slightly below the 398.1 million exported during the previous year but practically equal to the 30 year average. The figure is disappointingly small in view of the splendid productivity made at the beginning of the season, when it was hoped that 500 million bushels would be sent abroad.

It has been obvious for some time, however, that we would fall considerably short of this objective. The main reason has been the U.S. subsidy and surplus disposal program which has cut into many of our markets with financial arrangements that the Canadian government could not or did not see fit to meet. United Kingdom exports jumped from 216 million bushels to 270 million. France also increased exports under a subsidy plan while Argentina expanded with bilateral treaties and barter deals.

Canadian wheat is still in demand for its high quality and the Wheat Board could make much better sales if it were not for the factors of price and settlement. Any reduction in it makes its price would have to be absorbed by the Canadian farmer whereas in the subsidized countries this is charged to the government. Furthermore, it appears likely that these countries are determined to dispose of their wheat and would match any decrease in Canadian prices leaving us in the same relative position on continually lower prices. It would appear that the Canadian government must give serious thought to the position that we are being squeezed into on the world grain markets. —Wheat Pool Budget

OUR BACON SLIPPING?

For several years the quality of Canadian hogs has been declining, according to the current annual report of Canada Packers. Since 1951 the drop has been particularly sharp. Until then the proportion of "A" hogs in total Canadian marketings had been running well over 50 per cent. Today it is down almost to 25 per cent

"A" quality hogs are those which produce the lean type bacon for which both the export and domestic market have long paid a premium price. It was this quality, points out The Financial Post, which built up an enviable international reputation for Canadian bacon and it is the only kind we can ever hope to sell in competition with Denmark or Holland on the British market.

It took Canadian farmers 20-30 years to develop and produce in volume the long, lean type of hogs which produces the highest quality of bacon. We would be shortsighted if we let that foundation work crumble.

BUILDING SILOS

In the 1955 World Wheat King farming in Alberta? Is the shield for sure coming to Alberta this year? The Royal Agricultural Winter Fair in Toronto will decide where the top honors go.

In the meantime, Alberta farmers are sending to the Alberta Crops Branch for entry regulations and forms. The bulletin "The Preparation of Seed for Exhibition" is proving popular.

Crop prospects in many districts in Alberta look very favorable and interest in the Toronto Royal's is running high. Last year the wheat and oat prizes did not come west. It is hoped these will come to Alberta this year and that the barley and rye prizes will return here.

Recommendations For Storage Of This Year's Grain Crop

By MARCEL CHEVRETTE, D.A.

Grain is damaged every year because of lack of attention to the principles of good grain storage. The damage is largely due to insects, mites and moulds, which attack stored grain, causing it to heat and go out of condition. Usually the root of the trouble starts with "tough" grain caused by moisture, being in the grain when threshed, or entering the grain while in storage.

With very satisfactory crop prospects and low delivery quotas in many elevators, much of the new crop will have to be stored on the farm. Under such circumstances, farmers must be careful about the storage of their crop, to prevent the grain going out of condition.

Outlined below are a number of recommendations which farmers should keep in mind in preparing their storage facilities for the new crop. By following these farmers will be able to avoid serious losses caused by insect infested and spoiled grain.

Existing Granaries

1 Pay immediate attention to present grain storage buildings, repair leaky roofs, doors, windows and other places to prevent rain and snow entering the building. Check and repair other structural weaknesses.

2 Weatherproof ventilators should be installed on any building used for temporary or permanent storage. Grain normally gives off moisture (sweats) and this moisture must be removed from the building.

3 Re-condition granary to prevent lodging of grain in cracks. If the walls of old granaries are badly cracked, they may be effectively covered with plywood or some heavy water-proof building paper.

4 Sanitation is of prime importance to prevent the heating from obtaining the grain. Before the grain is stored, the walls and floors should be thoroughly cleaned.

5 Floors and walls of cleaned granaries should be sprayed with a 1 per cent lindane solution, (to the point of run-off). Usually 1 gallon of prepared solution will cover approximately 1,000 square feet.

6 A granary with a wooden floor, used above the ground, is best for grain storage. If the floor is of concrete, condensation will cause it to become moist. In such cases cover the floor with a good quality moisture-proof paper

7 Wherever possible existing storages should be raised off the ground to provide good air ventilation under them

8 Old infected grain must never be covered with new grain because the infestation will spread throughout the pile.

9 There should be a thorough clean up of discarded and spilled grain around the storage places. Accumulations of mouldy grain are favorite breeding places for moths, beetles and mites. Such material should be destroyed with 1 per cent lindane solution and then removed.

CAMSO CAUSEWAY FULFILLS DREAM OF NOVA SCOTIANS -

Dream of Nova Scotians for generations is now reality with the opening of Canso Causeway, which links Cape Breton Island. A mile-long structure, costing $12,500,000, the causeway was built by depositing millions of tons of rock across the Strait. To fulfill the wish of the late Premier Angus L. Macdonald, who started the construction, one hundred kilted pipers led a procession of thousands across the causeway in the opening ceremonies. Their tams was appropriately, "Road to the Isles."

Illustration Stations Great Aid To Experimental Stations In Alberta

Wilrodene The Field

In the endeavour of the Canada Experimental Stations to serve effectively the large territory covered, the illustration stations are proving valuable. The correct use of a wide area and provision of result-last opportunity for testing under a variety of conditions the results obtained experimentally at the parent stations

In central Alberta, superintendent of the illustration stations There are illustration stations at Chedderville, Leslieville, Acme, Camrose, Mendota, Innisfree, Athabasca, St. Paul, Bonnyville and Evenburg Superintendent L. J. Anderson and the Council guide operations and with the co-operation of the men on whose farms these stations are situated, useful information is obtained

To study farm practices under local soil and climatic conditions, the director of illustration stations work the experimental farms. Whereas illustration stations are in central Alberta and a district of variations are found they are all. When the illustration stations started seven years ago there were primarily demonstration stations. Since the time the work has been steadily expanded, until fact finding as well as demonstrational has occupies an important place.

Cereal crops, forage crops root crops and soil fertility are among the studies undertaken. Weather data are recorded, farm business procedures encouraged and methods of cultivation compared. Among the forage crop studies at Athabasca, pasture studies are also being undertaken at various stations. Pasture mixtures are tested and in land suitable for growing a timothy mixture, alsike, brome, crested grass and meadow fescue are tested at Leslieville, Chedderville, Athabasca, St. Paul, Bonnyville and Evenburg. Seed cereals, seeds of suitable grasses are maintained at various stations. Pasture studies are also being carried on in land unsu

By HON. RAY REID, Minister of Industry and Labor

The House opened on Wednesday, August 17th., with the usual formalities of a new session after an election, but rather than spend the balance of the afternoon in [illegible] the members proceeded with the business at hand.

The Speech from the Throne, outlined that the main topics for consideration were farming, [illegible] and industry. No mention was made of the Budget as a high plane.

The Royal Commission previously referred to will be headed by Mr. Justice [illegible], with the [illegible] one member of the following members Dr. Vladimir and Mr. Dewar of Edmonton, Mr. Goldsmith, Pincina and Mr. Brown of Calgary.

The commission is considered to be one of very sound choice, and should carry out their work with fairness and dispatch.

The loss of 14 seats in the election changed the appearance of the house in some degree, but a good working majority is still firmly entrenched on the government side. The Liberals are the official opposition with 15 members. J. Harper Prowse, House leader, in his opening speech adopted a much more reasonable attitude than had been his practice in the past. His criticism was confined to the lengthy session. Possibly no one had informed them that the election campaign was over and that the session was called to complete public business, not play for votes.

The Jubilee Bonus will be introduced with the additional feature that recipients of War Veterans Allowances who would otherwise have qualified for Provincial Pension will be included.

Monday morning will see the house in Agricultural Committee convene to open further hearings on the Marketing Act. This is expected to require at least the full day. Adjournment is expected before the week end.

Further detail in each of the pieces of legislation dealt with will be commenced next week in this column.

The work of Minister of Industries and Labor will no doubt require considerable time to learn. Every effort is being made to study all of the many phases of this department in order to let commencing its past record of constant progressability in the development of Alberta.

If your lawn here and has a healthy complexion, or "freckles," it is a result it is due to the work of the chinch bug.

The pale green "freckles" will be found by the application of dead grass from which the chinch bugs have left their life-giving juices and sap. You can easily find out if chinch bugs are present by watering the lawn; if it is yellowish in color. The chinch bug lays an egg in the turf. A tubular patch is shown in the accompanying Garden-graph.

The enlarged blades of grass, one holding a chinch bug, shown in the Garden-Graph, illustrate a method of making certain the chinch bugs are in your lawn. Press the damaged area with your foot if the bugs are present they will climb up the blades of grass for safety.

The chinch bug has a black body and white wings. The adults vary from one-eighth to one-fifth of an inch in length. The young bugs do not have wings and may be either yellowish or reddish in color.

The chinch bug control both arsenate of lead (SDF) are recommended by Chinchbug, entomologists. Dusting around the lawn's edges with pyrethrum is also effective. Dusting the bugs on and in the turf. A suitable patch is shown in the accompanying Garden-graph.

St. Paul Against Vermilion In Northern Ball League Finals

St. Paul and Vermilion have advanced into the finals of the Eastern Alberta Baseball league and will meet for the first game of a two out of three series at St. Paul on Sunday, September 4th., at 2 p.m.

To make the top bracket St. Paul battled its way through the 4th Point Memorials in two straight games in the semi-finals, two weeks ago and Vermilion won two and lost one in their playoffs which were the total three games of the series.

Both these teams have played consistent baseball throughout the season without too much support during the summer It is hoped a large crowd will turn out on Sunday to encourage them.

The second game of the final playoffs will be played at Vermilion the following Sunday and if a third game is necessary they will resort to the St. Paul diamond.

Financial Report On Operations Of Playground

Financial report of the St Paul Playground activities in its initial year just concluded with the opening of the Rotary Park has given a surplus of $337.13 derived from a total revenue of $1668.33. Total receipts were $1480.62.

The committee in charge wishes to extend thanks to the Town of St. Paul for its generous contribution and to all others who co-operated by their financial or moral support.

Plans for improvement of the playground gained strength importance of the past season are being considered and it is hoped to offer more attractions to the youngsters in providing healthful entertainment again next year.

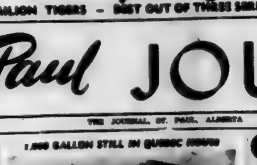
Mrs. Elizabeth May Loughlin

On August 28th, Mrs. Elizabeth May Loughlin of Elk Point passed away at the age of 71 years.

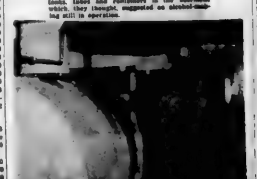
She is survived by her husband, 3 sons and 4 daughters: Ray of Waterloo, Lorne, Calvin of Lindbergh; Mrs. Alberta Helquist, Mrs. Irene Jacobsen and Mrs. Vinda Jones of Elk Point; Mrs. Hazel Stulte of Lindbergh; also 9 sisters and 2 brothers, Mrs. Dansby Allen and Mrs. Daisy Dunham of Lindbergh, Jack McClain of Meadow Lake; Grover McLain of Kelowna B.C., Also 19 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, August 30th., at 2:30 p.m. at the Spring Park Hall. Rev. W. Adam officiated and interment was made in the Ferguson Plain Cemetery.

Park Dale Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.



When a small fire attracted firemen to this inconspicuous house in St Paroul, a suburb of Quebec city, they saw something that brought the police in a hurry Firemen reported they saw cases, tubes and equipment in the house which they thought suggested an alcohol-making still in operation.



In the basement of the St. Pascal house Police Constable Jean Guy Bellefeuille (left) and Sergeant Jean Paul Gagnon (right) examine the still. At the time of the police discovery, 1,000 gallons of alcohol were in the process of fermentation and 1,000 gallons of finished product. Value of the still was estimated at $2,000. Owner of the house, Jean Paul Tremblay, 25, was charged with operating the illegal distillery.

New Bowling Technique For Bowls

Some western dorks will be wearing new bowls this fall. The new bowling technique has been introduced by the Canadian Wildlife Service to identify dorks in flight.

The new bowls are of flexible coloured plastic, some bearing symbols in contrasting colours. The colours and symbols will enable biologists to relate groups of ducks to particular areas of the West and plot their day-by-day movements from the time they learn to fly until they leave for the south. Such information may help solve the problem of crop damage by ducks.

Hunters and farmers spotting the banded ducks can co-operate in the research by writin ; the Chief of the Wildlife Lands, Ottawa with the date and location of the sighting as well as a good description of the colors on each leg ' His name is required on the letter and the Wildlife Service will reply with information on where and when the ducks were banded.

Granum White Sox Capture Alberta Crown

Take Two Close Ones From Cold Lake Team On Saturday, Sunday

Although the Cold Lake Senior Baseball Team lost two straight games to the Granum White Sox on Saturday and Sunday, they threatened throughout until the last ball was pitched Sunday afternoon. First game was lost on Saturday 5-3 and on Sunday 5-1 in a final predominately-style battler which gave Cold Lake fans plenty for [illegible]

Up into the Provincial finals after defeating Red River in the Northern Playoffs, Cold Lake met Granum White Sox, unbeaten team in the provincial series, at Cold Lake on Sunday and Saturday for two out of three finals.

Jack Alterman was the winning pitcher for Granum, hurling a three-hitter game held down on the home side by Cold Lake ace against him. Receiving was Ted Bagni. One error was chalked up against Cold Lake in the first game

For Cold Lake, Al-C Medymassey after all six hits which scored three runs for the southerners. Three errors were charged up against his side Burton Demeriez handled the remaining duties

The game, all tied up until the seventh, was blasted out of the park by Ron Cohen with a one base hit. Neal, Granum's ace reliever for two, in the ninth he performed nobly with two hits, one run, enough, but it pushed in one run in four.

Granum 000 100 2 1 0

Pitcher was the crucial one for Cold Lake 5 runs do-or-die effort and they put everything into it Both teams were hitting hard and long, but the support on both sides and the near errorless ball kept the scores down to a minimum, with a good display of real summer amateur ball

It was described by more than one fan as "some of the hottest ball playing on any diamond in the province" Both teams were hitting in the pinches and one base hits were all that could be gotten. There was no walks issued and included many a spectacular catch.

Cold Lake got the best on the statistics, hitting some three against Granum's 2 Wilson who handled pitching duties Gunnar managed to get five hits from Abe Medymassey, pitching his second game of the series Cold Lake made two errors and Veterans Build New Homes Under Veterans' Land Act And C.M.H.C.

A year ago Part 2 of the Veterans Land Act was started by Parliament in special response to the Canadian Legion. The legislation provides for assistance to veterans can build their own homes under the joint administration of The Veterans Land Act and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. Basic to the great move that resulted from the plan which V.L.A. adopted in allowing Veterans to Build Your Own Home, on small holding establishments, the Legion made representations to such assistance be extended to veterans who work on cities and towns and wish to build on individual lots.

The points of value in the veterans building ... could not be ... under Part 2 of V.L.A. are outstanding ... who have used their B.C. Settlement Credits to buy ... both 25 foot ... lots ... paying as little as ... down. Veterans who still have their credits intact can use them to buy a building site ... and furnishing their homes ... limited by veterans intending to build under Part 2. These veterans are now doing an exciting job as their own contractors. Further courses to be held this fall are now being arranged ... throughout the Province, depending upon the number of applications received at the different towns and cities. Veterans wishing to take one of these training courses with their husbands and assist them in the actual construction and decorating work ... qualification certificate is a prerequisite to attending a training course Once a course has been started no further veterans can be enrolled Naturally, veterans require a little working capital of their own but it is really surprising how veterans with limited means, initiative and a desire to work and to own a modern home can, under this scheme, succeed in acquiring a lovely and comfortable house. The veterans' wives are most enthusiastic and often insist on taking the training course with their husbands ... and assist them in the actual construction and decorating work ... qualification certificate is a prerequisite to attending a training course Once a course has been started no further veterans can be enrolled Naturally, veterans require a little working capital of their own but it is really surprising how veterans with limited means, initiative and a desire to work and to own a modern home can, under this scheme, succeed in acquiring a lovely and comfortable house. BENEFICIAL GERMS

How often have you heard the expression "disease germs" and what did you understand to be? Not even those of medical men, are all of evil little germs originating in or even healthy, useful ones performing duties of value. To me an silent expression.

There's no such animal as disease germs.

Germs or bacteria are present everywhere around. For from being evil creatures, they are invisible chemists of the world and we could not live without them. In your garden, for instance billions upon billions of them are busily enriching your soil, getting it alive back into its original, changing nutrates into nutrition, and copper and zinc into nourishment for grass, plants and humans.

Bacteria cannot ferment or decompose living tissue. Bacteria feed only on decomposed matter. Not until the processes of growth or life are interfered with or ended do bacteria start their work on reducing the substance back into its primary elements.

Think of some family you know where one member has developed tuberculosis. Why did the others remain free of the disease? Presumably they ate the same kind of food, drank the same kind of water and breathed the same kind of air. The answer is that the one who developed T.B. did so because, due to a lack of nerve supply, an area of bone tissue broke down and the cells began to die providing an excellent breeding and feeding ground for bacteria. The point to remember is that the bacteria did not cause the disease—the bacteria developed and multiplied as the result of the disease.

But what caused the lack of nerve supply which resulted in T.B? Probably a vertebral misalignment which blocked the flow of vital nerve energy over the nerves supplying the affected lung. Chiropractors are specially trained to locate and adjust such misalignments which may cause almost any disease depending on the nerves affected. Your best insurance against disease of all kinds is to keep a close check on the source of all health—your nervous system—by regular visits to your Chiropractor.

HARVEST FOR "TOP QUALITY" GRAIN

High quality is the key that will enable Canada to maintain its present and future position in the grain market of the world. There is still need and a demand for top quality wheat and other grains. With good yields in prospect, it is now important more than ever to wait for certain features in grain before it is cut. Immature grain, in general, leads to poor quality and yield through the use of faulty and careless harvesting methods.

Time of Harvesting. It is a well established fact that the cutting of grain before it is ripe means a sacrifice of both yield and quality. Just because the combine is ready to go, is no reason why any farmer should "beat the gun" and start harvesting before the grain crops are fully mature. It should be remembered that, according to government grain-grading regulations, No. 1 Northern wheat will be graded No. 2 Northern if it carries more than 1 per cent of green kernels.

Avoid Harvest Losses. A high-grade standing grain crop can be ruined by the use of faulty or careless harvesting methods. Inefficient or improper combining or threshing can be, and very often is, responsible for reducing the quality (the grade) of many grain crops. In most areas of Western Canada, field stands of all cereal crops are good this year. If the prospect are as taken in harvesting them they should produce "top quality" grain. Splitting of wheat, pooling and breaking of barley, and shelling of kernels can be eliminated almost completely if farmers and custom operators will only take the time and the care to see to it that their combines or threshing machines are properly adjusted for "quality" grain production. Slow cylinder speeds, and keeping cylinder, concaves, sieves and wind properly adjusted at all times will result in the minimum amount of kernel damage.

Get the best possible returns from your 1955 crop by harvesting them carefully. Harvest for "top quality" grain if possible.

Dried beans are an excellent source of protein and can be used as a substitute for meat.

New Rental Firm Formed

As a service to contractors and owners of contracting equipment throughout Alberta, Barmac Equipment Rental Registry has been organized at Red Deer. The new organization will eliminate a problem that has plagued contractors and equipment owners for years. It will create a service that will make equipment available to contractors, when and where they need it by registering at its office all contracting equipment in Alberta. As a result, hours of time and effort will be saved the contractors in searching for the particular machine he needs. Conversely the service will be of great value to equipment owners in getting idle equipment to work on a contracting job.

Barmac Equipment Rental Registry is a subsidiary of Western Carriers Ltd. of Red Deer.

"BLASTING" IS CAUSE

Owing to late sowing, many oat fields throughout the Prairie Provinces are likely to be severely affected this year by a disease known as "Blast of Oats".

Cause and Effect. Blast of oats is a non-parasitic disease. The cause of the trouble has been traced to environmental conditions. Actually, the presence in an oat crop of a symptoms of subnormal or unfavorable growth conditions. It is known, for instance, that the exposure of young oat plants, when they are about 6 to 8 weeks old, to many factors as drought, high temperatures, unbalanced and fertility, damage from root rot, and severe leaf injury resulting from disease or insect attack exaggerates "blasting" in oats. In some seasons, the amount of "blast" in certain oat fields is very high, and losses in yield from the disease are considerable.

Blast of oats is a form of epiblast sterility. The "blasted" or "abnormal" florets, which occur mostly on the lower branches of the panicle, are underdeveloped. The blasted spikelets produce no kernels, and the chaff is reduced to white, thin papery shreds. The blasted or abnormal florets are usually sterile and quite conspicuous in late-ripened oat fields. Some oat varieties are more susceptible to blasting than others.

Control. By way of control, almost all that can be done is to provide the oat plants with as favorable and as growing conditions as possible. Severe yield losses from "blast of oats" may be avoided by the early sowing of recommended and adapted varieties. Early seeding is important because it enables the oat plants to make the best use of spring moisture, and to complete the important initial stages of growth before they are subjected to hot, dry weather, or other serious damage from diseases and insects. However, although early seeding is beneficial, it does not entirely control the "oat blast" disease.

Pamper Your Paint Brushes

It's quite true that "you get what you pay for" and buying cheap paint brushes is not recommend. The bristles will soon fall out and the finished paint job will look anything but professional.

A good paint brush will last indefinitely if you give it proper care. This consists of careful cleaning and storing after every paint job.

To clean brushes of enamel, house paints or oil-base paints, scrub in turpentine until all loose paint is removed. Then wash in warm water and soap, using several thicknesses of paper and pat away. Brushes or rollers used with latex-base paints are merely washed with warm water and soap.

During an extended job, brushes can be suspended in linseed oil between painting sessions. The brush should never touch the bottom of the container or the brush will spread and ruin.

Even brushes that have become hardened with old paint will respond to treatment. However, these may require soaking in a stronger solvent than paint and varnish remover before the stubborn paint will give up the ghost. Paint brushes treated with rapeseed will do a better job.

Extensive Use Of Ammonia

The fragile brownes of old, reputed to have fainted at the slightest provocation, need frequently brought around with a whiff of "smelling salts" — sometimes called spirits of ammonia.

However, one doesn't have to be in the "vapors" nowadays to recognize the pungent odor of ammonia. Because it is one of the common chemicals that we know in fact, ammonia, ether or in its several compound forms, affects almost everything we use.

Ammonia is by no means a modern discovery. In the middle ages it was obtained by distilling the horns and hoofs of slaughtered animals, and was called "hartshorn". Today, ammonia is mainly synthetic and is usually made from natural gas or coal.

180,000 tons of ammonia are produced in Canada each year, to be used in products that range from wood pulp to perfumes. Housewives keep liquid "household ammonia" on hand as a cleaning agent, while industries use this same chemical in large refrigeration systems. Other industrial uses are in the making of oil, petroleum, explosives, textiles and dyes.

Moreover, it is in agriculture that ammonia is of most important use. It is a major component of many agricultural fertilizers and is often applied directly to the soil. We owe more than we realize to the versatile chemical that helps produce much of the food we eat.

GMC LOG BETTER THAN THREE?

Seventeen-year-old James Wallenhaster of Woodford, Wisc., seems beyond doubt that while it still takes three logs to make a milk stool, two of them can be pretty James, who has been a milk maid since the age of four works on a one-legged stool. When James gets up, the tri-around stool goes along with her. The stool, made in Switzerland, has been in service for almost thirty years.

Important Mineral Disease Germs

Calcium is an important mineral that aids in the clotting of blood, regulating the heart beat and the making of bones, and teeth. Its chief sources are milk and cheese

Disease germs collected on the hands may be transferred to the mouth with food, unless the hands are washed immediately before eating. Children should be taught to do this as early as possible.

ASK FOR RESTRAINT

Canadian Government, according to trade officials at Ottawa, plans to ask US to use restraint in its threat "grey-strip" Plan in Respect to pot forward three point Canada-US Trade and Economics Committee meets at Ottawa September 21.

Whether chances of success such request might have had will be hampered rather than helped by Canadian Government's refusal "deal" with Poland and bother "deal" with Czechoslovakia. Washington, silent thus far on Canada's trade deals with communist countries, cannot be expected to regard such transactions with favor.

Truth is that there has been far too much "beating-about-the-bush" by Ottawa concerning trade relations with US. US is not likely to heed requests and "protests" aimed at causing Washington to "come and desist" from policies harmful to Canadian economy What is needed is blunt talk backed up by action in realm of trade policy designed to show US that country means business.

US, it seems reasonably certain, would have engaged in trade deals with communist countries long since, but for possible political consequences on domestic front For Canada to enter into such trade deals with countries behind Iron Curtain, concerning which public in this country appears somewhat less squeamish than in US, rather than risking shrewd-eye with Washington on Canada-US trade relations, doesn't spell well either for courage or commonsense of those responsible for trade policy at Ottawa.

BARLEY EXPORT SALES DROP

U.K., long one of Canada's best customers for barley has now discovered it can overcome on dollars by purchasing U.S. barley made available through that country's subsidized agricultural surplus disposal program. Its low U.S. subsidized export price that U.K. buyers are finding it cheaper to purchase American barley even though subject to 30 per cent import duty not applicable to barley imports from Canada.

Of 20 million bushels of barley produced by Canada in crop year 1958-54, U.K. imported 18 million bushels almost an equal quantity, Germany 7 million, Belgium nearly 3 million and U.S. itself 27 million.

In the first 11 months of 1954-55 crop year situation changed drastically Total barley sales dropped to 71 million bushels Sales to Japan dropped to less than 4 million, to Germany 1 million and to Belgium less than 2 million bushels. Exports to U.S. plummeted from 27 million to less than 19 million bushels, following U.S quota restrictions imposed last autumn

Winnipeg Free Press, commenting on barley situation, properly observes that "The U.S Government may feel that its farm surpluses are so burdensome that they must be reduced at any cost; it would be well, however, if Washington politicians understood that the cost falls not only on the friends of the United States but also on her manufacturing industries."

—The Letter Review

WE'RE BOUND TO GROW

With 400,000 more people in Canada today than a year ago, we may think this country is growing fast. But 20 years from now it will be growing a lot faster Why? Because by then the record 4-year crop of postwar babies will be in the baby business themselves.

In the nine years prior to 1954 there were 4,170 children born in Peterborough. In the nine years following 1946 almost 9,000 were born More significant, however, is the fact that in Peterborough today there are over 1,900 children aged five, but only 845 aged 15. This means that 20 years from now almost twice as many people will be getting married, and establishing homes and families as in the case today.

TWO INCOME TAXES

For 15 years Canadian taxpayers have been filling out one set of Income tax forms. Even in Quebec, which has never signed a tax rental agreement, it wasn't until this year that you forced had to be used with a different basis of taxable income for each.

We've grown so used to this state of affairs that to most of us it seems unthinkable that we might have to return to the complications, annoyances and cost of overlapping tax jurisdictions. But, warns The Financial Post, that could happen.

The Federal Government is trying with a scheme which could endanger all the uniformity of income taxes which the tax rental agreements have brought about. It has not yet been adopted as the basis of Ottawa's proposal to the ten provinces in October, of course, and there is still plenty of time for the Cabinet to reassert the importance of avoiding double taxation. But the political appeal is obvious.

. . . And we know you're going to take some time off from your building chores to relax and do some hunting. Here again we can supply you with all the necessary equipment for a good stand — Guns of all descriptions for birds or big game hunting — ammunition — hunters supplies, etc.

Health Practices To Prevent Tooth Decaying

By Dr. L. G. MANDIN

Doctor, my child has had an awful toothache for over a week. He feels with it every night, and we just can't get you sleep"

Do you think that couldn't happen? Well, it does, and it's not a rare occurrence.

Do you want your child to make its first visit to the dental office under these circumstances?

There are many reasons why Johnny should make his first trip to the dentist soon after the first set of teeth is in place.

Perhaps most important is that he also, like the overwhelming majority of the dentist and his office under pleasant circumstances. Not as a result of pain or distress. The dentist and his assistant shows the child around the office explains the instruments and functions, and perhaps, as he should, something being done for Mother. Then may he learn that the matter of caring for teeth is just routine. He takes away a pleasant memory of the occasion, and looks forward to the time when he just like Mother and Dad will have his own appointment to have his teeth examined and cleaned.

At this examination the dentist may find pin-point spots of decay that can be quickly and easily corrected.

Perhaps some irregularity that could lead to serious trouble later may be found early enough so that steps may be taken to remove the cause We shall have something more to say about these irregularities in a later article.

Since Johnny is unfortunate in not having that great and proven preventative of tooth decay, sodium fluoride, in its water supply the dentist may consider it wise to suggest preventive treatments of the fluoride directly to the teeth at intervals during childhood

X-rays may be taken at this time—especially if it seems likely that certain conditions may cause crowding of other in correct formation of the foundation teeth. The x-ray "eyes" make it possible for the dentist to see what is going on under the gum surface.

Where children are making their first acquaintance with the dental office and dental treatment, it is vitally important that the parents should be careful about any inflection in the voice, heavy sighing or other evidence of distress as they tell someone within hearing of the child, " I have to take Tommy to the dentist." Too often grown-ups via such one sentence telling ghastly details of exaggerated or imaginary sufferings in the dental chair before the alert ears and eyes of the impressionable child

Fear of dentists, psychological studies tell us, is learned mostly from others. In these days of good anesthesia and modern methods, such fears are groundless.

Marketing Board Legislation Is Passed By Gov.

EDMONTON — The most important bill passed at the recent special session of the Alberta legislature was the one which enables farmers to establish their own marketing boards.

It sparked the brightest debate of the session, and both Social Credit and opposition ranks were split on the issue The bill was passed with a strong majority—on a standing vote of 48-15—but many members who supported it did so only after expressing reluctance.

The controversy surrounding the bill arose out of the wide powers which would be given to a community marketing board, and certain compulsory features in sections of the bill dealing with the constitution of a board. More will be said about these powers later

Premier Manning's government now has other items ahead the bill, but took the position that it had been introduced because of continual pressure from the Alberta Federation of Agriculture and the Farmers Union of Alberta Many of the members who supported it took the same position.

Even though the bill has been approved, farmers are a long way from having their own marketing boards, and under the provisions of the bill it won't be easy to establish one.

First of all, the government wants to be sure a strong majority of producers are in favour of a marketing board. And to make doubly sure, it rounded efforts by the AFA, the FUA and some Liberal members of the house to relax the voting restrictions.

As the legislation stands, a board cannot be set up unless it has the approval by vote of 51 per cent of the producers This is not an ordinary majority vote. It means 51 per cent of those eligible to vote cast affirmative ballots, or there will be no board

The two farm groups thought the 51 per cent vote was too strict They thought the issue should be decided by a 60, two-thirds majority of those who actually turn out and vote. They argued it would be too difficult to get enough farmers out to vote.

But the government pointed out that would be too dangerous If the voting restrictions were relaxed, it would mean two-thirds of a small number of voters could force marketing boards on all the rest of the producers.

There was some argument that those who don't bother to vote shouldn't deserve much consideration, but the government would not accept this.

The government also felt the AFA and FUA request to include cattle and sheep under the provisions of the bill. Southern ranchers expressed complete distaste to the principle of marketing boards, and asked that cattle and sheep be left out. Both Check Up Goods and Cash, plentiful crop conditions in the province. This week's check-up at the Alberta Wheat Pool elevator at Jasmond, Alta., finds Ken Gowda and Cash Grain Buyer Ken Hall checking the grade of a load of wheat.

L. C. Halmrast, minister of agriculture, said producers in his southern constituency of Warner, were definitely opposed to the right to set up marketing boards was limited to producers of poultry, poultry products, hogs, vegetables, honey and commercial grass or legume seed

Under the bill, a separate marketing board would be set up to handle a specific product Boards also might be confined to a certain area. For example, poultry producers in the Edmonton area of say a board for eggs or vegetable producers in the south.

If a board is established, it will have wide powers under the act, and those are what drew much of the criticism in the house For example, a board could fix prices and establish different prices in different parts of the province. It could determine the minimum spread allowed a dealer handling the controlled product

A marketing board could require all producers and marketers to register their names and addresses with the board. It could require all persons engaged in marketing to obtain a license from the board and show proof of financial responsibility

It could require persons engaged in marketing to make returns to the board, and could inspect the books and premises of such persons. In the event of goods being kept or marketed in violation of a board order, it could seize the goods, dispose of them and retain the proceeds.

When these powers were questioned, the reply was that they were necessary for the efficient operation of the board, and are contained in marketing acts in most other Canadian provinces.

After hours of debate, it came to a vote Five Social Credit-ers and eight opposition members voted against it

The Social Credit-ers who voted against it were: Rene Wilkinson, Calgary; Ivor McLaughin, Grande Prairie; Willam Kovach, Pincher Creek-Crowsnest; A. J. Dixon, Calgary and Rev. J. A. Wingfield, Wetaskiwin. Opposition members opposed to it were Bryce Stringam (Ind.—Bow Valley-Empress); R. Bart Ansley (Ind. BC-Lesser); Rose Hills (Lib-Cons.—Cheshire-High River); F L. Gaitner (Cons.-Banff-Cochrane); J Percy Page (PC-Edmonton); A. R. Smith (PC-Calgary); J. L. Sime (L-Acadia-Coronation) and Abe W Miller (L-Edmonton).

Mr. Ansley, the Lesser rebel Social Credit-er, led the opposition on by describing the bill as "socialistic and pernicious." Mrs. Wilkinson, of Calgary, agreed with him. Mr Willam saw the danger of a minister bringing higher prices to the consumer.

And the vote which killed the bill, W. F. Gillmore (PC-Peace River) expressed misgivings during the four or five years marketing boards have been discussed," he said, "he has not had one farmer speak to him in favor of them. He supported the bill because he felt farmers should have a right to vote on the matter.

W. J. C. Kirby (PC-Red Deer) probably expressed the feeling of many of those who voted in favor of the bill. While he didn't like it, he believed the farmers should be given the right to decide for themselves. He was convinced," he said, "that when it came to a vote the farmers would reject it."

The AFA and FUA have won a long battle to have enabling legislation passed. They got what they wanted, but the heart of the legislature wasn't in it.

TRAFFIC SAFETY LAWS
By J. W. McKAY
TRUCK WEIGHTS

Last week I dealt with the ordinary two-axled truck The maximum axle weight is 16,000 lbs and the maximum overall weight is 34,000 lbs.

There is another type of two-axled unit such as the cab-over-engine Instead of adding one-third of rear axle weight, we add one-half For instance if your cab-over has 225 x 20 tires on rear and other 750 x 20 or 825 x 20 on front, the weight will be 18,000 x one and a half or 18,000 x 1½ equals 27,000 lbs The 3 axles are not to exceed 19,000 lbs. but the overall weight can be 37,000 lbs. This type of vehicle with 225 x 20 tires stops your Public Services or Commercial Vehicle license fee up to $240 instead of $320

Tri semi-trailer with single axles, dual tires, generally 225 x 20 or larger, are allowed a maximum weight of 43,000 lbs This figure is obtained by taking the allowed weight for the tractor rear axle and adding one-third for front axle plus allowable for axle under trailer Therefore you would not be extended regardless of how much larger your tires may be The P.S. or C.V. fee for this unit is $360

Now we come in the semi with tandem axles If the axles are less than 62 inches apart then we consider them as one axle If they are 62 inches or ten feet apart, then 16,000 lbs will be allowed for each axle If they exceed ten feet then we allow 18,000 lbs per axle But as order to protect roads and bridges we have to put a limit on weight, therefore, if you have an ordinary tri-axle unit and a sub-over-engine with tandem axles on rear the maximum overall weight is 58,-000 lbs If your unit is a sub-over with tandem axles on the rear, then your limit is 61,000 lbs For cab-over units the same formula applies (according to tires, the allowable load on rear axles mentioned by one and a half

In the case of a sub-over semi-trailer the maximum allowable is 58,000 lbs The license fee for any unit carrying 61,000 lbs is $315 00 for 42,000 lbs

In special cases where a unit has more than three axles and operating over specified highways, the maximum overall weight can be 66,000 lbs. The P.S. or C.V. fee for such is $390 00 Special permits for greater weights than 66,000 lbs may be obtained for such specific load from the Highway Traffic Board, Edmonton

The above mentioned maximum are permitted only when vehicle is equipped with first of sufficient capacity to carry such

Alberta Wheat Pool
1 BUSHEL OF WHEAT =
1 BARREL OF FLOUR
For more than three hundred years farmers that a change might as possible be made in the unit of their measurement which has become such a familiar unit. Wheat, the principal commodity these days, closely follows the example of the U.S.A. in doing away with what is generally regarded as archaic and illogical system and, the 196 pound barrel.
If they do, they will adopt the universal system of packing flour in larger sizes. At present quantities are based upon such fractions of the barrel as 98 lbs. and 49 lbs. which would then become ten pounds and 20 lbs. less. In use for some turn have been the 10 pound bags and, undoubtedly no doubt, the universal system would be used for other smaller packages as well.
Any change such as this which involves a unit of measurement usually takes years to bring about for time-honored and well-established systems, whatever they are, die hard. But should the example be set by the larger mills, which account for approximately 80 per cent of the milling capacity, there is little doubt that the proposed change will find general acceptance in Canada; and as is likely, before long. To use the old familiar term, a barrel of flour.

Polythene Coming Into Extensive Use As An Insulation For Homes

Imagine a house wrapped in a giant plastic bag. Sounds fantastic, but it would certainly keep out the bitter cold in the winter. And that's exactly the principle that backers of modern [illegible] are using.

[illegible] polythene [illegible] plastic film as a barrier in the construction of houses and [illegible] farm buildings. Just last week [illegible] was poured on to the ground [illegible] moisture seeping up from the ground can't deteriorate the cement walls and ruin things as the polythene membrane, but it's also the film is tacked on to the wooden framework behind the interior walls, as an additional

In this home, polythene films will help [illegible] heat loss, and [illegible] from condensation [illegible] moisture [illegible] the passage of moisture from the house into the walls [illegible] the passage of moisture from the walls into the house [illegible] as an added safeguard against moisture during a single day. Washing clothes, a bath, cooking, showers, cooking and even breathing contribute to the vapor content. This moisture plus the capacity that it holds [illegible] is the reason for the cold moisture. Experts tell us that moisture is the leading cause of peeling paint, stained woodwork, and later deterioration.

There are many advantages in using polythene, as a vapor barrier in the home. It is inexpensive, easy to handle — even for an amateur — and never perishes. Being chemically inert it is certain to last as long as the house.

Tests have proved that polythene films will resist 99 per cent moisture-resistance than the minimum demanded by building standards. At the same time it makes the walls of a house windtimed to our room for a long time.

In short, any one of color that makes a patient feel more "at home" and less aware that he is in a hospital is most conducive

Colours Are Good Medicine

It's amazing how a colorful bouquet of flowers makes a sick person perk up. Along with medical treatment, color is recognized in modern hospitals as a powerful force in the recovery of patients.

Now, stark white furniture and equipment, for many years the epitome of cleanliness, is making room for soft pastels and warm, cheery hues. Today, these colors are replaced every 1st as sanitary as the traditional white and are certainly much less "institutional" looking.

Psychologists are aware of effects of color on emotions and, in turn, the effects of emotion on physical health. Color, therefore, is a factor to be reckoned with in the cure of illness. Color experts find that light blues and greens have a soothing effect on people, while rosy hues create a cheerful atmosphere that is helpful in effecting depression. Naturally, very vivid colors are avoided in hospitals as they are often irritating. Lasting Yellow has proved itself a good color for promoting a feeling of well-being. In combination with grey, yellow is relaxing and cheerful and at the same time it offers variety to a patient con-

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Canadian

It's possible to grow your own hedge plants or other shrubs from the wood cuttings. Such cuttings are usually taken in late June or early autumn before a hard frost.

After making cuttings loosen the ground around the plant from which they were taken and set the cuttings in the soil there, or in any other place in the garden. Cover them up with a straw mulch until next spring. Cuttings planted out in the fall and protected with a mulch are shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

When spring comes transplant the rooted cuttings into nursery rows, as shown in the Garden-Graph. Leave them there for the first year. The second year they can be lifted, usually in the fall, and planted out in permanent places.

Make cuttings six or eight inches long. Each cutting should have at least two or three buds which are the places from which leaf and stem grow. Sometimes it is desirable to make the bottom cut just below a node and the upper cut just above the topmost node, but for most plants there seems to be no great advantage in this so cuttings can be cut at any convenient length. This plan of propagation may be used with the following ornamentals: Flowering quince, red and yellow-twigged osier, deutzia, privet, honeysuckle, mockorange, bushclover, bridalwreath spirea, snowberry, coralberry and weigela.

Not all the cuttings set out will survive the first winter and grow under this treatment but those that do pay for the slight investment in time and labor.

GIRLS DEMAND FARMER SHARE OF CNE SWIM PRIZES

Charges of "gross discrimination" have been levelled at CNE prize officials by nine bathing beauties who say they were denied prize money allotted to women in the 5-mile marathon swim in Lake Ontario in September. The nine, Anne Marie Andersen of Mervue is one of the event women swimmers who will enter the race, but intends to walk only 11 miles, and not to wade to the $10,000 end due to weak ankles.

Seven Life Of Actress In Italy Lagoon
VENICE, Italy — Canadian movie actor Vernon Gray Sutton-Vane might saved 16-year-old Brazilian film star Janette Scott from drowning in the Venice Lagoon today, Sir, Miss Scott and two other film notables. Richard Todd and Irene Dunne, were in a boat so they could be photographed. The boat upset when Todd changed his position at the request of the photographer Gray grabbed Miss Scott, who couldn't swim, and held her until Italian fishermen saved all four.

The above excerpt is from the Edmonton Journal and is of special interest to the people of Elk Point where Vern took Elementary & High School. His experience at camp with the Scouts and Cubs down at the Dog Rump Creek may have helped in the emergency in Venice.

3 - Year Old Boy Killed In Traffic Mishap On Jubilee Holiday

Inquest into the cause of death of Marcel Boisvert 3 year old son of Mr and Mrs Emilien Boisvert, before a panel of six jury men returned a verdict of accidental death through injuries received when struck by a car driven by Mr Leon Robinson of Lavoie.

The accident occurred at approximately 11.30 a.m. on September 1st on the corner and intersection in front of Brosseau Bros. Lumber Yard.

Mr Robinson, accompanied by Mrs. Robinson, was driving east, and just attempting the turn to park on the east side of the store when he felt an impact under the right wheel of the 1950 Pontiac he was driving. Stopping to investigate what he at first considered to be a flat tire, he found the lad lying dead under the wheel.

Evidence presented by a number of witnesses makes clear that the boy, accompanied by Master Jean Korkish, was walking across the street in front of Brosseau's from the Co-op when he was struck by the oncoming vehicle. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson both testified that they saw nothing and were not aware of the presence of the boy until the shock of the impact under the right front wheel. The boy was struck on the left hind fender in the right wheel then fell to the ground. Death was instantaneous and fatal head injuries which caused it.

Medical evidence given by Dr. Trottier showed no sign of other means of injuries on any other part of his body.

Questioned in their conversation before the accident, both Mr and Mrs Robinson stated that they were discussing whether or not Brosseau's Store was opened or closed on the occasion of the Jubilee Holiday.

The boy was struck just a few feet before the cross walk and may have clung to the car bumper momentarily and dragged before he was flung under the right wheel According to police evidence, the boy's feet dragged for 34 feet before the car came to a stop

Mr Paul Lord, giving mechanical evidence on the condition of the car testified that the brakes were tested by himself after the accident and proved to be in good condition, as well as the steering of the car

Mr Robinson in his testimony, said he was driving at about 6 to 10 miles an hour, and stopped immediately the impact was felt, a fact which was corroborated by several other witnesses who said the car was being driven very slowly

Those called to the stand were Mr S. B. Cooper who was driving directly behind the Robinson car, Mr. Paul Bouvert to identify the body, Miss Alice Charron, cashier at Brosseau's, who saw the accident from the front window; Mr. O. C. Johnson; Miss Jean Reichuk and Constable Jensen of the R.C.M.P.

Dr. F. R. Trottier, Coroner, set before a panel of jurymen consisting of Mr F. E. Belliveau, Foreman, Mr. J. D. Buckley, Mr. J. A. Cambre, Mr. John Bagon, Mr. Paul Lakeman and Mr. Paul Lord.

Constable Berthiaume of the R.C.M.P. conducted the inquest for the Coroner.

Mr. Roland Boisvert in this case is a mechanic with M & D Motors and is not to be confused with the other Mr Boisvert of the same name working for the Canadian Utilities.

Mr Roland Boisvert is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Boisvert, brothers Gerard, Jean Paul, Jacques and Yvon, and sisters Jeannine, Lucille and Lorraine at home

Funeral services were held on Saturday, September 3rd, at 2:00 p.m. at the R.C. Cathedral Rev. Fr. Twohill officiated and interment was made in the church cemetery.

Park Dale Funeral Home of St. Paul was in charge of funeral arrangements

Banging Away At Feathered Friend

At 4:30 a.m. Wednesday, September 7th St Paul's main street had a traffic problem as our early bird hunters spread out to the beaches and fields, setting their ambushes for the unwary duck moving about from his water haven to feed on the Mr Hammond crop standing in wait for him.

For many a sharpshooter who had the presence of mind to settle down in the right spot, feathers flew thick in the air as the birds plummeted to the ground headed and weighted down with bushels.

A few complications arose for some hunters who found their position spot had also been located by others the previous night and their barges lifted the ducks aloft, out of range of even the heaviest loads.

And of course, for those who had no luck in the fields, the old stand-by Maginot Line spread out along the shore of three mile lake and the pot tails, black ducks and widgeons flew for their very life in a steady crossfire as they attempted to make the lake landing.

Indications are the hunting the rest will be good and improved as the crops are standed and washed to the ground, the grain hunters and hardies to lure the ducks in larger flocks to the fields.

Good hunting, all you nimrods and if you bag anything special or worthwhile bragging about, let us in on it

Elk Point Fire Brigade Takes Baseball Game

Elk Point Firemen hosted their St. Paul contemporaries in a baseball game, last week which saw many an old limb swing back into creaking pitching shape The Elk Point Firefighters did it with the mighty arm of Pete Vassalaki on the mound and lusty support in the field.

St. Paul's weakness couldn't be pinpointed, because it was all over the field First there was a lapse of players, so chancellor like Bert Cassire had to be conscripted.

Anyhow it all ended up in good spirit with the Elk Point boys host to refreshments and a weiner roast on the isolated banks of Beaverhill Brook.

Elk Point Firemen are very grateful and appreciative of the ground recognition given them and plan to return the compliment with a rip snortin' ball game in St. Paul soon.

Coming Events

Ladies Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion will hold a meeting on September 19th., 8:30 at the Club House.

Golden Jubilee Baby Sale and Raffle Prizes will be on display on Tuesday, September 20th., afternoon. Sponsored by the Ladies Altar Society.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our kind friends, employees and the Canadian Legion for the help given to us after the fire which destroyed our home and contents. We are deeply grateful.

Vermilion Tigers Take Early Lead In Eastern Baseball Finals

Running through their batting order three times in three innings, the second, third and fourth, Vermilion Tigers neared all night runs to win their first game of the Eastern Baseball League final played on Sunday at St. Paul against the Braves.

Winning pitcher, Ray Jones, was relieved in the first inning of the seventh by Hobie-any play allowing 3 hits. St. Paul left one runner on the new pitcher.

For St. Paul, Hector Amyotte had no luck in the box being relieved by Bob Cooper as, Dunbar c, Hulsewicz rf, Schryer rf

Mr. S. Lefebvre Principal Sr. Clairvaux Assistant

With Busal Late Registrations Attendance Expected To Be 860

St Paul School year was filled again with the happy chatter of youngsters trekking back for a new year of academic pursuits on the seventh of September when 841 students took their classes The figure shows an increase of approximately over 100 over 1965 registration Based on the usual late registrations expected, the attendance will probably increase to about 860

Pupils were welcomed back by a new principal, Mr. Sylvain Lefebvre who has replaced Sister Simon Hermas to administer to the wide requirements the 1965-66.

Mr. Lefebvre a graduate of the University of Alberta with a Bachelor of Education degree in St Paul from Que, a small community in the Peace River District not far from McLeod. He has 14 years of teaching experience. He has taken his early education at St. John's College in Edmonton.

Mr Lefebvre interrupted his teaching career for several years to take up his degree at the University to qualify him well for the job he has undertaken in St. Paul.

He is married and has a family of six which have now taken up residence in St Paul

In welcoming the students, Mr Lefebvre remanded them of a few simple rules of conduct to make their year a success He requested respect and politeness to the teachers, whom he said are devoting their energies to the benefit of their lives to further the needs of Education

To the visitors and the parents present at the opening he asked for full co-operation, requesting that consolidation if the proposed by-law is passed, would be the only way possible to ensure immediate remedy and smooth operation of the school system.

The following is a list of the teachers, grades and the number of pupils in each.

FIRST TO MAKE CONTINENTAL DEBUT

First new North American car to make its continental debut in Canada, this new 1954 Lincoln PREMIERE coupe was unveiled by Ed VanDusen at the CNE on September 3. Lithe, graceful styling highlights the overall length of 18 and one-half feet — more than 3 inches longer and 2 and a half inches lower than the 1953 Lincoln. Its 285 h.p. V-8 engine with 9 to 1 compression ratio and dependable automatic overdrive gives better fuel and its torque rolling (driving thrust) is the highest of any North American car. By blending Lincoln's familiar hall marks with unique jet-pod bumper guards (which double as exhaust outlets) the new Lincoln achieves a low, wide and ground-hugging look.

One of the worst enemies of house plants is mealybug. It really is no mealybugs as the stem of a begonia plant, as well as on a coleus leaf. This pest may also be found on the stems and backs of leaves of impatiens, African violets and in the crowns of ivy leaves.

Upon the presence of mealybugs is noticed, the plan should be segregated from others to prevent spread of the pest. The usual treatment is given the better.

Wood alcohol spells finish for mealybugs. A brush should be used to touch a drop of the alcohol to each mealybug. Nail-polish remover is equally effective.

Another means of control calls for spraying the infested plant with a solution of one tablespoonful of nicotine-sulfate mixed with a gallon of warm soapy water. The ailing plant or plants should be sprayed several times at five-day intervals.

Persistence is the most important factor of a control program. Repeat treatments until all signs of the pests are gone.

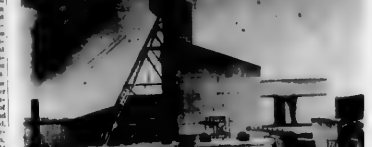
Alberta, which this year celebrates its 50th year as a Canadian province, will have a permanent monument to mark its centennial in the northern approach to the Legislature Building at Edmonton, a cut-stone monument has been erected on the recommendation of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada.

Included in the creation of the Province of Alberta on September 1, 1905 the plaque on the monument reads "To this land of prairie, foothill, mountain and forest, where the Indian hunted, came explorer, fur trader, voyageur, missionary, rancheman, farmer and railway builder. At points on river and railway, trails and cities grew. Within the North West Territories the battle for responsible government was again fought and won."

The building for history monument to be the setting apart of the western portion of the Territories to the Province of Alberta which was formally inaugurated on September 1, 1905. Hon W H. Bulpus was the first Lieutenant-Governor, and Hon A. C. Rutherford the first Premier.

A monument to mark the incorporation of Saskatchewan as a province was erected at Regina on September 1 where the 1905 ceremony in that province was held.



FIRST BLIND RIVER MILL BEGINS PRODUCING URANIUM OXIDE

Breaking all records in discovery-to-production time, this new $7,000,000 mill of Pronto Uranium at Blind River is now operating. It is the first of the many uranium mills scheduled to begin operations before next spring in the Blind River area, 50 ft. This 35 ft. at not the largest, but the first mine—but the production as soon as the extent of the orebody was outlined.

Pronto shares in the $444,000,000 Eisenhower contracts signed with the Blind River companies which include Algom and Consolidated Denison, two of the world's largest uranium companies. It is believed all three companies are selling their product at well above the stated government price of $7.00 per pound.

Commission To Step In And Give Hand To Uneconomical Farmers

By REX MASON

EDMONTON — A new deal for farmers and a new policy on land, forest and water conservation may arise from a bill passed during the recent special session of the Alberta legislature.

That's the hope of Hon. L. C. Halmrast, minister of agriculture, who introduced and explained the provisions of the legislation, which is entitled a Bill of Principle for the Conservation and Efficient Use of Land, Forest and Water Resources in the Province of Alberta.

The main feature of the bill is a provision for the establishment of a special commission which will have power to investigate any phase of conservation and make recommendations to the government. It will place all conservation matters in the hands of a single authority.

The legislation has special significance for farmers, because one of the commission's first tasks will be to take a look at areas of the province where farmers seem unable to earn a proper living.

When the commission finds out why farmers can't make a living in certain areas, the bill empowers the government to do something about it The farmers, of course, will have to give full co-operation if the program is to be a success.

Mr. Halmrast told me last week there are a number of areas where tax arrears are common every year. These arrears are the legacy of a submarginal area, he said, and it is this land which will undergo extensive study when the commission is formed.

As an example he cited districts west of Wetaskiwin where heavy rains have made it nearly impossible for farmers to grow grain crops in recent years. The farmers have been late getting on the land because of spring rains, and as a result crops have been ruined by early frost.

What is the answer? Perhaps," Mr Halmrast said, "these farmers shouldn't be trying to grow grain crops Maybe the land is better suited to sheep raising The job of the commission is to find out."

Once the solution is found, the commission will ask farmers for co-operate The procedure might be to set up a "controlled area," with the commission of experts directing farming operations This would be similar to the control the province has over the special areas, but it would require the consent of residents.

In such areas, the commission might decide to employ rain-making methods in areas where they are bailed out year after year, recently-developed hail suppression methods might be recommended by the commission.

The commission also would recommend surveys before any new homesteaded areas are opened up to settlers. Mr. Halmrast said surveys of such areas have been made before, but the commission would be able to conduct a more complete study The commission also could investigate areas proposed for irrigation development

The government put strong provisions in the bill to take care of certain circumstances If an area is not paying taxes, the government can step in, with the consent of the municipality, and set up a controlled area.

In a controlled area, the land would be put to the use deemed best by the commission

Where too many farmers are trying to live off a deficient area, the commission might arrange to move some of them. This, of course, would have to be done with the consent of the farmer Mr Halmrast said an important phase of the program will be to sell the farmers on the idea of the commission's worth. He is confident most of them will buy it.

He couldn't say exactly when the commission will be set up, but said it will be headed by the best soils experts the province can obtain Other members will represent the department of lands and forests, municipal affairs of the Alberta Power Commission.

For special studies, the commission will be able to call in any experts it requires to act as advisers

Mr Halmrast pointed out it is impossible to prevent the unfavourable factors of weather and climate which can inflict ruin on crops But if an area has trouble year after year, chances are the land is not being used in the most efficient way He hoped the work of the commission will correct that

MOON AND SIXPENCE

DEATHS RIDES THE TRACTOR

Officials of the Alberta Safety Council say that the harvest season has already taken a toll of lives lost and injuries sustained by farmers and their families

Unless common sense safety rules are followed, more of these tragedies are bound to occur during the current busy season say the safety men.

Keeping children away from work areas and out of the path of moving machinery should be the number one consideration of any farm family. Keeping children off tractors should be an absolute rule. Only a few days ago, a child was killed at a nearby Edmonton district when it fell off a moving tractor and was crushed beneath the wheel. No passenger — adult or child — should be allowed to ride on a tractor. There is no safe place for anyone except the operator to sit or stand. Besides interference with the operator and the distinct possibility of being thrown off under the tractor or under the machine, an unset endangers two people instead of one. Allowing extra people to ride on a tractor is a short sighted one. It is legally another tragedy of the sort which has become almost commonplace in Alberta.

The second absolute rule to be observed when running machinery is to stop the machine before attempting any service work on it. Greasing, re-fueling, removing obstructions or plugs, should not be attempted until the machine has been shut down. If, for any reason, the shields on power take-off, fan belts, or drive chains should be removed, the machine should not be put into service again until the shields have been replaced.

Lack of life results most frequently from overturning of tractors. Overturning is the chief hazard and takes most lives. There are some simple rules. To avoid overturning, spread the wheels as far apart as possible for the job in hand; plot land in rims according to manufacturers' instruction to reduce clearance; stay off soft ground; keep clear of culverts; avoid side hills and slopes which could cause tipping if the low wheel drops into a rut, a dip in low ground level or the bush wheel runs over a bump; make early speeds a habit; stop by closing the throttle before using brakes

Carry proper signal lights at night; use low gear going up or down a hill; go slowly and carefully on the roads

Adopt the slogan, "Keep Death Off The Tractor"

OUR PROBLEMS DIFFERENT

Canada should outline its position clearly and firmly when U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Benson and other members of President Eisenhower's Cabinet come to Ottawa to discuss the disposal of farm surplus stocks and renewal of the International Wheat Agreement in the past Canadians have been too much inclined to follow the American lead. We have done this in the mistaken assumption that the weathering problems of the United States and Canada were similar Actually these problems are not similar.

Agriculture in the United States is by no means the majority industry it is in Canada and especially so when it comes to the export field.

In Canada the export market for wheat is the dominant end of the business. Two out of every three bushels we grow in a normal season must find a foreign buyer.

In the United States, on the other hand, the domestic market and the domestic price are much the most important.

Perhaps the United States could afford to give away most of its surplus farm production, provided the domestic price could be kept firm. Here without a firm export price our farmers face ruin and the total business involved is so big that the Canadian taxpayer simply could not hope to be able to bail out the producer.

WE'RE GOING TO GROW

Canada's population will jump to between 23 and 25 millions by 1975, an increase of roughly 2 per cent

That's the main conclusion of population study figures issued by Canadian Economic Research Associate, T. Crane, and reported in The Financial Post

Forecast subtotals indicate that the men-women ratio will remain about the same as will the totals for the 0-19, 20-64 and over 65 age groups. The study is designed to provide background for those drafting submissions to the Royal Commission on Economic Prospects.

The predicted figures point up the fact that several major problems lie ahead for Canadian economic development. At the same time, they show that if the problems are solved, the country's "depression babies" can expect to cash in on better job opportunities, a higher living standard, bigger families and better health.

Audubon Asks For Help Of Citizens In Preserving Cranes
The world's last flock of whooping cranes will soon be on the move again, according to Audubon Society of Canada headquarters. The cranes' fall migration from the Northwest Territories and northwestern Sask. always a dramatic event — will have a new significance this fall as Audubon officials said.
This year for the first time in the recent history of protection of the birds, the exact breeding grounds are known. Young of the year have been observed and noted prior to their departure southward. This means, of course, that wildlife officials will be able to determine much more accurately than ever before, the nature and extent of losses, if any, during the 2500-mile migration route.
This past summer, field biologists of the Canadian and National Audubon Society succeeded in locating what is apparently the bulk of the breeding flock of whooping cranes — in a remote wilderness area. This search continued for two years until this summer. In addition to aerial surveys, a ground party, after a search of days, finally reached the vicinity of the nests after a month of failure, finally reaching the vicinity of the nests and made important studies of the nesting habitat of the whooping crane
Subsequent surveys from the air revealed a total of five young whooping cranes as of the first week of August. The youngsters were banded in June and will not be big enough to fly until some time this month, when they must join the adult birds on the hazardous flight south. The question in the minds of conservationists is how many of these young whooping cranes will get through safely to their wintering grounds on the Texas coast of the Gulf of Mexico.
Of special interest is the fact that there are two sets of twins in this year's nesting flock of the rarest of Canadian birds. In the previous thirteen years during which records have been kept, only seven sets of twins have been reported at the wintering grounds, the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge in Texas. Only once have as many as two adult pairs reached the area with two youngsters each. That was in the winter of 1950-51.
In spite of the tremendous public interest which has been aroused in the whooping crane in recent years, this large, tall flock of giant birds has only just been able to hold its own. Since 1939, a total of only young have been brought safely to the Aransas Refuge, while fully-six cranes, adults and young alike, have been reported as lost during the same period.
It is believed that most of these losses take place during migration. Audubon Society of Canada couriers say. This is particular true in the fall, when many hunters are out along the migration route. Except for those magnificent birds, dangers on the northern Canada breeding grounds and the southern U.S. wintering grounds are slight
In many regions along the migration route of the whooping cranes, human population has increased substantially. Losses in the crane flock have increased as well. But most critical area in the Canadian portion of the route is among the potholes and prairies of southern Saskatchewan, and southwestern Manitoba and eastern Alberta.
Residents of this area, and visitors from other parts of the country, should be alert to the rule that the bird is helpless to protect itself against accidental or wilful shooting. These magnificent birds which are protected, of course by law in Canada and the United States are completely unaware that their right will foster a sense of local responsibility in this respect. On both sides of the border, government conservation departments, the Audubon Societies, gardens clubs, sportsmen and many other local groups, unlimited, must groups, farm clubs and many others have already given valuable publicity to the urgency of the situation and the need for routine among all those who go afield with a gun.
Last fall, for the first time since protective efforts began, 21 whooping cranes safely made their way down to Texas from the Northwestern Territories and — but a flock a single young bird to add to their dwindling flock. With the five young which have been reported this season, the record. Or will they be thoughtlessly needlessly destroyed as they attempt to cross western Canada and the central United States in their ancestral winter refuge
This is a living challenge, say Audubon officials, a challenge that can be met by those who live close to the migratory route of the whooping cranes. People in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba have the fate of the great birds in their hands. The Audubon Society of Canada appeals to residents of these provinces to help — by speaking to friends and neighbors. The whooping crane stands four feet tall, with a wingspread of over seven feet. No large white bird should be shot at — it might be a whooping crane. Please pass the word along—now
The whooping crane will begin to move southward through central Saskatchewan early in September and the migration continues through October. It does until late November before the last stragglers reach the Gulf Coast. This is a critical period for our country's rarest bird—a symbol of the wild majesty of northern Canada. Everyone can help.

Unsatisfied Judgment Fund
There are number of our members who pay into this fund and do not understand its purpose and how it functions.
When you buy a motor vehicle licenses or transfer a license to your name, there is always an additional charge of $1.00 made. This fee is called the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund.
In our province we do not compel all motorists to carry Public Liability insurance in some cases we do. For instance, anyone carrying passengers for hire, such as taxis, buses and certain freight vehicles, have to obtain Public Liability insurance before they get their licenses But in the private operator and most commercial vehicles we do not compel them to buy Public Liability insurance This is a retirement policy However, you may want to be covered by Public Liability insurance and your neighbour may not. This one dollar fee paid by all licensees goes into a fund to protect you should your neighbors run into your car and cause considerable damage This fund covers you for the maximum amount of $5,000 for any one injury or death, $10,000 for two or more injured or deaths, $1,000 for damage to properties.
This fund is used in the same manner as an insurance company handles theirs If damage is less than $75 to them the individuals settle.

WHOOPING CRANE

This rare photograph of one of the few wild whooping Cranes left in the world was taken by F. W. Lahrman as the crane moved southward through Saskatchewan en route to the Texas coast. The "Hunter" has a wingspread of seven feet and stands four feet tall. Because it is sometimes mistaken for other white birds, hunters are being asked not to shoot at any large white bird.

F.U.A. Protests Grant For Increased Rates
Henry Young, President of the F.U.A. has given out this statement
In a strongly worded telegram sent to both the Minister of Transport and the Board of Transport Commissioners we have protested the action of the Board in granting the railways an 8 per cent increase in domestic grain rates We are particularly concerned with the Board's method of arriving at its decision in granting this increase before holding hearings to ascertain whether or not the increase is justified
That action is contrary to the principle that railways should garner the right to increase rates before it is granted and made a factor of hindsight, we feel
We shall fight this matter further and it is our hope that public opinion will force the Board to change its decision

Birthday greetings to an old friend

Imperial Oil is especially happy to salute Alberta on its Golden Jubilee because of our long and close association with its people.
Within two years of the founding of Imperial in 1880, the Company was bringing kerosene and coke grease to the settlers on the frontier. And when oil was discovered in Alberta before the province was officially born, Imperial has always been a pioneer in providing needed products.
Our confidence that Alberta would eventually be a major producer of oil was demonstrated by the large investment leading to the discovery of Imperial Leduc No. 1, the well that sparked Alberta's eight year growth into one of the world's important oil areas. To utilize the province's crude oil, Imperial built Calgary's first major refinery in 1920 and the first refinery at Edmonton in 1948, and it is now building western Canada's first lubricating oil plant in Edmonton.
Imperial, which itself is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year, is confident that the next 50 years hold even greater promise for the province than the last half century. We look forward to a continuing part in the progress of a great province.

Chamber Office Transferred To Edmonton

EDMONTON — The Alberta office of The Canadian Chamber of Commerce has been transferred from Red Deer to Edmonton effective today (Thursday), September 1, 1955 | M M Cunningham, Red Deer Alberta Vice-President of the Canadian Chamber announced today.

In a Canadian announcement made by Bert Forsyth, Swan River, President of the Alberta Associated Chambers of Commerce and Agriculture, which is a voluntary federation of over 120 Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce in Alberta, headquarters of the provincial Chamber of Commerce in Edmonton, has been relocated in Edmonton. As at present, both groups still share office facilities.

"This change in locale takes into consideration the need for a permanent headquarters for both the provincial and national chambers situated at the seat of the provincial government. Careful consideration has been given to the question in all parties concerned," said a joint announcement.

Throughout Canada the Canadian Chamber — the national federation of some 120 Board of Trade and Chambers of Commerce facilities and trade secretarial services with provincial associations of Boards and Chambers. The joint Alberta office opened in Red Deer in October, 1952 recognized the need both for a strong federal organization to present common business thinking to Ottawa and a strong provincial organization to represent business and the communities at the provincial government level.

D S Griffin will continue to hold the fifth post of Alberta Manager of the Canadian Chamber and Executive Secretary of the Alberta Associated Chambers of Commerce and Agriculture. The office is located at Room 218, Provincial Building, 10041-102 St Edmonton, Alberta.

Let's Eat!

BY DA ORLEY ALLEN

"During the season I always serve tea to my guests at least every Wednesday and Friday" said hairdresser Phyllis Starr, handing me a steaming cupful.

"I'm particular how and on what people enjoy their tea, so I'll be sure every friend of mine has a cup."

"I'm particular, too" I said, "I like mine strong and with cream."

"Then you'll appreciate my method of brewing tea," Phyllis said. "I use an earthenware pot and I warm it before I put in the tea. Then I use boiling water and let it steep for five minutes."

Phyllis's tea sandwiches are one of her specialties. She makes them with thin slices of white bread and brown bread, spreading them with butter, then with cream cheese and dates or cucumber. The mixture is seasoned with salt, pepper and a little minced chive. Then the sandwiches are cut in fingers lengths. And we always serve a variety of these made ready, made in our own kitchen. Tarry this old-fashioned favorite."

Tomorrow

Maybe you think you paid a little too much price for the suit you are wearing. Before you get too shocked about it suppose you check up and see how many people had a hand in making it.

It all started when some sheep ranches were in Alberta, maybe in Australia, raised some sheep and shorn them. From them the thousands of people in many parts of the world had a hand in it. Miners and mechanics, mill girls and packers, oil drillers and salesmen, paperhangers and plasterers, carpenters and cutters all loomed up and if you could get out off the rush in your local city Hall, maybe modern teamwork, and it's all very wonderful.

But there's an older teamwork that is even more wonderful. It's as old as man himself. It operates within man.

Nature provided man with an inborn physician to heal the bruises and mend his broken bones. This intelligent force also selects the nutritive elements from the food he eats, uses them to build his body and disposes of the waste materials and poisons. It is a marvellous system of teamwork between the brain and organs of the body, under the direction of the brain through the nervous system.

The nervous system holds the body in successful team play. It picks up the S.O.S. messages from parts of the body that may be in trouble, transmits them to the brain, and the brain sends back over the same nervous system the right orders to the right organs and glands to keep all the body healthy. That is why it is so important at all times that the nerve channels be kept clear, and it is here that the Chiropractor joins the team by doing his important part in the general housework. He is specially trained to locate nerve interference in the spine, and by make such adjustments as are necessary to release the nerves.

Nothing others to be well and happy brings happiness to all engaged in such a worthy task. That is why many doctors enjoy their work so much. That is why their patients get such satisfaction out of telling others how they too can get well the Chiropractic way.

Many persons nurse their real or imaginary ills for years, a worry to themselves and their friends. It is much wiser and safer to consult a doctor in matters of health —self diagnosis is not reliable.

Men, materials... and money

When a business lands an order or a contract, it is likely to go to a chartered bank to arrange some of the financing. It may need bank credit to meet payrolls, to buy materials or to cover other costs that arise before it is paid.

That's why businesses both large and small can take on many jobs they would be unable to handle if they had to depend entirely on their own financial resources ! ! ! And why, every day and in every part of Canada, the chartered banks are lending money to producers, manufacturers, processors and other commercial customers.

Commercial loans are only one of many banking services available at a branch of a chartered bank. You will find it is a convenient banking service-centre where you can attend to all your banking needs.

Only a chartered bank offers a full banking service, including:

SAVINGS ACCOUNTS — Keep your money safe; get you ready interest; encourage the habit of thrift.

TRAVELLERS CHEQUES — Protect you against theft or loss of cash. They are readily negotiable anywhere.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE — Handling of foreign currencies.

LOAN IMPROVEMENT PLANS — For many worthwhile purposes, making it progress, efficiency and the comfort of your life.

PERSONAL LOANS — To finance your personal needs conveniently in regular instalments from your earnings.

Farewell For Mr. And Mrs. Dupuis

St. Paul citizens gathered Friday night to farewell Mr and Mrs. Jack (Tony) Dupuis who will leave shortly to take up residence in Montreal.

Mr Dupuis recently resigned from a secretarial position with the St. Paul School Division No. 46 after eleven years of service. He had first come to St. Paul as a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

In a farewell address to Mr and Mrs. Dupuis, Mr Phil Cormack, St. Paul Fire Chief expressed the regret of the department at Jack's departure. He had been secretary for the firemen the past three years, besides being an integral part of the business manual for fires (and hamstring smoke bombs!).

Mayor John Van Brabant, on behalf of the town, was warm in his praise for the energy and the contributions they have made towards the community.

Mrs Dupuis is one of the original Business Girls who promoted a public library, and also Activity interested in literature. Latterly managed to guard the destiny of the library when it was turned over to the Japvrest and has succeeded in building up a valuable collection of books for St Paul readers. She also served as president, secretary of the business girls as well as the Jayvettes.

Mrs Dupuis was presented with a lovely bouquet of flowers and Jack a cash gift and "husky" refreshments in addition. So how the spirit of the west is his spite, Jack was decorated with a colossal sombrero, chaps and all for over down the Cabberaus Hotel.

OBITUARY

On August 28th, Mr. Edward Labonte of St. Paul passed away at the age of 76 years.

He is survived by his wife, 1 son Edward John; 1 sister, Mrs Maunda Rolin of Calgary.

Funeral services were held on Monday, August 29th, at 10 a.m. at the R. C. Cathedral Rev. Fr. Poulin officiated and interment was made in the church cemetery.

Park Dale Funeral Home of St Paul was in charge of funeral arrangements.

We wish to express our heart-felt thanks to all our kind friends and neighbors, whose help and comfort was a great relief during the recent sad bereavement at the loss of a loved one, Mr. Joseph Albert Labonte. For the floral and spiritual tributes, we are very grateful and appreciative.

The Labonte Family.

CANADA'S VETERANS ON PARADE

Vice-Admiral Mainguy, chief Canada's naval staff, inspects the Warriors' Day Parade guard at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds in Toronto. There were 10,000 veterans in the day's parade, including men who fought in the Boer war. Fifty-three bands were in the parade.

Board Elected For Separate School

At a meeting held in the United Church Hall on August 31st, the election of a Protestant Separate School in St. Paul, one hundred and eighty-three voted in favour of a separate school and three against.

After the plebiscite the following ratepayers were elected to the new school board: Nick Mulder, H. Slaker, A. Tatton, J. Hall and Dr Meienchuk. The name chosen for the new school is Crescent Protestant Separate School.

The local building committee will be guided by the following plans: Plans for the new building call for a gymnasium, auditorium, and a set of stairs, leading, turning right and last but balls shot out by a good number of amateurs having their first fling and a few old guns getting back into shape Dr. Dunsmore evident this week between the course on a very popular place next year. Five holes are now in good shape and the other four for the nine will be finished next year. No charge is being made for the balance of the season . . . get in the groove free, and for a supporter next year.

Mrs. Arthur Richard and daughter Dulcie have just returned from a two weeks holiday at Vancouver, Chilliwack and New Westminister visiting two of her sisters, Mrs. Devlin and Mrs. Allan.

Mr and Mrs George Boudrie of New Cecile Parish of Edmonton visited with the Paul and Walter Fagnan families this week.

Prime Minister in Edmonton

By BEN HANSON

EDMONTON — Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, who leads like everybody's favorite grandfather, made a big hit when he visited the Alberta Capital last week to take part in celebrations marking the province's Golden Jubilee.

The prime minister's pilgrimage might be described as following in the footsteps of an illustrious predecessor. For, on Sept 1, 1905, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, then prime minister, came to Edmonton for ceremonies incorporating Alberta as province.

Mr St Laurent was introduced by Sir Wilfrid's grandson in many ways these one He rode to the Legislative Building for the morning ceremony in a glistening black landau carriage which was used in 1905 by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1905 had a message for the pioneer citizens of Alberta, who, in the coming 50 years, would build a great province He saw great promise and hope if residents of the new province would apply themselves with energy and foresight.

The ceremony attended last week by Mr St Laurent was in honor of those same pioneers, who made Sir Wilfrid's hopes come true The prime minister unveiled a stone monument in front of the capital building, commemorating the formation of Alberta as a province, and paying tribute to the pioneer settlers who built on area at wilderness into Canada's most prosperous provinces.

By making his recent visit to Alberta and Saskatchewan for Golden Jubilee observances, the prime minister extended his personal popularity with western Canadians, who refer to him fondly as "Uncle Louis," even though they were United Church and CCF adherents.

Mr St Laurent came west sometime last fall that his 1st public in in a cast from a fractured collarbone suffered when he tripped while walking on a slight loop and cord a rope, but it didn't keep him from joining in all activities. He seemed particularly to enjoy the idea of riding with Lieutenant-Governor Bowlen in the farmers' hooker.

Mr St. Laurent not only looks like everybody's grandfather, but also acts the part. He has real affections for children which is not the phoney fondness of some politicians. They can always spot sparks when children are around, you can tell it's genuine.

While walking to the reviewing stand at Camrose, he broke from the ashrie from the military group, he stopped to shake hands with one little boy and girl, he couldn't resist to quit autographs for a Kerrobert boy because who besieged him with programs and scraps of paper.

Another noted visitor to the capital last week was Rt. Hon. Viscount Howard, lord mayor of London, who also took part in Jubilee celebrations. But he was overshadowed in the eyes of many youngsters by his official escort, Inspector, William P. Bouten.

Mr Bouten, a portly and distinguished looking gentleman, wears a large horse hair hat with the black robes and gold braid of his ceremonial office. Many stare along the jubilee route and at Clarke Stadium now the fez hat, they thought "Shall" was Mr. Bouten's name.

Mr Bouten finally asked someone who the Davy Crockett Injun was, and when told that the current idol of the small fry, got quite a kick out of it Some of the jubilee visitors said they never might get together and sand the Davy Crockett and Mr. Bouten's bearer's hat.

BEHIND THE SCENES — Things have been quiet on the political front lately, with everyone's attention focused on the spectacular election campaign and the recent special session of the legislature

The next big item will be the hearings of the five-man royal commission appointed to investigate charges of maladministration levelled against the government during the spring session of the house and the election campaign The terms of reference made public recently are broad enough to allow the commission to investigate a wide range of government activities. Hearings will begin in Edmonton Sept. 19, under the chairmanship of Mr Justice Hugh John Macdonald. It is doubtful if any sittings will be held outside Edmonton.

HEAVY EQUIPMENT AT WORK ON SEAWAY

One of the world's largest power shovels is at work on the St. Lawrence seaway canal at Cornwall, Ont., and it can strip earth at a rate the shovel would take an army of men with picks and shovels to equal. Though the pool has not been reached in construction, hundreds of tons of earth are being removed to make room for the dry dock when locks will be built. It is the biggest contract job ever undertaken by Canada since the building of the Welland Canada railway.

The Traffic Safety Lane

By J. W. McKAY

Inspector Highway Traffic Board of Edmonton

For the past four or five years the Alberta Motor Transport Association in co-op ration with rubber tire manufacturers, trailer manufacturers, and truck manufacturers have carried on Alberta [illegible]

This is to determine owners who will compete in Toronto for the Canadian Championship. Four truck drivers will be conducted in Edmonton on September 8th and 10th.

All classes of truck drivers with experience in a series of skill tests for driving. For instance, there is the single unit class or straight truck, the tractor trailer class and the tandem axled semi-trailer class. The army has also entered at the same time on the same course but theirs is for the army only.

In this rundown we will see professional drivers (drivers who drive for a living) who will drive through the course with almost perfect skills.

Truck drivers are noted for their skills in operations. They are licensed as such and are paid as such. Accidents in the truck class are far less per mile travelled than in the passenger car. There are two factors which give the drivers such a high rating.

1. They are skilled
2. They are courteous.

I like to refer to these two as [illegible]

The manufacturer like [illegible] truck seats wide enough to accommodate three — the driver and two passengers.

The truck engineer has made the truck to carry three passengers too — the driver, skills and courtesy [illegible] — courtesy make a perfect team for safety They've met drivers who do not take "skills" with them. Some have "skills" but they do not have the "courtesy." It is pretty near impossible to take "courtesy" without "skills."

When a driver takes the two with him, one thing for sure has been proven, that driver is on the road to an accident free record

"Skills" require practice At the Truck Rodeo there will be demonstrated On the road tests is demonstrated in attitudes towards fellow drivers

It would be wonderful if every driver would endeavor to practice for better skills and adopt attitudes that promote courtesy. If this were done the accident rate would almost disappear and many lives would be spared

The best time to transplant pound trees is when their leaves are falling in the autumn. Fall rather trees are usually moved with a ball of earth about their roots when the ground is frozen. This time, however, are best left for moving by professional tree men.

During tree planting operations another exponent of the earth should be avoided. A piece of burlap or a shovelful of earth thrown over the roots will help materially in reducing losses from drying out of the roots. Roots found to be bruised or broken should be cut off.

If you are planning a tree in a new area, spread twelve inches ground to receive the dug earth and then spread the grass. Keep good topsoil separate from poorer subsoil. When filling in the hole, use the good topsoil for filling in around the base. Discuss loosing roots.

These trees move fairly well. Tulips, however, are hard to transplant and leaves very few chrysan roots.

A chiropractic adjustment starts the patient on the road back to good health Its effect is to free the nerves from all pressure so that the essential energy from the brain — the life force that drives and controls all the organs and muscles of the body may flow freely throughout the entire nervous system.

It is well to remember, however that the adjustment is still just the start of the road back Some of the [illegible] of this column have been interpreted to freely and there is an improvement in some quarters that complete recovery will follow a day or so after the adjustment There are many such cases on record, but they are exceptional.

The length of time required for complete recovery depends on several factors, not the least of which is the length of time the condition has continued Organs and tissues that have been gradually slowing down over a period of years cannot be expected to jump back to full speed over night Nature needs time to repair the damage after the Chiropractor has made the adjustment which sets the repair machinery in motion.

If it's health you are seeking go to your Chiropractor and be confident that he can restore you to good health At the same time be patient and co-operative Your body has all the powers of healing within it Your Chiropractor will ensure that these powers are set to work All you have to do is give them time to complete their work.

Regulations Protect Rights Of Surface Owners From Operators

Farmers and other land owners have their rights well protected by the Alberta Government when acting with geophysical operators or others.

Under regulations of the government the owner of surface rights has full authority to deal with any geophysical operator before a prospecting permittee on his land. The permittee may, if he wishes refuse to permit any exploration of his land by geophysical operators or stipulate at particular point of access and route to be used in cases where the occupant of the farm is not the owner, the operator is now required to make arrangements with him before transporting on the land.

This protection for the land owner and occupant where the land is owned or being purchased is provided under "Regulations Governing Geophysical Exploration" the Exploratory Operations Branch of which was passed by the Alberta Government in 1952. Under these regulations, geophysical exploration includes seismic, gravimetric, magnetic and well drilling.

In cases where geophysical crews wish to explore the surface owner's land, the operator must first procure the consent of both the owner and any persons having the right to the use of the surface. The owner or user of the surface does not necessarily have to be the holder of the mineral rights to receive this protection.

In obtaining the consent the operator is obliged to describe accurately to the owner and any occupant, the route to be taken by any automotive equipment, and the line to be followed in the operations. The route or line cannot be altered without the consent of the owner and occupant.

The surface owner has full authority to refuse to allow the operator to enter upon the land unless the necessary consents are obtained the operator is liable to prosecution if he attempts to trespass without authority.

In cases where the drilling of an oil or gas well is proposed, the operator must make a satisfactory arrangement with the surface owner and the occupant, or obtain a right of entry pursuant to an order of the Right of Entry Arbitration Board. An order of the arbitration board establishes the portion of the surface which may be used and provides for the compensation payable for the first and each succeeding year. This regulations also applies to the mining of any rare mine or quarry in Alberta.

Any Alberta or Dominion land surveyor has the right to enter on any land in the province in the performance of his duties and can survey any point at which a well is to be drilled or a mine or quarry opened without obtaining the consent of the owner, but must take all precautions to see that no unnecessary damage is caused. Where the owner or occupant of the land is within a reasonable distance, the surveyor will usually make contact with him before making the survey.

Copies of these regulations, and the Right of Entry Arbitration Act are available from the Department of Mines and Minerals, Natural Resources Building, Edmonton.

Let's Eat

EDA BARLEY ALLEN

Homemade jam is made much as it was a hundred years ago. Fruit is prepared and cooked and then put in sterilized jars and sealed.

Strawberry jam, peach jam, fig jam, apricot jam and raspberry jam are all delicious when made at home.

Jams are made from fruits that are ripe but not overripe. Fruits that are underripe do not have enough flavor and overripe fruits do not have enough pectin to make the jam jell.

Pectin is a substance found in fruits that helps the jam to jell. Some fruits have more pectin than others. Fruits that are high in pectin are apples, crabapples, currants, gooseberries, grapefruit, lemons, limes, oranges, plums, quinces and sour cherries.

Fruits that are low in pectin are apricots, blackberries, blueberries, dewberries, figs, peaches, pineapples, raspberries, rhubarb, strawberries and sweet cherries.

Fruits that are low in pectin can be made into jam by adding commercial pectin or by combining them with fruits that are high in pectin.

BASEBALL SEASON CLOSED

The final game of the Eastern Alberta Baseball League held in Vermilion Sunday brought to a close the 1966 season.

This league, each ... for its second anniversary, struggled through a year of scheduled play that ... times unscheduled. Due to the difficulty of keeping a local team together during the summer and holiday seasons it was hard for the entries to field a complete team, having to go short handed and sometimes rely on the help of junior players.

Nevertheless, inspite of a few defaults, the league carried on well with the sportsmanship spirit being predominate in the face of many obstacles.

The crowds were always at a minimum, hard to the pleasure of the enlarged coaches, but play evolved into finals which featured St. Paul.

We think it is in order to congratulate those who promoted baseball this year and tried hard to keep one of Canada's favorite sports alive. Especially Bill Shulman who assisted, handled manager's duties and even played in the finals.

WHEAT SITUATION

For several years the Canadian Wheat Board has been shouldering a heavy load of responsibility in its efforts to dispose of a series of bumper Canadian wheat crops. This year their job may be even more formidable Canada has entered the new crop year with a large carryover, a big crop is now being harvested and there are no indications of any easing in the world wheat markets Competitors for sales may be keener than ever Most exporting nations are reported to be harvesting average or larger than average crops of relatively good quality and substantial, give-away and barter deals for wheat may become increasingly common as the United States endeavors to get rid of its tremendous surplus.

The Canadian picture is roughly as follows:

Carryover from last year	425 million bus.
New crop	600 million bus.

The domestic market absorbs about 150 million bushels annually for food, seed and feed.

Exports in each of the past two years have been just over 250 million bushels which is almost equal to the average of the past thirty years.

Assuming imports are the same as those of last year, with this year's crop Canada will have on hand a supply of wheat sufficient to meet domestic and export needs for nearly two and a half years.

Commercial storage space is filled almost to capacity and farm delivertes can only be made as grain moves into consumption.

Export shipments are likely to be slow this autumn resulting in only small farm deliveries. If farmers cannot ready cash to meet operating and living expenses is bound to be severe

—Wheat Pool Budget

CANADIANS TOO TIMID?

Canadians may not like being called timid when it comes to risking their hard earned cash, but a report out on U.S.-Canadian investment, says The Financial Post, certainly points that way.

While American investors have been pouring more money into oil, gas, mineral and other expanding Canadian industries what have Canadians been doing? Canny Canucks have been buying back Canadian bonds and debentures held in the United States. In other words while Uncle Sam has been taking a chance and expanding his holdings, we have been using our extra cash for paying off the mortgage.

For a long time to come, unless we wish to stagnate and force our young people to emigrate in search of jobs, we are going to need foreign capital to help in Canadian development. There are simply not enough of us, especially with capital, to do the job ourselves. But some reasonable balance must be retained or we are liable to lose control over our vital development. No self-respecting country can afford to let that happen.

OTTAWA TO BUY PORK?

The heavy rain of hog marketings in both Canada and U.S. is worrying Canadian government and agricultural officials.

With hog marketing running 30 per cent ahead of last year and the heavy fall marketing season now approaching, substantially lower prices appear certain. The big concern as far as Ottawa is concerned is whether prices will be driven to the old 1955-established floor price level of $25 cwt. (Toronto, Montreal) where the Federal Government would be compelled to enter the market and buy all supplies offered at that price.

REINSBURG NEWS

Tuesday, September 6th saw the children take a school. This year we have two new schools attending Primula and V-day. The teaching staff is as follows: Mr. Selezenka, principal Grades 8, 10, 11; Mr. L. Taschuk grades 7 and 8, Mr. K. Lesichi, grades 5 and 6, Mrs. Wm. Nelson grades 3 and 4, Mrs. W. Schribney grades 1 and 2.

Mrs. Solomenka was hired for grades 3 and 4 but the original Lavsburgh teacher failed to show up, so she was taken there and Mrs. Nelson kindly left her busy farm work in charge of Mrs. Lovna Benson and is teaching here instead.

The Grade 12's are hauled by car every morning to Lindburgh, where they catch a bus to Elk Point.

Some of the parents in Primula were on strike last week and refused to send their children to school These were the ones who would rather have them learned to Elk Point instead of Heinsburg.

The Home and School had their first general meeting last Wednesday. It was very poorly attended and it was decided to send out reminders next month. If this doesn't enlarge the attendance, the Association will close. This would be tragic as they are responsible for the movie projector which the children enjoy, the Scholarship Fund and other deeds. So try to attend. The meetings are held the first Wednesday of every month at 8:00 p.m.

The last term scholarship awards go to Arthur Thompson, Primula, Grade 12 and Allan Buck, Heinsburg, grade 8.

Threshing has gotten underway and a few have finished. The weather has been the best.

Cucumbers have really been plentiful. The stores were unable to keep enough vinegar and people to meet the demand.

Miss Connie Buck produced a pumpkin which weighed 27 lbs. and took for a little girl

Grade 2 pupils are having a hard time calling their teacher by her new name It's always Miss Krywiak to them.

P John received a few bruises while thrashing at his father's farm. After a few days this turned to blood poisoning so he is taking treatments for same.

Mr. and Mrs L. Thorne from Fort Saskatchewan were visitors at his sister's, Mrs. Horton Their son Keith likes the farm so is staying and going to school here Mr Thorne is a guard at the penitentiary

Mrs Wilson is here on relocation again. She is working for Mrs. Buck in the cafe

Mrs Hamdon and family have moved to their new home in Edmonton wehre Mr Hamdon will join them as soon as he is able to leave his Frog Lake Store.

Business Must After 47 Years Separation

C A Johnson, 9236 89 St., formerly of Elk Point, was visited recently by his brother, Marion R Johnson of Kansas City, Mo., whom he had not seen since 1906.

M. R. Johnson has been connected with a wholesale firm in Kansas City as general manager for 32 years, prior to his retirement three years ago.

The above excerpt is taken from the Edmonton Journal and is of interest due to the fact that Mr C A Johnson, now residing in Edmonton, is an old timer in our district.

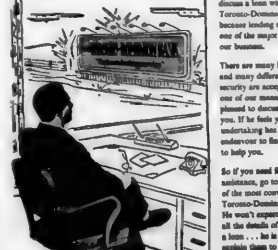
WHAT SHOULD I DO ABOUT
a bank loan?



You do as a favour when you discuss a loan with a Toronto-Dominion manager, because lending money is one of the major parts of our business.

There are many kinds of loans and many different types of security are acceptable. Any one of our managers will be pleased to discuss them with you. If he feels your undertaking his merit he will endeavour to find a way to help you.

So if you need financial assistance, go to the manager of the most convenient Toronto-Dominion branch. He won't expect you to know all the details of negotiating a loan . . . he is there to explain them to you and to give you all the help he can.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I wish to thank my husband for the enjoyment of the August 25th dance committee my leaving but have since learned the situation was not as it really forced upon me and I am fully conscious in my home. So having left to take up residence elsewhere. (As I paint bank account was almost leaving me broke) if none to take care of myself and no dependents.

THOUSANDS OF PEACHES LEFT TO ROT

Ontario peaches are being thrown in garbage dumps as unusual weather conditions have caused the late varieties to mature at the same time as the early. At St. Catharines, in the one dump alone, an estimated 10,000 baskets were left to rot. Growers say they discarded while still firm, children raided the heap instead of robbing farmers' orchards.

Trans - Canada Pipeline Expected To Start Moving East By 1956

After five years of trying to get together all the many pieces of Trans-Canada Pipe Line puzzle — it now looks as if Alberta gas may start flowing eastward by early 1956, reports The Financial Post.

Break in the dispute came when Ottawa announced its decision to join with Ontario in financing the long expensive haul through the rocks and bush of Northern Ontario.

If plans work out it will be one of the largest construction jobs ever undertaken in Canada. Rubbing from the oil producing area of Alberta, to Montreal, the line will measure 2,350 miles of big inch pipeline. That is a little over 100 miles longer than the big south-to-north gas pipeline of Tennessee Gas Transmission Corp., in U.S.

The Alberta-to-Montreal pattern will consist of 30-inch pipe. By Winnipeg to Kapuskasing, Ont. section will be 30-inch. The Toronto to Montreal extension, a 24-inch pipe.

Pipeline steel tonnage is estimated to run around 625,000 tons.

As requested by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, the federal meteorological division began several day forecasts on all the early morning public weather forecasts issued across Canada.

Help Wanted For St. Paul Fire Prevention Week

CHECK HOMES FOR FIRE HAZARDS

Last week-end, August 20th, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bouchier, St. Paul, left by train for Edmonton where he will go into refitting for the winter season. During the week of September 19th, to the 16th, fire prevention will be observed as declared by the International Fire Prevention Association. As my duty as Fire Chief to see that everything is done during that week to eliminate fire hazards in your homes and places of business, I, as your fire chief, am impossible to be done by one man, this is why help is wanted. Qualifications needed are very simple all you have to do is check your own home and business place for fire hazards and fire fighting material, survey to you, yet existing in your home. By help you I would like to quote some of the most common hazards listed as fire starters.

First of all I would like to mention some statistics — a lot of annoying figures if you will, but — notice closely the following. Records show that in 1954, in our province alone, 1,374 fires, including a material lost of $7,837,085. 33 lives lost and 23 crippled for life. Of the figures mentioned above the number seems to be the greatest amount of all through improper disposing of matches, sticks, ashes, etc.

In order to be of immediately help to you I will mention the most common existing hazards in homes and business places. Defective chimneys, stoves, furnaces, very dangerous if children have access to them. They should be stored in a tin container and out of children's reach.

Cleaning fluids such as gasoline, naptha, etc. are very dangerous and inflammable thus dynamite yet in many homes are left unnoticed and neglected. There is only one place for these fluids and that is outside in a well closed container.

Above all do not replace a burned out fuse with a penny, tin foil or other substitute of some kind. These fuses in the electric circuits of your home play a very important duty and should be respected as so. When a fuse burns there is a reason.

If everyone in our community takes time and really realizes his home for the above mentioned hazards and many more not mentioned, his home will remain a monument to our town, not a memorial.

Fire Chief

Plan Celebration To Honor Ray Boisrson

The St. Paul Social Credit Constituency Association is planning a special reception for Ray Boisrson, Social Credit M.L.A. representing this district, who was appointed Minister of Labor and Industries following cabinet reshuffle after the June election.

Premier Manning will be a special guest in attendance and Mr. R. D. Jorgensen, Minister of Public Welfare, along with other prominent leaders.

Organizers have formed a committee to handle the reception for which further details will be released.

ENGINEER RETIRES AFTER 46 YEARS

Last stop at St. Paul was made by Engineer Larry Curne on September 10th., before his final trip into Edmonton where he will go into refirement after 46 years of active Engineering service with the Canadian National Railways. Mr. Curne was born in Ottawa, Ontario on March 26, 1910 and the rails have carried him on daily in various parts of western Canada. Standing in the door way of the cab is Brenna C. Shirwell.

Will Hold ATA Convention Here

Mr Ed Bouchier, St. Paul secretary for the St. Paul-Bonnyville Alberta Teachers' Association has released dates for the annual convention to be held in this district during the month of October.

The convention, which alternates each year between Bonnyville and St. Paul, is being planned to bring on the agenda a number of problems of vital interest to education in today's complex times. Special lectures and panels made up of guests from different walks of life will take part in discussions expressing views of the system of education as it is today, in an effort to point out what is wrong and suggestions for improvement in teaching methods will be considered.

Mike F. P. Maloney of Cold Lake and Mr R. E Beatty of Elk Point are presidents and Mr. L. Bouthillis of St Paul and J. A. N Marcotte of Bonnyville are executives in charge of organization.

CNR Converts To Diesel Engines

The strange whistles in Paul citizens have been hearing the past few days emanate from a fleet of new diesel engines put in service on the St. Paul line to replace the old type steam engines.

Five engines have been employed to pull the passenger and freight runs while two new switchers are designed to operate where economically and make working conditions more pleasant and cleaner for engineers. They are operated by a number of personnel, an engineer and a fireman to handle the controls.

The old type steam engines which, in the last few years, have been overhauled and given many crude oil are slowly disappearing from the C.N.R. service to make way for cheaper operation. It is presently that the refueling station at the Abelene Peerless will be completed eventually in the new year.

Diesels can operate seven to fourteen days without refueling on the Edmonton to Hecla-burg and Cold Lake runs.

Legion Hold Rally In Vegreville

On Friday evening September 16th a rally was held in Vegreville by Canadian Legion officials from Headquarters at Ottawa.

The delegates attending from St. Paul were: Branch President Maurice Mailloux, Zone Commander Armand Lord, past Zone Commander Norman Slater and Comrade Milton Jeverting. Delegates were also in attendance from Mallaig Bonnyville Elk Point and many other Branches in the District Command. The conference was one of sixteen held in Alberta District Commands.

Comrade Don Thompson, Director of Legion Service Bureau, Ottawa, was the principal speaker. He placed emphasis on the benefits available to veterans and their dependents, including the latest amendments.

Comrade Hunter discussed civil service preference for veterans and general service problems.

After the meeting, the Ladies Auxiliary to the Vegreville Branch served lunch in the spacious and well-appointed Lounge. The evening closed with the ringing of the National Anthem.

Professionalism In Sporting World

VANCOUVER (CP) — Professionalism exists everywhere in sport is the opinion says Frederick Hoag-Brown of Campbell River, B.C. noted amateur golfer.

Mr Haig-Brown, a stipendiary magistrate and writer of children's adventure stories, made the statement Tuesday in an address to the parks and recreation association of Canada convention.

"Professionalism has ruined every sport it touches because it has gone through the machinery of promoters to apply the principles of business groups, particularly children, who are not capable of reaching those standards.

"Highly-organized professional sports also take the interest in sports away from the children so that they are robbed of the time to play games and as a result we are in danger of building up a second-rate group of citizens.

"Professional sports as they are played today are also not a good example for children to emulate Sometimes even the infernal competitiveness of children think their sports are a thing of business and goals," Mr. Haig-Brown said.

Reaction came swiftly

Don MacKenzie, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey and the Western Interprovincial Football Union, said:

"The fine spirit created by professional sport is a tremendous asset for fans and growing boys in sport.

"Some football players of sum- ---- are not types of youths' men. Most of them are clean cut with the instincts of gentlemen and I'm proud of my boys and young boys," he said in an interview.

Ken Mac Kenzie, owner of the New Westminster Royals of the Western Hockey League, said:

"It's impossible to have the game without having the amateur route ---- a man making his living at sport and give his full time to it for the love of the thing."

Mr Haig-Brown, in his speech, said:

Humans raise shout by people enjoying themselves. If the game is spectator sport, you get professionalism when you get professionalism. Golf is no more sport. You then get to a point where the amateur cannot appreciate the finer points.

Consult Your Veterinarian

No veterinarian can accurately tell what future events will be. He can only do so by not calling him early when treatment can do most good. Every hour is important with a sick animal. Veterinarians work a long day almost every hour, but the distance in crossing more damage immediately that the owner cannot see from the outside. They cannot a patient when any amount of improper a thousand dollars worth of drugs won't submit a cure to the damage done by the disease. A few dollars worth of drugs at first though, will cure most sick animals as very little damage has occurred internally in the lungs, intestines, liver, kidneys, brain, etc., or whatever may be involved. Four or five years ago when dairy cows were worth practically as much as beef animals, a dairyman 35 miles from Edmonton phoned the Veterinary Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture concerning his cow which seems to him quite normal. She wondered about shopping it for beef. The cow looked fine. She was advised not to be the cow would be condemned and the farm only get a few dollars for her Have your veterinarian treat the cow to prevent her dying from blood poisoning," the dairyman advised. "Keep her for a month or so until the infection is completely cured and if the quarry is likely you can ship her then to get considerably more beef."

There was a pleasant sequel to that The dairyman telephoned in again two months later thanking for the advice and reporting that he had sold the cow for approximately $250.00 That was quite good money for cow born a few dollars on early treatment. He stated a place would have spent only a few dollars salvage value and then he would have had to find another $200 or so to purchase another cow

Calling a veterinarian for dis- ease prevention or treatment is good business. -30-

Let's Eat

BY
IDA BAILEY ALLEN

The reason small children come with grownups when invited to eat their food is because they do not like to seem "different." Given time to find they are selecting the same foods as the grown-ups," I was telling the other day.

Small children are natural imitators. If their food is prepared to look like that served to the older group, they will usually eat it. If not suggested and if they are not made to feel inferior with your "babyfood" properties.

Almost any family dinner menu normally can include practically every food needed by a child of two years and upwards.

Give small children a small helping of each. Their stomach capacity is so limited by size that a child in addition to a level of each food served to the family dinner is far too much. Then, if the child wants more, let him help himself. You will find in this way you solve the problem of a child who has to be coaxed to eat.

Principles Of Unemployment Insurance As Laid By Commission

Whenever Canada's unemployment situation took a turn for the worse, the country was just emerging from a long period of depression. Existing data on unemployment were meagre and there was little use for anyone to go on from the experience of other countries. The cost of necessity, Canada's plan was drawn upon the basis of certain sound principles of insurance and, while it has been amended from time to time, the basic principles upon which the legislation was founded are still valid.

In order to understand what unemployment insurance is all about it is well to refer briefly to knowledge of these broad principles on which it is based is useful.

First of all, there are five basic insurable principles which must be present in any plan of insurance, which also apply to unemployment insurance, as follows:

1 A risk must be covered. It must be impossible to predict from whom it collects and distributes benefits. Provision must be made therefore for every person who is insured.

2 There must be an insurable interest. The insured person must be one who has a real risk of unemployment and in unemployment insurance, the person insured must be one who employs that risk. Thus, in unemployment insurance, the insured person is the employee, and to some extent part-time and temporary workers have been brought under the plan. The good risks must be included with the bad.

An unemployment insurance plan must be compulsory in order to avoid adverse selection against the fund and also to protect the employer who would be at a disadvantage if he were not insured.

Protection should be given only against uncertainties and not against those that it is known will occur about Pseuds of planned unemployment or absence can not logically be insured against.

Part of the risk should be assumed by the individual worker through the equivalent of premiums. In sub insurance provisions as sub insurance

4 Limitation of uncertainty. It must not be possible for the contingency that is insured against to happen to too large a proportion of the group at any one time. Here, again, it is difficult to fix unemployment insurance on the principle In past experience there have been periods when workers unemployed for lengthy periods. It is necessary to have at all to this principle, it is evident that unemployment insurance cannot be designed to cope with periods of major depression.

Verification. There must be machinery for determining that the insured person is actually unemployed and whether his time unemployment is such that it comes within the scope of the insurance principle. Unemployment is an acceptable definition of unemployment for insurance purposes. The method for determining the right to benefit payments within this definition, and the machinery for eliminate illegitimate claims without imposing undue hardship on legitimate claimants.

In addition to, or arising from, these four basic principles, there are others that have been formulated as a result of experience and which are important to the public operation, and yet they must be applied sufficiently to safeguard the principles of the plan.

The plan must be on a national basis to eliminate prejudice of provincial jurisdiction and so that as large a number of contributors as possible can be brought into the plan. The good risks must be included with the bad

An unemployment insurance plan must be compulsory in order to avoid adverse selection against the fund and also to protect the employer who would be at a disadvantage if he were not insured.

Principles Of Unemployment Insurance As Laid By Commission

Without this provision, contributions would be unnecessarily high.

Payment of benefit should not be subject to a means test It should be paid as a matter of right and there should be a formula to determine the need by claimant the conditions under which benefit may be paid, how much may be paid and how long it may be paid.

The rate of benefit and the conditions of payment should be such that workers [illegible] unduly [illegible] unemployment. This is to make for a minimum of interference with the normal economy.

The amount of benefits should not make idleness more attractive than the other hand, it must be sufficient to avoid the need for immediate relief and to assist public assistance and to keep his purchasing power at a reasonable level. This is why benefits are related to earnings rather than to need.

It is within the framework indicated by these basic principles that Canada's unemployment insurance legislation It is based with a limited application. It is not, nor was it intended to be the answer to every kind of unemployment. Often enough the best solution to problems of industrial unemployment is not insurance but logically be insured against.

Part of the risk should be assumed by the individual worker through the equivalent of premiums. In sub insurance provisions as sub insurance

Health Thru Chiropractic

By DR. H. W TENOVE
St. Paul

The liver is the policeman of the human body It's main job is to search out the evil elements — the poisons — and see that they are eliminated. When poisons are allowed to accumulate the blood stream is polluted, the head aches, the tongue becomes coated, there's a bad taste in the mouth, appetite is lost, and the patient becomes dull, listless and feverish.

There are two possible reasons for this condition It may be that inadequate working and cleaning are temporarily given the liver a longer job to do than it can handle Such a condition can be easily corrected by a return to proper dietary habits.

A more serious condition prevails when the liver is permanently incapable of controlling the poisons which develop in every human system Like every other organ in the body, the liver is under the control of the nervous system. Unless it gets an adequate supply of nerve energy from the brain it cannot do its job properly, and poisons which should be eliminated are allowed to gather. The result is often a bilious attack.

The cure for such a condition is to find out what needs to be done is to find out what has interrupted the flow of nerve energy and get it to the liver, and take steps to remove it. The your Chiropractor is specially trained to do By chiropractic adjustment he will free the nerves from pressure so they may carry to the liver the energy it needs to do its work.

There is no need to suffer the distress and discomfort of recurring bilious attacks. See your Chiropractor He will make and keep you well.

THE EAT IN WHEAT

IT JUST COULDN'T LAST

It looks like we opened our big mouth too soon, last week. The weather was late and harvest was coming along just splendidly, with the prospects of breaking records for decades on getting grain stowed away for the season.

Then, for, we did it by writing a little piece that everything would turn out just dandy and then it happened. Even before the news item in question hit the mails, lo and behold it was raining cats and dogs and has kept doing so all week.

No, we're not going to try and make amends. Maybe by taking on a pessimistic view of the whole thing and so outdo the optimism as spouted and the rains will commence forever [illegible] such rain will take a lot for the best.

We've seen lots of later seasons in this district, and although we've nothing to really get alarmed about, the season is late and we all done this fall, the better we will all be. That includes of course the hard working farmer and [illegible] people who depend on him for our existence.

TOO MUCH FOR OTTAWA

Proceedings of annual conference of Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities reveals growing resentment at grass roots level of Federal Government's grabbing of lion's share of tax revenue sources.

The Financial plights of the municipalities, Calgary's Mayor Don MacKay told conference, results from the rigidity of the financial framework in which municipal governments operate. The Federal Government, Mayor MacKay points out, absorbs almost three-quarters of the total revenue paid by governments by taxpayers.

Similar denunciation with Federal taxing policies was expressed by Mayor Nathan Phillips of Toronto, who presented conference with statistics showing that in 1961 70.9 per cent of all tax revenues went to Ottawa, 17.2 per cent to provincial governments and 11.9 per cent to municipalities.

RECORD BUSINESS

The year will probably go down as the biggest ever for retail sales.

Interissime now point to a free-spending fall. That means retail sales totals, already out-running 1936, will gain speed in the stretch and enter on all-time record.

Most-in-cost survey indicates all regions are sharing in the better business.

It's no short-run back-to-school boom it reaches back across a broad range of the consumer goods circuit retail sales are up and going higher, retail inventories generally, are up manufacturers' sales are up, manufacturers inventories are sharply down, and manufacturers have long lists on hear order books.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Long before this, both labor and management should have learned that their disputes concern a lot of other people, declares The Financial Post. Life would be smoother and happier if it were not so. But in our complex economy it is just not possible to have a strike or even a threat of strike in any industry without involving a lot of outsiders.

There are the strikers' wives and families. Surely they have some interest in the matter. There are other industries with their labor forces which supply raw materials to or buy finished goods from the strike-bound plant. And there are the consumers who in the end must pay for every strike either in higher prices or delays in deliveries or both.

Strikers concern a lot of people who are never seen and too seldom represented around the bargaining table.

COLLEGE GRADUATES WANTED

More jobs than applicants are forecast for practically all types of Canadian university graduates for the coming year, in some specialty fields, the shortage of trained staff has become critical.

That's the main point stressed in the National Employment Service's latest bulletin on the supply and demand situation in regard to university graduates. The bulletin is issued for use by Canadian employers, university students and employment service officers.

Tightest supplies are found in dentistry, nursing and medicine where enrolments show there will be very little let-up in the shortage for the next two to six years at least. Other fields where demand outstrips supply include education, commerce and business administration, architecture, agriculture, forestry, geology, household science, pharmacy, social work and theology. Less extreme, and close to balanced supply, are arts, law and general engineering.

Provincial Government Mapping Plans For Traffic Safety

By REX MASON

EDMONTON — Despite one of the most vigorous safety campaigns in Canada, the traffic accident toll in Alberta continues to increase.

This is shown by a recent report from the Alberta Safety Council which lists an increase in the number of persons killed in traffic mishaps during the first eight months of this year.

The council's figures show 126 fatalities up to the end of August, compared with 121 during the same period of 1934. The toll is up even though the score for August — usually a heavy month — is down from last year. Seven Albertans met death during August, two less than in the same month last year.

Assuming to the council's figures, the greatest hazard exists on the highways. Of the 16 fatal accidents in August, 13 were on the highways and the other four were reported from Calgary.

There was a marked decrease in the number of accidents during August, but injuries were abnormally high. In August, 1937 there were 1,441 accidents with 574 persons injured. In the same month last year, 1938, only 1,371 accidents but only 497 persons injured.

If the present trend continues, Alberta's traffic death toll for 1938 will undoubtedly be the worst in history. It can be argued that the growing traffic toll only reflects the growing population, but police forces and other organizations which promote traffic safety won't agree with this.

For the next few months, the provincial government has been mapping out plans to take drastic action in an effort to halt the slaughter on the highways. Perhaps at the next session of the legislature, in February, the plans will be ready for introduction.

The program to deal with the traffic problem will be embodied in sweeping changes in the Vehicle's and Highway Traffic Act, based on studies of systems used in other parts of the country.

There has been no definite announcement on the nature of the plans, but Hon. Gordon Taylor, minister of highways, discussed it in principle at the regular session of the house last spring. A major feature will be the "weeding out" of accident-prone drivers and barring them from the highways.

The will involve keeping record of every licensed driver in the province, showing every traffic infraction and accident. From the record, it is hoped, will evolve a system of determining what is an accident-prone driver.

Mr Taylor has expressed dissatisfaction with the present method of license suspension and requiring proof of financial responsibility. In many cases before licenses can be reinstated following suspension. He believes there are drivers who have no right to be on the road. Proving financial responsibility or securing a temporary license suspension doesn't give them the right if they will continue to constitute a hazard.

The court details of the program won't be known until the measure is ready to introduce legislation. But it appears reasonably certain that some strong new teeth will be put into the province's traffic laws. Mr. Taylor is vitally interested in the problem and in recent years has been one of Canada's most vigorous safety promoters.

Government, police forces and safety organizations believe the traffic problem can be solved. A strong educational program is a help, but authorities feel that sound, enforceable laws should go with it.

Speaking of education, special classes for accident-prone drivers might be another phase of the program under study. Many driving faults can be corrected by proper training, and a course could be set up for motorists whose licenses are suspended under the new program.

WESTWARD, HO — Those who favor the Yellowhead route for the Trans-Canada Highway haven't given up the battle. A survey party left Jasper at the week-end for the 160-mile drive to Prince, B.C., over the Yellowhead trail.

The trip is being made mostly to prove that a road can be built. In addition, those who make it can report the country's worth and what virtue of the Yellowhead pass as an ideal link through the Rocky Mountains for the Trans-Canada Highway.

Prairie Wheat Pools Approve Sale Of Western Wheat To Poland

Sales of Western wheat by the Canadian Wheat Board to Poland have been approved by the directors of the three Canadian Wheat Pools.

The Boards of Directors of Alberta Wheat Pool, Saskatchewan Wheat Pool and Manitoba Pool Elevators, assembled in an informal meeting in Winnipeg, considered reported sales of substantial quantities of Canadian wheat to Poland, and possibilities of further transactions in the future — if circumstances and industrialization changes Poland from an exporter to an importer of wheat.

The United directors of the three Pools — representing 300,

There are several groups in various parts of the province with grain vouchers they are promising for the Trans-Canada road, but it is doubtful if any have shouted their claims so loudly as the Yellowhead group. Meet as they might, however, the Trans-Canada road still is going through the Kicking Horse pass to the south.

Perhaps, some day, the Yellowhead pass will be a link in a second Trans-Canada road. Even though it is little more than a narrow mountain trail now, it is quite possible. In 1910, a surveyor went as far as Vancouver via the Yellowhead.

Most of the support comes from Edmonton and points west. The road would be an extension of Alberta Highway 16, through Jasper National Park and over the Continental Divide into some of the finest mountain scenery in Canada.

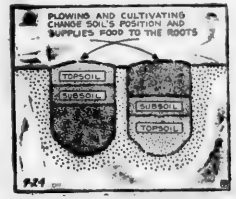
Weekly Garden-Graph
By DEAN HALLIDAY
Assistant to District Field Director



The soil in your garden is "dead" or "alive" according to the available amount of plant food it contains. The plants placed in it will thrive or not thrive accordingly.

Soils vary greatly in different areas; some are too acid and some too alkaline. Such soils require balancing.

Soils are usually too difficult to work when frozen in winter or too sticky when wet during spring. Therefore, manure, sawdust and sand, worked through clay soil bring it up to a desirable, friable gardening condition.

Loose, open, sandy soils, from which the essential plant food drains or leaches away, require to be given more cohesive and fertile properties made, as is right soil, except for sand and sawdust.

pouvoir d'absoudre

Le symbolisme de la liturgie qui entoure ces moments solennels est bien en relief que la cérémonie du jeune lévite au service du Seigneur doit être semblable et irréversible. Un simple mortel peut se mettre offrande devant un tel pouvoir mis entre ses faibles mains, devenir la terrible responsabilité qui apparaît à ses yeux. Il est le lien entre le ciel et l'univers, celui qui est chargé de la mission divine sur la terre la Redemption! Mais c'est le Christ qui l'a appelé à son fonctionnaire sublimes, et c'est là la source de sa confiance.

Ce sont quelques unes des pensées que font Excellences Pie naître dans son homme. C'est le Christ qui appelle à son service et non pas tous qui choisissent d'être ses ministres. En plus d'être un homme marqué d'un destin, il faut le caractère sacerdotal le prêtre est chargé d'une mission sublime et aussi des pouvoirs pour l'accomplir. Un personnel prépare souvent dans le cœur d'une maman, parfois d'une sœur ou religieuse; par les pieuses supplications de sa mère. Par attitude à la mère du nouveau prêtre et à sa famille, pour l'avoir encouragé et soutenu sur la route.

Les premiers bénédiction qui tombe de ses mains fraîches consacrées fut pour lévêque de qui il venait de recevoir les Ordres sacrées. Puis descendant les degrés du sanctuaire avec une grâce et une aisance peu communes de part et d'autre, ses mains se pauvres en un geste de bénédiction tant et aussi de présenter sur la tête de sa mère, puis des membres de sa famille et de nombreux parents et amis. Il donna une autre bénédiction sur la Communauté des Sœurs Grises et une dernière sur la mère dans la Communauté des Sœurs de la Providence, bâtisseuses providentielles de notre cité, la mère Communauté laïcat accompagnée

Les dames semblent s'être surpassées en goût décoratif, en habileté culinaire, et ceux qui ont pu apprécier leur talent savent que ce n'est pas peu dire Notre langage est approprié à ce banquet un groupe de grands Evêques, de belle beauté d'expression, de belles phrases d'encouragement, de félicitations et de souhaits de bonheur et de prospérité

Mgr Bernard Pere Cure, Mgr Labbe Georges Tardif introduisent les orateurs dans cet ordre Mgr Lachey, Labbe Georges, autrefois cure de cette paroisse, qui tous les part d'un de ses souvenirs chers celui d'avoir donné le Baptême au nouveau prêtre Il félicita aussi la mémoire de ses prédécesseurs combien religieuses et combien dévouées nous dit-il ont de remercier souvent les cours de ses voyages, dans les villages lui-même accueilles vers la vie religieuse. Il est qui a été un jour de Saint-Pierre Il rendit des mots admirables pour les parents, grands-parents, ses compagnons de classe, ses amis, ses anciens, enfin tous ceux qui ont contribué à la formation de l'abbé de Saint-Sacrement, offrit leurs prières pour le jeune prêtre et les bénédictions de consolation

Nous nous joignons à tous les paroissiens pour adresser à Excellences nos félicitations et nos vœux de long et heureux apostolat

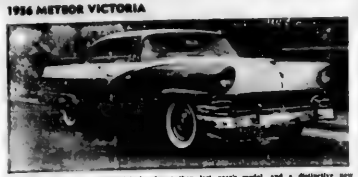
1956 METEOR VICTORIA



A road like ace and car-built lasters lower than last year's model, and a distinctive new V-energy grille are offered on the 1956 Meteor Victoria, shown above. New styling of the side trim emphasizes the car's new dimensions for passenger comfort. The Victoria is one of 14 models which will be built in four series for 1956 — the 254 cu. inch Monarch, Meteor, Meteor Deluxe, and the 291 cu. inch Meteor Rideau 6-Passenger Sedan, the Victoria is offered with a choice of two engines — a 291 horsepower overhead valve V-8 engine with four-barrel carburetor and dual exhaust. To be displayed publicly on September 30, the 1956 Meteors are equipped with new "Safeguard" safety features offered for the first time by any Canadian company — such as double grip door latches, "foolguard" steering wheel, special combination lamps for rear colours, stronger seat mount ting, and optional seat belts and crash cushioning suite la parole se borna à adresser des félicitations et à remercier les entrepreneurs sur l'importance d'une bonne éducation chrétienne dans la famille Il avait d'ailleurs, durant son sermon, exprimé tous les sentiments de son cœur à l'occasion de cette ordination sacerdotale

Ce fut ensuite le tour du jeune prêtre, dont la parole douce mais ferme fut accueillie par un silence religieux qui montra que ce qui montra de son cœur pour le bonheur, ce fut surtout à la reconnaissance à Dieu d'abord d'avoir daigné l'appeler à la haute dignité du sacerdoce, puis à tous ceux qui ont contribué à l'éclosion de la vocation en son âme et à son développement Il adressa ensuite un hommage filial à son père, mort alors que l'heure n'était que double aux, mais qui l'a sans doute protégé et guidé du Haut jusqu'à sa ordination à ses côté, qui avait veille avec tant de soins et d'amour sur sa jeune âme à l'aurore de sa vie était maintenant accomplie, il vous fait part de joindre de sa mère de consacrer son dernier moment à Dieu dans la vie religieuse Notre admiration et nos vœux à cette vaillante

Après les remerciements du Reverend Père Curé à l'adresse de tous ceux qui ont offert leur collaboration, tout les visiteurs et à nous-mêmes, les prêtres, le sont dispersés en attendant de nous réunir ce soir pour le sermon du Saint-Sacrement, offrir leurs prières pour le jeune prêtre et recevoir sa bénédiction

The Traffic Safety Lane
By J. W. McKAY
Supervisor Motor Vehicle Branch, Edmonton

Once again the day has come to school. In a good many cases (alert or not) it's an exciting day, in some it may be anything but

Outside of the other there is a lot of activity — school bus Many will have to ride in the bus for the first time. What excitement! Waiting for the bus at the roadside, riding to and from school, getting off and reporting home the day's wonderful day it has been but, there is another side to the picture There is the juvenile traffic accident which sometimes leaves boys and girls crippled for life

Let me give you a few hints on how to avoid accidents. First of all when you get to the bus stop in the morning stay on the side of the road where the bus stops, do not play around There may be other vehicles coming and if you are playing or scuffling you will not notice the vehicle There was an accident caused by just such a occurrence on the part of two boys. They were pushing, pushing and bumping one another on the road. A vehicle was coming Just before the vehicle came to a halt, the boy on the one boy pushed the other right in front of the vehicle. The driver saw what took place but didn't completely stop before he hit the boy The kid received a broken leg. This accident happened on the first day of school and he was unable to take the bus and go to school until after Christmas

Then when you are on the bus take your seat and stay seated Those who shift want to wrestle, push and poke are very risky This distracts the driver's attention from his driving He may even have to withdraw his attention off the road and the bus could be hit by another vehicle or it could go into the ditch and upset it. Be fast with the bus driver Do not play around in the bus

Then the time comes to get off at the home stop. When you get off the bus and have to cross the road, do so when the bus is stopped Cross the road in front of the bus and not behind Of course, make sure that there is no oncoming vehicles in the immediate vicinity I'm sure the bus driver will give you all the assistance he can to make sure you arrive home safely

Then when you are across the road go straight home Do not turn around with your friends because you may get pre-occupied in something else or start to wrestle around and forget traffic and get involved in an accident

We want you to have the best time of your life when going to school, whether you ride a bus or not

May the 1955-56 season be excellent free

Canadian Legion And Auxiliary Plan Fall Carnival Oct. 28, 29, 30

SIX QUEENS ENTER POPULARITY FOR PRIZE TRIP TO VANCOUVER

The winners of fortunes will be turning for fun lovers of St Paul on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 28, 29 and 30th., when the St Paul Legion and Ladies' Auxiliary will sponsor a big three day Fall Carnival.

Plans were drawn at a meeting of [illegible] held recently by President Maurice Maillard. The gala affair will be held in the Legion Hall, all decorated for the purpose and lined up with over 16 games and attractions for the occasion. There will be bingo during the full three days, special attractions for the kiddies, and we mean

To keep the interest at a high point of enthusiasm in the Carnival, six queens have been selected to run in a popularity contest. The raffle in connection with this offers some real prizes to ticket purchasers willing to give the queen of their choice a vote

The girls' nominations as the royal six has been enticed with an offer of a free trip to the coast for the winner and one of the girls a friend . . . send your favorite on a holiday.

The six girls in the race are Miss Laurette Cottu, Miss Yvonne Rando, Miss Laurette Ouellette, Miss Lauvette Belland, Miss [illegible] and Miss Jeanne Gervais There's your pick [illegible]

Rain and Snow Hold Back Harvest Work

Rain and snow, along with overcast weather have held up all harvesting operations to a halt in the St Paul District Cutting of all grains is well advanced, but considerable threshing remains to be done Percentages threshed wheat 35 per cent, oats 30 per cent, barley 70 per cent

Rain has occurred at all points in the Peace River District and harvesting operations have been brought to a halt. Cutting is nearly finished and average amounts threshed are 50 per cent and Oats 30 per cent. Barley 20 per cent, Rye 85 per cent.

SUMMARY Cold weather moved into Alberta early this week bringing rain or snow to all parts of the Province The heaviest precipitation occurred in northern areas with up to 2" north of Edmonton. Harvesting has been brought to a standstill and a protracted period of warm, dry weather will be needed before operations can be resumed in the southeastern part of the Province harvesting is nearing completion, while in the central and northern areas 50 per cent to 80 per cent of the threshing remains to be done.

Supernuation By-Law Given Second and Third Reading Granting L.P. Meunier $1,000

TED THIBOUX ASSISTANT SECRETARY; COUNCIL ASKS JAYCEES RUN ARENA

Superannuation by-law to grant Mr. L. P Meunier, retired Secretary-Treasurer, $1,000.00 for services rendered after nineteen years, was given second and third reading at a Town meeting, Monday attended by all the council members.

Before the by-law was enforced, a motion to amend the first reading was made by Mr. J. A. Beauregard, seconded by that in addition to the $1,000 allowance a further $100 per month be paid to Mr. Meunier or $1200. for a total gratuity of $2,200.

The motion was defeated when no seconder would back up Mr Beauregard

On the show of hands in favor of the $1,000 superannuation, 4 councillors gave their approval, one, Mr George Perry registered his vote against and Mr J A Beauregard abstained from voting Those in favor were Mr Ordonne Lefaive, Mr Romeo Bedard, Mr A. Joly and Mr Jules Dagon.

By-law No. 214 for the $1,000 gratuity superseded a previous by-law proposing a superannuation of $7,200 representing Mr Meunier's aggregate salary for the past two years, in the employ of the Town. This by-law was later rescinded through procedure brought upon the Council by ratepayers who confronted the legislators with a delegation and a petition against it.

Among other business transacted by the Council was the $25,000 of debentures which will be used for the new Sidewalk building program has been postponed until next year.

The Council heard a delegation from the St. Paul Hockey Club headed by Terry Labossiere, inquiring about Arena management in order to make plans for the coming hockey season

After discussing that matter with council members, the Labossiere Committee withdrew at the meeting, a unanimous motion went on record to

pah Japanese if they were willing to take over the management for the coming year Council and executive members will meet to discuss acceptance terms at a special meeting for the purpose

Two applications were read for the position of Assistant secretary the choice being awarded to Mr Ted Theroux, St Paul.

Unemployment Insurance Rates Change Upwards

Under Canada's new Unemployment Insurance Act, effective October 2, three major changes have been made in the system of contributions to the unemployment insurance fund. Contributions are now related to weekly earnings rather than to hourly earnings, three higher earnings classes have been added and the scale of contributions has been revised.

The change from a daily to weekly contribution system was made to simplify the system and to start had arisen from the operation of the five-day week. By making weekly change it would be simple, it was thought, to adjust weekly rates to a basis of a five-day, or four-day week. The weekly system also makes it easier to record contributions and determine periods of unemployment where there is short-time employment or where a holiday falls in the middle of the week.

The higher earnings classes were added to give higher benefits to employees. This was necessary in view of the increase in the cost of living and wage rates since the previous amendment in 1952.

The new scale of contributions is on a more equal basis, as between earnings classes Under the old Act, contributions as a percentage of average earnings were less than one per cent to more than three per cent Under the 1955 Act, the rate will only be from one per cent to 1.4 per cent, which is about the minimum variation possible using stamps of fixed denomination.

Unveil Monument In Honor Of Northern Pioneer

A monument to Sheridan Lawrence, a pioneer of the Peace River district of Alberta who settled at Fort Vermilion in 1893, was unveiled on the grounds of St James' Cathedral at Peace River on Sunday, September 25 ... was erected by the Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources on the recommendation of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada.

Mr Lawrence came to Fort Vermilion at the age of 16 and soon became the North's first mail-carrier, travelling 1400 miles by flour a year A local demand for land led to the establishment of small meat-packing plant, thus becoming the first meat packer of the North Later, he established and operated the first cement mill in the northern part of Canada.

The present town of Fort Vermilion was founded on a portion of the land he had settled. The community was known as Lawrence's Point, was the largest and school were built at Mr. Lawrence's own expense, it was there the first newspaper, photographs, mounted heads, fo-ills, and other articles that are old, odd or interesting All articles will be well cared for. You are welcome to visit our museum which is Elk Point -13

Mr Lawrence's development of a strong community in the Peace River to northern boundaries encouraged the building of other agricultural districts further south and After his retirement to the northern frontier lived at Peace River town until his death in 1929.

His widow unveiled the memorial at Sunday's ceremony which is constructed by the Peace River town committee and the Peace River Chamber of Commerce Mayor James M Mann of Peace River was chairman while Rt Rev R J Pierce, Anglican Bishop of Athabasca, and Rt Rev Arthur Boucher, Roman Catholic Bishop of Athabasca spoke of Mr Lawrence and family The monument was presented for unveiling by Professor W H Lang, of Edmonton, Alberta member of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board.

TOUGH FALL PLOWING Shows the DIFFERENCE

WD-45 TRACTOR

Now that it's time to check on your fall plowing power, try the Allis-Chalmers WD-45 Tractor on your farm.

With the combination of the mighty POWER-CRATER engine and Automatic Traction Booster, you can plow on schedule this fall — whether conditions are tough or normal.

When it's time for other fall work, change-over is simple and quick. SNAP-COUPLER reduces hitching time almost to seconds. And Power-Shift Wheels are spaced to the correct setting in minutes.

Let us demonstrate the difference in fall plowing power that can be yours with the WD-45 Tractor. Its price will save you hundreds of dollars.

THE POWER WITHIN

There is a healing force within the human body that is always on the job — repairing, building, immunizing, stabilizing, taking care of everything the body needs to keep it healthy That, in a sentence, is the basic principle of Chiropractic

This powerful force is the nervous system. The nerves are constantly carrying sensations to the brain, informing the inner intelligence of the various things the body needs In response to these communications, the energy are sent out over the nerve lines which set the glands and muscles to work, sometimes assimilating, transferring, exchanging, eliminating, or doing whatever your health needs require — and doing it without discomfort and without any conscious effort on your part

When pain or discomfort or pressure is a warning that something has gone wrong. The nerves in the affected area have been unable to get their normal supply of nerve energy from the brain Nature's lines of communication and supply have been cut Chiropractors have found that in most cases this is due to falls or other mishaps, which jar one or more of the vertebrae out of spine out of line with their neighbors. In the spine, the largest nerves on the nerve trunks radiating from the spine and nearest to it, are completely the flow of nerve impulses.

Pro-ved that condition is not allowed to continue too long it is a simple matter for your Chiropractor to restore you to good health. By chiropractic adjustment he will free the nerves from pressure and so restore to the affected organs and tissues, an adequate flow of the energy they need.

Pain and discomfort should always be treated for what they are — a warning At the word delay may be dangerous at the best it will lengthen your period of recovery You should see your Chiropractor at the first sign of an ache or pain

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

By proclamation the Governor General of Canada will decree that the week of October 3 to 9 be observed as Fire Prevention Week across the Nation.

That week is always the calendar week including October 9, the anniversary of the great Chicago fire of 1871. Such a disaster serves to underline the necessity of bringing before the public a much needed awareness of Fire Prevention.

Fire Prevention Week should not be regarded just as a seven-day period for projecting fire prevention programs, displaying posters all over the country, and holding mass meetings. Rather, it should be regarded as the week of initiation of a year-round activity promoted to make our country a safer place to live in with fire.

Fire Prevention Week is not a new institution. It has, over a period of years, developed enormous significance and earned a respected place in the regular affairs of every progressive community in Canada which should be carefully planned so as to enlist the co-operation of every citizen and of every organization in the community for a concerted effort to prevent, so far as possible loss of life and property as a result of fire.

Response to Fire Prevention Week should be spontaneous and enthusiastic. All citizens sincere in their desire to see the country's economy make progress have a stake in Fire Prevention Week. They realize full well that property destroyed by fire is irrevocably lost and the community and the nation suffer as the consequence of such loss. Economic disaster to a community often follows on the heels of a large fire.

Let us look at the latest available fire loss record in our country. The total property loss by fire was $94,276,-226.00 representing a loss per person of $5.75. These losses represents an increase of almost $4,000,000 over the previous year when the total loss was $90,962,255, with a loss per person of $5.81. The record shows 67,319 fire, an increase of 3,416 over the previous year. The loss of life by fire was 477, as compared to 562 in the previous year

It is indeed tragic to note the record shows that more than half of all the fires in Canada occur in homes. This fact alone should emphasize beyond any doubt the need for fire prevention.

This heavy toll of destruction of life and property by fire must not continue. A strong and vigorous campaign should be launched during Fire Prevention Week and followed up without restraint throughout the year.

BOXCAR ALLOCATION

The Canadian Wheat Board has announced a change in the method by which boxcars are to be allocated to country elevators. For some time the railways have followed a general plan of distributing boxcars equally among elevators, that is, one car, one elevator Now the railways have been instructed to distribute boxcars among the elevators at a point in proportion to the number of unfilled shipping orders both elevator holds.

For example, if there is three elevators at a point, one having 15 shipping orders, another 10 and a third 5, cars will now be divided on a 3-2-1 basis. This arrangement is much to be preferred to the one which prevailed in the past. However, it is still not the answer to boxcar allocation. Shipping orders are divided among elevators by the Canadian Wheat Board under a formula which they have worked out and which it knows only to themselves. Apparently, some consideration is given to the wishes of producers with the most popular elevators getting the most cars. But the Wheat Pool maintains that only farmers can decide where they wish to deliver their grain. Only when grain producers have an opportunity to express their preference will boxcars be allocated on a proper basis. Only then will they have the assurance of the opportunity to patronize the elevators of their own choice. —Wheat Pool Budget

ANOTHER BUILDING BOOM

Schools are on, the only kind of buildings we are going to need a lot more of in the coming years. Homes for the aged are in the same category says The Financial Post. All across the country special projects of this nature are underway and it will be a long time before we can hope to catch up with demand.

Virtually all this special building is being done by municipal or other public authorities. Whether or not private capital can be interested, the field seems large enough for both. Not only is the number of people over 65 in our population increasing substantially, but thanks to old age and other pensions they have money to give them a degree of independence The recent trend in housing, too, is another factor. In the old days of big houses it was no trouble to provide an extra room or even a floor for the old folk. Today the average family in a five or six room bungalow has no extra room at all.

Royal Commission Investigating Government Startled Sessions

By BEN MARSH

EDMONTON — The royal commission investigation into the opposition charges again the government opened its sessions in Edmonton last week But it isn't investigating anything and was adjourned after being in session for slightly more than an hour

The hearing will resume Monday, Oct. 2 in the court house, when lawyers representing the government intend to be prepared to produce evidence

Nothing earth-shaking came out of the initial sitting, which was held mainly to discuss procedure, but there were a number of interesting comments which arose

For example, it appears that the Liberal party is the only organized outside of the government which is prepared to spend any sums of money on the investigation So far, official figures have been released, but it is estimated that the Liberals will be spending around $200 a day while the hearings are in progress

J. V. H. Milvain, Calgary lawyer and a prominent Conservative has been retained by the Alberta Liberal Association to cross-examine witnesses and produce evidence on behalf of the party, which formed the official opposition in the Alberta legislature.

This is perhaps only right, since many of the charges and counter-charges to be investigated originally from Liberal MLA's and candidates. However, the background leading to the revelation is assumed by the Liberal Association is interesting.

During the special session of the house in August, Liberal Leader, J. Harper Prowse asked Premier Manning of the Government would consider appointing — and paying — legal counsel to look after the interests of the opposition He pointed out that the government had appointed James Mahaffy, Calgary lawyer as commission counsel, and that Mr. Mahaffy was to be paid by the public treasury

Mr Prowse said that since his committee was to probe charges made against the government, the government was more or less on trial." He observed that "the people on trial selected the counsel."

Mr. Prowse said that since the it would be in the interest of the public and the commission to have an "opposition counsel."

Premier Manning pointed out that Mr Mahaffy was not appointed as government counsel but was given the job to represent the government He said Mr Mahaffy's job is to represent counsel was to help the commission obtain all the information available He suggested that Mr. Prowse ask the commission to appoint an additional counsel.

Mr Prowse later wrote to the commission members, requesting counsel, but was refused on the ground that the commission could not appoint a lawyer for every group which wanted to be represented

When the first sitting of the commission was held last week, there were two lawyers present, one was Mr Mahaffy and his assistant William Morrow of Edmonton, along with Mr Milvain and another Calgary lawyer, S. J. Helman. Mr Helman, whose appointment had not been announced earlier, is acting for the prowse and the government departments likely to be involved in the investigation.

War is Waged on Disease in Canada's Northland

A staff of 333, composed of whites, Indians and Eskimos are working together at Moose Factory hospital at James Bay to rid Canada's northland of disease. The deadliest being TB. One of 19 hospitals established by the Indian health services branch of the Department of health and welfare, the hospital at Moose Factory, Ont., every year takes care of hundreds of Indian and Eskimo patients. The latter is presented above by three-pounds Moses, seen with nurse Rosalie Davies, who has been in Canada only six months from Ireland.

Electricity Line is Under Construction

Mr J. C. Blair (centre), Manager of Columbia Electric Limited, has announced that construction has started on the 138-mile transmission line from the Grande Prairie plant to the Bluesky Lake Caribou The new transmission system is similar to the one under construction by Columbia Power Corporation in the Crowsnest Area, Cranbrook Valley, Burgess Heights and Elko. There are also about 100 farms within reasonable distance of the line and over half of them have already signified their intention of taking electric service

At Sturgeon Lake, 77 miles east of Grande Prairie the transformer unit will provide power for the main pumping station of the Peace River to Pine Lake pipeline Limited. A tap point will serve the Sturgeon Lake Indian Reserve and the Metis Settlement of Peavine. Another tap will serve the Canadian Utilities substation at the Smoky River oil field. Two 138-kv Mountain Pipe Line, to be transported over the British Columbia

According to Mr. Dale, the 69-kv transmission line will cost $280,000 Approximately 20 miles east of Grande Prairie, it will be necessary to erect one span of more than a thousand feet across the Smoky River It took of the Rocky Mountains Pipe Line Co. Ltd. and Canadian Utilities contracted the work. Construction started in March, 1964 and the Peace River time

It is expected that this new line will be in service by the first of November.

An interesting sidelight to the announcement came when Mr Dave commented the Grande Prairie Plant Now being installed under the improvement extension program Alberta Hydro with the new transmission line to

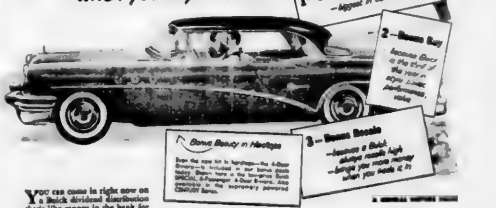
- and then some!
So - you get a triple bonus when you buy a Buick



You can come in right now on a Buick dividend distribution that's like money in the bank for you. And a look at the nation's new-car sales figures will tell you why.

This year, Buick sales are moving best every high-water mark in the book—and they are going higher day by day!

So we're declaring an extra dividend—for you. On top of the long trade-in allowances we have been making all year, we're adding a bonus allowance.

But you'll be getting a lot more than a great deal. You'll be getting a great car—the hottest selling Buick in history.

You'll be getting Buick's far-in-advance styling, Buick's mighty V8 power, Buick's highly envied all-coil-spring ride, Buick's extra size and room and comfort and solidity of structure. And you'll be getting the performance thrill of the year—Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—the switch-pitch transmission that's taken the country by storm.

Come in today and see for yourself that there's never been a car like this before—and never a deal so easy to make.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick has ever offered. It is standard on 8-cyl. Roadmaster, optional at modest extra cost on other Buicks.

Thrill of the year is Buick—

"SOUVENIR" OF CANUCK'S VISIT TO U.K.

By special permission of the British Amateur Athletic Association, 18-year old Virginia Lenard of Edmonton was flown home to Canada. It is the Prescott Memorial Trophy awarded each year in the 220-yards free-style of the annual British Empire Games. The trophy has been won by other than British athletes only twice since it was donated in 1912. Virginia is the first Canadian girl to win it. She has been out of Britain to Saskatchewan and Alberta upon the year to celebrate their Fiftieth Anniversary as we are reminded of the striking development in agriculture and industry that have taken place in these two provinces since the turn of the century.

CONGRATULATIONS UPON A HALF-CENTURY OF PROGRESS

To a province of which a pioneering organization can take pride in the accomplishments of its citizens in both urban and rural districts, a province which has given to a nation and a people unbounded faith and confidence in the future, we extend our congratulations and best wishes for continued progress and prosperity.

Henry Wise Wood Memorial Bursaries Offered By Wheat Pool

Each year the Alberta Wheat Pool awards six bursaries valued at $75 each to assist farm young people to attend the schools of agriculture that is given to a boy and a girl attending each of Alberta's agricultural schools.

These bursaries are named the Henry Wise Wood Memorial Bursaries in memory of Alberta's outstanding farm leader.

Winners must be members of a 4-H club sponsored by the Alberta Wheat Pool. These include the wheat, forage and garden clubs numbering 113 in all.

Young people who are interested in applying for one of these Henry Wise Wood Memorial Bursaries should contact their district agriculturist or district representative without delay as the annual term begins on October 16 at all three schools.

The Alberta Wheat Pool, as a farmer organization, is intensely interested in this bursary arrangement. It recognizes the need of developing farm leaders for the future. These bursaries not only are worthy of acknowledgment and awards made by the Pool to assist in the education and development of keen young people

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith are happy to announce the arrival of a beautiful Chevrolet Bel Air, Two-Tone Hardtop.

A wonderful surprise for Jimmy and Caroline, and Mother and Dad are just too excited for words.

Bumper to bumper it's a real beauty — easy to handle, yet full of pep and raring to go.

You should see the admiring glances it receives.

An addition to the family we are very proud of, and we know we are in for a great deal of fun and joy together.

Why not add a Chevrolet to your family?

VETS ARE GOOD RISK, RECORDS SHOW

One of the thousands of World War veterans who financed a farming venture through Veterans' Land act funds, Al Cuddy of Streetsville, Ont., surveys his income-on-the-hoof, a $25 000 batch of Hereford cattle. Al, a former V.I.A. officer, bought his farm in 1946 with the help of a $9,000 V.L.A. loan, now values his turkey farm holdings at $150,000. First of the V.L.A. land grants were made in 1945. Since then veterans could not claim unconditional title for ten years, and, with the first of the veterans being given title in their land, Dominion government records show that most of those who borrowed the government money have lived up to their contracts and in many cases have benefited enormously.

J. H. Fleming Is Honored By A Memorial

Fifty years ago, J. H. Fleming, a leading Toronto naturalist, banded a robin in his garden at 267 Rusholme Road, Toronto, becoming the first Canadian to band a bird for scientific study.

On Saturday, September 30, the anniversary of Mr. Fleming's experiment, a memorial was unveiled in High Park, Toronto, to commemorate the first known instance of a bird being banded in Canada. Since Mr. Fleming banded his robin, the bird banding technique has been extended throughout Canada by the Canadian Wildlife Service and other agencies. Knowledge of bird life has been increased by the banding of almost a million wild birds.

The monument was erected by the Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources on the recommendation of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada. J. R. Dymond, of the University of Toronto zoology department, unveiled the memorial at 2:00 p.m., with Professor Fred Lemon of London, chairman of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board, representing the Board and the Northern Affairs.

Audubon Society Asks Hunters To Refrain Shooting White Birds

With the hunting season in full swing, the time is ripe for a mention of a hanging evening, the shooting of which is completely prohibited by law both in Canada and the United States. This, theoretically, affords them protection, but has failed in practice. On the entirely untouching ground known as the continent, the sanctuary of Aransas in Texas, precise annual counts of the whole population have been made since 1938. During the 16-year period, 29 young have safely reached Aransas while during the same period, 16 other birds have been lost. In other words, the total increase in 16 years has been precisely four birds! Losses on the wintering range are known to be extremely low, the overwhelming number of casualties occurring on migration, particularly in the fall. Some of the causes of these losses

28th. Annual Convention Of Chambers Of Commerce Oct. 3-6

The fact that the power, strength and future of the Chamber of Commerce movement lies in its development at the grass roots level will be highlighted at the 28th Annual Meeting of The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, to be held in Winnipeg, Oct 3, 4, 5 and 6, 1955.

Business and community leaders from all 10 provinces, and delegates from many of the Canadian Chamber's more than 700 member Boards and Chambers across the nation will be in attendance.

Resolutions on many issues of national interest, submitted by member Boards and Chambers will be considered and voted upon. Each Board and Chamber has a vote of equal weight, irrespective of size. These resolutions adopted by the Annual Meeting become the policy of the Canadian Chamber. They are presented to the Federal Government and become the basis for the various submissions by Ottawa and the public statements of the Chamber throughout the year.

Theme of the meeting "Freedom's Work For Everyone" is based on the belief that if the Canadian economy is to progress and develop along lines that will ensure the prosperity of all citizens, there must be a mutual understanding of the policies and aims of the various segments of our economy. During three panel sessions, speakers and businessmen in attendance will explore the interdependence of capital, labour, management and government in the fields of resource development, trade and agriculture.

Among prominent speakers will be C. H. Cunningham, President, E. P. Taylor, Director and Chairman of the Executive Committee, Brewing Corporation of Canada Ltd., Toronto; Dr. Omer Gerin-Lajoie, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Province of Quebec; Dr. Arthur Surveyer, Montreal Consulting Engineer; Dr. Jean Marchand, Secretary General, Confederation of National Trade Unions, Montreal; Dr. Clarence Decatur Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa; Dr. Walter Gordon, Chairman, Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Toronto; Dr. Donald Gordon, Chairman and President, Canadian National Railways, Montreal; Dr. Arnold Heeney, Secretary to the Cabinet, Ottawa; Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, Deputy Minister of Resources and Development, Ottawa; Dr. Hugh Templeton, Vice-President, Canadian Pacific Railway Company, Montreal; Dr. Donald Mitchell, Chairman, Canadian Wheat Board, Winnipeg; Dr. Walter Harris, Minister of Finance, Ottawa; Dr. Jean Lesage, Minister of Resources, Province of Quebec; Dr. Ralph Campney, Minister of National Defence, Ottawa; Dr. Lionel Chevrier, Minister of Transport, Ottawa; Dr. Howard Green, Minister of Public Works, Ottawa; Dr. Walter Dinsdale, Minister of Veterans Affairs, Ottawa; Dr. Jean Drapeau, Mayor of Montreal; Dr. Hon. Ernest Manning, Premier of Alberta; Dr. Hon. Leslie Frost, Premier of Ontario; Dr. Hon. Maurice Duplessis, Premier of Quebec; Dr. Hon. Walter Shaw, Premier of New Brunswick; Dr. Hon. Robert Stanfield, Premier of Nova Scotia; Dr. Hon. Joseph Smallwood, Premier of Newfoundland; Dr. Hon. Alexander Campbell, Premier of Prince Edward Island.

Holding of the 28th Annual Meeting in Winnipeg brings to mind the fact that the Chamber was organized as a national body at a conference in Winnipeg in 1925.

Safety Sam Says...

Observe The "Right-of-Way" Rule Of The Road

Failing to yield the right-of-way constitutes the greatest single cause of traffic accidents. Under the "good manner" code of the road, the car on the right has the right-of-way. Furthermore, section 51 of the Vehicles and Highway Traffic act, states when 2 vehicles approach or enter an intersection at approximately the same time – the driver of the vehicle that is on the right shall have the right of way.

Make it habit to approach all intersections with caution and at a reduced speed, and always give the car on your right the right-of-way. Remember, in the event of an accident, failure to yield the right-of-way can result in a charge.

The medicine was then flown from Toronto to Montreal in the jet and speeded on to France by commercial airliner.

Safety Council Release Shows Increase In Traffic Fatalities

Sixteen Albertans met death on provincial highways during the month of August, 1955. This was two less than in the same month last year, but fatalities in the Province for the period Jan. 1st, to August 31st, show a disappointing increase. According to figures released by the Alberta Safety Council, 126 people have been killed during the eight months quoted, as compared with 121 in the same period in 1954.

Of the sixteen fatalities recorded for August, twelve were killed in accidents on the highway. The other four were reported by Calgary police.

Reported accidents showed a marked decrease during August this year, but the accidents that have been more severe as injury was unusually high. While 387 persons were injured in 1471 accidents in August, 1954, the figures for August, 1955, are 347 injured in 1013 accidents. Edmonton had 109 injured, a record high month for that city.

A breakdown of the injuries in the last two major cities during August shows that in Edmonton more passengers were injured than any other group, while Calgary's injured were largely pedestrians. Injuries to drivers were the next highest in both cities, while bicycle and motorcycle riders were next, in that order. It must be remembered that there are fewer bicycles and motorcycles than cars.

Accident reports for the first eight months indicate that the bulk of injuries in city accidents are suffered by passengers and pedestrians.

With the hours of darkness increasing from now until February, the Alberta Safety Council urges all drivers and walkers in the cities and on the highways to use extra care. Accidents, injuries and deaths are up over last year's right month figure. It is hoped that the next four months will show a decrease in

Fire Prevention Week To Be Observed Here

With the fall season here and the winter fast approaching, the drying hay which was last summers green grass, the increased fire hazards of last summers dust, the weathered electrical wiring, the absence of other small fire hazards may cause discomfort to you and your family.

The week of October 9th.-16th., has been designated as fire prevention week and will be observed by the International Fire Prevention Committee.

Fire prevention every year is issued in the form of a newspaper of the Chicago Fire — October 8th — one of the worlds greatest fire catastrophies. On that day the larger part of the city was destroyed. This will bring to our minds that the same could happen to us in our village of Elk Point, although on a much smaller scale, but with equally disastrous results.

During this fire prevention week, I ask all property owners and tenants to take some time to check their dwellings and other yard buildings, stores, warehouses, garages, etc., for any conditions likely to cause or contribute to the spread of fire and to have all such conditions corrected or removed.

I would like to mention some of the most common existing fire hazards in your home:

Matches, the most hazardous little things when left accessible to children or just thrown away before being put out. Always keep matches in the cupboard and out of reach of small children.

Live cigarette butts thrown out by careless smokers, or smoking in bed are two of the greatest fire starters. Clean all existing grasses, garbage, old wood piles, etc. and always be sure your cigarette is absolutely dead if you must toss it away behind buildings or out of windows.

Stoves, furnaces, chimneys and stove pipes should all be checked before the cold weather sets in and your heating accessories opened up or filled up to capacity.

Check your electrical wiring, size of fuse plugs, never use silver paper, pennies or other metal substitute of any kind. If in any doubt as to wiring always consult a qualified electrician who will give you advice and will be ready to correct any defects.

Cleaning solvent and high test gas used in a home for clothes cleaning are always more dangerous than dynamite.

Never store any cleaning fluids inside a building, but always store them in a sealed metal container.

These are just some of the most common fire hazards. There are countless others.

As Fire Chief, I will have personal interest in all residential and business sections in the village of Elk Point for any fire hazards. Therefore, I beg that everyone of yo uthink your dwelling and business places, keep all possible fire starters and spreaders down to the minimum. Always advise your fire brigade about any dangerous fire hazards and they will do their utmost to protect you against disaster.

We have witnessed last winter where hundreds were lost. Unnecessary business confusing heavy losses both due to fire.

Let's all do everything possible to prevent seeing a repetition of such conditions again.

This reminds me of the 1904 Fire Prevention Slogan:

"LET'S GROW UP NOT BURN UP."

Peter Yerchin,
Fire Chief

Two Sisters Join After A 45 Year Separation

A 45-year separation was ended recently for two sisters who were bridged a 2,700-mile gap between Slimey Heights and Alberta, Canada, to hold a family reunion.

Mrs. Alex Petrosky of Innisfree, Alberta, travelled by automobile with her family to see her sister, Mrs. Peter Kawulich of 207 Haverlands Blvd., Elmira Heights, for the first time since 1916.

The sisters and their families have spent the last week reviewing events of their lives and renewing old friendships.

The sisters were born in Austria and came to this country early in life.

Sophie Mosolesh was the first to arrive in this country. She went to Philadelphia in 1906, moved to Auburn and married Alex Petrosky.

In 1906 her sister, Helen Mosolesh came to Auburn to live with her sister and husband. In 1910 she married Peter Kawilich and the couple moved to Sayre. That was the last time the sisters saw each other until this week. Mrs. Petrosky is now 73 and Mrs. Kawilich is 67.

In 1911 Mr. and Mrs. Petrosky moved to Alberta to the north-western section of Canada, where they engaged in many years operating a farm and raising a large family.

The sisters corresponded frequently but the 2,700-mile barrier was too great to bridge until this year when the Petrosky's visited here on a vacation.

Since their separation Mrs. Petrosky has had 12 children, six of whom are still living. Mrs. Kawilich has two sons, William and Metro, of Elmira Heights.

Accompanying Mrs. Petrosky here for the reunion was her husband, a son, Paul, his wife, Helen, and their daughter.

The Petrosky's plan to return to Canada tomorrow with a hope that the Kawilich family will soon return the trip by vacationing in Canada.

Mary Murrayski and Mrs. J. C. Siler are now clerking in Parker Bros.

Jill Penton entertained a number of her friends at a birthday party on September 27th.

Everyone in the Elk Point vicinity who knew Ralph Spencer will be pleased to here that he is progressing favorably in the Elk Point Hospital after his sudden illness last week.

Dan Zazulak took forty gallons of honey from two hives last week, which is very good. Peter Hemeluk got twenty gallons from one hive.

Of interest to the Elk Point district is the appointment of Velma Penner to Berry Kerk. We wish to congratulate the young couple.

Money across the miles

A chartered bank makes it a simple matter for you to send money almost anywhere, inside or outside Canada.

You may want to get money to a certain city as a gift on somebody's birthday; or to settle a business account; or to set up a fund which can be drawn upon by a company salesman, branch office or supplier.

It works the other way, too. If you are far from home and short of cash, you can advise your "home" branch to telegraph your money to a point where you can pick it up. Many situations and needs can arise — and a chartered bank has many ways of taking care of them, including the sale of travellers cheques.

This service is one of the many advantages you enjoy as a customer of a chartered bank. Your local branch is an all-round banking service-centre that can be helpful to you in many ways.

Only a chartered bank offers a full range of banking services to all Canada

CURRENT ACCOUNTS
Here your money waits at call for any purpose, in any part of the world or right at home.

SAVINGS DEPOSIT ACCOUNTS
Here your savings earn interest and other benefits as well as offering you a reserve for future needs.

TRAVELLERS CHEQUES
Insures you against theft or loss of your cash, and is readily negotiable everywhere.

I am glad to be here meeting you and talking to you for only 7 min. for this is one of the busy periods of the year. I am looked forward to meeting you all personally in the near future.

It is my wish to be of as much service to you as possible, so please phone, drop a letter or come in to the office if you need any help in your sewing problems.

Many rural mothers must be looking for lunch box ideas, now that school days are here again. Are your children having nothing but fruit with their mid-day lunch at school? We all know what a problem school lunches are, but parents, don't be guilty of taking the easy way out. Try to have more nourishing food in the youngsters' lunch box by including meat in the form of hot cross buns or other foods containing milk which can be served in the thermos bottle or a milk pudding cooked in a thick covered jar.

Little surprises help a great deal in tempting appetites so include something different every day. Make a two-decker sandwich occasionally, maybe a fruit muffin, some dried fruits or even a fancy biscuit

Three food groups should be included in every lunch (protein, mineral, vitamin). They are: meat or meat substitute, a fruit or vegetable or both and milk to eat or drink. Butter or cookies may be added if desired

A good lunch is planned well, packed well and pays well. It will lead to an improvement in the children's health, improvement in their school work and a better outlook on life.

Grandmothers Outrun Younger Competitors

Last year three fun grandmothers won an hilarious tug-o-war contest at annual fall fair held at Burks' Falls, Ont. This year Mrs. Birdie O'Brien, 55, and Mrs. Wesley Peaky did a repeat performance although they were up against younger competitors. Contestants were determined to win. Their winning time for hauling victories at fair was 23 seconds.

Unnecessary Livestock Losses Are Often Due To Delay In Reporting

Disease losses are costly . . . portment of the Veterinary Service Branch through field investigation and case histories of specimens submitted to the Laboratory often show that the losses are frequently unnecessarily high. For example, one swine herd had approximately 25 market weight pigs die of erysipelas before he did anything about feeding and the cause of the disease. With an early diagnosis and prompt treatment with present day drugs, the loss shouldn't have been more than two or three at the most.

In another case three years ago, a feedlot operator had 15 head die before calling his veterinarian to find out the reason. It was simply blackleg and vaccinating early would have prevented most of the loss. Blackleg can even be treated now when the cases are found.

Poultrymen have been known to bring in the last of their laying chicks to find out what caused

. . . In both of all the others. Also, it has come . . . ized losses that cost ranchers have "heaped" that these losses didn't have disappeared. Where they were it, half the animals or more were sick, resulting in heavy losses. An early diagnosis and immediate vaccination would have prevented a heavy loss.

These cases may sound extreme, but they do occur and are very discouraging especially when it is known that the heavy losses could have been drastically reduced by modern veterinary science

Veterinary science through practitioners and the laboratory can provide an accurate diagnosis which is essential to using the correct drugs for the disease concerned. Working hand in hand with the livestock man, the poultryman, the nutritionist, the District Agriculturist and others, the veterinarian can help greatly to reduce disease losses and provide greater production efficiency.

St. Theresa Hospital Presents Its Disaster Institute Programme To 58 Delegates At The Parish Hall

ATHABASCA REGIONAL HOSPITAL MEETING HELD IN ST. PAUL ON SAT.

Ste Theresa Hospital in presenting the programme for "Disaster Institute" to the district hospitals attending an Athabasca Regional meeting on Saturday at the Parish Hall, brought into focus the serious business of civil defense and how the public should be prepared to meet emergencies in case of missile and hydrogen warfare

- Planners of the hospital board were highly commended by Mr. W. Bramley-Moore, Chairman of Health Services Provincial Advisory Committee on Civil Defence.

He said that the fine collaboration and co-operation by the Hospital Board in its planning should set the example and stimulate more interest in civil defence within the municipality and the Town of St. Paul.

"For Civil Defence to be effective," said Dr. Bramley-Moore, "there should be close co-ordination between the civil authorities, Hospitals and each of the sections involved in care of the wounded. the support and handling of refugees.

The morning sessions of the meeting, presided by Dr Bramley-Moore, were officially opened by His Worship Mayor John Van Brabant, who had a word of encouragement for the planners of local defence on the Civil Defence program

Miss L. Kramer of the Alberta Civil Defence Department gave several lectures during the day on hospital disaster planning.

A realistic demonstration on the handling of a group of casualties was presented in the hospital, simultaneously, was given with the aid of volunteer casualties who were "wounded" for the occasion. Made up by Miss Kremer and A. J. Henderson, they represented victims of an imaginary bombing, some with broken legs, arms, gashed faces heads, etc.

A real test for stretcher-bearers was imposed with the delicate handling of Mr. Fred Bowland, amidst down with a broken leg and internal injuries carried into the hospital.

Dr. L.M. Trottier presented the St Theresa disaster plan, explaining how the staff was prepared for the emergency.

The plan, well drafted, deserves great merit and to acquaint our readers of the work involved in this planning, we shall publish excerpts of it over the following issues.

Delegates represented hospitals from Bonnyville, Vegreville, Vilna, Cold Lake, Elk Point, Lamont, Smoky Lake, Blue Quills School and Waterhole.

Six Candidates Fight For Queen's Crown

Much Enthusiasm Over The Contest

As fast as we can print tickets, out they go into the hands of active committees for the Legion Carnival, October 28, 29 and 30, who are pushing sales at a feverish pace.

The girls are really taking the venture seriously and their honors and the trip to the west Coast.

This kind of enthusiasm and advertising for the carnival is certain to produce entertainment at its best when it is staged at the end of the month.

Besides the glamorous crowning of the queen on the evening, you are invited to take in three full days of fun and entertainment on the Legion Midway in the Legion hall. New and varied types of games are being installed in for the occasion, regular prize and cash bingo will also be played.

The Queen Candidates are Misses Lorraine Gervais, Vera Svenda, Rose Prodanuik, Lauretie Ouellette, Laurette Belland and Jeanne Cervais. All lovely girls . . . hard to make a choice of, but we are certain you must have a preference, so buy a ticket to help give one of them the title of queen and win some lovely prizes.

We're letting you know in plenty of time . . . so reserve the date for Friday, October 28, Saturday, October 29, 30 and 30th.

Car Bingo In St. Paul October 15

Coming up on the 15th of October is the Jaycee Car Bingo and play for 19 other valuable prizes at the St Paul Arena.

Advance sale of tickets are now open and have been distributed to all local business places and district points. Mr. Louis Lemieux, in charge of sales, invites you to book your reservations ahead of time. It might be sold out.

And the Jaycees are making a special appeal to the "send them in" of St Paul to patronize this bingo. It's an effort to get out of the red from the reverses suffered in the July first Bingo. They're praying for weather will be just right and that the people of St. Paul don't let them down. Money is always being used for community promotion.

7 Winners In Jaycee World Series Pool

Seven lucky fans (we don't know if they're all Dodger fans) but nevertheless they were equally fortunate in reaping winnings out of the world series.

Participants of the St. Paul Jaycees guessing game of who will win, what games will go the same and in the pinches with the right scores: Ronald St. Jean, Conny Kaszuk, Alberic Bourque, Bill Higgins, Leo Dubois, Alice Bouchard, Cecor Poirier.

Pioneers of the hospital board were highly commended by Mr. W. Bramley-Moore, Chairman of Health Services Provincial Advisory Committee on Civil Defence.

Mr. Albert Landry Dies In Montreal

The sad news of the death of Mr. Albert Landry of Montreal was received in St Paul this week by relatives. He died on Monday at the age of 50 years, suffering from cancer

Mr. Landry, who has a sister, Mrs. Hector Brunoau, and a brother-in-law Landry, living here as well known in St Paul. He is one of the original junior clerks in the Bangue Canadian National in the early days of St Paul and had worked himself into an executive position in the credit department.

Mrs. Brunoau flew in to Montreal to attend the funeral.

Catholic Girl Guides Begin Year's Activities

The St Paul Catholic Girl Guides have begun their year activities

Commenced activities for the year again and its members and captain Mrs. Mervin Jones presented to take part in the proposed program of group games, handicrafts, folk dancing, hikes, etc

The weekly meetings will be held in the elementary school gym on Tuesday p.m. We are counting on the parents' support and enthusiastic response

Caught in Operation "Icefield"

HMCS Labrador lies in ice-locked, top, while preparations are made to blast a way through to more open water. She was beset in heavy pack ice, 15 to 20 feet thick, and ended considerable damage during current operations in the eastern Arctic, and it was thought at one time that she would have to stay there the ice would soon turn in the tide and wind round the propeller to loosen it. However, the Labrador's underwater diving crew managed to explode enough dynamite, shown, to ensure a path in the ice which opened towards the ship. Six engines were quickly brought to the ready and the Labrador was under way again.

Attend Girl Guide Rally In Edm.

Mr R. M. Tarnas and Mrs. Ivy Fuller, the leaders of the local Guide Co. and Brownie Pack, attended the rally held in the Eaton Pavilion in Edmonton Thursday in honor of Lady Baden-Powell, World's Chief Guide and founder of the Girl Guide movement

The rally was attended by a large number of Girl Guide Leaders and Officials and 1400 Guides and Brownies.

Lady Baden Powell was given a great ovation. She addressed the gathering, recalling many interesting incidents and anecdotes in her visits to the 24 countries around the world in which the movement is active

This is her 8th. visit to Canada She affectionately calls all Guides and Brownies her children, of which there are some three and a half million, of all colours, races and creeds.

Lady Baden Powell attended the World Wide Boy Scout Jamboree on Niagara-on-the-lake, before visiting us. She is at present visiting the various Girl Guide headquarters in Canada Her itinerary will take her to U.S. Mexico and Australia before returning home to the Imperial Headquarters in England

Plans are under for a Girl Guide rally in St. Paul, in the near future.

All Guide Co. and Brownie Packs are urged to attend the Provincial Field Commission reports to enrol several Guides that have been missing in every district.

The exact date has not been fixed, but will be announced as soon as final arrangements are made

The members of the local Association held their annual meeting on the 3rd. at the age of 50 years, suffering from cancer

Mr. Landry, who has a sister, Mrs. Hector Brunoau, and a brother-in-law Landry, living here as well known in St Paul. He is one of the original junior clerks in the Bangue Canadian National in the early days of St Paul and had worked himself into an executive position in the credit department.

Mrs. Brunoau flew in to Montreal to attend the funeral.

OBITUARY

We regret to announce the passing of a man well known to Colonye and St Paul, whose home had been recently in Edmonton. Mr Ernest Mutrow Hayhoe.

He leaves to mourn their loss, his wife, Mary Ann Hayhoe, Mrs. Pett and Harry and one daughter Verna, all of Edmonton.

The late Mr Hayhoeger, who was sixty-one years old at the time employed by the C.N.R for over thirty-two years.

Howard and McBride were in charge of funeral arrangements and the floral tributes were most beautiful.

The pall bearers were Gerald Berglinger, Jon Needham, Raymond Nixon, Malcolme Gould, Bill Morrison and Bob Thompson. Too large attendance at the funeral was evidence of the high esteem in which Mr Hayhoeger was held, and he will be greatly missed by his family to whom he was a devoted husband and loving father, also a wide circle of friends

Teachers Meet At Convention

Professor Colodarci Advocates The Return Of Theory To Profession

The cause of illiteracy . . . students of high school . . . was emphasized by the minds of the profession as was advanced this week in St Paul when 210 teachers from over 10 schools of the St Paul-Bonnyville Alberta Teachers Association convened for the annual fall convention Monday and Tuesday, October 3 and 4th.

While the children took an early fall holiday, teachers gathered in the school auditorium for workshop activities, panel discussions, "buzz" sessions and coordinated meetings with their school inspectors.

Dr. Arthur Colodarci, Associate Professor of Education and Psychology, Dalhousie University, Calgary, guest speaker for the Alberta Teachers' Association, in a "challenging" address, brought back to the profession the theory and psychology of today's teachers' problems.

He said that practices of today's schools were because they lack basic theory, but that theory has been tested by sound research and otherwise many of our principles of today are grounded without foundation but to be unsound and unpractical in their application. Everything is done for a reason, which can always be traced back to a well known theory, he said.

He instructed that the theory is itself is the most practical thing in the world.

Dr Colodarci warned that teachers should not teach blindly but they should hypothetically determine in advance what they expect to achieve by the respective methods of instruction they apply in each individual child. He said the moulding period of a child is so small that it is time to deserve deliberate consideration as to its ultimate effect on the student. Teachers should find out what their objectives are, devise a way to achieve them and reach them After that they should re-evaluate them for continuation and improvement if necessary.

"North American Teachers are depending too much on expert opinion which in many cases differs too much on the same problem to be of any value," he said. "Teaching is not a matter of personal opinion but of sound principles proven in every age. Find out who, and know why a certain course is followed."

"Teachers carry out our duties as teachers," concluded Dr Colodarci, "and should begin by counting our own thinking challenge the facts of teaching and position of any one our practices"

Three Cans Of Profession

Mr T O C. Seymour, Assistant General Secretary of the A.T.A. Provincial convention, gave a resume of the teaching profession from three points of view. Mainly at the conventions — exactly what is intended Any professional convenent at least once a year to discuss mutual problems, to see what has changed, old ones are reviewed. all of which helps teachers to keep up with the thinking of the times or well as to modify existing ideas.

There has been a great change in the agenda of Alberta Teachers' Conventions in the past decade. Education is developing scientifically and maturing Registrations from centralized school districts instead of day schools brings new concepts and problems. There is a need for better speakers to keep up with the progress.

Speaking briefly on the Clover Bar Teachers' strike, recently settled Mr Seymour reminded the press in a break of good faith between the board and the teachers which resulted in the walkout.

On the question of grants he opposed a larger at the provincial government claiming that there are not as educational as they should be towards the school districts and handicaps the salaries of teachers.

He said that registration for the six-week course for prin-ipal teachers had decreased sharply at the University this year which is a direct appeal to anyone interested in a full career in the University of Alberta and the government should be given as much credit as it can for its effort on the education of children who are threatened with substandard instructors

Mr Seymour went on to elaborate that the government "bonus" for qualified teachers in elementary schools were more attractive than schools in a threat. It will not pay high school teachers as well as they will continue to leave.

"Teachers should take a better look at it," he said

Mr F F Bowman, President of the Bonnyville section presided at the day sessions, while Mr. Beattie of Elk Point, president of the St Paul unit was chairman of the evening banquet at the Parish Hall

Other speakers during the two day sessions were Mr V C Berrington, Inspector of High Schools Superintendents R. Baxter, St Paul, and J. L. Sylvestre, Bonnyville. Dr H. A. McCarthy, Dean of Education Faculty of Education. Mr W E Frame Chief Superintendent of schools, Department of Education Mr J Bailey, Principal of Provincial School. Mr A G Saunders, Glendon. Miss Madeleine Roger, M.A., B.C.A.F., Calgary. Rector Alfred-de-la-cress, Lobstick Superintendent duties were handled by J. A. N Marcotte of Bonnyville and E Bouthillier of St Paul.

Mr W E Frame, Chief Superintendent of schools, Department of Education Mr J Bailey, Principal of Provincial School. Mr A G Saunders, Glendon. Miss Madeleine Roger, M.A., B.C.A.F., Calgary. SEEDTIME and HARVEST

By P. J. Gerrard,
Director,
Lac Ste. Anne Forest Area,
Edmonton, Alberta.

SAFETY FOR GRAIN HAULERS

This year, western farmers are faced with the problem of storing large quantities of grain on the farm. But experience has shown that grain can be stored safely in farms in Western Canada, provided a few simple and practical precautions are taken.

Grain Bins Good — Good grain storage means dry, clean, well-ventilated storage. Grain that is damped dry and kept dry will not spoil. Make sure, then, that any building you use for storing grain is not only structurally sound, but also weatherproof, inspect the background. Simple cleanliness is important. Wilde and debris of old granaries or buildings should not be thoroughly cleaned out then sprayed with a good "Milk (or Lime) wash" before any grain is stored. Mouse-proof bins are recommended wherever it pays well to do so. Grain should be turned in storage. Broken and cracked grain, screenings, chaff and dirt provide favorable conditions for the development of insect infestations. Handled every week, dry grain won't be stored and forgotten. All farm-stored grain should be examined at frequent intervals (every two weeks) for the detection of insect infestations, and moist, muddy or damp grain. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure in this case, as in many others.

Emergency Grain [illegible] started in the open when the weather is dry. The following points, however, are important: (1) Choose a well-drained location. (2) Build the grain off the ground and away from the moisture. (3) Line the inside of any framing used with good waterproof paper. (4) Don't stack perhaps and a uniform cross section. (5) Don't "peak" it but at the top. (6) Be considerate of insects. (7) No grain should remain more than 2,000 days in the farmer's care after harvest.

Farmers who have to build new grain storage space this year may obtain free advice from the Agriculture engineer at their provincial University or nearest Experimental Station.

Vaccinate Calves At Right Time

By MARCEL CHEVRETTE
District Agricultural, St. Paul

October November, December and January are the main months for vaccinating calves in Alberta to protect them against brucellosis (Bang's Disease), according to Dr E. E. Ballantyne, Director of Alberta's Veterinary Branch. The month chosen for vaccination is determined by the age of the calf. While vaccination is permissible from 4 to 10 months, the best age, says Dr Ballantyne is when the calf is 6, 7 or 8 months old. Vaccination at this time considered the calf as an "official vaccinate."

Official vaccinates can be exported without a blood test up to 18 months, after the date of vaccination. This is particularly important to the purebred breeders and all their heifer calves should be "official vaccinates." This means too that it is very important for the purebred breeders to keep accurate records of calving date. Some calf-s to U.S. buyers have been lost because purebred calves were not vaccinated at the proper age.

Calfhood vaccination has proved very successful results in Alberta in both beef and dairy herds in controlling brucellosis. It is apparently 95 per cent effective in preventing losses. This is of great value in protecting the interests of the cattle industry and in preventing undesirable losses in business.

Cattlemen are urged to contact their veterinarians or district agriculturist now to have their names added to the list for the vaccination program. For those who wish to have more details of the disease, a bulletin is available from them soon.

PAUL SCHWIMM READIES AT KROL'S RETURN

Canada's "Tiv Football" for 14 seasons, the once-revered Joe Krol goes like a rookie as he is welcomed back to the Argonauts' fold by team director Harry Sedmikar right Although he hung up his gear in 1953 after a knee injury, Krol decided to return to the fun-filled when he saw their desperate need for a kicker After watching Joe's 46-yard practice boots Sedmikar wasted no time in talkin Krol's fancy He signed a contract on the spot. The 36-year-old sparkplug of five Argo Grey Cup teams will handle only placing duties.

Members Of Alberta's Delegation To Ottawa Silent About Proposal

Members of Alberta's delegation to the dominion-provincial fiscal conference left Edmonton for Ottawa at the week-end But when it came to discussing what Alberta has in progress as a solution to financial problems, they were as silent as a man holding a royal flush in a game of stud

In fact, one high official said preparations for the conference were very much like a game of poker. It would be reported in a little short of disaster for Alberta if in top hat hand. Any proposals or arguments had to be kept a dark secret, until the exact psychological moment when they could be given to the conference

The same officials said Provincial Minister St. Laurent was "letting a balloon go" and hoping for an outburst of interest from women when he hinted that the present tax-rental agreements would be scrapped and the government be placed back into the income and corporation tax fields

However, from previous statements it is indicated that Premier Manning would propose new agreements to meet new circumstances He already has proposed that the [illegible] present agreements [illegible] which he does not consider are the most serious problems facing governments

Municipal authorities are hoping for some sort of new deal to arise out of the conference Accompanying the Alberta delegation as official observers were C P Hayes of Bitsow, representing rural municipalities, and Edmonton's Mayor Hawrelak representing urban centres

REFORMED GATE CRASHER?

THE CAUSE OF EDUCATION

The cause of education was well [illegible] presented at the two-day Teachers' Convention held in St. Paul this week. Over 200 teachers, vitally interested and concerned with the welfare of our children through better methods of teaching, spent hours of deliberation and listening attentively, (just like good students) to lectures by enlightening guest speakers.

We especially admired a lecture given by Dr. F. Colodarci, Associate Professor of Education and Psychology, Stanford University, California for his direct and honest approach to the problems of education.

His was not a list of complaints or accusations to make the teaching profession complacent of its achievements, but a sincere searching analysis of the pitfalls of education and how best to remedy them. The point was clear and we feel certain the teachers went home with new determination and incentive to better carry on their duties.

We often hear that conventions, not necessarily Teachers' Conventions, but any types of Conventions, are a waste of time on which many of the registrants take in as have [illegible] a time. We suppose there is some mixture of pleasure with business by the new ideas gleaned from these conventions, and from the discussions which arise from them but [illegible] after one without a doubt a great stimulant for those who attended. Conventions are staged for the expressed purpose of bringing new ideas and the Teachers' Convention in St. Paul did just that.

Mr. G. C. Seymour, Assistant General Secretary of the Alberta Teachers' Association in his address was the one to emphasize the idea of conventions for an interchange of views, discussion of new and old ones.

By practising the theoretical advance made at this convention we feel sure that the teachers of this district will qualify to carry out conscientously, the important task of educating our children in these complex times.

THANKSGIVING A HOLIDAY?

Determining holidays in St. Paul is always a good question.

Because of the number of enquiries we receive whenever a "potential" holiday is coming up we went to the trouble of doing a little investigating into the history of the "Thanksgiving" holiday coming up on Monday, October the 10th.

This day is not set out as a dominion holiday and consequently is optional to the province or the town who wish to observe it. We could not ascertain whether it has been proclaimed a provincial holiday, but ventured the fact that in St. Paul it is not listed on the holiday by-law and those who choose to observe Thanksgiving will be doing so on an entirely voluntary basis.

Our survey while making our weekly rounds for advertisement indicates that all the major department stores intend to close on that day and we assume, from experience in the past, that the smaller ones will follow suit.

Here is the list of official holidays proclaimed by Town of St. Paul By-Laws: New Year's Day, Epiphany, Ashery Hill, Good Friday, Victoria Day, Ascension, Wednesday in the week of June 24, Labor Day, Remembrance Day, Immaculate Conception, Christmas and one civic holiday to be proclaimed by the Mayor, usually the first day of the Exhibition.

As usual the Thanksgiving day holiday is causing confusion in the town and district it will happen again that half the businesses are open on one holiday and the other half closed on another holiday with the result that the trading public in the area never knows, let alone the business men in town.

If we are going to have holidays declared by by-law, let's endorse them. If they are not satisfactory, let's revise them, but let us be consistent about the days we take off.

CROP REPORT

The final Alberta Wheat Pool crop report for this year places wheat production in Alberta at 321 million bushels. This is well above last year's small crop of 95 million bushels. Wheat is expected to average nearly 23 bushels per acre compared with a little over 9 a year ago.

The oat crop is estimated by the Pool at 166 million bushels, showing an average yield of 41.4 bushels per acre. Last year's crop amounted to 74 million bushels.

Barley production is placed at 80 million bushels as against 70 million last year. The average yield of barley this year is 28.5 bushels per acre.

This year's crop is of exceptionally good quality and over 90 per cent of the wheat is expected to fall within the commercial grades of 1 to 4 Northern. About 5 per cent of the wheat will grade 1 Northern, 25 per cent 2 Northern and 36 per cent 3 Northern. Recent wet weather, however, could bring about some decline in these estimates.

Rain, snow and cool, damp weather have now held up harvesting over most of Alberta for better than a week and even with the return of favorable weather it will be some time before most farmers can get back on the land. As at Saturday, September 24, the Pool estimated that, robust threshing was 66 per cent completed, only 38 per cent and barley 70 per cent. Threshing is almost completed in southeastern regions but over the remainder of the province an average of about half of the wheat threshing is still to be done. —Wheat Pool Budget

The Traffic Safety Lane

By J. W. McKAY
Inspector Highway Traffic Board, Edmonton

Two Sides Of An Accident

Some of our drivers of today are very ignorant of law when they go ah-ha barging through traffic and demanding the right-of-way. There are two types of courts who deal with one accident. First there is the criminal court which hears your case and decides whether or not your actions have caused the other party any undue harm — loss of property or existence, this is a civil court. It is possible for a person to be found "not guilty" in a criminal court and yet pay for damages in a civil court. We sometimes forget that when we demand the right-of-way, which is our privilege under traffic laws, we might cause someone else undue harm or loss. There is also a law of protection. The theme in the criminal court is Did you or did you not break the law. In the civil court it is Who was the one who had the last chance to prevent the accident

I attended such a court not too long ago and I would like to relate the incident as an illustration.

In a certain town there was a truck going down the street approaching a road intersection where there was no stop signs of any kind. Every driver had to be cautious when approaching Following the truck was another driver in a car, numbers one. I'll call the truck driver A and the car driver B.

Car driver B was following close behind the truck and he intended to turn left at this main intersection Truck driver A intended to make the left turn too and, as he approached he failed to signal it proving not to turn and it turned at the same time. The result was an accident. A's truck rammed the side of B's car and caused considerable damage. The police came and A was charged for "failing to signal." The magistrate found him guilty of breaking the law and was fined $10 00 and costs of $4.50.

B was not satisfied to repair his own car so he filed a claim of $500 00 in the civil courts. When the case was heard, the Judge passed the following judgement:

A had failed to signal but B was too close behind A was partly to blame, but B had the last opportunity to prevent the accident so A paid 40 per cent of the judgement and costs and B paid 60 per cent of the costs.

Now maybe you feel that this is not fair We look at it from an angle of criminal negligence but the courts look at it from an angle which is fair to all

So as we drive along are we have an urge to demand your right-of-way think also of the possibilities of your causing an accident If you cause an accident then you may have to pay for it

Big Changes In Municipal Affairs Dept.

By KEN MASON

EDMONTON — Significant changes are taking place in the organization of the Municipal Department of municipal affairs — the department which continues to study all of the government's policies toward municipalities, including grants and taxation.

John W Judge, deputy minister of municipal affairs for the past 10 years, retired officially last week at the age of 67 He is being succeeded by 42-year-old Angus W. Morrison, who was promoted from the post of chief municipal inspector

There has been no official announcement regarding another possible change But word drifting around government circles is that a new branch will be formed in municipal affairs, for the purpose of maintaining closer liason with Alberta's towns, cities, villages and municipal districts.

Coupled with this is the recent announcement that Blake MacKenzie is no longer co-ordinator of cultural activities, and the report that he is being shifted to municipal affairs from observers are putting two and two together and coming up with the answer that Mr. MacKenzie will head the new branch.

These changes don't mean the government is going to come out with generous new grants or anything, but it does seem to indicate an attempt to develop close communication between the two levels of government.

A complaint in the past has been that the government maintains an attitude of aloofness toward the municipalities, which have to depend on the scant administration for much of their financing.

Although the term "public relations" won't be used, the new branch probably will be a bureau which will work closely with the municipalities, explain government policies and listen to the arguments of the municipal authorities. Financing is the main headache of local government at the present time, and it could be the new branch will have its work cut out for it.

Mr. MacKenzie is suited for the job, if he gets it. He has a background of public relations work, and has worked in radio. In addition, he has met with various officials throughout the province in his work as co-ordinator of cultural activities.

The department of municipal affairs, besides being one of the most important departments of government, is also one of the toughest to handle. Members of Premier Manning's cabinet regard the job of keeping the municipalities happy as one of the major headaches.

Perhaps this was the reason for shifting Hon. A. J. Hooke from public works to municipal affairs in the summer cabinet shuffle. Mr. Hooke is one of the most personable of the 15 cabinet members. At the time of the shuffle, some observers said he was the man with the personality most likely to do a good job of maintaining peaceful relations with the municipalities

The Migratory Birds Convention And Regulations Thereunder

We have a lot of minerals who, besides shooting the wild bird, spend hours watching them, study their habits and the best methods of protecting them. The object is permanent at this time of the year. Press week to week we are undertaking to publish a part of the Migratory Birds Convention Act and other migratory bird regulations now the responsibility of the Federal Government and that of the Province Legislature for optimal game

CHAPTER 170

An Act concerning a certain Convention between Her Majesty and the United States of America for the protection of Migratory Birds in Canada and the United States.

Short Title

This Act may be cited as the Migratory Convention Act. R.S., c 130, s. 1.

Convention

The Convention of the 16th day of August, 1916 which is set forth in the Schedule, is hereby sanctioned, ratified and confirmed R.S. c 130, s 2

Interpretation

In the Act, (a) close season means the period during which any species of migratory game, migratory insectivorous, or migratory nongame bird is protected by this Act or any regulation,

(b) migratory game birds means (i) Alaskan waterfowl, including brant, wild ducks, geese and swans, (2) Grutter or rallers, including little brown, sandhill and whooping cranes, (3) Rail, Mudor or rails, including coots, gallinules and sora and other rails, (4) Limicolae or shorebirds, including avocets, curlew, dowitches, godwits, knots, oyster rail, plovers, sand-pipers, snipe, suits, surf birds, turnstones, willets, woodcock and yellow legs, (5) Columbidae or pigeons, including doves and wild pigeons,

(c) "migratory insectivorous birds" means bluebirds, cuckoos, chickadees, creepers, flickers, flycatchers, grosbeaks, hummingbirds, kinglets, martins, meadowlarks, nighthawks or bull bats, nuthatches, orioles, robins, shrikes, swallows, swifts, tanagers, titmice, thrashers, veeros, warblers, waxwings, whippoorwills, woodpeckers and wrens, and all other perching birds which feed entirely or chiefly on insects,

(d) migratory nongame birds" means auks, auklets, bitterns, fulmars, gannets, gulls, herons, jaegers, loons, murres, petrels, puffins, shearwaters and terns

(e) "Minister" means the Minister of Northern Affairs and National Resources,

(f) "regulation" means any regulation made under the act.

Governor in Council

(1) The Governor in Council may take such regulations as are deemed expedient to protect the migratory game, migratory insectivorous and migratory nongame birds that inhabit Canada during the whole or any part of the year

(2) Subject to the provisions of the said Convention, such regulations may provide

(a) the period in each year or the number of years during which any such migratory game, migratory insectivorous or migratory nongame birds shall not be killed, captured, injured, taken, molested or sold of their nests or eggs obtained, destroyed, taken or molested

(b) for limiting the number of migratory game birds that may be taken by a person in any specified time during the season when the taking of such birds is legal, and preventing the manner in which such birds may then be taken and the appliances that may be used therefor;

(c) the periods in each year during which a person may have in possession migratory game birds killed during the season when the taking of such birds was legal;

(d) for the granting of permits to kill or take migratory game, migratory insectivorous or migratory nongame birds, or their nests or eggs,

(e) for the prohibition of the shipment or export of migratory game, migratory insectivorous or migratory nongame birds or their eggs from any province during the close season in such province and the conditions upon which international traffic in such birds shall be carried on.

(f) for the prohibition of the killing, capturing, taking, injuring or molesting of migratory game, migratory insectivorous or migratory nongame birds, or the taking, injuring, destruction or molestation of their nests or eggs, within any prescribed area and for the control and management of such area, and

(g) for any other purpose that may be deemed necessary for carrying out the intentions of the Act and the said Convention, whether such other regulations are of the kind enumerated in the section or not.

—Cross, Free Teacher

"I found Canadians especially nice" says world traveller Leslie Morrison as she sips tea in North Bay. The 23-year-old nurse from New Zealand apparently is as skilled in diplomacy as she is in cycling The latter art has taken her to 19 countries in the past seven years The trim 105-pound nurse arrived here with her trailer loaded with 100 pounds of her worldly possessions which she accumulated while cycling over 15 000 miles around the world. She bicycled across Canada camping out at night and cooking her own meals.

A General Motors Value
After all, it really isn't considered good form to toot one's horn too loudly . . . HOWEVER . . . since the early months of this year, an unparalleled situation has existed and we can't contain ourselves any longer.
Pontiac—we've got to say it—is now up in the TOP 2 in automotive sales in Canada . . . second only to another General Motors product!
This isn't just a claim . . . It's a fact. Against the toughest competition, Pontiac has plain outsold every other manufacturer's car.
It's a hats-off tribute to Canadian motorists, too, for their instant recognition of Pontiac's sterling worth. No doubt about it, they buy shrewdly and well where value counts.
Well, there it is! Pity, we had to be the ones to tell the story but that's the automotive industry for you.
Anyway . . . now everybody knows what more Canadians than ever before have found out this year . . . dollar for dollar you just can't beat Pontiac!
It's more than a trend . . . it's a torrent to

THE EGG AND YOU

If you were asked which came first, the chicken or the egg you would probably have some trouble finding the correct answer. If you were asked what produces an effect you would have better luck. You would answer promptly a cause.

There is a cause for every effect — that is one of the fundamental laws of physics. When you are sick there is a definite cause or reason for it. In Diabetes, for instance, the pancreas gland doesn't stop working just for the fun of it, or to play tricks on the other organs of the body. There was a reason why its operations were reduced below normal.

In cases of stomach ulcers, the ulcers didn't just grow like Topsy. An overproduction of acid was responsible for their development. An eye does not become crossed just because it wants to have a look at things from a different angle. The muscle on one side of the eye relaxed and let the muscle on the other side draw the eye out of place. Again there was a definite reason why this muscle relaxed.

Chiropractic's amazing success in healing so many widely different types of disease is due to the fact that it seeks out the cause of disease. Chiropractic is the science which deals exclusively with the operation of the nervous system. As has been stated many times in this column the nervous system is the key to health, and no body can be perfectly healthy unless all parts of the nervous system are working properly.

There is no guesswork in Chiropractic. Scientific instruments have been developed which enable the Chiropractor to discover accurately and quickly if and where any section of the nervous system is not functioning properly and indicate clearly what he must do to repair the damage.

It's natural to be healthy. If you are not enjoying good health then you owe it to yourself to consult your Chiropractic Physician. Early care can bring to you, as it has to thousands of others, a new lease on life, free from the disabling irritations which ill-health always brings.

CALGARY HUNTERS IN THEIR ELEMENT

—Courtesy Press Bureau

While most Calgarians huddled up in winter clothing and sought warm shelters at home or at work during the recent snowfall, these two enthusiastic duck hunters showed utter disregard for the elements waiting for the birds on the banks of the Elbow River.

Clouston Jubilee

On Thursday evening September 29th, the Gershon National Hall was filled to capacity for the Golden Jubilee Celebration sponsored by the Women's Institute. An interesting program was presented, consisting of piano solos and Ukrainian dances. A speaker of the evening was Mr. J. Decore M.P. of Vegreville Constituency. He extended our gratitude to all those who were receiving their fifty year medals, as it was mainly through their industry and efforts that our country had attained the prominence that it enjoys today. He explained that each Nationality brought with them the contribution to this new land of opportunity and hoped that the future would find us all worthy citizens of a great freedom loving country.

Mr. Jake Jansarpet — Beaver Crossing, M.L.A. for the constituency of Barrhead, presented the medals and expressed personal congratulations as well as the good wishes of the Alberta Government to the recipients.

Mrs. M. Hines, President of the Women's Institute, presented Golden Jubilee awards to the fifty year members, with also best wishes of the W.I. members.

The following persons received medals:

Mrs. Marie Simone, Mrs. Flora Ward, Mr. George Ward, Mrs. Lotta Erickson, Mrs. Frances Mattheisen, Mrs. Alma Arrandell, Mrs. Edna Arrandell, Mrs. Frances Haggard, Mr. Metro Morse, Mr. Nick Wasiuk, Mr. Bo. Ashmont News

The Jubilee Banquet held in the Ashmont Legion hall on September 29th, was a celebration that will long be remembered by those who had the good fortune to be in attendance.

The Hon Ray Reierson presented awards to some thirty long time residents of Alberta. Among whom were two of Ashmont's most beloved and respected old timers, namely Mrs Sarah Smith, age 81 and Mr Tom Ashlee age 89 years.

A programme of music and songs, under the able direction of Mrs Fred Smith, was enjoyed by all.

Some of Mr. Bibby's pupils, all under 12 years of age, showed a square dance to the rollicking tunes of Harry Hauer Glen Jacobs also under 12 did the calling.

SPEEDTIME goes HARVEST

FALL CULTIVATION

With the soil dry through most of the Prairie Provinces and harvest, and almost completed on excellent opportunity presents itself to take a crack at perennial weeds.

The past few wet seasons have prevented efficient cultivations after harvest. The result is a tremendous increase in Canada Thistle, Sow Thistle and Couch Grass in Western Canada. Fall cultivation will not completely eradicate these weeds but will certainly greatly weaken them.

Canada thistle and sow thistle plants which grow in a grain crop during the summer have been prevented, through the competition of the crop, from storing any appreciable quantity of food in their roots. However, once the grain crop is harvested the thistles no longer have competition and are free to store up food supplies to be used next season. Now is the time to take a "whack" at them and prevent that build-up.

Choose of Implement. Any cultivation equipment that will make a clean job of cultivation is satisfactory for the job. The one-way might be first choice, but a cultivator with sharp shovels is quite satisfactory. The important thing is to get all of the thistles.

Couch Grass Different. Fall cultivation for couch grass control is quite different to cultivation for thistle control. Where a field is to be cropped next year the objective in fall should be to drag as many couch grass roots as possible to the surface of the soil. The disc-blade cultivator or spring-tooth cultivator will do a good job. Two or three times over a badly infested field will bring a surprisingly large tonnage of couch grass roots to the surface. Two or three hours exposure to bright sunshine will kill them. Not all the couch grass roots will be killed, of course, but the remainder will be next year's grass crop well in hand.

Yes, fall cultivation is a means of seriously weakening perennial weeds. Let's hit them while we have a good chance.

Observe Fire Prevention Week

Alberta Fire Commissioner A. R. Bridges has announced that the province will observe Fire Prevention Week in conjunction with the remainder of Alberta and the United States during the week of October 9-15. Special effort will be made during this week to acquaint home owners with fire safety.

Statistics from fire loss reports have shown that last year two-thirds of all fires occurred in homes as part of a program to reduce that devastating loss, fire chiefs throughout the province will attempt to make every town a model of fire safety.

One of the prime targets of Fire Prevention Week will be the cigarette smoker. It has been shown that someone's carelessness heads the list of causes, both number and amount of destruction.

The Fire Commissioner's report shows that although there is a reported increase in the amount of property loss last year, there was a decrease in the number of fires and due to fires in the municipal districts shows that the doubling of fire stamps in the past four years has resulted in a reduction of 20 per cent in fires for protected ratings. However buildings that have not been inspected have shown a 14 per cent increase in fire loss.

TO THE HOMEMAKER

By Mrs. Elsie Erickson
District Home Economist
St. Paul

October is most certainly a month for Thanksgiving. But grateful hearts and good food are not limited for us to such a season. In fact, good food in the form of wild fowl is really plentiful after we sometimes are in doubt of its serving. Here are some suggestions to make the family happy with the hunter's spoils.

Roast Wild Duck

Clean and wash duck, remove pin feathers and singe. Place onion or stalk of celery in cavity or fill with stuffing. Rub the surface of the duck with salt and pepper, spread on the legs and breast a little bacon dripping. Place in a moderate oven 350 degrees F. and about one cup water cover and roast until tender, allowing 20 minutes to the pound. Orange or pineapple juice may be used in place of water.

Apricot Bread Stuffing for Duck

1 tablespoonful melted shortening
2 cups soft bread cubes
2 cups chopped cooked apricots
Two-thirds cup seedless raisins
1½ tsps. salt
½ tsps. chopped parsley

Combine shortening, bread cubes, apricots, raisins, salt and parsley. Mix thoroughly.

Maybe you are one of those fortunate people who are going to have turkey for Thanksgiving. In any case, there are a few things you may want to know before you prepare the bird.

When ever you buy fowl allow three-quarter to one pound per person. Stuffing the bird is an important part of its preparation. The stuffing eaten with the type of poultry Blend flavored chicken and turkey should not be too strongly flavored dressing — bread crumbs, crackers, oatmeal and sausage are ideal dressings different in a dressing is the Quebec meat stuffing which you might like to try for stuffing your bird.

Cornmeal Stuffing

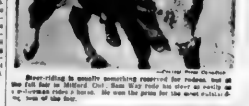
2 cups cornmeal
1 cup shortening
2 cups Quaker Oats
1 tps. poultry dressing
2 cups bread crumbs
1 cup chopped crisp bacon
3 and a half tsp. salt
Half cup water

Brown onions in shortening, add oats, crumbs, bacon, salt and poultry dressing. Add water and mix well. Filling for a 10-12 lbs. turkey.

A half turkey can be roasted too, partially roast a half turkey with skin side up, place stuffing on aluminum foil or double thickness of waxed paper with skin side up, place the partially roasted bird over it and complete roasting.

Careless and negligent smoking habits, summer and sunshine headlog of fisherman, hunters, and neglect of heating equipment are hazards which can be avoided. The Fire Prevention Week slogan is "Don't give fire a place to start."

River-riding is usually something reserved for rodeos, but at the fall fair in Milford (Del.) Sam Way rode his steer as easily as a policeman rides a bicycle. He won the prize for the most entertaining.



THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By W. G. MALMER, Chief
Research Department, Canada Packers Limited

Attention has been drawn in recent years to the possible use of what has been termed "chemical summerfallow", that is, the control of weeds on summerfallow through the use of chemicals, coupled with the understanding that a trash cover, rather than through the generally accepted method of subsurface tillage.

At first glance, such a method of handling summerfallow might appear to hold certain advantages, and indeed it has some. Where wind erosion is a factor, for instance, the practice would cut down the hazard of soil drifting, the soil and again, during a wet period when it might be difficult to use mechanical equipment for cultivation, it might be possible to spray to prevent the weeds getting ahead. But the saying still holds true in the opinion of several leading agriculturists that the use of chemicals alone to control weeds on summerfallow, without any tillage, has been of limited practicability when such practice is carried on over a period of years. In Western Canada it may be an effective job to use chemicals in controlling weeds on our cereal crops, it is necessary to remember that the Halloween means mischief . . . that are bound to be Halloween, for tricks, of course, there's a treat in store for the masked intruders.

When hungry little ghosts and goblins knock upon your door this year, surprising them with a treat to fit the holiday? One should certainly! Baked Halloween Doughnuts is all right, the most mysterious witch. And your cooking fame will spread for miles around.

The trick to making Halloween Doughnuts is to have children help prepare for the feast! It gives them a chance to get their hands in the dough, delightful, with the fun, and to see everything new that goes into the recipe.

Pass big cupfuls of ingredients to take to the bowl. Use shortening for real fun, strong appetites to eat and see who can get his sticky mixture through the string. No hands allowed in this game!

Here's the recipe for these doughnuts:

Joan Laverne Holden Bride At Highlands United Church

Laverne-Hardinger

Joan Laverne Holden was escorted to the altar of Highlands United church, Edmonton, by her father recently for her marriage to Mr Robert Alexander Hardinger

Both bride and groom exchanged vows before Rev. Ross of which Rev A. E. Kind officiated.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. W. G. Holden of Edmonton, wore a floor length gown of white peau-de-soie. The bodice was cut with a deep V-neckline, outlined with a band of sequin and pearl trimming and terminated with mother-of-pearl sequins. The bouffant, floor-length skirt was draped from a long train waistline, bordered with a similar pleating and from Her finger tip veil of nylon tulle reached a pearl studded tiara and she carried red roses and stephanotis.

The bride's only attendant, Miss Joan Holden, chose a white, length model gown of nylon tulle, worn with a headdress of yellow roses and carried feathered carnations. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and white stephanotis

The groom, the son of Mr and Mrs R B MacGregor also of Edmonton, was attended by Mr Carl Cunningham as best man, and wedding guests were ushered by Mr Frances Moor and Mr William Holden, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Powell played wedding music, accompanying Miss Jeanette McBride who presented a vocal solo.

Following the ceremony, wedding guests were received at the Bellevue Community Hall, where Miss Marjorie Wallace had charge of the guest book.

Mr. A. E. Good and Mrs R. Jones presided at the coffee table, and guests were served by Miss Shirley Dawson, Miss Norma Bird, Miss Joan Bird, Miss Joyce Smith and Miss Valera Gallagher

For her honeymoon trip to the Western United States, the bride donned a tan tweed suit with black leather trim, worn with black and turquoise accessories. She wore yellow carnations on her shoulder.

Mr and Mrs. MacGregor will reside in Edmonton.

Out of town guests at their wedding were Mr and Mrs R. E. Eaton and Mr and Mrs H Holden of Elk Point.

Local News

Mr and Mrs. Max Fischer and son Billy left for a trip in the States last Monday, following which they will drive to Brereton, visit relatives there and return home

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Valentine, Myron and Dennis and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ross Jr. were city visitors last week end.

Eddy Melnyk is back working in the Beaver Lumber, after relieving Bertie at Myrnam for the past two weeks, before which he relieved the manager at St. Paul.

Mrs. Margaret McGinnis is home after a weekend in Edmonton visiting her daughter Pam. We are glad to hear that Pam is convalescing nicely after her operation.

Editor Attends Convention In Arapriar

The Editor of this newspaper Mr. L. H. Brown has left the task of this week's edition in the hands of the staff in order to attend a Civil Defence Women's Conference being held at Arapriar 30 miles out of Lac La Biche October 11 12 and 13

Stepping up Civil Defence program, the government hopes by inviting others from all parts of the country, as their guests to promulgate the importance of Civil Defence in this country

The following articles is brought to St. Paul readers direct from Arapriar, Que., 100 miles West of Ottawa) where the Editor has attended a Civil Defence Women Conference.

Defence Conference Addresses Women

By L. H. BROWN

ARAPRIOR ONT OCT 11 — Civil Defence officials from all parts of the country are expected to gather here next week for a three-day conference to explain Civil Defence Training to women and to organize women into the most important branch of the Civil Defence Training Program.

Major-General F F Worthington, Federal Emergency Measures Organization co-ordinator, speaking on behalf of the Hon. Paul Martin, said he would be able to attend due to pressure of other work, but that the conference—enemy is the most important meeting of the year in the Arapriar Civil Defence College for its particular education value.

"Through the medium of the National press represented here, the Canadian public must learn what to do in the case of an emergency, to save itself It is not sufficient to have just a few trained personnel. Every man, woman and child must be made conscious of the pressing need for self-preservation through civil defence preparedness By bringing the press of the whole of Canada together, it is hoped to get a cross section of opinion from the entire country."

Some of the weaknesses pointed out were the lack of leadership and participation. Provincial and Dominion authorities failing to coordinate their operations and causing some complications

The aim of civil defence, according to Mr J F Wallace, Chief Medical Officer of Health is teaching, training and testing. Over nine thousand have received training at the College since its inception in 1954 but in spite of this, many of the larger cities have failed to maintain Civil Defence organizations. Only 30 rural points have established units in the country.

Brigadier-General R R Rothwell explained the role of the armed forces in the civil defence organization He said that "Preparation is the greatest deterrent to war." Civil Defence, well organized, is the greatest deterrent to the collapse of the army which is dependent on what the country can produce for its support. Trained civilians to handle emergency would be a great comfort and a big moral booster in time of war.

The first half of the course will give a complete briefing to newcomers on what civil defence is and how it operates. The second half will be devoted to discussion and opinions from the group where public opinion is actually theorized.

The Purpose Of A Livestock Sale

By L. GARSAE.

"The show is an indispensable institution to any cattle business as the steering wheel is in the automobile Take the steering wheel out of the hands of the motive power, but is a powerful force in guiding the vehicle in the right direction." (C B Koch)

Realizing the truth of this statement, the St Paul Agricultural Society is sponsoring this year's Local Livestock Show and Sale to be held in the St Paul Arena on Thursday, November 3rd. Numerous other announcements are calling out the prospective exhibitors and asking them to come and co-operate with the Sale Committee in order to make a success of the event. Success for whom? Success for what? What is the purpose of this show?

[illegible] the local [illegible] to encourage the breeding of improved breeds of livestock and to foster agricultural progress and purposes. Are we determined to keep it as such the show will be a credit to the livestock industry upon which depends the basic prosperity of the agriculture of North Eastern Alberta"

In putting on a Livestock Show, we buy a heifer calf and say that it is not only attempting to set up an easy market plane for a breeder or to show his wares to more people in one day than he could in months of visiting farms or ranch It is not invented prizes giving a true indication of prices of purebred stock nor is the supply of breed stock limited The Show is the best place to develop livestock progress when real progress is being made The breeder the farmer the feeder — and the rest of the business man in the rural community like ours — all need opportunities a true test. Important They all should attend towards which they can exchange ideas and see what the other fellow is doing We can blend the best ideas we learn in order to make our district more productive, beautiful, more economically stable — in a word a better place to live in

Let us not forget as a panel, a responsibility to take a few hours off and attend the Show. In one the Livestock judged and passed For some it will be a first experience and a worthwhile one. Others expect to see nothing that the world has not seen before. Inconvenience No doubt, you could have better-fitted bulls and heifers at the Toronto Royal Winter Fair, but of what practical purpose to the average farmer are those overfitted, eye appealing spectacles that growing leaders of a type that will meet the highest market standards.

Successful Night At Square Dance

The Square Dance held at the Legion Hall last Friday evening was a success Seven squares were on the floor, swinging to the rythm of Alex Schulmeister's calling All reported a good time

It was a pleasure to have our old friends back with us again. Five lunch was served after the dance

The next Square Dance will be held at the Legion Hall on October 21st All dancers are cordially invited to attend Alex will again do the calling and will do his best to give you an evening of good fun Lunch will be served Plans are being arranged to have Doug McCall of Alix call for us on one of our dances in the near future

All of friends of the Flat Lake district are invited to see Modern Square Dancing so come all ye Square Dancers to the Compagnion Dance at the "L" Lake Hall on Oct. 22nd., 8:30p.m.

Car Bingo In St. Paul October 15

This is the last time we are able to tell you all about the big Jaycee Car Bingo scheduled for October 15th., in the St. Paul Arena.

You may have to walk there, but who knows, perhaps a comfortable ride home awaits you in a luxurious 1955 Chevrolet, giving on the block for a lucky winner. To complement the big attraction, 19 other prizes are also being offered . . . all valuable too. Its one of the lotby attendants.

Jaycees are sponsoring this bingo to get back on their feet after a disastrous setback on July 1st. They raise the money to break even and to continue the worthwhile community projects under promotion. So let's see the entire population of St. Paul and district turn out.

Let's Eat

IDA BAILEY ALLEN

The lead cow mooed and moved deliberately toward the pasture gate, eyeing the field of lush green millet across the road. Gradually, she wiggled the bars loose with her horns and slithered through the gate. One by one, all the cows in the beautiful Guernsey herd heeded her call and followed suit.

At that point, the farmer's five children rushed into the millet field, chasing the herd. The farmer adjusted the bars and wired them in place.

"I never saw such discontented cows," grumbled the farmer's black-eyed wife.

"Well," remarked the Chief, "everybody likes a change in the menu, so today instead of beef or chicken, our dinner stars a lovely Princess."

Remove all possible fat from a shoulder of lamb. Place in a 4-qt. kettle. Pour in boiling water to cover. Add 2 tsp. salt and 1 tsp. pickle spice. Cover and simmer until fork-tender, about 2 hours.

Drain off and save the liquid. Brown barley over and gulop. Eat the meat in portions.

Mix together ½ cup flour, 1 tsp. salt and 1 tsp. cinnamon. Bake 30 min. in a hot oven, 450 deg. F.

Heat 2 cups milk until scalded. Add 1½ tps. sugar and ¼ cup light cream, or equal parts cream and milk. Pour over the cubes.

Bake 15 min. more at 370 deg. F., or until the custard is firm and lightly browned.

Miss Evangeline Scrabe Writes Of Experiences At Geneva Park

We began our day by the sound of an old tin gong which meant "You'd better get up now or you'll miss your breakfast." We would tumble out of our cabins and trek over to a central dining hall. Each meal provided an excellent opportunity to make new acquaintances.

At 9:30 a.m. we listened to our first speaker of the day. There were many prominent speakers there such as Dr. E. W. Mosely, President, National Research Council, Ottawa, Philip Jessup, former United States representative to the United Nations, Mr. Christopher Mayhew, former Under-Secretary of State in Britain and now a member of the British Parliament; C. H. Drury, former Deputy Minister of National Defence, Ottawa, Dr. G. N. Higgins, from the Centre for International Economics at the University of Manchester, C. R. Millard, National Director United Shut Workers' of America, and many others as great as these. The theme of the conference was "The Dangers We Face and What We Can Do About Them".

Some of the main topics discussed were

"Implications of the Atomic Age," "Co-existence—Why and How?" "Military Power—Insurance for Peace?" "Nationalism & Colonialism," "Economic Relations with Underdeveloped Countries." "The Atomic Age and the Minds of Men."

Each speaker answered questions from the floor for an hour at the end of his address. The question period was usually very lively and thought provoking. After this we broke off into groups of twenty or so for round table discussions. There, more of us were able to express our views. The group I was in was headed by Mr. Pelletier, editor of a labor magazine in Quebec and quite a famous CBC commentator.

The afternoons were left for recreation and relaxation. And of course this was another time for making new friends, whether it was swimming and sun-bathing at the beach or on the lawn playing a game of chess, bridge, shuffleboard or ping-pong.

In the evening we heard another speaker. The main address with part of the question period was broadcasted over CBC each night. Following this we usually went to the bandstand for coffee. Here the discussions were over, open and often quite heated. Attendance at the conference consisted of about as many as 150 people all of varying professions such as editors (Blair Fraser, McLean's Magazine, Mr. R. A. McEachern, Financial Post), writers and broadcasters, civil servants, university professors and teachers, banks managers, representatives of labor and agriculture (Mr. J. R. White, manager, Co-op Institue Association) engineers, social workers, clergymen, accountants and housemothers came from within Ontario.

Being one of the six younger members, I felt a bit overwhelmed by the highly intellectual atmosphere at first. However, our age was partly overcome in the course and we even dared to direct a few questions to the main speakers. Personally, I wish that more young people would be given an opportunity to be part of an older group such as this. The experience a young person gains from associating with well informed older group such as this, is often invaluable.

If ever I can be of any assistance to you, please inform me and I would be most willing to do all I can.

Thank you again for your kindness and for helping to make this conference so memorable to me.

Most sincerely,
Miss Evangeline Scrabe.

SIZING UP SITUATION FOR THANKSGIVING

—Courtesy Press Caricature

A visit to the barnyard by this little boy brings forth this reception committee—which, judging by the expressions on their faces, may not be very anxious to meet the "table wonder." For the purpose of his trip to farm is to size up the turkey situation for Thanksgiving which will be held on October 10th.

Mrs. Wellwood Adam Visits Vernon Gray in London Home

I phoned Vernon and explained who I was and he arranged to call for me at my hotel and drive me back to his home in one of London's taxicabs.

Inside the tiny door of this tiny house, was a little hallway with pearl grey carpets, a wee set of winding stairs also in carpet and mounting these I found myself seeing three tiny doors. The first led into a mite-receptacle kitchenette, only enough room for the owner to cook in and two would have been a crowd. It was, however, quite self-contained, having a junior sized fridge, gas cooker, cupboard and so on.

Then I saw another small room. The bedroom, furnished rather unfashionably with just the barest of need.

The third door led into another small room, which was quite artistically arranged as a lounge and where I was invited to make myself at home with an iced fruit drink, brought from the little fridge.

And then for my conversation with Vernon Gray, one of England's coming young film stars, who was once a "small town" boy in Elk Point, Alberta.

He has acquired an almost perfect English accent, as a result of hard work and concentration. This is most essential to his continued success in the work he has chosen to do. I congratulated him upon this not easily won achievement, for being thoroughly English myself, I could not pick out anything which was forced in his accent at all.

He told me, in soft and well modulated tones, that he is second lead with Mr. Alec Guinness, one of England's leading character actors, under J. Arthur Rank on Ealree Studios, London. This is indeed, a wonderful thing to happen to one so young and for one who is not an English name by birth.

He has to be on the set as early as 8.30 a.m. when filming, each day, and going right through until late evening. He often is asked to open banners and take part of work, addressing meetings, etc., in between filming (this is the custom in England, to secure people with well known names to this kind of things) and so Vernon's days very full. He is very tired at the end of a day and finds very few hours left for sleep. As a result, his doctor warned him to get as much sleep as possible during his vacation in August, or he would have a break down.

No doubt Vernon has taken medical advice, for there has been no collapse so far and we all trust he is fresh and well again for the busy life he has before him. I did not by enjoy every moment of his chosen profession and this is easy to see by his enthusiasm as he described his days. He thinks he may have the opportunity to sign a five year contract with Hollywood and Elstree Studios very shortly.

So perhaps Elk Point and district will be seeing something of him at some future date, for he expressed a hope that he might call in and see all his friends here.

He sends greetings and kind thoughts to you all as very happy as to hear that the Scout Troop are once again still going strong under the fine leadership of Dr. K. C. Miller and that a Cub Pack would also reappear in Elk Point. It will be recollected that Vernon Gray was a great worker and leader amongst younger and older boys. He was very impressed when I told him of the Scout Hall which has been placed in Elk Point by Dr. R. Weegerinck and also of her continuously untiring efforts for the welfare of young people in Elk Point.

Perhaps later, we may see another successful film which is soon to be released in the United Kingdom. Again, it is one in which he plays second lead to Mr. Guiness — such film plays are exceptional as selective and on a high plate of balanced plots.

I am sure the friends in Elk Point will join me in sending every good wish for Mr Vern Rahon and his future as "Vernon Gray," a fine film star. It was a privilege for me to have met him.

Signed,
Mrs. Wellwood Adam.

Bob's extra profit was just "bonuses" farmers get from fertilizing. When you fertilize your crops you can harvest two weeks earlier avoiding frost, hail or other damage. Better grades, bigger yields, weed control and keeping your Land fertile are additional advantages—reasons why more and more farmers are fertilizing every year. PROMISES BETTER TV RECEPTION

—Courtesy Press Caricature

"The secret is in the aerial," says Stan Hoskes of North Bay, Ont., who has a plan whereby his city may have clear TV reception from points 250 miles away. The aerial, noted above, on which his son David is standing above, has proved, says Stan, that his idea is correct and he has received financial backing of $20,000 from the city council and private interests to construct a high-level antennae to provide all TV owners with equally clear reception.

Active Committee On International Association Of Fire Chiefs

The International Association of Fire Chiefs has an active Committee on Fire Prevention. J. W. Stevens, Executive Secretary of the International is the Chairman of that committee. Chief J. W. Stevens is known and respected for his untiring efforts to check fire waste in the United States and he now states that his committee's principle objective is the saving of 4,000 children's lives each year from preventable fires. To accomplish this he suggests that all firemen and fire apparatus be put into the streets to undertake building fire inspections and have fireman talk to people about hazards that cause fire.

This program is now under way in most of the large cities in Canada and the U.S.A. The Fire Commissioner for the city of New York reports that:

"Apparatus field inspection New York city showed results in six months period beyond most hopeful expectations. Two-way radio permits instant response to alarms without delay while at the same time enables apparatus to cover city building by building, cellar to roof. Accomplishing to count of 25,000 inspections a month, and last six months showed a decrease in number of fires to the extent of 8,116. This figure reverses all time upward trend in fire and is without parallel in the history of the New York Fire Department."

Fire Chief Alderson of Los Angeles says:

"During the calendar year 1954 the population of the city of Los Angeles increased by 64,000. There were 61,000 new buildings erected in the city. In 1954 there was a total reduction in actual fire of 4,000. There were 236..."

551 homes to house inspections by competent engineers in their own respective districts."

Chief Edward Crandell of Fire Prevention Engineering on a similar fire inspection program says there has been a 47 per cent reduction in actual fires in dwellings during the past four years.

Alberta's Fire Commissioner, A. E. Bridges, commenting on the I.A.F.C. fire inspection program considers the movement an outstanding advantage to the inspections undertaken by fire departments have doubled in the last four years. The increase in fire inspections has been accomplished by Volunteer Fire Departments as well by paid fire departments. Possibly dwellings have shown a reduction of 20 per cent less fire during the last four years whereas unprotected dwellings have increased 16 per cent. A most important trend is the 50 per cent reduction in the regular fire inspections and the special drive in all communities on Fire Prevention Week.

Amendments To Alberta Traffic Act

The Alberta legislature at a special session held during August approved a number of major amendments to the Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act. These have now become law.

One section of particular interest to motorists provides that when a car is sold, the number plates need not go with the car and may be reinsure to the registered owner for use on another vehicle.

For some time it has been felt that the old system was not working satisfactorily. Under the amended legislation, the owner will pay to the provincial government a transfer fee of $1 when the plates are removed to him for another vehicle.

The new section of the act says: Upon the passing of ownership of a registered vehicle from the registered to any other person, the number plates issued upon such registration may, not later than 14 days after the passing of ownership, be reissued to the registered owner for use upon another vehicle owned by him, upon (a) compliance with the regulations; (b) production of satisfactory proof of ownership of the other vehicle, and (c) payment of the prescribed fee therefore.

The act also permits any youth of 15 or over to learn to drive. Formerly, the youngest age at which a person could drive a vehicle with a teacher in the car was 16.

The act also requires signal devices and lights to be on all new motor vehicles sold after Jan. 1, 1956.

Approved electrical appliances and an approved and inspected wiring system are the best safeguards against electrical fires. Always consult a qualified and licensed electrician for electrical installations. Last year 194 electrical fires caused a half a million dollars of property loss.

The Traffic Safety Law

By J. W. McKAY
Inspector Highway Traffic Board, Edmonton

On Saturday, September 24th, we completed Alberta's second provincial Car-Rodeo. Fifteen contestants competed for the honour of "Provincial Champion". The competitors were regional winners from the various parts of the province. We conducted fifteen rodeos throughout the province from May 18th, to September 17th. Among the drivers taking part were four town-age drivers and two lady drivers.

The year the Taylor trophy goes back to Lacombe again. Mr. Clarence Morrick of Lacombe was the high-scorer with a total of 364 points out of a possible 400 points. Last year Mr. Walter Lee of Lacombe took the trophy for the first time to Lacombe.

A $250.00 scholarship was offered by Yellow Cabs Limited to the teen-ager obtaining the highest score in all the regional contests. Norman Gales, a seventeen year old from Camrose.

A trophy sponsored by the Alberta Safety Council was awarded to Miss Hannah Gustafson of Jasper Place. Miss Gustafson obtained the highest lady-score throughout Alberta.

Our thanks go to all organizations throughout the province who undertook the responsibility of sponsoring the regional Car-Rodeos. The finals were sponsored by the Alberta Government.

There are many districts in Alberta where we would like to have Car-Rodeos conducted. Next year we would like to double our efforts, thereby having about thirty contestants compete in the finals.

The Car-Rodeo is far reaching in the promotion of safe driving and safety education. It is a test of performance of safe driving skills and not the rough, jerky sort of driving that tends to create carelessness. It is a test of skills that promote the safe handling of an automobile and also it is a means of promoting courtesy.

Jack Miner Objects To Protection Placed On Hawks By Government

The soundness of the Federal Government's legislative efforts to protect predatory birds in Alberta and Ontario has been questioned by many naturalists. Below we reproduce a circular letter addressed to the St. Paul Fish and Game Association by Jack Miner, given his opinion on the subject.

An Open Letter To
Hon. S. C. Manning,
Prime Minister, Alberta.

Dear Honorable Sir:

The Jack Miner Migratory Bird Foundation maintains the services of the... in a paper clipping service and in this way we learn that the press in Alberta has quoted us often in connection with the hawk and owl legislation which your government passed a year ago. We feel we would like to express ourselves directly to you and your colleagues so these can be no misunderstanding or misquoting as to our stand and position in the matter.

First of all most hawks migrate freely into country to another; both being the case it hawks are to be given protection it should be done by the Federal Government of both countries through the Migratory Bird Treaty the same as governs the killing of other migratory birds, but neither the Federal Government at Ottawa or Washington will include such protection therefore the hawk protectionists made up of mostly people who do not believe in killing anything, are promoting hawk protection laws in various States and Provinces and Alberta was the first Province in Canada to fall for such legislation.

In the U.S. the State of Pennsylvania produces more tons of game per capita than any other State and they certainly do not believe in protecting hawks to the game up alive when they not very co-operative with the U.S. for Alberta to give such likewise it is the open fields. They extend this game by humanity and not for the birds of prey. I feel the same reasoning should apply in Alberta. Certainly it is hawks and owls complete protection or in other words raise hawks for Pennsylvanian to pay a bounty on.

The laws of Canada have a penalty of both fine and imprisonment if a man steal a chicken or shoots a domestic animal or poisons chicken out of season. Certainly, most certainly, you are not going to protect a hawk for committing the same act and not be fined or sixty days in a year and imprisonment humanity for doing the next week.

5. GENERAL POLICIES

(a) Communications — In the event of a disaster where a number of casualties are involved, the Civil Defence Director will assume the responsibility of directing the hospital. If a general alert it to be given this also falls as a responsibility of the Civil Defence Director in conjunction with the Mayor and the Fire Department. All Auxiliary personnel must be made aware of the distress signal — Canadian Utilities Short Wave Radio could assume responsibility of Communications in an emergency.

Distress Signal — three blasts of the siren-twice.

(b) Traffic Control — under the supervision of the RCMP, the Reserve Army Unit will take control of the Traffic Their responsibility will be: (1) Entrance and exit routes to the hospital will be kept clear (2) Hospital personnel carrying Civil Defence Identification Cards, will be the only ones allowed to enter the hospital grounds (3) Guards will be placed at all doors to keep out unauthorized persons.

(c) Transportation — the hospital Administrator is all advise the Director of Civil Defence as to the number of vehicles required to carry out the "Evacuation Plans" of the Hospital Plan This information will include the number of "Sitting Cases," also the number of "Stretcher cases" and where and when the vehicles will report.

6. HOSPITAL POLICIES

The Administrator of the hospital becomes the Co-ordinator of all hospital policies. These policies involve the working functions of all the services.

(a) Alerting the Personnel — (1) A list of the key personnel and auxiliary help, together with their address and telephone numbers, is kept at the main office and verified twice a year.

(2) This personnel will be kept familiar with the "Distress Signal" and will be expected to report at once on hearing the signal. This system will be supplemented by 'phone or runner if necessary.

(3) The hospital personnel will be aware that they must present their Civil Defence Identification Card to the guards at the door.

(4) All Auxiliary personnel will enter through the basement door, near the furnace room and proceed to the employees parlor (marked with adequate sign for assignment to duty.

(4) Auxiliary personnel, as well as the regular hospital staff will be expected to do 12 hour duty during the initial stage.

do solemnly swear that in the best of my judgment I will faithfully, honestly and impartially fulfil, execute and perform the office and duties of such according to the true intent and meaning of the Migratory Birds Convention Act and the regulations made thereunder. So help me God.

(4) Subsection 3 does not apply to members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who have already taken and subscribed to an oath of allegiance and office as provided by section 15 of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Act.

(5) The Governor in Council may declare that the game and fishery officers of any province are game officers ex officio under this Act.

(6) No person, without lawful excuse, the proof whereof shall lie on such person, shall buy, sell or have in his possession any migratory game bird, migratory insectivorous bird or migratory nongame bird, or the nest or egg of any such bird or any part of any such bird, nest or egg during the time when the capturing, killing or taking of such bird, nest or egg is prohibited by this Act.

(7) Any game officer who believes on reasonable grounds that any of the following articles, namely, any gun, trap, net, ammunition, boat, skiff, canoe, punt, or vessel or any description, boats, wagon, or other outfit, motor vehicle or aircraft of any kind, device, appliance or material of any kind is being or has been used in violation of this Act or the regulations or of any provision of this Act or any regulation, or

(8) that, in violation of this Act or any regulation any of the following articles, namely, any bird, nest or egg, has been taken, caught or killed or is had in possession, may seize the articles and shall deliver it to a justice of the peace or of a police constable to be sworn before any justice of the peace to whom the article is delivered, if he finds that the article was used in violation of or for the purpose of any violation of this Act or any regulation, or was taken, caught, killed or had in possession in violation of this Act or any regulation, may make an order forfeiting the article to Her Majesty.

(9) Any game officer appointed under this Act who violates this Act or any regulation, or who aids, abets or connives at any violation of this Act or of any regulation is liable, upon summary conviction before any justice or order, commissioner of police, judge of the sessions of the peace, police magistrate or district magistrate or any two justices of the peace, to a penalty not exceeding five hundred dollars and costs or six months' imprisonment.

(10) Any person who assaults, obstructs or interferes with any game officer or peace officer in the discharge of any duty under the provisions of this Act, or of any regulation, is guilty of a violation of this Act

(10) Any person who wilfully refuses to furnish information or wilfully furnishes false information to a game officer or peace officer respecting a violation of this Act or of any regulation, the existence of or the place of concealment of any bird, nest or egg, or any portion thereof captured, killed or taken in violation of this Act or of any regulation, is guilty of a violation of this Act

(11) Any game officer or peace officer may search any place or premises in which he has reason to believe there exists migratory game, migratory insectivorous, or migratory nongame birds, nests or eggs, or any part thereof, in respect to which a breach of this Act or of the regulations may have been committed, and may open and examine any trunk, box, bag, parcel or receptacle which he has reason to suspect and does suspect contains any such bird, nest or egg, or any part thereof

(12) a. Every person who violates any provisions of this Act or any regulation is, for each offence, liable upon summary conviction to a fine of not more than three hundred dollars and not less than ten dollars, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or to both fine and imprisonment.

b. One-half of every penalty imposed and collected under the provisions of this Act, or any regulation made hereunder, when a game officer appointed without salary or any person who is not a game officer is the prosecutor, shall be paid to such game officer or person or to the person on whose evidence the conviction is made, as the justice of the peace before whom the conviction is had may determine.

Control Press Canadian

About to shake hands, or maybe dance, with Governor-General Vincent Massey is the gent named to be Lieutenant-Governor of Saskatchewan. The presentation was made at the Palace of Al- shan.

Safety Steps To Prevent Disaster When Caught In Burning Building

1. Get everyone out of the house the minute you discover a fire.

2. Don't fling doors open if you think there's a fire — feel them first and if they're hot, get out another way or block the doors with furniture or dampened mattresses to keep out the smoke and gases.

3. Try to have to pass through smoke or heat, crouch down and hold a wet handkerchief over your nose and mouth.

4. Avoid panic, keep cool, don't jump from upper storey windows except as a last resort. Wait for the firemen — a closed door will hold back fire

5. Don't go back into a burning building for any reason other than to save life — and remember that smoke and fire gases can be deadly

6. Unless it's a small fire and you're certain you can control it with the right extinguisher don't waste your time or your life by trying to fight a fire — get away from it and call the fire department at once — they know how to fight it

WHAT IS CIVIL DEFENCE WORTH?

The Civil Defence [illegible] Khrushchev Frank of educating the people in this country to take [illegible] planning, and our actions must be possible within emergencies which might befall us.

Because Russia and every small community have never experienced the full devastation of the bomb's blast never been hit by calamities of bombs, such as hurricanes, cyclones, earthquakes and floods, because only after physical loss and of great distress of something for the term in Ottawa to plan such measures as are necessary to overcome the logic and settle a defence program for even us in St. Paul today.

Last week the writer of St. Thomas Hospital and staff took the first aid course being conducted for handling of emergency services in such an event Many hours had been spent on such a program the practicality of which was demonstrated to the members of delegates from Athabasca Hospital District.

The exercise was carried out during the regular Meeting of Athabasca Hospital. We were so impressed by it that we are publishing it in this issue of the Journal. Should parts of tremendous value during an emergency.

The St. Paul Fire Brigade [illegible] perfectly with a Civil Defence [illegible] and has taken [illegible] personnel. Last year a complete special course was carried on for a week at the [illegible] Edmonton. They used the [illegible] the only communication means, so far, have put any attention in Civil Defence.

The St. Paul Municipality has an official Civil Defence [illegible] is presently headed by Mr Stan Powers. With [illegible] the [illegible] Mr. Powers, in [illegible] Municipality which [illegible] Council proposals The Town of St. Paul [illegible] has as yet to set up a civil defence program.

We must not in fallible into a false sense of security by [illegible] in Canada [illegible] some secret bomb or rocket attackers [illegible] months of vital Canadian defence [illegible] Lake, Beaver [illegible] of the recent [illegible] moves by Soviet leaders. Readiness is one of the best defences and a realistic attitude to prevent disaster.

The Journal [illegible] pleased to accept all information from the Federal Civil Defence authorities to [illegible] a weekly news outlook in Ottawa, Mr. [illegible] What is [illegible] during this week we may get some vital first [illegible] information to relay to our readers and make them more conscientious of their duties and responsibilities in the defence of our country.

WE CAN REDUCE THIS TOLL

We have little excuse for carnage on our roads and streets. [illegible] can be done about the growing number of traffic accidents. There is plenty of expert advice. But as are not going to act on any advice unless we translate this advice into concrete action.

We can't shake our highways or our cars foolproof. But we can make the most of the highways and keep them safe. We can also ditch some of our bad laws, which we don't pretend to enforce anyway, and replace them with laws that will be respected and will be enforced. We can build safer cars and safer highways. And above all we can hope, and pray and strive to cultivate decent and civilized driving manners.

Highway safety is not just a matter for a special committee, or the police, or the car and road builders. It is a job for all of us.

CEMENT SHORTAGE

Canada's construction industry is trying to solve a cement puzzle, reports The Financial Post. While housebuilding and other construction work is being held up at the height of the fall rush for lack of supplies, they have been officially informed from Ottawa that generally, there is no shortage of cement in the country.

What set them wondering was a letter received by the National Home Builder's Association from E. J. Rankoff, commodity officer of the Department of Trade and Commerce which stated: "Generally speaking, there is no shortage of cement in Canada as a whole. However, at the present time, a tight supply position does exist in some areas, particularly in the Prairies. Every effort is being made by the producers to overcome it. Barring unforseen developments, the current shortage will be of short duration."

Mr. Rankoff's explanation of the shortage in the west was a strike which held up a scheme to double expansion at Canada Cement Co.'s Fort Whyte, Manitoba plant and lost three months' production.

But while the Prairies are probably hardest hit, many Ontario builders report that they are only receiving small proportions of their orders for cement and that the present supply situation is worse than it has been for some years. One builder reported that he ordered 40 yards of ready mix and received about 18.

Mrs. W. Adam Visits Vernon Grey In London

News of the above young man, known as well in Elk Point and district as Vern Rahnn, youngest son of Mr and Mrs Rahnn (recently retired from the C.N.R. in Elk Point) is always welcome

While I was visiting Britain for the last six months, I decided to call upon Vernon while I was staying for a time in London, England but having met him only casually before, I confess I was curious to see what this decidedly "up and coming" fellow was like when I called at his "home in one of London's famous Mews."

In case readers may not be familiar with the word "Mews", permit me to explain that it is an old English name given to the ranch houses and stables which were, in the olden days, always to be found at the rear of the huge town houses of the gentry owned by the rich and aristocratic families

In these modern days, these great homes are no longer with us and as a result of housing shortage and increased population down the years, such building has been converted into a hotel and expensive living apartments So that the "Mews" too, have been converted into tiny and picturesque homes, painted in delightful colours and preserving much of the old English style, complete with latticed windows and brass door knockers, not forgetting the odd and sometimes cobble stoned ground around and about.

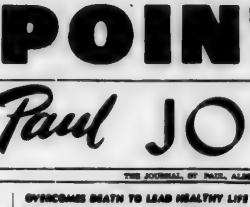
OVERCOMES DEATH TO LEAD HEALTHY LIFE



Just three years ago nine-year-old Anne Bohm of Hamilton, Ont., was not expected to live through the night after undergoing a serious and lengthy lung graft operation. Blood from a lunchtime had entered Anne's lung and paralyzed one side of her body. Now, after three years' of painful care and many operations, the youngster is once more a happy and healthy little girl who enjoys playing with her doll

W. A. Adam
Student Minister

Elk Point, 11:00 a.m. Vocational School, 11:00 a.m.

Services will next be held at Elk Point at 7.30 p.m., Sunday, 16th. October, 1955. Congregation and friends please note that school bus, lent by Mr Harry Kerk, will be at Clinic on Sunday at 1:45 p.m. (a quarter to two) to take all who wish to go to Bonnyville United Church.

This is to be a gathering of the congregations choirs, Sunday School Teachers, Superintendent, elders, Church Boards, W.A.'s and Y.P.U.'s and all other workers in Elk Point, Bonnyville and Cold Lake United Churches.

After the service [illegible] all branches of the work there will be supper served, everyone is asked to bring a little food towards this supper and Bonnyville ladies serve coffee and tea.

Then will follow a service of consecration, offering our service to the Lord with renewed vigor, and with prayer for the coming year, and we bring ourselves with others into the light of knowledge of the ways of our Lord Jesus Christ.

The service will be timed (DV) to end at 7.30 p.m. to enable folks to get home in good time.

You are invited to note the change in time and meeting place and Mr Adam trusts you will turn out in good numbers.

Miss E. Serabin Writes Of Camp

We are pleased to receive the following letter from Miss Evangeline Serabin, University student who recently returned from a scholarship course at Geneva Park, Ontario. Miss Serabin was one of ten University students chosen last year for the Constitutional Conference. She is taking Arts and Science (honors) Experimental Psychology. The letter is self-explanatory and her friends in Elk Point will appreciate the fine fund information on her activities while in the east.

Dear Mr. Dragun

First, thank you very much for the pictures of the banquet and the newspapers that you sent me. The pictures were very good and I cherish them deeply. Your magazine article about my scholarship was too kind and I don't think I deserve all that attention. However, I'll admit it was certainly gratifying and my self-confidence was greatly bolstered

This letter comes not only to thank you, but also with the hope that you would be interested in the activities and events that took place at the Lake Couchiching Conference that I attended between August 19th to 30 th.

Lake Couchiching was an ideal setting for the conference It gave that informal friendly atmosphere that drew the members of the conference closer together

Health Thru Chiropractic
By DR. E. W. TENNYS
St. Paul
According to the dictionary paralysis means "a loss or impairment of the function of a part of the body." Once an event occurs in the mobility of the nerves to transmit their controlling impulses.
This can best be illustrated by comparing the nervous system to an electrical circuit. The brain is the dynamo which generates the body's electricity. The nerves are the wires over which the current flows. The organs and muscles are the motors which, when operating efficiently, cause all parts of the body to function properly, resulting in a state of normal health.
When one of the "motors" is not running as it should the result is a partial or complete paralysis. Depending on the motor affected, the patient could suffer from such conditions as paralysis of the legs, arms, constipation, heart trouble, etc.
Just as a competent electrician would first check the wiring of an electrical system, so the Chiropractor checks the nervous system to determine if the motors are getting the power they need for proper operation. If he find a fractured or dislocated vertebra causing pressure on the spinal cord he then has the privilege to use orthopaedic surgery. If he finds a misalignment of a vertebra causing nerve trouble, and that is very common in such cases, he has the privilege to use manual adjustment. This frees the nerves, and in most cases results in a restoration of function to the parts involved.
If any organ or part of the body is not functioning as it should be remember it is because of the reason lies within the nervous system.

George Perry Files Application In District Court To Have Gratuity By-Law For L. P. Mesmer Squashed
HEARING FOR RULING SCHEDULED FOR OCTOBER 25th IN ST. PAUL

Mr George Perry, councillor, on behalf of himself and the electors of the Town of St. Paul has filed an application with the district court asking for the validity of By-Law No. 214 granting gratuities of $1 000 to Philip Mesmer, former secretary of the town who resigned after 19 years of employment

The application will be heard in the Court House at St. Paul on Tuesday, October 25th, at 10 a.m.

The application cites that Mr Mesmer was not, in accordance with the Town and Village Act, Section 98, at the time of his resignation, incapable through age, sickness or otherwise of efficiently discharging his duties as secretary treasurer, nor had he reached the age of retirement, asked for unqualified squashing of the By-Law.

The By-Law for the $1,000 was adopted by the Town Council after previous legislature had passed first reading of a $1,200 gratuity plan which had later been rescinded due to a petition and pressure of public opinion applied. Mr. Perry had voted against it on both occasions.

The Council of St. Paul voted and passed the second on the By-law on opinions of Mr Ramsay, Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs and of Mr Garside, Secretary of the Union of Municipalities who both agreed that the town had the proper authority to pass such a By-law and because it was felt that Mr Mesmer was entitled to some sort of gratuity after his long years of service. Mr Mesmer was Secretary-Treasurer of the St Paul School Division No. 53.

The $1,000 has not yet been paid to Mr Mesmer. A clause in the By-Law restricted payment until 28 days after the third and final reading.

Civil Defense Is Criticized By Newspapermen
Object To Military And War Relations

The following comments on Civil Defense are reprinted from an editorial written by Mr. Hall of this newspaper who attended a News Conference at Arapaho, Ont., last week.

After three days of lectures and discussions on the Civil Defence organization of Canada, organizers and newsmen attending the conference emerged with the one fact that the pressing need of such an organization had not been considered by the general public of Canada

Whether or not the fault lies entirely with the Civil Defence Organization or with the general apathy from the public could not be determined, but it was generally felt that the conscientious was to order and a news to be given to the general the public should be considered.

Some of the more pertinent criticism on civil defence dwelled on its close association with the military which has a frightening alienating influence leading to a lack of co-operating, from John Q Citizen. It was suggested that the civilian leaders who bear top heavy military ranks should drop them and use the appropriate civilian titles associated with the function of their Civil Defence occupation and position.

The name itself "Civil Defense" sounds the need of wartime emergency which is considered only remotely by the public, especially at this time when the cold war has increased up a bit and conflict does not seem as realized.

It was suggested that possibly the name could be changed to one compatible with peace time emergency and the organization geared to handle such and give assistance in the case of floods, hurricanes, etc., while at the same time incorporating civil defence or wartime emergency in its planning.

Replying to financial questions, Mr H. S. Cowdrey, financial expert for Civil Defence said that several millions had been budgeted for civil defence across Canada but that the provinces have failed to apply for their share of this amount, indicating lack of interest. The money is allotted on a dollar for dollar basis and the province of Alberta was the only one to draw on the allocation of $116,501 on that basis.

It would seem by this report that the provinces and municipalities do not consider Civil Defence important enough to spend money by with the federal.

The Calgary Herald in brought out on the floor, was censored as a measure by officials. Because of the setback, for a first exercise it was considered to have done remarkably well and valuable data compiled from the exercise will greatly help future planning.

Postponement of one week due to a heavy sleet storm brought down the expected number of evacuees of 25,000 to only 1,000 taking some of the enthusiasm out of The reception centres of Innisfail, Olds and Didsbury were compli-

Thomas Posnich Dead Accident

Mr. Thomas Posnich, 71 of Smoky Lake, died in St. Paul Hospital October 12th., from injuries received in a fall which rolled out of control on the highway 28, 1 miles west of Smoky after his long years of service Mr Posnich was a homesteader in this district.

Pupils in grades 2 to 12 inclusive in the inspectorate schools have been asked to produce their very best paragraph in writing. The whole district will be invited to the evaluation of their finished products by groups of teachers attending the institute.

Purposes of the institute are

1. To build a composition scale to enable teachers to determine pupils strengths and weaknesses. Reports already supplied indicate a great need for remedial measures.

2 To develop criteria for evaluating written paragraphs with a of proper appraisals of practices in composition.

3 To study the development of ability to express ideas in written form with the purpose of overcoming weaknesses found.

Mr Sylvain Lefebvre, Principal of St Paul School, is in charge of organizing the program along with Mr R Rosette, School Inspector, who will be present at the meeting.

Other dignitaries in the educational family who have been invited are Mr Aubrey Earl, coordinator of Teacher Education, Department of Education, Edmonton, Dr H S Baker, Faculty of Education, University of Alberta, Mr T. C. Byrne Inspector of High Schools, Department of Education.

Toastmasters' Table Topics

Members of St. Paul's Toastmaster Club, limbered up their vocal chords for first meeting of the new season Monday.

Discontinued during the summer months and held up during the busy harvest season, the Toastmaster's training organization mode plans for its winter operations.

A nominating committee was appointed to select officers which will be duly elected at the next dinner meeting in the Lavoi Hotel on Monday.

All past members interested in the work are asked to reacquaint themselves with the club. Once you've attended a meeting, there is no doubt you will want to remain to obtain the intellectual benefits offered through discussion and public speaking training courses. Every enterprising young man and business man in town should definitely take advantage of the training offered.

One Day Institute On October 28th

Mr Posnich was driving into St. Paul at about 2 in the afternoon when he lost control of his vehicle blew out, flipping the car into the ditch and throwing him clear of the car to land on the roadway. The accident happened at about two o'clock and Mr Posnich died at 7 from the injuries received

MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF

"When the uniform is worn the public sees Girl Guides on leaving the country," said Lady Baden-Powell, World Chief Guide, now visiting Edmonton. Lady Baden-Powell speaks of Guides and Scouts as "our children", a term used by the founder of the movement.

Representatives of the St. Paul Girl Guides are making preparations to welcome Lady Baden-Powell when she arrives in Edmonton on Saturday, October 28th. Lady Baden-Powell speaks to a large group of Girl Guides from all over Alberta.

Hockey Club In Eastern League
Admitted Over Objections of Viking; Form Part Of Five-Team Circuit

Overruling objections of Viking representatives, St Paul assemblage at a meeting held Tuesday night decided to enter the Senior Hockey League for the coming winter season.

The meeting, held at Vermilion at 8:00 p.m. was called to order by the five towns forming the league and was presided over by Vermilion Wainwright Vegreville and Viking.

Representatives from Lashburn and Lloydminster Saskatchewan presented petitions to be considered for the league but were rejected on the majority vote of the members.

Mr Beesley, President of the League, stated the opinion that St. Paul had made a good showing in its initial year and supplied a brand of hockey that was clean and interesting to the fans. The road load support of the St Paul fans in road games was also recognized and considered among the favorable factors for the St. Paul entry.

Keeping the league on the basis of a five-team schedule was considered more advisable than four because it kept up a certain degree of enthusiasm and competitive incentive for the teams as the season progressed.

The possibility of including six teams was ruled out because of the added financial burden and amount of time involved.

It will be remembered that St Paul made its first bid for the league last year and was taken on a probation basis At the start of the season, the outfit was rough and the showing poor but it was revived by inserting new players in the team. It is hoped to bring St Paul in high contending class. They were last on the play-off roster in 1950 and have only had to garner one point with Vermilion.

Viking's main objection was a geographical one involving far

Representatives present at the meeting were Mayor Bedard and Tom Daly, were St. Paul's official representatives at the meeting; Clarence Richard Pete Peterson and Terry LaBossiere were elected as interested hockey supporters and players.

The mayor extended to a hearty welcome to James Hamilton representative of the Edmonton Journal.

Regular payments to the team must be made on the 15th and 30th and no player will be released from the team for any reason unless by request of the owner.

Some discussion arose in the meeting as to the ownership of the players and it was recognized that the players are the property of the team.

Schedule for the 1950-51 season is expected to start about December 15th.

Girl Guide And Brownie Rally

A Girl Guide and Brownie Rally will be held on Monday, October 30th at 8:00 p.m. in the Old Town Hall.

The guest speakers for the evening are Mrs W. Bebo-wer Provincial Commissioner and Miss Ruth Riddock Field Secretary for Alberta.

The program for the evening includes the amusement of the various packs for St. Paul Guides and other guiding activities.

The committee in charge has a special meeting for the Brownies at 7:30 p.m. and the Guides at 8:00 p.m. Parents and friends of the Brownies and Guides are also invited.

A cordial welcome is extended to those interested in girls' work.

Executive For Hockey Club Is Appointed Necessity To Line Up Players Soon

Following acceptance into the Eastern Hockey League, many players called a general meeting Tuesday evening to obtain support of the Town and get organized for the coming season.

It was deemed that possibly there were local players even if not signed to contracts, but that contracts had to be important that the executive of the organization men was appointed to map out a schedule and get players so to give the local boys a hand in organization and to take an interest in the financial aspect.

The executive appointed consists is made up of Ace Bilodeau, Leo Bedard, Bill Bedard and Bob Bassett, Odoronzo Lemieux, Bud Beals and L. H. Jones.

Exactly what arrangements will be made for the players has not been decided, but it is supposed some form of remuneration will be arrived at.

Practices are planned on the necessity of lining up players, manager and a coach for the team, perhaps the latter two late and available talent has been picked up by other clubs.

Royal Commission Probes Into Government Highway Contracts

By Ken Moore

EDMONTON — The royal commission investigation into Alberta government business was the big news from the capital city again last week.

The commission, headed by Mr. Justice Hugh Macdonald of the supreme court of Alberta, continued its detailed examination of highway contracts. And it has the machine now still continues that the witness there is a number of interesting points brought out.

So far, three top officials of the highways department have testified that they know of no preference shown in awarding contracts to contracting firms by reason of their living adjacent to the projects of treasury branch-

Testimony in this regard came from Alex Franse deputy minister of highways, and from W. H. Hall Munroe, chief bridge engineer.

They said they had never received any letter or telegram from any Social or by members of the treasury branches urging that contractors who voted money to the treasury branches. Under the terms of reference, the commission is investigating the suggestion made during the June election campaign that the government favored certain firms with big contracts to help them pay off their debts to the treasury branches.

However, the commission has been told of several firms which did business with the treasury branches, and these latter keep turning up in evidence — particularly the evidence brought out in cross-examination by J. V. H. Milvain, counsel for the Alberta Liberal Association.

The Lethbridge mentioned most frequently so far seems to be the O'Sullivan Construction Co., of Lethbridge, which was heavily involved with the treasury branches around 1947 and 1948. At the same time, the firm was receiving a good share of government contracts.

One interesting bit of information brought out by Mr Milvain concerned work done in 1947 and 1948 by the O'Sullivan firm on the highway between Edmonton and Montreal.

Incidently, this is the piece of road which has been mentioned most frequently in evidence. O'Sullivan built the road in 1947. His contract was for surfacing only at a cost of $257,623, but the road wasn't in condition for surfacing and the final cost was $736,644.

In the following year, 1948, O'Sullivan was given a contract to do repair work on 8.4 miles of the same road. Mr Milvain brought out evidence that government records show clay and gravel used on the repair work for record specifications called for on the original contract.

The Liberal counsel delved into the government report on the last amount of clay and gravel used for the repair work. Then he took the length of the road — 8.4 miles — and the width, 24 feet — and suggested the amounts would give a thickness of 32 inches of clay and 16 inches of gravel. The original specifications called for 12 inches of clay and six inches of gravel.

Mr Paul was on the witness stand at the time and admitted he would be surprised if that much material actually went into the road, but later he said clay and gravel already as much as 30 per cent when compacted.

The witness also denied Mr. Milvain's suggestion that the government records of the amount of material hauled for the job could be wrong. The records are checked by too many people for mistakes to occur he said.

All of this may or may not prove something Opposition counsel will present their version of the case when all the evidence is heard. Then it will be up to the commission to decide.

TIMELY WARNING — A little known section of the Alberta Game Act was invoked in Edmonton last week at the height of the duck season, and it cost a city hunter $25 and costs. It was the first case of its kind in Edmonton.

The hunter pleaded guilty to a charge of wilfully destroying food fit for human consumption, according to the evidence, he had thrown away seven ducks which he had shot earlier.

James Stewart, game officer, told the court he acted on a "tipoff." He went to the man's home and found the seven ducks in the garbage barrel. "At the time, they were fit for human consumption," he said.

Magistrate Simpson, in imposing the fine and said it is a "terrible thing" for a hunter to shoot ducks and then throw them away.

The man was charged under section 11 of the Game Act, which reads: "No person who has taken or killed, any bird or animal suitable for food shall wilfully allow the flesh thereof to be destroyed or spoiled."

Mr Stewart pointed out that many hunters probably don't know such a section exists in the game act. It provides for a maximum penalty of $500, and Mr. Stewart said the game branch will "crack down" on any report it receives of game being wasted.

He said there are any number of honest and charitable institutions which will be glad to receive game birds any time a hunter shoots more than he can use.

The Traffic Safety Lane

By J. W. McKAY
Inspector Highway Traffic Board, Edmonton

If I would walk up to you and ask this question "Can you afford a Cadillac?" Your answer would be, "No."

I have received some statistics from the U.S.A. (Canada's 1804 are not released as yet) and it states that in 1804 nearly 40,000 were killed on the highways for the reason at all. The bulletin states that many children are killed by automobiles than by all diseases combined. It is a staggering thought, is it not? Soon among the adults the automobile rates fifth.

Behind such statistics there is a picture of suffering, crippling, mourning. Broken homes and orphaned children result in such numbers. Then if you want to you can include the emotional costs — such as him to pay for doctor bills, hospital bills, medicines and funeral bills. In 1804 the U.S. added these up to a total of $4,000,000,000 or $120-30 for every second of the day.

A new Cadillac can be purchased for about $6,500. The number of Cadillacs involved are few but the drivers who would like to own Cadillacs are many.

Few drivers realize that if they had the money traffic accidents may not lost your claims they could purchase a new Cadillac every day for the next 3,304 years and still have enough left to buy gasoline and oil.

We might well say "We cannot afford a Cadillac." But we can't afford accidents either.

Traffic Accidents are a question of modern life. The average person thanks he would like traffic safety but at the same time he is unwilling to discipline himself.

As long as the idea is prevalent the will continue to kill and be killed.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and relatives for their kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement in the loss of our beloved husband and father, Mr. Everette Hooper. Also for the special thanks are extended to Rev. Hector Davis J. Wallis, for pallbearers and to those who sent flowers, telegrams and messages of sympathy.

Jack Miner Replies On Controversy Of Owl And Hawk Protection

The hawk protectionists in filter propaganda pervert a farmer to shoot a hawk any time in the year to protect his poultry. This is only evidence that hawks are not poultry. Such being the case if a hawk, certain species of hawks will not chickens they will also eat pheasants, grouse, partridge and prairie chickens. The sportsman spends thousands of dollars in pheasant hatcheries, therefore why couldn't a sportsman have the right to protect his valuable game from the predation of hawks and owls the same as a farmer has to protect his barnyard fowl? To me it just does not add up and make sense

From an economic standpoint an old mother duck and her brood cannot be compared in devouring grasshoppers Pheasants, hungarian partridge and other game birds are far more valuable in destroying insects, weed seeds and such like and if these hawk protectionists had their way they would have the hunter hung up his gun entirely. So many people look upon the sportsman as being ignorant on such matters but the sportsman who is in the field during the hunting season, each with a dog, sees the destructiveness of various hawks and owls far more than some university professor sitting in an office or school room telling us what should be done

To the writer of the most sincere men we have are men who belong to our sportsmens' organizations and you must remember it is the hunter's license money that pays your game wardens' salaries and other expenses of the Fish and Game Department while the university professors or bird lovers group do not contribute one cent to the administration but this latter group wants to have all to say

I personally may belong to the bird lovers group because I do not hunt or shoot, only the predator that attack our wood ducks, pheasants, quail and other species, yet I am not a bird lover that breeds a certain species as ignorant and I feel the few hawks and owls the sportsmen shoot is only helping to balance nature because you do not know a sportsman — not one — that has gone out purposely to kill hawks. Hawks and owls are not game as is not and the only time the hunter kills one is when he is in the field in the fall hunting upland game or water fowl and the small number of predators he shoots does not begin to balance nature in the number in the game he kills. Our conformity is if man shoots a deer for food he should kill the deer's wolves in the same proportion. If man shoots ducks for food he should shoot the otters, muskrats and mink like in the same proportion. If man shoots upland game for food, man should shoot the hawks and owls in the same proportion. If you are raising potatoes and the potato bugs attack the potatoes if you don't kill the bugs that is all the broke God gave you. If you are raising vegetables in your garden and don't take the pests out you are more apt to have weed than vegetables. Let's apply some common sense and less nonsense.

As far as the balance of nature theory is concerned a man from your own Sanctuary visited our Bird Sanctuary a few weeks ago and I related the question to be said but your he had two sons of whom, the best whom he ever grew, and said, "You should have seen that 600 acres when God had it alone."

The Migratory Birds Treaty, which applies in your Province as well as a-workers in Canada and the U.S. [illegible] punishable by fine or imprisonment for you or your boy to kill a song or insectverous bird. I say for God's sake, and I say it reverently, don't protect a sharp shinned hawk and other species of hawks that commits the mose act daily, which lives on our more valuable bird life

How can your provincial judge conscientiously imprison or fine a man or sportsman for stealing chickens or shooting a game bird out of season while at the same time you have laws to protect hawks and owls that commit the same act daily?

Because we do not think alike, don't let that make us enemies but let us apply more common sense and less nonsense

Yours very truly.

Goodridge News

On Monday Mr and Mrs. Paul Novak had the misfortune to lose their house by fire. The threshing crew had just left after dinner when Mrs. Novak discovered smoke. Three threshing crews responded to the call for help. They were able to save some of the contents of the house but the house and all vegetables and canned material were lost. Mr Novak moved a small house from another of his holdings to house the family. He carried some insurance.

The threshing machines are again silent. They have had their annual feed. Crops were not up to expectations as yield this year.

Health Thru Chiropractic

by DR. E. W. TENOVE
St. Paul
Are You Susceptible?

Have you been told you are suffering from an incurable disease? If so the message is of vital importance to you.

Above all keep up your courage Mental stability and a healthy outlook on life can be powerful healing agents, just as despair and self-pity can be destructive It will help If you keep in mind that many conditions which modern medicine has failed to cure have responded favorably under Chiropractic care.

The nervous system controls the function of every gland, organ, muscle and tissue cell in the body. It is like a two-way radio system If your hand is burned the affected tissue cells flash a message to the brain that they are in trouble The brain then flashes its orders to the organs controlling the blood stream to send help and healing to the affected part Everything works perfectly — if your two-way radio, or nervous system, is functioning properly But if there should be interference anywhere, warning signals get through to the brain and the burned hand is thereby deprived of the protection nature intended it should have.

Your whole nervous system must operate fully and continuously to maintain good health If a misaligned vertebra is interfering with any part of the vital system some organ, or section of the body will, like the burned hand, be deprived of the life-giving forces supplied through the nerves — resulting in disease

Perhaps all your troubles stem from a misaligned vertebra which has blocked off the channel of nerve supplying life and health to the affected part Chiropractors are specially trained to locate nerve interference, and to make the adjustments necessary to clear the nerve channels. So, before you call that you are incurable, have a Chiropractor thoroughly check your nervous system, and make any adjustments necessary.

The result may well be that you will live longer than those who now say you are incurable

NEW WEAPONS, OLD OBJECTIVES

HOCKEY ORGANIZATION

An emergency meeting was called Tuesday evening for hockey organization in St. Paul. Interested parties from the Town Council, Chamber of Commerce, Members of the Hockey Club and just plain fans were in attendance

The St. Paul Hockey Club has been accepted as one entry of five in the Eastern Alberta Hockey League. The problem which presents itself is organization of a lively, active and interesting executive to manage the affairs of a Club of this caliber for this league and preferably a sponsor of same sort.

A problem indeed! After a few commentators of those present for a meeting of subsequent withdrawals of same, a statement was produced. To compromise in the face of the situation, a temporary executive of business men promised volunteered to take on responsibility.

The necessity to organize at this time arises out of the pressing need to line up a team before any players are on by other entries. Some authority had to be established for negotiations and selection of men.

The club has many good aspects. It has long been the practice of the public to rely on the business men to sponsor, pay and be responsible for the promotion of the town along these lines with the consequent that a few were always assessed for the general enjoyment and welfare of the town. By having the financial load of these public duties shifted to a certain extent on the Town, all the ratepayers and citizens who share and benefit would be contributing their just share.

There is no doubt in the world that sports forms an essential part of our social and economic life. By providing sporting entertainment to children we keep them out of mischief mischief, and build their character for the future. Young people must have some sort of outlet for excess energy and the logical place for such is on your skating rinks and baseball diamonds.

Economically, sports are responsible for good public relations with other towns which eventually lead to many business contacts. They provide necessary relaxations that all adults must have to spell them off from the tedious task of earning a living.

That is why we should all get behind our hockey club this year and help them to the top of the league. It will be an honor indeed . . . and one to be proud of.

REMEMBER WITH A POPPY

Pause for a moment and think of one person you knew who left his home and loved ones to take part in either war and who did not return.

Then perform this simple act of remembrance — buy and wear a poppy, the emblem of sacrifice, the blood red flower which reappears each year among the crosses row upon row beyond Flanders Fields.

As you pin this emblem on your coat, remember those you knew who gave their lives, and pray that man may yet learn to live in peace.

BRITISH FIRMS NEGLECT US

British firms are sharply criticized by the London Times for neglecting Canada. They point out in the new world markets, says the Times and if they must, pay across the Atlantic then they prefer the United States. There is an impression that "many do not show sufficient interest" in the Canadian market, "do not advertise enough and do not really seem to care whether they sell."

Coming from such a source, that is a serious charge, says The Financial Post. But declining sales of British goods in Canada and particularly consumer goods lend to confirm it. The Canadian has no prejudice at all against British goods. He knows them and he personally likes them. But he is not going to buy or wait and he is not going to buy them if they are unreliable for our United States climate or if he considers the price too high. In other words, British goods, like those of any other country including Canada, must be sold. They just can't be dumped at Halifax, Montreal, or Vancouver and move into consumption themselves.

Short Title

1. These regulations may be cited as the Migratory Bird Regulations.

Effective Date

2 These regulations shall take effect on the 1st day of September, 1955

Application

(1) Where these regulations apply to any province or part thereof, they also apply to the territorial waters of Canada lying adjacent to that province or part thereof.

(2) Where these regulations apply to the Northwest Territories they also apply to Hudson Bay and James Bay

General

1 Indians and Eskimos may take eggs, rabbits, guillemots, murres, puffins and auklets and their eggs at any time for human food or clothing, but they shall not sell or trade or offer to sell or trade birds or eggs so taken and they should not take such birds or eggs within a sanctuary

2. To be in want with a firearm, whether or not decoys are also present, for migratory birds is prima facie evidence of hunting such birds.

3. No person shall destroy, take or molest nests or eggs of migratory birds unless he is the holder of a permit that authorizes him to do so.

Bag Limits

1 In any area in Canada no person shall kill, in aggregate during any migratory game birds in excess of the numbers ascertained as bag limits for that area.

2 Notwithstanding the bag limit referred to in section 1, a person who hunts in more than one province of Canada during any one day shall not kill migratory birds on that day in excess of the highest number specified as a bag limit for the species concerned in any one of the provinces in which the person hunts.

Possession in Close Season

1 Migratory game birds lawfully killed may be had in possession in the provinces listed in this subsection only from the time when they are killed to the 10th day of November inclusive.

(a) In the Provinces of Manitoba, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, and Quebec, to the 31st day of March inclusive.

(b) in the Province of Ontario, to the 31st. day of August inclusive.

(c) in the Province of British Columbia, to the 31st. day of July inclusive.

1 Migratory game birds lawfully killed may be had in possession at any time in the Provinces of Newfoundland, Alberta and Saskatchewan, and in the Northwest Territories and Yukon Territory

2. In this section, the onus of proof that the migratory game birds were lawfully killed is on the person having such migratory game birds in his possession.

Possession Limits

1. No person shall have in his possession in a province at any time more than one duck, goose, rail, coot, woodcock, Wilson's snipe, or mourning dove than the number of such set out for that province.

Sale

Throughout Canada no person who is not otherwise permitted under these regulations to do so, shall sell migratory birds, expose for sale, offer for sale, or buy migratory game birds.

Shipment

1. No person shall ship, transport or offer for shipment or transportation a package or container in which there is mixed a migratory bird or a nest or egg thereof unless the exterior of the package or container is clearly marked with the name and address of the shipper and the nature and quantity of the contents of the package or container

2 When a package or container is subject to subsection (1) is shipped, transported or offered for shipment or transportation under the authority of a permit issued for scientific purposes, or for the purpose of propagation, the package or container shall clearly show the number of the permit.

3. No person shall accept for shipment or transportation a package or container that contains a migratory bird or nest or egg thereof unless the provisions of this section are complied with.

4. No person shall ship, transport or accept for shipment or transportation migratory birds or nests or eggs from any place in a province to a place outside of that province unless:

(a) they are migratory game birds taken in the open season designated for that province and the shipment is made during that open season for within five days after its termination, or

(b) the shipper is the holder of a permit issued for scientific purposes or for the purpose of propagation

2 No person shall traffic in any way between Canada and the United States in migratory birds, nests or eggs that have been captured, killed, taken or shipped contrary to the laws of the area in Canada or the United States in which such birds, nests or eggs were captured, killed, taken or shipped.

Farmer Unions Approach Cabinet

Following the recent Grain Marketing Conference at Saskatoon, a large delegation went to Ottawa to interview the Federal Cabinet. The delegation consisted of representatives from the Farm Unions of the Prairie Provinces, the Wheat Pools, the United Grain Growers, the Federation of Agriculture and the Ministers of Agriculture for Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Alberta was represented by the Hon. Mr. Halmrast, Henry Young of the PUA and Roy Banks of the AFA.

Before meeting the Cabinet the delegation held a conference in Ottawa on October 18. It was decided to concentrate on the demand for emergency assistance to farmers and leave some of the more fundamental decisions of the Saskatoon Conference to a later meeting. This decision was made over the protest of the Pool Union delegates.

On October 19th. the delegation was received by the Prime Minister, together with four of his colleagues. Messrs. Howe, Gardiner, Garson and Harris and some technical advisers. In all 25 persons were present.

The farm delegation asked for a plan of cash assistance to farmers against grain stored on farms to be put into effect immediately. The Ministers appeared impressed both by the arguments advanced and by the representative nature of the delegation. It would seem probable that action on this request will be taken in the near future.

A request was also made for the appointment of a Farmer to the deeper problems of the farmers' situation. Arrangements for this can be expected later

Dons D'or de M. et Mme. Emile Lafrance célébré a Saint-Paul

La Fête de l'action de Grâces, le 10 octobre, avait une signification toute spéciale toute année pour un couple de Saint-Paul, M. et Mme Emile Lafrance, qui célébrait ce jour là le 25ème anniversaire de leur mariage entourés de leur famille et de leurs nombreux amis. En effet, ils étaient ce jour là entourés de leurs enfants, petits-enfants et amis venus de partout pour leur offrir un cadeau souvenir.

Ce fut en arrivant chez eux que les époux Lafrance furent surpris par la présence de leurs enfants, petits-enfants et amis venus de partout pour leur offrir un cadeau souvenir.

Après avoir remercié leurs hôtes à la grand'joie de tous, le R.P. Maurice Lafrance, o.m.i. de Cardston, Alberta, les jubilaires se rendaient à la salle paroissiale où il y avait réception pour 250 convives, parmi lesquels ils étaient heureux de voir M. David Charron de Vancouver, C.C., frère du Mme Emile Lafrance, M. et Mme Aubert Charron, neveu et nièce de Bivière du Loup, Québec, M. le Curé Tardif et quelques membres du clergé. M. et Mme J.-Marie Fontaine, notre très agréable ami de Saint-Paul, et plusieurs autres amis de distances considérables pour l'occasion

Le R.P Maurice Lafrance fit la présentation d'une Bénédiction apostolique jubilaire enkaissable, et d'une pendule à l'heure très réussie, exécutée spécialement pour les jubilaires par un artiste fidèle de Bienvenue. Sur la table d'honneur on pouvait admirer la magnifique gâteau de noces avec décoration appropriées à la fête, préparé par un membre de la famille, Mme J. Girard.

Quant charme se fut regalé au banquet tout en causant gaiement avec ses voisins, des félicitations en cas nombre ont été transmises par télégramme ou par téléphone par M. le Curé, M. le Maire John Van Brabant, M. J.-Marie Fontaine, de Gunnyville, originaire de la même place que les jubilaires, et à ce titre se sont un peu parent.

Les différentes discours firent remarquer la constitution remarquable de M et Mme Emile Lafrance à la vie paroissiale et sociale de Saint-Paul, leur cordial accueil bien connu de tous et leur vie exemplaire. Ce fut le R.P M. Lafrance qui se fit l'interprète de ses frères et sœurs pour exprimer leurs sentiments de profonde reconnaissance, d'admiration et d'amour filial. Il rappela leur dévouement inlassable, leur vie pieuse, la compréhension et miséricordieuse de la maman, l'idéal qu'ils ont apporté à l'éducation de leur famille. Autres deux n'oublieront leur belle générosité envers l'observance du dimanche, la foi et fidélité de la Messe à la chapelet en famille.

Ils nous fit, M. Emile Lafrance, fut une adresse en un trait quelques mots des années passées, faisant allusion à la petite hutte de Ste-Marie d'où les jubilaires sont venus en 1905, puis parlait du travail courageux, des épreuves et des joies que ne sont entremêlées pendant le temps, mais qui étaient toujours dominées par un merveilleux esprit chrétien Et la gaieté dans la maison il leur en reste de beaux souvenirs!

Un gentil couple de petits-enfants, Léonard Lafrance et sa cousine Marjorlaine Lafrance, firent la présentation des fleurs à la bonne

Vœux nombreux des jubilaires qui fut ensuite et cordial; mais laissent deviner plutôt que disent tout ce que leur cœur contenait d'émotions qu'il n'était pas facile d'exprimer dans les circonstances

La fête a laissé un agréable souvenir à tous ceux qui y ont pris part. Aux jubilaires, nos félicitations et nos vœux de longue vie et de bonheur, pour pouvoir célébrer dans quelques années leurs noces de diamant!

October is Canada Farmwife Month in Canada Across the Continent stores will be featuring Canadian cheese of all kinds. It is an annual effort to persuade us to eat more cheese — a worthy effort indeed Canada's Food Rules suggest using cheese at least three times a week How many times do you use any of Canada's own 53 varieties besides the many other foreign varieties? Cheese is not used to the variety of cheese dishes you can serve from soup to dessert, for breakfast, lunch and dinner — not all at the same days of course, but often Do try a new cheese recipe this month. Here's a supper dish for your family

Cheese and Rice Shells with Tomato Sauce

2 cups cooked rice
1 cup grated Canadian cheddar cheese
½ tsp. salt
2 tbsp. melted butter
1 cup milk
¼ clove garlic, mashed
¼ cup chopped parsley
2 eggs separated

Method

Fold all ingredients together except egg whites. Beat whites until stiff and fold in. Turn into buttered custard cups. Bake in moderately low oven (325 degrees F.) 30 to 40 minutes.

Tangy Sauce

2 cups white sauce
1 cup grated Canadian cheddar cheese
¼ cup chopped stuffed olives
2 tbsp. juice from olives
1 (10 oz.) can tuna or chicken

Method

Blend all ingredients, then heat in double boiler. Pour over rolls and serve at once.

Why not decide to try more cheese dishes this month? Look for new recipes, compare combinations of your own. There is lots of room for imagination when it comes to using cheese in salads, sandwiches, main dishes or desserts.

The W.A. Tea and Sale of Home Cooking held last Saturday at Zamzow's garage was very successful. The committee thanks all those who helped in any way to make the event a success.

Church Service In Bonnyville

The refurbishment services held at Bonnyville United Church was quite successful A very good representation of the Elk Point congregation together with ten of the Choir set out for Bonnyville and posted there to be had set out from Cold Lake United Church, met with a number in the Bonnyville Church

The first part of the program was the grouping of the workers and after words [illegible] from each separate group the main thought from each was found to be music [illegible] the blessing of spiritual value of the work for Christ's Kingdom and not the material

Then followed, after supper, the rededication of ourselves to the Lord's work which was a very helpful service and all who felt themselves called to serve Him with renewed strength and vigor

These services are being held in the United Churches all across the Dominion, at this time and it is a very wonderful and unselfish thought to feel that the various churches are gathered into a friendly whole with the bigger churches, and so we can truly feel that "all things work together for good" in this manner

Past action on the part of the Ashmont section going prevented what might have become a serious situation one evening when sparks from the passenger train set the grass along the track ablaze. The fire quickly spread through the tall dry grass but was brought under control immediately by the C.N.R. section crew.

Mr and Mrs. Fred Rendle were visitors in Edmonton over the weekend.

Robert Jackson, local hotel proprietor miraculously escaped injury October 15, about 7:30 p.m. when his car went out of control on the curve just west of old Ashmont corner. The car ran a hundred yards or so in the northern ditch then careened across the highway, jumped into the ditch on the south side for some distance, and came to rest with all four wheels in the air. No tires were blown but windshield was broken and extensive damage done to front and top of the car. Lately Mr Jackson was alone at the time of the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Coffman of Cadogan were in town a few days, guests of Mr and Mrs. Fred Smith.

A very rewarding day of fellowship and worship was spent at the United Church, October 19 when members and adherents representing Saddle Lake, Goodfish, Vilna, St. Paul and Ashmont gathered for a Mission Rally. Mrs Morgan of St Paul conducted the morning service, assisted by Mrs. Morgan and Mae Newton of Vilna. The St Paul contingent was in attendance with Mrs. H. Whitman of Ashmont, organist. The Ashmont W.A. served the lunch with other willing helpers. During the afternoon discussion groups met, dealing with different branches of church work.

Ruling Reserved On Town Gratuity By-Law

In District Court Before Judge Fraser

Decision on an application by George Perry to have By-Law 216 of the Town of St. Paul quashed, heard before His Honour Judge H. B. Fraser in District Court, Tuesday was reserved until the full implications of the action are considered.

In withholding judgement, the Judge said that the amount of money — $1,000 — was not so important as the principle and consequences of this case.

Mr W. G. Fuller acted on behalf of the applicant, Mr. George Perry. Town Councillor, who objected to the By-Law which grants Mr L. P. Meunier, former Secretary-Treasurer of the Town, the sum of $1,000 as gratuity, being the pension.

The first point in question was given first, second and third reading by the town and enacted on a vote of 3-1. Mr Perry being the only negative.

The case for the applicant was based on Section 86, Subsection (2) of the Town Act, Statutes of 1952, which states in part that the Town Council by By-Law may grant to an employee who has been in the employ of the Town for at least fifteen years, and who, while in the service, has become incapable through age or illness or otherwise of performing efficiently his duties, or has retained an age specified by the Board, a sum not exceeding the total of the aggregate salary for the last two years of his service as a gratuity upon the termination of his service or resignation.

The application maintained that under this section Mr. Meunier was not entitled to the gratuity because he had not reached the illness or through age and that he had occupied a similar position with the School Division.

Mr. Perry, questioned on the stand, said that he was not opposed to the payment of the $1,000 to the past secretary, but that he objected solely on the grounds that the town had no authority under the Act to do so and that he was only interested in having the business of the Town conducted in accordance with the Town and Village Act.

Other witness in the case was the new Secretary, Mr Lauvrel Richard who was brought up to verify the authenticity of the By-Law in the records of the town and to establish routine facts.

Mr. Level J. Farley, solicitor for the Town, conducted the action, upheld the validity of the By-Law on the grounds that the town had been empowered with the full responsibility vested in the above By-Law, pointing that this award has broad implications and must establish a number of other reasons which are known as and known to the citizens.

Mr. Fortier further stated that a careful study of subsection (1) of the Act, notwithstanding section (2) further gave the town full authority to pass such a law and the Judgment of Section (2) only in the drafting was a technicality which is not fatal and did not invalidate the By-Law as a whole, nor did it take away the Town's authority to pass such a By-Law.

Mr. (1) The council, by By-Law, may provide, for a plan of superannuation or annuity payments to an employee upon his retirement from the service of the Town or Village, and the plan may require participation on the part of the employee as the council in its discretion provides in the By-Law.

He said that the general powers and duties of the the council to legislate and conduct the affairs of the Town through By-Law under Section 247 and in particular Section 95 (1) gave the council the authority at their discretion to grant annuity to its employees

Judge Fraser, requested from both lawyers a brief of their arguments and reserved judgement until full and complete study of the case. It is not expected the ruling will be made before at least two weeks.

Evacuate School In Good Order

Eight hundred and fifty-four children and teachers filed out in orderly fashion out of two schools in two and a half minutes, while taking part in an unannounced fire drill last week. Only the teachers were aware that there was not a real fire, but a practice in conjunction with fire week safety precautions.

It took 1¼ minutes to clear the large school, grades one to six, using three exits, one closed, hypothetically on fire in the Brick School, where the High School is housed, with the aid of only two exits and one on fire, evacuating the two stories took 2½ minutes

From the time the alarm was given the whole practice, which included the St Paul Fire Department's arrival on the scene, took 9 minutes.

The siren blew at 10:15 at the school, was relayed to the town office for alarm, fire truck left at 10:16 with eight firemen aboard 10:16½ grades 1 to 6 clear, 10:17½ brick school empty. 10:19 fire truck coupled to hydrant, ready for action and half a minute later, three hoses were in operation, giving the children a lively demonstration on the power of the truck.

The exercise was conducted with the co-operation of Mr. Sylvain Lefebvre, School Principal, who worked with the fire Chief, Phil Gerbrain.

Toastmasters' Table Topics

Gavel wielding duties for the next six months have been handed to Dr J. A. Molenbuk who will direct the Toastmasters as President. He replaces Mr Percy Ivey president of the organization, established last spring.

To help Dr Molenbuk along with the "small talk" Mr Marcel Cheverie has been named Educational Vice-President and L. H Drouin Administrative Vice-President. Secretary-Treasurer is Mr. Joseph O'Driscoll while Peter Vaithinkas takes over the stern duties of Sergeant-at-arms.

For those not familiar with a Toastmasters' Club its purpose is the improvement of members in oral expression of thought, and the development of sound ideas.

It provides instruction material and opportunities to acquire experience in public speaking, personal skill in conversation, knowledge of chairmanship and parliamentary procedure, and encouragement to appear before audiences.

The executive of that club feels that here is an opportunity for many young men with progressive minds, and for business men who have not had opportunity to learn to express themselves openly, to join this club. Ask any member who has belonged or is now on courses, what benefits are to be derived.

It naturally takes some mental effort, to belong to a Toastmasters Club Every meeting, all the members present are called upon to speak impromptu, give prepared speeches and to conduct the meetings. A system of rotation provides every member opportunity to participate on an equal basis. This mental stimulant will lead to greater promotion on the business and private level.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, October 31, at the Lavoie Cafe, 8:30 p.m. You are cordially invited . . . new members and those who have become lax

COMING EVENTS

Tobon Lake Proves Ideal Water For Growth Of Beautiful Fish

Success of stocking Tobon Lake with Rainbow Trout is proven by the accompanying picture of six fish which have grown to angling size in the short period of four and a half months.

The Fingerlings were released in the lake after a careful survey of the conditions by Geory Steedmeise, game warden from Lac Ste. Anne, and completed on October 13th., exactly four and a half months later.

Mr. Steedmeise says now almost all lakes long and weigh nothing, have grown to adult size, under the proper high oxygen conditions by 7 ounces. Stunted trout in such surroundings, are known to have reached 14 lbs. This colony of trout spawn, will average 1½ lbs., 15 to 20 inches long.

Methods of fishing the Rainbow Stock are limited since very practically with the regular and the conditions under which they exist. Fly-casting should prove successful at the use of small hooks

Alberta Fisheries Department looking for new places to plant trout where they can provide good sport and better fishing for the public. Tobon Lake appears to be experimenting with stocking of Rainbow Trout which have no fish at all

The small lakes proved an almost perfect environment for rainbow trout The growth of trout stocked in Tobon lakes are far more rapid than that of fish in mountain lakes and streams. Lack of competition by other fish the absence of predators, lots of food, and an agreeable water temperature caused the rainbow to thrive in their unusual homes

Stocking experience showed the trout grew to eight and 10 inches between stocking time in early spring and freeze-up and by the end of the second year had grown 12 to 14 ounces Three months later, 2 to four pound trout were common in the lakes

RAINBOW TROUT FINGERLINGS GROW RAPIDLY

This catch of beautiful Rainbow Trout was caught right in St. Paul's fishing paradise. An experiment of the Provincial Government, these six beauties are the result of a fish stocking program in Tobon Lake, 1953, when 50,000 fine critters were released in Tobon Lake, about ten miles south-east of St. Paul. The round pounds of the fish can be measured with the small fingerlings about an inch long four months ago to the present size of about 2 inches to 6½ pounds.

Livestock Sale At St. Paul Arena On November 3rd

Cattle and Swine Offered on Block

The Agricultural Society has, as its main objective, to promote the general prosperity of the farmers of a given district.

Above "Livestock Tommy" by this definition the Society decided — two years ago to promote a Sale in St. Paul. The success it had in the past is a definite endorsement of its usefulness

Many farmers have asked in the last two years, "Why don't we have a few cows and steers along with the cattle". It is in answer to that that the Sale Committee decided to include Swine at our Sale this year

The Catalogue of the Sale Information the following entries

Angus, males 4 females 2;
Herefords, males 13 females 8;
Shorthorns, males 36 females 9;
Yorkshire, males 14, females 10;
Hampshire, males 5, females 2.

As you see there is a real variety to choose from. The Sale is organized as a service to those who have something worthwhile for sale or who are in need of some good seed stock.

It is hoped that the animals offered for sale have been accepted by the Sale Committee and are considered of better quality than ever

A very hearty invitation is extended to everyone to attend the Cattle and Swine Sale on November 3rd

The Committee is indebted to the Town of St Paul for the use of the Arena Bush for—permission is gladly acknowledged

Judging for the STOCK PARADE ARENA Judging at 10:00 a.m., Sale at 1:00 p.m.

Board of Trade Holds First Meet Of Season

It's back to the serious business of the Board of Trade, town's interest for the St Paul Chamber of Commerce when the resumed regular meetings Wednesday, noon.

Accomplishments of the past year were reviewed and recommendation was given to old members and to new undertakings.

Vice-President, Ken Wolstenholme chaired the meeting in the absence of Alec Tabone

Several projects were tossed on building and among by-laws for membership in the Board was one sidewalks for $8. Pro $4 annual membership in the parking problem with suggestions for possible parking reserves on the sidewalk curbs and some method of control for truck parking on the side streets. Automobile telephones.

Attention was paid to the formation of an establishment of an old age home, provincially charted by the Board with the possibility and other bodies.

The holiday promotion in St. Paul came up for review, the success of the promotion of an Xmas parade continues to report at the next meeting.

Ghost Stories Of The White Rat Lake District

A resident of White Rat Lake records some horror folklore which is still believed by many residents of the district. As Hallowe'en draws near we offer your humoursome and good natured for both children and adults.

By G. A. GAMBLIN

Almost seventeen years ago a human skull and a few bones were found on the farm of R. J. Good. School children who made their discovery reported the news of the other children to see it and they changed their minds when the presence of the skull suggested a haunted area and the whole matter was quietly dropped.

A few adults actually did go to see the skull. After a lapse of years, one of the boys remarked about this skull and speculation flared anew as to who it might have been and how he came about to perish in the lonely spot.

I asked an old hunter and trapper who has travelled this country years ago. He told me a remarkable tale, the essence of which follows.

He and his partner had a cabin built on the south side of White Rat Lake. He trapped while his partner hunted cattle in the area.

One evening he returned from [illegible] after being absent [illegible] day or more and was in the area reaching a [illegible] cabin. Before he reached [illegible] partner called out and [illegible] and to have him back. When he had rounded a little he partner told him of the [illegible] of his [illegible]

He had [illegible] shone [illegible] on the [illegible] evening was calm, without wind or snow — [illegible] between darkness. Suddenly he heard hoof beats and then someone or something tugging at the door. It was serious [illegible] chain which was over a [illegible] the [illegible] The presence of the outside pulled and tugged until the links in the chain were straightened out.

He had called out several times [illegible] nothing [illegible] answer. The door had been forced partly open [illegible] he shot through the crack, [illegible] several shell. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

"REMARKS" OF ADOLF HITLER

LIVESTOCK SALE

For the third consecutive year, the St. Paul Agricultural Society is sponsoring a livestock sale to be held in the Arena on Thursday, November 3rd.

The fact that these sales are created interest as the owned and have continued to grow, illustrates the progressiveness of better breeders in this district who are striving to raise better and pedigreed stock which is naturally demanding increased [illegible] and is fetching a [illegible] market.

The idea in itself is a very sound [illegible] when we consider that [illegible] invested in the right kind of cattle will yield as well not one more to raise than inferior cattle. It also provides a good outlet for surplus feeds which cannot be marketed in these difficult times, giving the wise farmer that much more opportunity to convert his labors into cash.

Wings was first an exclusive Bull Sale but has grown to include some on supervision and this year there farmers are going for registered animals, the introduction of which is hoped to raise the standard of herds.

The sale provides an opportunity for these local farmers who have not yet gone into the purebred classes to purchase quality, either [illegible] stock to commence herds. A large attendance of buyers as well as spectators is necessary; therefore, use can [illegible] eliminate a biggest [illegible] competition in the livestock market. Don't forget [illegible] November 3rd.

NEW WHEAT POLICY

Within a month or so the Federal Government will announce a new wheat policy which, it is claimed, will answer present criticisms. That promise came from Finance Minister Harris at a political meeting in Toronto.

There may be some surprise at the government's choice of speakers and place for such an announcement, but there will be none at all at the news that a new wheat policy is coming. A completely new policy has been needed and needed urgently for a long time.

We are not moving and selling wheat nearly as fast as we are producing it. We are losing our place as the world's biggest exporter. If we don't do something soon, a large part of Canada and an important segment of the national economy are going to suffer seriously.

FOREIGN INVESTORS PLEASE NOTE

It was not enough to American corporations operating in Canada to pay taxes as observe the law. Dr. Bryce Hall president of the University of Western Ontario told the Border Distribution Conference. They should become Canadian. He urged them to make the same disclosures in their company reports of Canadian operations as Canadian companies do, to offer capital stock on their Canadian plants and to fill key roles in Canadian operations with Canadians.

There is no doubt whatever that Dr. Hall voices sentiments very widely held by Canadians in this and other delicate matter, declares The Financial Post. We need and we welcome United States venture capital in our national development. We are quite ready to respect that capital and see that it is reasonably rewarded. But as Dr. Hall did well to emphasize the Canadian people not only desire to be, but are determined to be, active partners in Canadian enterprise.

HOGS AND HIGH INCOME FARMS

Over a longer period of time hogs appear to be the most profitable farm livestock, according to Alf Peterson of the Alberta Department of Agriculture. Mr. Peterson has been conducting the Mixed Farm Study over the last four years for the Department.

"It is interesting to note," says Mr. Peterson, "that out of a total of 59 mixed farms studied in the Lesser-Wetaskiwin areas, the 9 top income farms over the last 4 years were hogs as a major livestock enterprise. These farms averaged well over $6,000 per year for their own labor managerial and risk as compared to only $1,200 for the total group of 59 farms and $1,800 for the 15 farms carrying hogs.

The three high income farms each produced over 170 hogs per year, nearly double the number produced by each of the other 14 hog producing farms on the study. This, according to Mr. Peterson, brings out the effect of size of operation on net income as a hog farm, even though feed grain may have to be bought to increase hog output.

The income from hogs on the 15 farms studied amounted to approximately 45 per cent of the total gross farm receipts for the three year period. Mr. Peterson points out that higher income farmers are more able to take advantage or improved methods of production. As a result more high quality hogs are shipped from these farms.

OFFICER'S REMARKS QUOTED IN MOSCOW

Alleged remarks by A/C F. F. Carpenter, RCAF, above, were quoted by Russia's Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich in Canada's External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson in Moscow. Air Commodore Carpenter is reported by a Halifax returning student as saying that the RCAF position was to let the Russians shoot "we can knock the first out of them." Pearson called the statement "absurd" and told Kaganovich the matter would be taken up with the Deputy Chief of National Defence in Ottawa.

WEDDING

Two residents of St. Paul were united in holy matrimony October 22 when Miss Alice Barrieau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Barrieau, became the bride of [illegible] son of Mrs. Tassie Watkins. The place is the Catholic Rectory, under officiating clergyman Rev Father Tardiff.

The bride wearing a three-quarter length net and lace dress crowned with pearl and rhinestone with chapel veil.

The Migratory Birds Convention Act Regulations Thereunder

Hunting Prohibited

Throughout Canada, no person who is not otherwise permitted under these regulations to do so, shall kill, hunt, capture, injure, take or molest or attempt to kill, hunt, capture, injure, take or molest a migratory game bird.

(a) except with a gun not larger than number ten gauge,

(b) by the use or aid of a swivel gun, machine-gun, battery, aircraft or sail-boat,

(c) by the use or aid of night lights,

(d) by the use or aid of live birds as decoys,

(e) within one-half mile of any place, reserved or otherwise, whether hunting is taking place or where it has taken place on or subsequent to the fourteenth day before the first day of the open season for ducks and geese in the area in which such place is located;

(f) from any motor vehicle or any aircraft visible or any vehicle to which a draught animal is attached,

(g) using a power-boat, aircraft or motor vehicle in connection with the object of driving them towards a hunter, or

(h) with a shotgun of any description originally capable of holding more than three shells, unless the magazine of which has not been cut off, altered, or plugged with a one-piece metal or wooden plug incapable of removal without disassembling the gun, so as to reduce the capacity of the said gun to not more than three shells at one time in the magazine and chamber combined.

Gunshot Applicable to all Provinces

No person shall kill, hunt or attempt to kill a migratory game bird during the night, which, for the purpose of these regulations, means from one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before the next sunrise.

The possession of night-lights and firearms by any person during the night in places frequented by migratory game birds is prima facie evidence of hunting migratory game birds during the night.

Permits for Scientific Purposes

Notwithstanding any of the prohibitions contained in these regulations a permit may be issued, which empowers the holder thereof,

(a) to kill, hunt, capture, injure, take, molest, buy, sell, ship, transport or possess migratory birds or their eggs or nests for scientific purposes or

(b) to capture migratory birds for banding purposes.

The permits specified in subsection one may be issued by the Minister or by a person authorized by him only

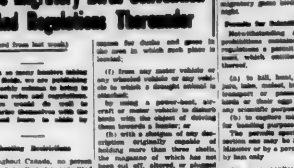
(a) upon application from a person whose application is accompanied by written testimonials from two ornithologists of recognized standing, or

(b) upon application from, and for the purpose of,

(1) a recognized museum, university or scientific society

(2) a department of the Government of Canada or of a province of Canada, or of the government of any country or state other than Canada.

Immediately after the expiration of a permit issued pursuant to this section, the person to whom the permit was issued shall make a report in the Minister of operations taken under the permit, and containing such other information



Allied reports by A/C F. F. Carpenter, RCAF, above, were quoted by Russia's Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich in Canada's External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson in Moscow. Air Commodore Carpenter is reported by a Halifax returning student as saying that the RCAF position was to let the Russians shoot "we can knock the first out of them." Royal Investigation Commission Deals With Treasury Branches

By Ken MASON

EDMONTON Alta — A great deal may depend on the answer to a legal question raised last week before the royal commission investigating charges of maladministration against the Alberta government.

The question was should the commission investigate loans granted by the provincial treasury branches to companies in which members of the legislature are shareholders or directors? At the time of writing, members of the Executive Council had not arrived at an answer.

J. V. H. Milvain counsel for Hon. Edmund Hansel Boomhower, was the one who raised the question. He was cross-examining A. K. Olive, superintendent of treasury branches, and asked for figures regarding loans to companies in which MLA's have financial interest.

S. J. Helman, of Calgary, counsel for the government, jumped quickly to his feet and objected to the question. He cited a clause in the commission's terms of reference which he said placed the question beyond the powers of the commission.

The terms of reference call for an investigation concerning the general procedures followed by the treasury branches in granting loans, and in particular granting loans to MLA's. The inquiry, however, shall be confined to the terms of reference which we said placed the question beyond the powers of the commission.

The terms of reference call for an investigation concerning the general procedures followed by the treasury branches in granting loans, and in particular granting loans to MLA's. The inquiry, however, shall be confined to the terms of reference which we said placed the question beyond the powers of the commission.

Mr. Helman said the terms of reference obviously were intended to protect treasury branch customers other than MLA's from having their accounts displayed in public. Any companies investigated would have a number of shareholders. It he felt the terms of reference prevented any investigation of them.

James Mahaffy, of Calgary, counsel for the commission, agreed with Mr. Helman. If the commission were allowed to include mortgage companies, he said, it would involve any persons and corporations other than MLA's.

Mr Milvain, not anxious to let this one get away from him, said the commission probe would be "nothing but a sham." If it excluded members who dealt with the treasury branches by "hiding behind the facade of a corporation."

The Liberal counsel pointed out that the summer session of the legislature passed a bill permitting MLA's borrowing from the treasury branches in case of a member being managing director or major shareholder in a company dealing with treasury branches, he said, the member would be doing indirectly what he can't do directly.

Mr Milvain said a search of the provincial companies branch records will reveal companies in which MLA's are directors or major shareholders. There might be cases, he said, if companies which are owned solely by an MLA and and one other shareholder.

He mentioned Chessie Blue Insurance Co and Riverbend Oils as two companies in which MLA's have an interest, but he didn't identify the members. He argued that the names of such firms should be brought and should be heard by the commission.

Mr Justice Hugh John Macdonald, commission chairman, adjourned the hearing about two hours early on Friday of last week to consider the question. A decision wasn't reported until Tuesday of this week, when the commission will be back from a visit to Calgary.

In Calgary the commissioners were to visit land purchased by the government for jail sites and liquor stores, in preparation for another phase of the investigation.

The decision on Mr Milvain's question was being awaited anxiously and could have a significant effect on the outcome of the commission.

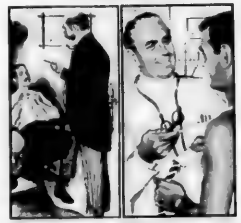
AT CANADIAN EXHIBIT IN PARIS

The France-Canada Exhibition was opened to the public at the Hotel de Sulian (French National Architect), in Paris, with a large collection of items from both countries on display. This girl visitor is admiring a model of a Canadian canoe.

How times have changed for the better!



Not so very many years ago, people with a history of certain ailments or disease were unable to buy the life insurance they needed. Often, they resigned themselves to considering buying for their families. But today, thanks to the results of new knowledge and research in controlling diseases, many such people are now accepted by life insurance companies and can provide their families with vital financial protection.

This is another example of the many ways in which Life Insurance companies, in step with progress, are adapting to the changing needs of Canadians.

The Traffic Safety Lane
By J. W. McKAY
Inspector Highway Traffic Board, Edmonton

I have mentioned previously that Canada or the provinces have not come up with a good statistical program in accidents, but each province is working hard to get machinery whereby the public will be informed on up-to-date accident statistics.

I have some statistics put out by the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administration and these statistics are News in the traffic accident picture Here is some news:

1 Homecrives were cited accident victims in Wisconsin last year.

An occupational study of 1954 traffic accidents found that 110 wives and mothers lost their lives in vehicle crashes. Most of the victims were passengers, not drivers or pedestrians. Also high in the list of victims were 115 farm laborers and 102 students ranging from kindergarten to college age.

2 Hail Truck Accidents are reported in USA.

In the Post Office Department's 500,000 employees are involved in 100,000 accidents or the 80,000 trucks.

It does not say how many accidents, but it is amazing the number of vehicles they have However, their accidents rate was high enough to cause concern and the department had to put on a "Live Down and Live" program.

3 10 000 drivers over 70 years had to pass Illinois Examination.

During last year, driver license examinations were given to more than 60,000 drivers who passed the age of 70 years. Of these more than 10,000 failed to pass for such reasons as faulty vision, inability to comprehend road signs, ignorance of traffic laws, poor driving ability and for traffic violations. Some of those who failed were able to correct their faults.

4 Traffic Speed Trends.

"Motor vehicles travelled at an average speed of 49.7 mph on rural highways during 1954, according to the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads. This figure represents a decrease of 0.1 mph from the 1953 average.

Passenger cars showed a decrease of 0.3 mph. Trucks gained 0.1 mph. Buses were unchanged. The average speed of the three types were Cars 51.1, trucks 43.3, buses 51.3. 52 per cent of the cars exceeded 50 mph. 15 per cent exceeded 60 mph. 23 per cent of trucks and 41 per cent of buses exceeded 50 mph."

I read that report and the above items were news to me, so I thought it would be interesting to you.

Some day we will be able to give statistics like that.

Health Thru Chiropractic

Every business enterprise requires a manager So too, does your body No part of the intricate mechanism of the human body could operate without intelligent management

The brain, both conscious and subconscious, intelligently directs and controls the function of every cell in your body from the time you are conceived until death.

The digestive system with its chemical laboratory provides the nourishment for all tissues of the body The circulatory system distributes this nourishment, and waste material is thrown off by the excretory system — the skin, kidneys, etc. The respiratory system carries oxygen to the cells and gives off carbon dioxide. The skeletal and muscular systems provide strength, form and activity.

It all seems quite simple, and it is. Yet none of these activities could take place without the nervous system, through which the brain keeps in touch with all the various gland and other systems and directs all their actions.

The spinal cord is a continuation of the brain, and is enclosed within the spinal column. Nerve trunks exit from the spine and divide into millions and millions of tiny fibres, extending through and supplying every gland and tissue of the body. This is the nervous system which receives sensations and carries them to the brain. The brain interprets the messages and sends back responding impulses that maintain the body in good health.

It sometimes happens, however, that a vertebra in the spinal column has slipped out of its normal position as the result of some mishap. This misalignment produces pressure on the spinal cord and nerve trunks, blocking the flow of essential controlling impulses. Deprived of these impulses the affected gland or organ cannot function properly, and the result is ill-health.

The Chiropractor restores the vertebra to its normal position. This frees the nerves to carry their life-giving impulses to all parts of the body, and the return to good health is merely a matter of time.

Safety Sam Says...

Give the other driver a break - let him through the line Traffic

It is a common sight, during rush hours particularly, to see cars entering intersections from side streets forced to sit and wait for a courteous driver to let them through or into the traffic.

Sometimes, too, a driver in one lane lets a car proceed into the intersection, only to have another lane bottle the car up and make a traffic jam. Let's all co-operate to eliminate these unpleasant traffic situations.

If you see a motorist stranded in such a position, slow up and let him through. It takes only a few seconds of your time. Make a habit of courtesy.

WOLF WANDERS TO CENTRE OF CITY

Harmless wolf, Joan Bennett, examines a fur animal that by Toronto police in downtown R a branch of the animal, wandered at the heart of the city before an alert taxi-driver recognized it as "an old" and radioed police. It was the first time a wild had ventured into the suburbs at the city without being completed.

A Six Months' Holiday in Britain By Mrs. W. Adam, Elk Point

still remaining King Charles II and Master Peppy, the famous district, walked often on these same cobblestones and under the same tree in its youth, and this makes it interesting. Tonight nearby stands the same chapel of that age, somewhat altered but still bravely standing as the various High Judges in their wigs and colorful robes pass at 4-5 per hour before attending the Law Courts, as they did of old.

I watched the changing of the guard in Whitehall, as I have done so many times in past years. I roamed the wide main road of Whitehall and stood for a moment contemplating the world famous Memorial to the glorious dead of the last two terrible world wars, to read all wars. I walked into Downing Street and waited a while with others in case I were fortunate enough to catch a glimpse of Mr. Churchill coming out of or going into the rather unimpressive door of No. 10. All I saw was the usual quiet looking policeman or "Bobbie" (as English people like to call the members of their tall helmeted police force) who is always to be found on duty in that spot. I popped into the Colonial Office, just opposite St. Jo, being known there because of my private work among Immigrant families of West Africans, and West African students all over the country for many years before I came to Canada. From there, I walked into the Green Park, — this is one of the beautiful parks in the City, both in it, all who enter through, to preserve its loveliness for others" — on the o-fellowar. Many Londoners enjoy their mid day lunches in the sunshine, either on the soft, freshly mown grass or in the deck chairs or small chairs provided. In the distance one might hear bands playing — the Grenadier Guards perhaps, or the sound of the skirl of the bagpipes from the Scots Guards, especially if her Majesty were taking the salute in Hyde Park near by. Sauntering through Hyde Park, past the very interesting and entrancing Speakers' corner, and on by the waters of the Serpentine I was once again in the fascinated by small groups of men and boys flying odd looking kites, an English custom of long standing.

I did not, this time go into Petticoat Lane, which is an open air market comprising hundreds and hundreds of stalls laden with goods of many kinds — antiques, household materials from a needle to a pin, vegetables and other food, and woollens, dishes and cutlery, towels, silks and satins, cottons up to ne'r most ch... all sold at fantastic prices for the benefit of bargain hunters. As in the days of old, all this was accompanied by the shouts and calls of the vendors — the strident Cockney voices calling out their wares together with the softer tones of the turbanned Indians displaying their oriental silks and purported perfumes, and the expressive hands and shoulders of the Hebrew and Italians in the Jewish custom, and not forgetting the well known cries of "buy our polished nuts" which has sounded down the centuries. All this seems as odd to me half, as we say.

Instead, I went along with an old friend of mine, a dunky African, one day, who took me shopping along the old Portobello road, which is another Petticoat Lane on a smaller scale. This road has stalls on both sides of it the whole length of the way. We bought fruit, etc., and groundnut oil, and curry powder, and rice meat as he quaintly called it. The dust of passing traffic added its powdering to our every body, but no one seemed to mind.

I wandered about old Kensington, looking and poking around the antique shops, and managed to find an old record which had certainly helped to shed blood in its time during the Franco-Prussian war This, together with an African head scratcher, now repose in Mr Steve Andrishak's fine museum in Elk Point, a fitting resting place for them after their journey.

Rainbow Time. I went into the Hot de Lowndes Turnable Wood of young Prince Charles and his sister, and one day I spent in the very beautiful Kew Gardens which has every sample of plant tree and shrub growing there from every part of the world including there from tropical countries in the big hot glass houses there I also enjoyed a glorious symphony concert at the Albert Hall and managed to find time to attend a lovely ballet performance at the Saddlers Wells Theatre. I took a leisurely walk down the Mall and finally reached Buckingham Palace, saw the Royal Standard flying overhead, which told me that the royal family was then in residence Later when they travelled to their Scottish country residence at Balmoral, this flag was taken down

There were always great crowds of people, many overseas visitors, either from the commonwealth countries or otherwise Paramount Chiefs from West Africa in their white robes and sandals, and I also again had the delight of meeting his Highness the Oni of Nigeria who had brought two of his wives with him this time there were many wealthy Indians from India and Pakistan with their wives in their graceful saris of many pretty hues; there were also representatives of Northern Africa — men who wore their robes with dignity, and their faces hooded as is their custom; I noticed, too, dark faces from the Lebanon and I could go on and on describing the people who [illegible] in the very cosmopolitan city of London.

St. Therese Hospital Civil Defence Program For St. Paul

The Administrator — as outlined of the Hospital Emergency Plan for use in an emergency. It may decide to evacuate the Civil Hospital and its contents and remove to St. Jo. Parish Hall, Rectory and hunting the plan is timed and of knowledge as one is taking to put every unit.

Patients Care of Patients — The Charge Nurse will be notified by the Administrator, of the disaster and will immediately go to the hospital. The Nurse in Charge of each Unit will see that casualties, in danger of death, will receive immediate Spiritual Assistance. The table with the necessary articles to Anoint the patient should always be available The identification Tag of these patients receiving the Last Rights should be marked "Received Spiritual Services."

1 The Assigned Unit will be on Second Floor and will accommodate all Surgical and Gynecological cases and Obstetrical Cases included in Maternity. They have one Major and one Minor Operating Room, a Case Room and a Labour Room that could be used as a Plaster Room.

2 The Radiological and Laboratory Unit on Second Floor is readily available. Specimens would be sent and handled by the Technician in Charge A record of all the work done by the department during an emergency is the responsibility of the Technician. Blood and Plasma ordered as necessary

3 The Pharmacy Department on Second Floor would operate on a 24 hour basis Supplementary assistance would be requested from the local pharmacists. The department would be responsible for medications or drugs

4 Central Supply Unit — The Supervisor in Charge of this Unit will draw Auxiliary help as required to keep an adequate supply of instruments, bandages and sterile supplies available

5 Medical Unit will be established on First Floor. This will accommodate Fracture Cases, infected cases, and the non-essential Medical patients.

6 Burn Unit — If it is necessary to establish a burn Unit this could be set up in the North Wards of First Floor. The adjoining Community Room would serve in the Convalescent Room for Burns.

7 Psychiatric Unit — If necessary, this could be set up on Ground Floor to accommodate any Psychiatric Patients. The room reserved for this purpose would be Room 1 and 2

8 Responsibilities of Ward Personnel

In the Accident Room, Ward Procedure should be kept to a minimum. Charting must be kept to a doubly important to keep good records of treatments, etc.

It would probably be more efficient to follow Standard Ward Duty as closely as possible. Time to try and teach new techniques

Housekeeping and Dietary Services

Dietary Services — The present set-up for trays would continue, i.e., the heated cart would go to each floor kitchenette, where the meals are served A simple menu would be sufficient during the initial stage. Light lunches would be served (soup, sandwiches and tea) for staff and families requiring nourishment.

Laundry and Linen — There will work in close co-operation and on a 24 hour basis if necessary Linen during the initial stage will be saved as much as possible by using sheets and using both blankets until the casualties are assigned a definite ward Additional linen will be required to set up extra beds and for sterile supplies

Engineering and Maintenance — The engineer will be on a 12-hour shift [illegible] assistance will be available His department will be responsible for supplying adequate power for the successful operation of the hospital. Fire prevention and inspection of Fire extinguishers comes under this department

SUMMARY

In our planning we have covered each department in the hospital and through co-operation of all the services, feel prepared to meet any emergency A copy of the plan will be available in all departments and will be Reviewed at intervals to cover any changes that might occur in the physical set-up of our hospital.

GLENDON NEWS

The Lucknow meeting of the Glendon Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Tom Weirich on Thursday, October 13 with an attendance of eighteen members and two visitors. Roll call was answered by each member giving a donation to the hospital pantry fund. Mrs. Wilfred Hillman read an interesting paper on home economics and Miss Harry Crawford brought greetings from the Homemakers' Club of Bonnyville. Plans were made for the Canadianana Conference which will be held on November 2nd.

The Hospital to which was held recently at the Glendon Hospital was very successful. The new incubators maintained on display and Dr Wm. Pavlek gave a detailed explanation of its various uses. The "Pioneer" Incubator, which sponsored the session, wish to thank both Dr Pavlek and the Matron and Staff of the Hospital for their cooperation and assistance.

Mr Max Wentzell died in Edmonton on Saturday morning, October 15th, and funeral services were held at the Bath Shelton Synagogue Monday.

Mr Wentzell was well known in the district as he was one of the pioneer merchants of St. Paul, coming here in 1910 he was a partner with his brother Dave Wentzell for a number of years. In 1944 his store was destroyed by fire, and he then married with his family to B.C. where he spent several years. In 1949 he returned to Edmonton where he became part-owner and manager of the York and Bellevue Hotels. In 1950 he built the Park Hotel on the South Side.

Besides a keen business mind, he did not spare himself in the discharge of his many duties and his health gradually grew worse.

He leaves to mourn their loss: his loving widow, one daughter, Shirley, at home, Harvey Wentzell in Winnipeg; Max and Sam Wentzell of Edmonton and many friends in the Glendon district is extended to the bereaved family

CANADIANS FAVOR PRINCESS' RIGHT TO WED MAN OF HER CHOICE

Princess Margaret and Group Captain Peter Townsend are now both in London, adding new interest to the love affair which ended in marriage. Townsend is on a month-long vacation from his post of equerry to Britain's queen and part of a holiday in Scotland.

A poll held in Canada revealed that 73 per cent of Canadians upheld the Princess' right to marry the man of her choice even if it meant, as in the case of Townsend, that she would thereby give up her right to the throne.

Buy A Poppy And Aid In Legion Work

Put over 25 years, the Canadian Legion of the B.E.S.L., has given assistance and unstinted service to Canadian veterans The Legion's record includes a list of achievements on behalf of ex-servicemen unsurpassed in the world.

Never content to be solely a social club where veterans may gather and reminisce, the organization has steadfastly forged to the front as a strong influence for veteran's welfare, for the security of Canada and for the principles of democracy

One of the important means by which the Canadian Legion carries out its nationwide veteran welfare program is the annual distribution of poppies and poppy wreaths

Proceeds from this distribution have enabled The Legion to bring immediate and unfailing needed relief to untold numbers of veterans and their dependents, and to the orphans and widows of those who died in the service of their country

The results demonstrate the usefulness of the project Throughout the years the Annual Poppy Campaign has received the unanimous endorsement of leaders in all walks of life.

However the Canadian Legion Poppy Campaign is rooted in the grass roots of millions of the nation where more than 2,000 Legion Branches conduct individual campaigns. The contributions of the rank-and-file of such that well over half of the total funds raised remains in those communities for local veteran welfare work, and since all the work is done voluntarily all the profits are reserved for this work

Any veteran in need — whether or not he is a member of the Legion — is equally eligible to benefit

Help Institute For The Blind

There is a light in which you can lend the blind. It is an inward light if you have the kind of self reliance that is a real and satisfying joy to see one, such as the despair and hopeless misery of blindness, come to realize that he can be independent, earn his own livelihood, enjoy recreation attain a large measure of happiness and peace of mind.

This, then, in the last analysis, is the work of Chase to re-instruct and help the children that they can go forward with self confidence — to take their place in society, honored and respected citizens. This is the work in which we are

Solution:
A bank loan

You may need extra cash for doctors' bills, for house repairs, to save on a season's fuel supply — or for any sound reason. Don't hesitate — see the bank about it. It's the natural thing to do.

The chartered banks, through independent personal loans large and small, make it possible for people to meet pressing needs or take advantage of bargains. At any branch, you can count on considerateness, courtesy, privacy. It is a simple manner to arrange a loan, repayable out of income in instalments that suit your convenience.

The local branch of a chartered bank not only provides personal loans but many other banking services of value to everyone in the community.

Only a chartered bank offers a full range of banking services, including CHEQUING ACCOUNTS — Keep your money safe; pay your bills by cheque. Cancelled cheques are the habit of thrift.

TRAVELLERS CHEQUES — Protect you against theft or loss while away from home. They are readily negotiable anywhere.

LETTERS OF CREDIT — For travellers on extended trips, or to finance business transactions in a distance.

HOME IMPROVEMENT LOANS — For repairs, alterations or additions to your home.

District Red Cross Meeting

The Elk Point and District Red Cross meeting was held in the Ladore School with the ladies of the Lindbergh locals as hostesses.

Dr Weigerandt was in the chair. The reports of the activities of the various locals were read Their were many articles including sweaters, pyjamas, nighties and socks which had been made for the Red Cross. The ladies of Helenburg locals, especially, had a wonderful showing of their work.

A new slate of officers was elected for the coming year.

Dr Weigerandt was elected president, while vice-presidents were Mrs. Adam of Elk Point, Mrs. Bank of Helenburg and Mrs Lorenzen of Lindbergh.

Mrs. Player of Helenburg was elected secretary and Mrs Van Damme of Elk Point, treasurer

Guest speakers at the meeting were Mr Stanley of the Edmonton Red Cross and Dr. Calder who is head of Red Cross Swimming and Water Safety for North Eastern Alberta

Mr Gilmet spoke shortly on swimming and water safety and later a film was shown on the same subject.

After the meeting a very delicious lunch was served in a very grand style by the Lindbergh ladies

Poor Turn Out At Chamber Meeting

Relates Experiences Of Six Months' Visit To Britain

By Mrs W ADAM
Elk Point

My preparation for my six months' visit to Britain afforded me a good deal of thought and effort, which very easily culminated in my leaving Elk Point, March 23 of this year

After a very interesting Greyhound Bus journey during which we encountered heavy snowfalls and blizzards en route to Winnipeg, causing the bus to get stuck more than once. I was also to board the Cunard liner Saxonia at New York on March 29th.

The voyage across the Atlantic was quite good, a little stormy when in mid-Atlantic, but that was to be expected The time on board was passed very pleasantly, either by playing deck games or a fancy dress parade each evening I was able to take part of The first being a Hawaiian night and the other I remembered as a Mohawk night when I was a Mohawk squaw accompanied by a gentleman friend as a Mohawk brave. Needless to say I was the awarded any prize for the effort.

I arrived safely in Liverpool on April 6th. Here I was met by my sister and brother-in-law and after a fantastic but enjoyable drive through the English countryside and a very pleasant overnight stop at Chester I arrived at my sister's home in Wrexham where she finally got settled in her new home after being bombed out by the Germans during the war years and later but the cost of living is very high and not comparable to wages which are not yet as good as they might be. The building up of demolished areas, due to the bombardments, is showing but surely taking place

In London for instance, I noticed that where some of the old and ancient buildings had been burnt by explosives they are being restored to look as near as possible to the original way they looked For instance in the Soho area, where barristers and solicitors have their rooms and are offices, there is a group of buildings being reproduced since before the eighteenth century and still stately also two [illegible] old and stately also two [illegible] continued on inside pages

Union Leader Sees Depression Threatening

Discounts Claims Wheat Surplus Exists

Cork Farmers' Union members shoveled snow, made it by tractor, some even walked, but they came in good numbers to hear an important message delivered on alarming marketing conditions by Mr G F Gray of Saskatoon assistant to the President of the Farmers Union in Saskatchewan.

Mr Gray warned that a serious situation has boomed on the agricultural horizon and that conditions will get much worse in the near future. He said that we are actually in the first phase of a depression which has been creeping upon us, slowly and unnoticed while the farmers have been lulled into a false sense of security in the past few years.

The value of wheat, today, as its relation to purchasing power has given farmers to half the value it had decades ago.

He said that the farmer is not asking for a hand out, nor does he want a subsidy for his product, but demands justice and a square deal for agriculture which is being exploited by powerful, un-Canadian combines, who are fleecing industry to the detriment of the world.

The world owes to its food a living, it is a matter of life or death to the world — that a demand for it is equal to half of the universe.

He blamed economic and political disturbances for the destruction of the investigatory surplus Canada's Government and the Wheat Board should stop returning to deal with outside wheat boards, and forms of government differ from ours. Dealings should be arranged on a suitable basis to meet the requirements of all countries. Country differences should not interfere and exchange of imports and exports should be considered on an equitable basis. Why should one half of the world go on starving while wheat exists in abundance in this country?

He said the machine of the world still ticked, but the way to keep it going was by selfish motives of humanity and the few who are capitalizing on the misfortune of others to make millions for themselves.

He blamed the government for encouraging the farmers of Canada to produce, then refuse to accept the product and find the proper markets and outlets. He complained about the grain storage problems in which the farmer is forced to deliver to elevators which handled the grain at excessive profits, all of which are charged back to the poor farmer.

He favored the existence of the Wheat Board advising farmers to hang on to it in preference to the open market exchange which in the depression years resulted in hardship on the farmers and forced the price of products to rock bottom. However, the Wheat Board should work in co-operation closely and not behave on a man-ner to antagonize farmers and turn them against it. There is a great need to have actual farmers on the Wheat Board at the policy making level. Objection was voiced against order-in-council ruling in favor of political expediency, detriment to the farmer thereon.

Mr. Gray urged intelligent farmers to organize into co-operatives . . . to back resolutions presented at their respective conventions and to bring pressure upon the government in force to pass legislation in the interest of the farmer and the nation as a whole. He urged the farmers to get behind the Farmers' Union and back it to the limit.

REIGNING QUEEN OF LEGION CARNIVAL

Laurette Coutu Carnival Queen

Miss Rose Prodaniuk Second Place; Yvonne Svanda Third, Six Way Race

The astounding success of the Legion's three-day Carnival, with all its pomp, glory and humor brought to Miss Laurette Coutu popular candidate of an enthusiastic, who over the Queen title and failed as the central figure in a coronation ceremony performed by Mr Maurice Mailloux, President of the St. Paul Branch.

Runner-up in the contest was Miss Rose Prodaniuk, a nine second and Miss Yvonne Svanda placed third. Other contestants were Misses Lorette Gauthier, Jeanne Gervais and Lorette Bolland.

For her contribution to the success of the Carnival, Miss Coutu received a cheque of $100, the sponsored of a free trip to the coast received as first prize Miss Prodaniuk was awarded the $50 bill, Miss Svanda $25.00 and the three other candidates $25.00 each.

Miss Coutu was a striking figure of royalty, attired in a gown of white net over taffeta in oriental length beaded bodice, cape and sleeves, and stand up collar Further dignity was added with the young princess and placing of the diamond studded crown. The robe was installed black velvet, lined richly and trimmed in flowing fur.

Prizes of the raffle for which all six girls were greatly instrumental in the Legion's financial success, by selling tickets in all parts of the district, all went to the outside of St. Paul. First Prize a season of the afternoon chaos on a lazy-boy chair or a part-way-by bed was won by Miss Anne Chenier of Vancouver, ticket sold by Miss Yvonne Svanda. Second prize of beautiful quilt to Miss Jean Chayer of Grande Centre on a ticket purchased from Miss Rose Prodaniuk.

Prize winners on the smaller items Electric Clock Robert Mascarenn, Dell Claire Joly, donated by Mrs. Gauthier Cake Mrs Jack Hansen, donated by Mrs H Trudeau.

Little Miss Janet Parkinson, about 5 years, did the honor pulling and seemed well trained by her 'Old Man'. Every time she was asked to read the winning name it was simply "Pukiwska" all the way.

Mr. Mailloux, in crowning the queen, thanked her on behalf of the Legion for her services for the benefit of the veterans. He equally expressed gratitude to all the citizens' efforts put out by all the candidates who did their best.

The six-way contest for queen was the first attempt of its kind in St Paul and proved an outstanding success in fostering interest on the carnival which ran Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the Legion Hall.

Mr Roland Bouvrett was general co-ordinator of the promotion, assisted by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Legion who conducted the raffle under the direction of Mrs Henry Trottier, President of that section

In one term words, Miss Coutu thanked the Legion for the honor given her the opportunity to which such high interest. Thanks are also extended to the Elite Theatre and Bolland and Son for sponsoring her, along with all the wonderful and loyal people of the district who made possible the crowning glory by coming and buying tickets for her

Fourteen Girl Guides Initiated

Fourteen trim girls in neat blue uniforms paraded in front of Beth Haddock, Calgary Field Secretary Organizer of the Alberta Girl Guide Association, to take oath and solemnly promise to uphold the high ideals and traditions of the organization.

The induction ceremonies took place in the United Church Hall on Friday, October 28 with a large audience of parents on hand to witness the impressive affair.

Patrol leaders Wendy Cooper and Yvonne Payer, alternately introduced the candidates to Miss Beth Haddock, who gave them the commands, to which pledge and placed them on probation. Due to inability to be present before presenting the shiny tooled badges of the order.

Taking the salute along with Miss Haddock were Captain Rose Tanzos and Lieutenant Elizabeth Mercier, members of the St. Paul Troop. Mrs. W. G. Fuller, Brown Owl of the Brownies was on hand to help with the ceremonies.

Mrs. S. Cooper, Chairman for the occasion, introduced Mr. J. A. Beauregard, Assistant Mayor of the Town, who congratulated the new Guides on their achievement and encouragement for the good work in interesting the young girls in a worthwhile project.

Miss Haddock, addressing the parents, gave a brief history on the origin of the Girl Guide movement which is an offshoot of the Boy Scouts organized by the late Lord Baden Powell in 1903. It has grown into a world wide fraternity with strong bonds of friendship between all races and religions and has established a mutual basis of understanding between countries.

Girls initiated were: Blue Bird Patrol, Velma Payer, Gail Bushel, Renee Wenger(sewski), Marilyn Olsen, Lynne Phelps, Wanda Pelletier, Susan Hellinger, Canary Patrol, Wendy Cooper, Dona Hellinger, Vivian St. Jean, Marion Fuller, Joyce Olsen, Rose Pederson, Eleanor Lund.

The Girl Guides and organizers wish to express thanks to the Canadian Outlet Store, St. Paul Beverages and the local sponsors, who contributed to make the party a success.

Fourteen Local Seed Cleaning Plant Next Year

Following very favorable initial response by farms, plans for the proposed seed plant are now well under way

At the outset it was hoped that the plant could be built this fall but several factors involved have prevented the accomplishment. First, the Amsterdam was required by law to have at least $14,000 in shares sold before building could commence and the Association was not able to raise that amount due to lack of readycash among the farmers Secondly, the contractor who builds all the plants in the province was not available early enough in the fall to commence building and thirdly, building materials, particularly cement, were not available for building. It was therefore necessary to postpone building until the spring of 1956.

Although shares have been sold to well over the two-thirds mark, the Association is not sparing any efforts to have all financing arrangements completed prior to the end of the year to ensure that the St Paul Plant will be the first to be built in 1956.

Farmers who have purchased shares on the deferred payment plan are requested to contact Mr Wolferdinger, Manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in St. Paul regarding payment of the deferred portion of their shares

Remembrance Day Reverence Due Fallen Men

Masses Of Two Wars Remembered Nov. 11

By CONRAD SLATER

This day of remembrance every year is mentioned without thinking of the hundred people which it reminds everyone to remember with the reverence.

It is many that passing strange that many people do not know what was the Poppy Fund — for. Our newspaper has for years carried splendid editorials at this time of year regarding the origin and disposition of the Poppy Fund.

It would appear that one would depends on what we remember — on Remembrance Day. Our remembrance may be short lived to be worthy than service to the ever-present. But they will always be wearing their poppy but in doing will be keeping faith with those of their comrades who gave their all on the battlefield. In an emotion or sweet down to the core of her

What do all of us in general remember on November 11? The young lads who marched away with no more returns? Or have we ever gone through the wards of a veteran's hospital and seen the maimed wrecks of humanity who stood between us and destruction?

There remember also hundreds of others with us of every race who targets the deadly peril from the air.

A word more of other veterans was the civilians of old French farmers or the Samoa during the recent Andrews upon ruins-heaps of those and people struggling home during the roads with all they could carry on their backs — remember many be a mattress, a patchwork quilt, chickens, a few utensils. The Grandparents hugging little little group with little children holding on to Grandma's skirts. The young men and middle aged all on the field of battle with the very old and very young off. Many soldiers have remembered and wondered how it would be felt here if the heavenly should arm and the bombs, bombs, our possessions and all and then back to dust, ashes to ashes. be our comrade and then a roaring crash ends the thoughts words of mortal hope and red poppy petals flutter over the grave of dust and dying men. Yet another was memory

There are only a few hundred veterans of the last war left of which were swept very many in the ranks of disaster. Men men of our district were there and shared in its horror. Now they expect each and everyone of us to buy a poppy this year, to wear it with gratitude that we were not maimed and broken during the war, even one is around the memorial service, such a small thing to ask for those who served us.

ST. PAUL ALTA

Sound Hockey Investments

The hockey executive in charge of organizing the senior hockey for St. Paul has made some sound investments with a number of high calibre players during the past week-end.

Faced with tough competition in the Eastern Alberta Hockey League, which banned Ian K. of signing a good grade of players, St. Paul got busy and got their men. The addition of Lloyd-minster left the league off the situation.

Peter Two Hills si, ves have signified acceptance of terms to skate for St. Paul You will again see in action the popular "Red Line" as it was known last year Jimmy Brayton, winner of the Capitol Drugs cup for high scorer, Marshall Dubiel and Eddie Lebsack which Dick Pundick returns to play for St. Paul from the south-ern town.

Interviewed over the weekend, Manager Dion and Coach Vallieres, two Saskatchewan boys who took the Saskatoon end of a stormy last season, will be back. In addition to Brayton, Lebsack, forwards playing for Barrhead provincial hockey winners, will be a main stay watch. Carth, an all-round athlete, played ball for Cold Lake the past summer We remember him on the line-up when Edmonton played the final games of the playoffs last winter and there is no doubt in his ability.

The goal s to be covered by Art Gaudet, who has proved reliable player from Smithend and on the roster of last year's warners. At Bonnyville, in the playoffs Gaudet let in only one goal in the next rushes at ... defenders and received a great part of the credit for the championship.

The rumor is circulating that "Pete" Pe- Mowyk, a local boy who gave in Bonnyville may next be set with the Hockey. Pete would love to re-league here back From the local ranks have been recruited Bill Hudson, Clarence Richard, Terry LaBoucane, Burk Delisle and Harold Pjetitrom, recently of Mallaig and now employed in town. He is described as an up and coming young player.

In a last minute meeting before press time, Mr. G. Lorenz accepted to manage the St Paul Hockey Team in conjunction with the existing sponsoring executive which has undertaken to boost hockey.

Application of Paul Dion for position of coach was duly considered on his past record and it was felt his qualifications measured up to the task He is expected to arrive within ten days to start physical training to get the boys in shape before the 1 game.

Mrs. W. Adam Tells Of London Trip

ence for me to go south to Rhodesia, and en route I called on Barrow-in-Furness to stay at a Manse there This is a little shop repair town with its huge factories on the north east coast of England What I noticed there most was the sight of thousands of men coming and cycling to their work, at the mornings and coming back in the same manner Cars are most rarely seen there Leaving Barrow, I called into Manchester, a busy thriving city with great modern stores and Capitol Drugs cup for high scorer, Marshall Dubiel and Eddie Lebsack which Dick Pundick returns to play for St. Paul from the south-ern town.

Interviewed over the weekend, Manager Dion and Coach Vallieres, two Saskatchewan boys who took the Saskatoon end of a stormy last season, will be back. In addition to Brayton, winner of the Capitol Drugs cup for high scorer, Marshall Dubiel and Eddie Lebsack which Dick Pundick returns to play for St. Paul from the south-ern town.

During the months in British I made several journeys to the small and very beautiful Isle of Man situated between England Ireland and Scotland It takes about one and a half hours by ship and about an hour by air to get to the capital of the Island where my mother's home is It is a home made of Manx slate and there alone on the top of the cliffs looking out to sea. It was during the war years, and the housewarming each time I arrived was cold, very cold.

And so time passed rapidly, and September 16th arrived all too soon when I had to go on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of England for the return journey. I was fortunate in having a most delightful cabin to myself for the whole of the journey, and the homecoming each time I arrived was cold, very cold.

I have many pleasant memories of the whole trip, and enjoyed every moment.

How times have changed for the better!

Not so very many years ago, people with a history of certain ailments or disease were unable to buy the life insurance they needed. Often, the result was considerable hardship for their families. But today . . . thanks to the results of new knowledge and research in controlling diseases, many such people are now accepted by life insurance companies — and can provide their families with vital financial protection.

This is another example of the many ways in which the life insurance companies in Canada have advanced and do more and more . . . offering better service to Canadians in all walks of life!

FBA Delegation Host Minister

A delegation of five officials of the FUA headed by C J Bissqlle, FUA Vice-President, and including Mr S A Sanford, Mr E. Nelson, Mr C Hettinger and Mr W Logan, interviewed the Hon. J G Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture in the McDonald Hotel on October 19th.

The question discussed was the fixed price on hogs as well as the cattle price The talk centered around the stability in hog prices. It was finally agreed the price of hogs largely depended on prices in the USA which are at present about 6 cents per pound below Canadian prices Also at present there is an embargo on USA hogs traffic, and stayed for a little while there Then I left for Liverpool, very many, and continued visiting the country about the city and Port and saw the same days on the other side of the River Mersey.

During the months in British I made several journeys to the small and very beautiful Isle of Man situated between England Ireland and Scotland It takes about one and a half hours by ship and about an hour by air to get to the capital of the Island where my mother's home is It is a home made of Manx slate and there alone on the top of the cliffs looking out to sea. Final Crop Report Of The Season

Throughout the major part of Alberta the weather during the past week has been fair and harvesting operations have gone ahead steadily Threshing has been completed in many points and should be all cleaned up within three or four days, except for a very small acreage in the immediate vicinity of Calgary, where a week to ten days will be needed to complete operations.

The crops which were harvested during September — about 65 per cent to 70 per cent of the total crop — were of uniform high quality and dry condition The quality of the grain harvested since that time, however, has suffered severely from excessive moisture and frost. We estimate the average yields per acre for Alberta as follows. Wheat 22.5 bus; Oats 58 bus, Barley 35.5 bus; Flax 12 8 bus, Rye 18.4 bus.

This is the final report for the season.

Final Appeal To Citizens

By Maurice Maillaux, Executive of the local British Isle of the Canadian Legion today issued a final appeal to all citizens, asking them to wear a poppy on Remembrance Day The date people seem cool.

Mr Maillaux called on all veterans to act as canvassers by wearing the memorial flower "Call at the home of your neighbor and honor those who served by our side and gave their lives for Canada." he said.

"Most people," he said, "need a nudge or reminder to their legal which proclaims membership in the organization of veterans. Through such emblems they make known their beliefs and principles.

"The present beliefs and principles of all are those for which our boys died," Mr Maillaux continued, "Therefore let us for a few days wear the badge of honor which symbolizes our faith in the ideals for which our fellow Canadians died."

Alberta Social Credit League To Bring Up Margarine Question

By KEN HARRIS

EDMONTON — The question of colored margarine — to have it or not have it — will be knocked around again in November by the annual convention of the Alberta Social Credit League.

Delegations from the Edmonton and Calgary Social Credit Constituency Associations will go to the convention, scheduled for Calgary Nov. 25-Dec. 1, armed with resolutions urging the provincial government to remove the color ban on margarine.

However, unless the attitude throughout the province has changed in the last few years (and there is nothing to indicate that it has) the resolutions appear doomed to defeat.

At least once in recent years, SC constituency groups speaking headed by women's auxiliaries, have pressed for color in Alberta's margarine. But on overwhelming majority of town and rural members have voted in favor of leaving things the way they are.

Both the Edmonton and Calgary groups this time will base their arguments on the "nuisance" feature of the margarine color law, although the one from Edmonton makes reference to Social Credit monetary theories and concludes that if Canada had a sensible financial system everyone would be able to afford butter.

The Edmonton group's resolution calls the color ban a "petty restriction," and declares that it low requiring consumers to color their own margarine is a "penalty for not being able to afford butter."

According to reports, the feeling of the Calgary group is that "Housewives find it a great nuisance to have to color it themselves and the manufacturers are prepared to do it for them."

It might be added to the convention — and to the government — that if economy produced figures showing the ration of butter and margarine purchases in areas where colored margarine is sold. They could be compared with similar statistics in areas of butter and uncolored margarines in Alberta. That would give an idea what effect colored margarine would have on butter sales.

In the raft of statistical reports and news releases from the Provincial agricultural department and other agricultural organizations, we have yet to see such figures.

Margarine was first sold in Alberta in 1948, and when it made its appearance it was yellow. Shortly afterwards, the legislature passed the present law which says margarine must not look like butter. In 1951, the Social Credit League convention endorsed a resolution asking the province to rescind the law.

The main objection to colored margarine is that it would prove a serious competition for butter, thereby harming the dairy industry and the province's agricultural economy as a whole.

Reports in the news last week indicate that emergency measures and easier qualifications haven't solved Alberta's teacher shortage in fact, it's worse than it was last year.

At the end of September, Alberta rural schools were about 12 teachers short of the number employed in the same month last year. Of the 32 classrooms without teachers, 23 are being conducted by correspondence school supervisors, and 19 are getting along without any kind of teachers.

This is happening despite government efforts to solve the problem, by lowering the standards for government certificates and introducing the emergency six-weeks course for "short-teachers."

While the province may actually have more teachers, the old law of supply and demands has stepped in to find out the situation. The province also has a large number of new classrooms, built to accommodate an increasing urban population. And for the first time, school boards are complaining of a shortage of high school teachers. Figures weren't available, but educators officials said the shortage is "serious".

Currently setting the pace in individual scoring in their respective leagues are Saskatchewan's halfback Ken Carpenter, who leads the WIFU race, and Argonauts' end, Al Pfeifer, top Big Four scorer. Carpenter, an ex-Cleveland Brown star is one of Saskatchewan's most versatile performers, combining passing, kicking, running and pass-receiving. Pfeifer who was fired, then rehired, by the Boilermakers played pro ball with New York Giants. The big pass-catching end pitched up 15 points in Argos' last game when they beat Ig Montreal, 45-32.

WHEAT MARKETING

The big question in Western Canada today is what to do with our ever supply of grain and how to balance the farmer whose that is being solved Some people are getting panicky about it and would dump the surplus at any price

However marketing experts agree that reduced prices will not help much to increase sales to the consuming nations. Of course if wheat were given away the market and the price were reduced to 60 or 50 cents per bushel at the lakehead, perhaps a few more nations would take it over and hold for higher prices later That of course would transfer cheap cash to the farmer but a shortage of cash elsewhere, as the grain would still clutter up the existing storage What is needed is a method which will get money in the farmer's pocket, on a scale sufficient to pay his costs of operation.

One interesting suggestion which came out of the Saskatoon Marketing Conference was that the Federal Government should take over the cost of storage on all grain carried over in commercial channels at the close of the crop year This seems to us a fair proposition. After all Canada's grain surplus is a national asset. It enriches the whole nation and provides a food bank against disaster It should not be just the farmers' problem, nor should he be embarassed by its existence.

Indeed we could go further than that suggestion Why should not our Government guarantee to buy and pay at least the initial payment on an amount of wheat equal to the long-time average yield per acre" This would mean that the Government would pay the farmer through the Wheat Board for say 16 bushels per seeded acre whether the grain could be delivered or not.

This would require either sequestered farm storage, or else a new plan of large scale commercial storage, or perhaps both. No doubt there are difficulties but they could by

This plan would provide money for the farmer to carry on with. It would be a boon to all business depending upon Agriculture It would put the responsibility for the wheat surplus where it should be, on the whole nation.

Everyone knows that over a term of years this wheat will all be needed But the farmer is in no position to hold the bag for perhaps five years until that time arrives We are not panicky about the situation, but we do think that it is time that the Government quit stalling on the subject and took some definite action to meet the crisis.

—The Organized Farmer

THIS BREEDS ILL WILL

Whether or not the latest row on newsprint prices is justified, the international row that always follows, is surely to be deplored The small but noisy contempt at Washington, whichever nations an opportunity to knock Canada, will blister and threaten all sorts of investigations and reprisals. Yield good-will between Canada and the United States is bound to suffer And like so many other squabbles in the world today, argues the Financial Post, this periodical row over newsprint prices need never have arisen in the first place.

The main trouble stems directly from illogical and uneconomic U.S. tariffs. A large portion of all paper used in the United States originates in Canada But in manufactured form, only newsprint is admitted free There is a prohibitive tariff of five paper, and other products we in Canada could and should be making

As a result one part of what is a natural industry for Canada operates on one side of the line The other part has been forced to locate in the United States. Thus an illogical law for which Canada is in no way responsible, prevents cheapest production of newsprint and other paper products in Canada, and when prices go up, we are blamed.

COOPERATIONS TWO SIDES

There are the two fields of thought about cooperation as theory and practice On the one hand there is a body of opinion willing to limit co-operative activity to merely the provision of material needs, to being a small part of a whole. On the other, there is the greater ideal of co-operative principles branching out in many directions themselves for the need to apply co-operative principles to the end that somehow, sometime, there can be a peaceful world

Celebrate Golden Anniversary

On October 10th. Mr and Mrs. Bertide Ouellette of Malloig celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. High mass was said by Rev Fr Primeau, parish priest, in the presence of their children and their families and a large number of friends. Also present were Mr. OuuDette's sister, Mrs. G Allen and her husband from Winnipeg. Mrs. Allen was bridesmaid at their wedding fifty years ago. A niece, nephew and their daughter, Mr and Mrs. Art Beauchene and Alice-Ann of Minneapoo. Minn., also came for this event Another sister, Mrs. Carrere of Northoaks, Sask was unable to attend due to illness.

At the family banquet which was held at the home of their eldest daughter, Mrs. Joe Chertrand, a bouquet of red roses was presented by young Marcel Chartrand, a grandson. Suspended from the sterin were five tan dollar bills, artistically folded to represent butterflies That was a gift from their children. Other lovely and valuable gifts were received from relatives and friends. The lovely wedding cake was baked and artfully decorated by Mrs Joe Chartrand

After the toast proposed by Father Primeau, an address of gratitude was read by Elzi, youngest son. Ernest Chartrand Jr., then read an address in which he expressed the loving thoughts and good wishes of their 48 grandchildren

A pleasant afternoon was spent opening gifts, taking pictures, singing and reminiscing Many happy moments and pleasant memories seemed to have been stored away during those fifty years enabling a moment such as this to be remembered

During the evening the grandchildren entertained all present with musical numbers, recitations and songs composed for the occasion. These related incidents which happened during their fifty years of marriage

Mr and Mrs Ouellette were married in Winnipeg and lived in Manitoba until 1928 when they moved to Alberta They farmed in the St Vincent district until 1943 Since then they've been living in the village of Malloig.

There must have been a former advertising man aboard that RCN helicopter when it reached an Arctic ice floe Seeing so much blank space, he wrote the name of his ship and showed some artistic talent, then hovered above to admire his handiwork. The Traffic Safety Lane

By J. W. McKAY

Supervisor Highway Traffic Board, Edmonton

The time is rolling around when 'old man winter' will be paying us another visit. As I write this the weather is nice but maybe at you read this the snow may be here However, in many cases "He" will be welcomed and in some "He" will not. Hockey players, skaters, curlers, skiers and some types of businesses are some who will welcome "him" with open arms. But golfers, swimmers, building contractors and some types of businesses will not be happy to see "Him".

There is another type or class of people that do not like to see "Him" and that is the motorist After enjoying the fun ad comforts of summer driving we hate the thoughts of winter interfering too much with our driving But, do you think this should be. Should we, as motorists draw the line when snow comes and takes a lot of joy out of driving I believe many motorists make it hard on themselves because they are not prepared to accept "Old Man". And when we try to battle the sub-zero temperatures with it's snow and ice with an attitude of bitterness, we then make ourselves subject to powers that winter has been given by nature.

Many drivers are in a position they can tie up their vehicles for the winter months, thereby, sidestepping winter driving. But for those who have to face it I believe there are some things that need our attention before "He" comes

1. Prepare The V-hicle

No matter who we are or what we do, whether we drive or not we have to make certain preparations for winter. In this country no one would think of wearing the same summer clothes throughout the winter. We purchase our winter clothing before we actually need them. It is only of common sense preparation. So the automobile needs its winter change too. The things that cut down on the discomforts and inconveniences of winter driving, prepare your car before that time. There is a good motor tune up, good battery, good and proper tires, good brakes, oils and greases for winter, anti-freeze, good window glass and frost shields, these are some of the preparations that need to be attended to before you attempt winter driving By getting it done fairly early will help the service station operator or garageman to do a better and more thorough job on your car.

This chart is drawn to show the increase in price of certain products from 1947 to 1954. You will readily see in this period of eight years, that there has been no increase in the price of gas to the consumer, however, steadily rising costs of public utility operation, and materials which we have to buy to provide this service, have now advanced to the stage where your utility company can no longer provide the high quality service necessary at the present rates which have been in effect since service commenced in 1946.

The Board of Public Utility Commissioners set a rate for each utility company which in their opinion is fair to both customer and company. This return must provide sufficient money to the company to insure adequate service facilities to the consumer, and yet permit the gas utility company to operate at a reasonable and controlled margin of profit In order to insure adequate service facilities to the consumer, as well as a reasonable margin of profit to the utility company, we must ask the Board of Public Utility Commissioners to review the present rate structure in light of existing conditions.

Stiff Competition In Hockey League With Lloydminster Club

If past performance means anything, the Eastern Alberta Hockey League has abandoned quite a mind with the recognition of entry of the Lloydminster Hockey Club in the league. Apparently the promoters of intermediate hockey in the border town ran into lots of financial grief in their attempt to cop the Western Canada Intermediate "A" Championship and now, after four years, have tossed the towel in and are very interested in making a come-back in lower cost "amateur" hockey.

The Lloyd club met with fair success in Saskatchewan Intermediate "A" circles by winning the championship of that province several times only to meet Manitoba's cleanest winners in the Dauphin Kings, and be sent home empty-handed.

Art Denville of Lloydminster represented their club at a league meeting held in Vermilion earlier and was decided on the basis of a 5-1 result. Following the meeting, Mr. Denville wrote president Dr. J. F. Bradley of Wainwright advising that the league reconsider its decision as necessary to operate on intermediate basis in order to finance operation of the arena there Vegreville understands the problem fully as they are faced with the same situation every year.

From information available, all the teams in the league are quite willing to let the new entry in on a one year trial basis with the exception of Vegreville who have placed a stipulation that an amount of nearly $100 owing them, be paid before entry is accepted. This $100 comes from a share of a play-off game in the 1951-52 season which Lloydminster refused to pay Vegreville on the threatened to drop out of the league if the amount owing is not paid before entry is accepted. In all likelihood the Lloydminster Club will pony up the amount outstanding and the league will then go with six teams in place of the five originally planned.

The addition of Lloydminster will keep the number of league games necessary to 30 in place of 24. The schedule as presented at St Paul last season the league operated with an 18-game schedule. Other than playing 30 games, a split schedule will be necessary and Secretary J. Hampston of Wainwright will have his work cut out for him. It is a long, involved process drawing up a split schedule, continuing to everyone except the person driving it up — and even he has at times.

The Lloydminster club will add something to the league in more than about that. They will provide the roughest, toughest competition of any team now playing. But they will also be the best drawing cards in the league. Notorious of their intermediate "A" teams in all probability still in Lloydminster and that in itself is enough to draw crowds in other league towns sleepless nights. And that is all part of the barrel of intermediate "A" hockey players has been dumped. Vermilion, Viking, St. Paul, Wainwright and Vegreville have the cream for intermediate "A" clubs, but from there, the capabilities of of hockey players drops considerably downward. It will certainly be interesting to see what happens.

ST. PAUL- LINDBERGH WEDDING

The wedding of Miss Melodie Terry, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Terry and the late Anton Terry of St. Paul to Mr. Lindbergh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alberta Sherwood of Sand Hills, took place recently in St. Paul R.C. Church. The couple has taken up residence in Elk Point.

Federal Government Grants For Provincial Hospital Extensions

St. Paul Hospital

It is our understanding that the Board of St. Therese Hospital may have decided to build a new hospital but as yet no decision has been made as to the size the old hospital is to be. A formal project incorporating three latest proposals has not yet been forwarded by the province

I believe it is my duty, as a Member of Parliament for Athabasca, to make this correction and to bring this information to the people of our constituency

Yours sincerely,
J. M. DECHENE
Member for Athabasca.

Ottawa Ontario,
October 26, 1955.
Dear Mr. Editor

I have just read a letter in the Edmonton Journal written by Rev. Vegreville, and that the hospital did not receive the $122 000 in grant, suggested by Mr. Maxwell, superintendent of hospitals for Alberta, but they received $61,-000.00. Half of that $122,000.00 was from the Federal Government.

I take this opportunity to outline the legislation which has been created in the month of October, 1948, whereby hospital grants are paid entirely by the provincial government. Recently again at Kentville, my home town, when a very fine addition to the hospital was inaugurated great praise was made of the generosity of the provincial government, but not a word mentioned of the Federal Government Grants.

The policy of generous national grants to health throughout the country was first announced in 1948 by an Order-in-Council, which provided for Federal health grants paid to the provinces to improve hospital construction, public health research and services, tuberculosis control, mental health, crippled children, professional training of nurses and technicians, cancer control, laboratory and radiological services, child and maternal health.

The reason why this policy has to be administered by the provincial authorities is one with which we are well aware, the provinces under the constitution being responsible for the administration of public health. Magnificent sums of dollars have been granted for the purpose mentioned above

Since inauguration of the policy, the Federal Government has paid the following amounts in Athabasca:

Athabasca Hosp. Hospital
Additional facilities, consisting of construction of 62 active treatment beds, 1 bassinet bed and 12 bassinets to this new active treatment hospital—$450,000.

Assistance is also being provided for the construction of 15 additional hospital beds to the Athabasca Hospital—Nurses' Residence—$45,000.

Athabasca Hospital
Additional facilities for the construction of 3 active treatment beds and 1 bassinet to the St. Louis Hospital—$22,500.00

Athabasca Hosp. Hospital
Construction of 24 additional active treatment beds (24 existing tuberculosis beds, 8 are bassinet) making a new 32 active treatment beds and 1 bassinet to this existing active treatment hospital—$225,000.00

Lac La Biche Hospital
Construction of additional beds this active treatment hospital, 8 active treatment beds and 16 bassinets—$200,000.00.

Wetaskiwin Municipal Hosp.
Construction of 71 active treatment beds (71 additional beds, 23 being abandoned making a net gain of 48 beds). 16 bassinets in the existing treatment hospital — $64,000.00.

TO THE HOMEMAKER
By Miss Ebor Krehbiel

HOW... DOES A STRONG FINANCIAL SERVICE Sell Wheat?
In many ways! The Treasury Branches stand behind the farmer on the land from the time he sows his crop until it is time to sell. We do this because we have confidence in Alberta and Alberta's farmers.
Running a farm is like running any other business — money is necessary to purchase seed repair machinery, or expand the farmer's interests. He also requires such protection as fire and hail insurance, and safety deposit boxes for bills, deeds and other valuables
By working in partnership with the farmer, we are serving the farm economy and the entire province For an active farm economy means higher living standards for the whole of Alberta. The full facilities of the Treasury Branches are geared to the special needs of not only the farmer, but all the people of Alberta.

Above everyone stood the great Houses of Parliament, and Big Ben, which every hour, discharged out 8 p.m. while I was there, and the English characters remember to offer a prayer for absent friends and loved ones at that time. I observed we were in Below flowed the muddy Thames River as it always has done in England, and a little distance away stands the old and venerable Westminster Abbey in its time and wide green lawns Adjacent is the aristocratic St. Margaret's church — the scene of many a society wedding. Once I was passing the gates and saw the Queen Mother Elizabeth come out with the Bishop of London. an array of other boys following, to pass through a double line of prettily capped Queens Nurses before she entered her car and left the gates.

Not St Paul's, still in its grandeur and with its stately dome and pinnacles, but Canterbury cathedral gave me quite a thrill as I noticed with some surprise that the terrible ravages of bombing on stone and bricks left by the Nazi hordes, had been restored to a garden of trees and flowers where the City's workers ran on their lunch hours.

Another favourite place of mine is Trafalgar Square, the lovely fountains of water floodlit at night underneath the very high statue column on which the statue of Nelson rests many hundreds of feet above The massive stone lions are to be seen at the four corners, seemingly for ever on guard The old lamps are being removed the Square and they are the original lamps which were on the Embankment by the Thames, when the great sea battle of Trafalgar was fought across the way, is the old St Martin's in the Fields, the same old church with the tall steeple which was built in the middle of green fields long ago. Here that busy part of London was ever thought of Round about the church there is the noisy and thronging thoroughfare of the Strand, while not too far away is Fleet Street, well known as the home of famous newspapers over a long period and where it is said that printer's ink flows in the veins of newspaper reporters.

Piccadilly Circus, Oxford Circus, Regent Street with its lovely curved line of stores, Hyde Park Corner, the delightful view of the Palace from the tiny stone bridge over the little lake with white swans on St. James's Park, all these I saw once again. I remembered to see, also, the old Elizabethan houses still standing in Holborn, and I even went on board a waterboat and cruised up the River Thames one fine day, passing the famous Tower of London and the Beefeaters, and slowly going under the Tower Bridge. There were many barges strung together one behind the other as well as many little police patrol boats and launches Oh, there seemed to be no end to the people and places I saw in London City, all so well known and loved to me!

Later I visited the Roman cities of Bath, and Chester a place of Bath is old indeed, taking its name from the Roman Baths or public bathing houses of that time Chester, too, is indeed ancient and within I could see the ruins of the bitter winter as hail of missiles supposed to be good for one's health, from the medieval pump in the middle of the narrow street to the Old Cross and pump centre Nearby stands the historical Pump Room which was so popular as a meeting place in the 18th century, and around the cobbled streets Mostly People dressed visited in order to chat and smoke the long pipes of that day and generation. The pump room is now a museum. I sat down to rest on one of the wooden seats in the Square adjoining the old Abbey or Cathedral there, and remembered about the stories it could tell over the great many years since it was built. To hear the old and mellow chimes ring out from the great bells in the Abbey tower was really delightful. I closed my eyes for a while and could easily imagine those bells ringing out from the days of the past horse of the stage coaches with their loads of people, and about 100 miles away, with the beginning of many feet on the cobblestones of the Square Sometimes I thought I could hear the voices of the Roman charioteers who were the forerunners of our taxis of today, but to open my eyes and once again I was back in 1955. Images of the unchanged locality, only the people changed and the dress were different.

Chester was pretty much the same as this way, with its most beautiful Cathedral more or less dominating the city and the numerous Rows walks encircling all around the city. Even a zoo which still preserved of Shakespeare's time His lovely old cottage home in the little village of Stratford was still bravely prop up the ceilings, and the old thatched roofs and the settles by the wide chimney corner Warwick Castle was still there, all the brasswork on the walls — well it made me look around for the Knights in armour, and the horses across the little fields which are still outside the town, is to be found Ann Hathaway's lovely pretty cottage and that also is well preserved inside and out.

I now again the grim looking Castle of Warwick with its battlements and battlements and its moat and the rustic bridge which spans it round it It is amazing how the people built with such precision in stone and rock and also how they have weathered the hundreds of years to modern days.

Bristol, too, has changed little, except for more modern stores and buildings put up since the bombardments of last war Bristol city has long been known for its seamen and explorers, and there were sailing ships and traders plying backwards and forwards from Bristol long before such ports as Columbus and Sebastian Cabot were dreamed of, for extensive trade and shipping in places between Bristol and the Baltic and Mediterranean countries and Iceland. Then I saw again, the Cheddar Gorge with its wonderful little caves deep in the earth with their wonderful stalactites and stalagmites a Devon cream tea served in Devon pottery dishes, which consist of a scone split with butter, smothered with blackcurrant jam and then a big dab of real Devon cream, the like of which I had not tasted anywhere before the war The cream had a flavour of its own and the reason for this is jealously guarded by the Devon people Many of the cows mentioned below were used by the smugglers of those days and indeed have been known to be still used by the modern smugglers of today

I visited Scotland too, the home of my husband, and again was welcomed by the many dear people in the different parts. I was not able to fit in a visit to Aberdeenshire, unfortunately, and so missed having a peep at Balmoral Castle and wandering around the castle grounds. However, I had one time drive in the Rose-cross Hills and I managed to gather quite a lovely purple heather which I brought back with me. Then I visited Edinburgh with its castle, its spring of real white heather, as distinct from the purple, its Princes Street, its Royal Mile, and I went in to the well beloved shelling of Holyrood for a few days at Queensberry House, and I even visited the Scottish Assembly Hall where the Church of Scotland meets every year.

Kiddies Square Off For "Grownups"

The Square Dance held by the Club, at the Legion Hall on October 21st., was a success with over eight squares present. Every one appeared to be having a grand time.

The highlight of the evening was a square of kiddies, "The Bettes and Their Beaus," who stole the hearts of the audience with their two dances. They did a splendid job of it, and we are very proud of them. They have been asked to return at one of our next dances.

A good number of Square Dancers from St. Paul attended the dances at both Mallaig and Bonnyville last week, to which Alex Schulmeister called. All report a good time.

The Square Dance school at Flat Lake, being taught by Walter Dennis-Gerwirtz, of Edmonton is coming along wonderfully. Some eight squads are taking the course out there.

The St. Paul High School are also doing very well on their dance lessons, instructed by Alex and Mildred Schulmeister. We wish both new Clubs many encouraging and exciting times and invite them to join in St. Paul's Square dances.

The next two Dances sponsored by the St. Paul Square Busters at the Legion Hall will be on Friday, Nov. 4 and 18. The latter being a "Costume Night." All who have not seen Modern Square Dancing are cordially invited. Alex will be calling.

Union Leader Sees Depression Coming

cents, but statistics prove that labor is receiving less today than in 1936, yet continues to be blamed for the ever increasing cost of production costs. Workers and farmers alike should unite to defend their rights and claim a fair share of the national income." He placed great faith in the power of farmers organizations and made the point very strong to the members of Cork, Tuesday evening.

Mr Gray concluded his address by emphasizing that the Farmers' Unions throughout the Country have no use to grind against any specific political party, but are only interested in having sound legislature, by whichever party is in power, that will engineer for the farmers' rights. The Farmers' cause is not based on nationality or religion, but on what it is based on political affiliations. Each and every farmer should join in the movement united in the one voice, powerful enough to bring about pressure on governments.

Mr Gray accompanied by Mr. Fritz Wirth, of Bon Lake, is holding a series of meetings in the district. The Cork meeting was handled by Mr Milo Thompson. Harry Boone was recording secretary.

Unsuccessful Attempt To Get Open St. Paul Motor's Safe

Bank amateurs at the burglary trade attempted to rob the safe at St. Paul Motors, but had to settle for small change left in the till after unsuccessfully trying to cut the strong box.

Police constables that there were probably two in on the nocturnal attempt. They dragged in the acetylene welding unit and tried to cut out the door, but instead of operating with a cutting torch, the apparatuses used a welding jet which was unable to perform efficiently. Slight damage was done to the safe which had been dragged out in the middle of the floor. Walls were searched by the lotst of the thieves.

Evidence points that the break-in occurred sometime after 8 p.m., on Sunday morning Entrance was gained by breaking a window in the rear door and reaching in to left the latches.

Remembrance Day Services

Veterans of the St. Paul Branch of the Canadian Legion are again inviting its members and the public to join together in honoring our war dead of two wars at Remembrance Day Services to be held in St Paul on November 11th.

Morning services have been arranged at all churches for 10:00 o'clock. At 1:45 Legionnaires will fall in at the Legion Hall for the parade to the cenotaph, marching past review stand in front of the post office, to the Legion Hall around the block up the boulevard to the memorial for the wreath laying ceremonies. Services will follow in the Elite Theatre. A smoker for members will be held in the club rooms and in the evening a dance finishes the day.

Banquet For Hon. Ray Reierson

Premier E. C. Manning Congratulates New Minister Industries, Labor

Honourable Ray Reierson Social Credit Member of the Legislature and St Paul's first Cabinet Minister and Mrs Reierson, were honored at a special banquet in the Parish Hall sponsored by the St. Paul Social Credit Association on Thursday evening.

The Honourable Ernest Manning Premier of Alberta was present to congratulate Mr. Reierson, Minister of Industries and Labor for Alberta. Other dignitary present was the Hon. R. B. Bennett, Minister of Public Welfare

Hr F G Miller chairman for the evening introduced the guests. Master Jones Van Brabant for the children read some of the greetings and congratulations on behalf of the children of St. Paul which he seemed to recognize a Cabinet Minister's arrival in existence.

Honourable Ernest Manning expressed his gratitude at the constituencies and electorate of St. Paul for sending such a splendid group man to the executive council of Alberta.

He said that the position of Cabinet Minister is no bed of roses on top of the specific woes of an MLA and that it required sheer ability, much hard work, partisan questions of co-operation and understanding that the other members who rule over Alberta's great destiny. In reporting Mr Reierson, the Cabinet has a man of ability and also a colleague who can accept responsibility and perform his duties especially and conscientiously.

In his dual job as an executive member Mr Manning was confident that Mr Reierson would continue to keep close contact with his constituents and that Ray would receive counsel to put in a "plug" for St. Paul whenever the opportunity arises In his own words he said "Ray you're just one of the boys" Here's great success."

Love Depression

Mr Manning carrying out toothe political field said we should heed the ex mons, warning against the dangers of short sighted grain marketing conditions and consider ways and means to solve the difficult agricultural situation which is the key to Canadian prosperity

He said that if we remember the plight of millions who are starving to death in other countries there is hope. Better living plus and the shortage of markets if the Federal government allowed land were used to the advantage of the Canadian surplus now rotting in our terminals would be a answer to the farmers.

We should advance our Reierson credit to buy Canadian wheat at reasonable and agreeable prices with easy conditions to assist repayment Conditions should also be made for interest free loans to only goods which are used in this country. And if we have to export, take it to the cheap thing of, and the Province of Alberta would have suffered on the long run. The farmer as a race received far more and far better treatment as a whole and it generally to the benefit of a large part of society for all Healthy agriculture is the key to successful economy."

Real Tribute

Hon. Ray Reierson modestly thanked the large gathering for their kind reception to the full house and recognition and Mr Manning for his fine and worth while address to him and his wife

Mr. Ray Reierson made the announcement that an order has been signed to proceed with plans for the installation of an automatic telephone system in St. Paul. The exact time for completion was not divulged but will depend on the construction of a new building for the system which will greatly improve the service in St. Paul and the district of which it is a centre.

The new Cabinet Minister expressed regret that the exigencies of his new position demanded him to give up Edmonton and the city where he had last three years contact with the constituents. However, he urged and invited each and everyone to bring their problems to him whenever they were considered important enough and of value to the progress of the constituency. He stated he planned to do everything in his power to assist in whatever way his position permitted him to do so

Mrs Reierson, in reply to the toast to the Ladies issued a standard invitation to the ladies and expressed her delight and happiness for the wonderful acknowledgement rendered them on the occasion of this banquet

Hon R D Jorgenson spoke shortly on Mr Reierson's appointment and said a man he considered one of the most devoted to his constituency and to the administration of Provincial affairs.

Frank Wong, manager of the Domion Café and its staff who prepared the rump soup banquet were presented a vote of thanks for a delightful dinner, and the organization of such.

Six Months In Jail For Arson

(Special to the Journal)

ASHMONT, NOV 7 — Appearing before Magistrate D. S. Woodward of Ashmont, a Bonne Lake farmer was found guilty of arson in connection with the burning of his late model light delivery truck on March 11, and was sentenced to six months imprisonment at Fort Saskatchewan.

After hearing the evidence of nine witnesses and reserving 12 minutes, Magistrate Woodward found the accused guilty. He had allegedly set fire to his half-ton truck after serious engine trouble had developed

A claim was made on the insurance company for the damage but the district magistrate after which resulted in bringing the arsonist before magistrate Woodward. He gave evidence on his own behalf along with three other witnesses for the defense counsel.

HONEYMOON IN BANFF

After an impressive marriage ceremony in St. Paul's R.C. cathedral Mr. and Mrs. Paul Robert Kerosek left for a honeymoon in Banff and Waterton Parks. The bride is the late Gisele Claire Hurtubise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hurtubise of St. Paul and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kerosek of Edmonton.

WEDDING

Hurtubise—Kerosek

A wedding of popular interest was solemnized at Mass of Christ Hurtubise in Mr. Robert Kerosek of Edmonton. The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Elmer Hurtubise of St Paul and the groom, son of Mr and Mrs A. J Kerosek of Edmonton Wedding took place on the R.C Cathedral, St Paul with Rev Father A. Kerosek officiating.

The bride given away by her father chose a bouffant skirt of satin and crystal fitted lace for her wedding. Her matching jacket with peplum and collar was adorned with sequins and pearls matching the tiara which held her fingertip veil in place.

The bride's attendant wore a blue lace dress with corsage of pink roses and pink accessories

Mervin Assaf, Hurtubise and Marguerite Kerosek were bridesmaids and Richard Kerosek and George Hurtubise were best men. Ushers for the wedding party were Bernard Kerosek and Raymond Hurtubise

Vocalist for the occasion was Mr Laurent Richard, accompanied by Sr Cecile de Lamontagne at the organ.

A reception was held in the Parish Hall following the wedding

For their honeymoon the couple left for Waterton Park and will take up residence in Edmonton upon their return.

Out-of-town guests were Mr and Mrs A. Gill and Mr and Mrs. C. Schlemier

September High In Traffic Death Toll

Alberta's toll of thirty-eight deaths in motor vehicle accidents in September has been described as "about par" for a month on record, according statistics compiled by the Alberta Safety Council.

The previous high months for motor car fatalities were December, 1954, and the same months of 1952 with thirty-seven deaths

Officials of the A.S.C. point out, however, that there has been a decrease in motor traffic this year, which may account in part of the increased accidents in the nine months ended Sept. 30, last, there were 11,840 motor vehicle accidents on the highways than the total during the entire 12 months of 1954.

In 1954 there were 214,341 licensed motor vehicles and trucks, registration making a total of 327,961 up to Sept. 30 of this year. The total was 313,000 comprising 222,778 cars and 114,871 trucks.

For nine months of this year there have been 162 deaths in motor accidents compared with 135 in the same period of last year The total of 38 in September was 24 more than the same month of last year Of last month's 162, 36 were at rural points reported by the RCMP Nine were in Edmonton, one in Lethbridge and one at a town

So far this year, 1,004 persons have been injured in motor accidents, as against 2,576 in the comparable period of last year For September only, the number was 305, an increase of 101 from a year ago.

The RCMP reported 234 persons injured, up from 243 a year ago, while Edmonton went from 57 to 68 and Calgary dropped from 80 to 56 There were eight in Medicine Hat, 16 in Lethbridge compared with three a year ago, and three in Jasper Place

Alberta's total of motor accidents passed the 12,000 mark in the nine-month period The actual total was 12,160 as against 11,000 in the simular period of 1954.

The September aggregate was 1,585, compared with 1,382 in the same month of last year The RCMP reported 717 accidents at rural points, an increase of 117 in September, while Edmonton's total rose from 395 to 538 On the other hand, Calgary dropped from 394 to 302. Medicine Hat increased by two to 22, while Lethbridge had 23, a decrease of one Jasper Place dropped from 16 to 10 and other Alberta towns reported 11, a decrease of 10.

Western Canada's First Lubricating Oil Plant Opens In Edmonton

EDMONTON — Western Canada's first lubricating oil plant was officially opened Wednesday, November 2nd, by Hon. E. C. Manning, Premier of Alberta. The premier closed a switch to start flow of oil coming out of an automatic conveyor and the $17 million plant at Imperial Oil's Edmonton refinery was in operation.

Several hundred guests representing governments, the business circles in Alberta attended the opening ceremony.

The new plant, manufacturing a full range of automobile and tractor oils for use in western Canada, and the north country

Crude for the new plant comes from the Leduc field, and at peak operation, the plant will process 10,000 barrels daily, about a day. The same owners as Canada, the plant includes 20 major processing units (some 180 feet high) 37 cooling and heating units, four bag furnaces, 81 pumps and 176 major control instruments.

In opening the plant, Mr. Manning said all western Canadians have reason to be proud of the new addition, which is modern and efficient. He said it was a modern engineering achievement and congratulated the company for its advance thinking.

This plant is a symbol of the economic development of this part of Canada, and another important stage in the evolution of Alberta's industrial economy," he said. It is a marvelous engineering achievement on every score."

A unit which attracted special attention at the opening was the hydrofiner. The first of its kind in North American for making oils for motor cars, the hydrofiner is a recent achievement of Imperial's research group, and employs the use of hydrogen to purify lubricating oils.

After the ceremonies, visitors toured the plant. Its construction represents a total investment by Imperial of $30 million. Among the other speakers were Hon. J. J. Bowen, Provincial Treasurer of Alberta, and J. H. White Toronto, president of Imperial Oil.

Mr. White said refineries in the future of western Canada had reached the point where they could not be built economically on a little ahead of its time.

Everybody realizes that the prospects of Alberta's forests are limited by its natural resources," Mr. White continued, but that is necessary to maintain adequate reserves and to develop on the sliding basis of the forest crop. Second and to back up their vision with hard cash," he added.

He said completion of the new plant was a testimony of Alberta's confidence in the future. "It also took place rather quickly from the economist of the situation appeared to warrant.

In many Alberta industrial developments" he said "optimism has sometimes been in advance of economic events in the province has been an important exception to this general progress today."

The Traffic Safety Lane

By J. W. McKAY
Inspector Highway Traffic Board, Edmonton

Last week I started a column on Winter Driving dealing with the importance of winter preparation of the automobile.

This week I will continue with the second important preparation for winter driving Vehicle preparation and driver preparation go hand-in-hand and make a wonderful team for safe winter driving.

Driver Preparation

Here is where lack of preparation causes a lot of inconvenience and discomfort. Winter is a season the attention necessary to the vehicle, but neglect on the part of the driver to prepare himself for winter driving from summer driving

SPEED — In the winter months we feel we can carry on with the same speed habits we have developed during the summer months. But the winter driving that is where we must adjust to the winter driving conditions by reducing our speed. Remember that on slippery roads it is not only the windows are covered with snow, but also the windshield wipers are not as effective as in summer. Therefore, we must reduce our speed to compensate for poor vision.

CARBON MONOXIDE — Here is a danger that is present in the winter time that we must be aware of. Carbon monoxide is a deadly gas. It is odorless, colorless and tasteless. It is present in the exhaust gases from the motor of your car. Never permit your motor to run in a closed garage with the doors closed. Remember that carbon monoxide is deadly gas. It is odorless, colorless and tasteless. It is present in the exhaust gases from the motor of your car. Never permit your motor to run in a closed garage with the doors closed. Remember that carbon monoxide is deadly gas.

SEE AND BE SEEN — Remember that in the winter months we have poor visibility. Therefore, we must be extra careful to see that our windshield is clear of snow and ice, that our windows are clear of snow and ice, that our lights are clean and that our tail lights are clean. Remember that in the winter months we have poor visibility. Therefore, we must be extra careful to see that our windshield is clear of snow and ice, that our windows are clear of snow and ice, that our lights are clean and that our tail lights are clean.

WEDDING

Hlynk—Butenwieth

At a recent Boy wedding in Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hlynka of Mr. Joseph Butenwieth of Mr. and Mrs. Rev Father Kosowich was officiating clergyman

Given away by her father the bride wore a waltz length gown of embroidered lace and nylon net over satin with a pearl headdress of fingertip veil held by a headdress of beaded pearls. She carried a bouquet of red carnations on white. Her attendant was Miss Lorraine Hlynka with maid of honor. Miss Kathy Hlynka and Miss Yvonne Svenda were flower girls. Mr. Marcel Schmidt was best man. Marion of Hylo Inn, Mrs. Fay Smith

Following the wedding a reception was held in the Boy Hall featuring the wedding table with a three tier cake. Mrs. Butenwieth was assisted by Mrs. Hlynka and Mrs. Svenda.

A dance was held in the evening.

Mrs. Hlynka will reside in Edmonton.

Government Appoints Liaison To Municipal Affairs Department

By KEN MASON

A new move is developing to [illegible] between the provincial government and the municipalities of Alberta.

As we predicted in this column a few weeks ago, a new position of public relations or liaison officer has been created within the department of municipal affairs, and the appointment has gone to Blake MacKenzie, former co-ordinator of cultural activities.

This is one of the first major "reforms" since last summer's cabinet shuffle when Hon A J Hooke was moved from public [illegible] to that [illegible] of [illegible] who handle affairs [illegible]

UNBALANCED CANADA?

We are not developing our country to suit the needs of Canadians, stated D. W. Ambridge, president of Alcohol Power and Paper Co. in address to Canadian Chamber of Commerce in that we are developing it to a great extent for sources of raw materials to supply the needs of the citizens of the United States. There is only one thing wrong with this state of affairs and that is that we will never become a well-rounded, self-confident nation if we continue to play the role of a raw material supplier.

I do not believe that it is an accident that we have no flag of our own and that we don't really know what our national anthem is. If we are somewhat confused and divided over these outward symbols of nationhood it is because the base on which our nation has so far been built is not broad enough, and we are always apprehensive that the whole building will tip over.

There is a great danger that our nation will become over-developed in some respects and woefully underdeveloped in others. There are many reasons for this danger. Among others we have the American tariff, the lack of hard money in the rest of the free world, and the high standards of living which prevail in Canada and which prevent our goods from entering into many foreign markets.

FOOTBALL MOVE

Eastern Canada football, which turned pro on the playing fields just a few years ago, is showing signs now of "going pro" corporately as well. Control of this colorful $1 million-plus sport-business appears to be switching from the dedicated and often able amateurs in the front offices to full-time paid administrators who can give the big business aspects of the game the attention they need.

Montreal Alouettes may be the only Big Four League team to make profit this year, and informed sources suggest that the Montreal team's corporate structure might be the cause. Alouettes are set up as a public corporation while the other three teams in the league, Toronto Argonauts, Ottawa Roughriders, and Hamilton Tiger-Cats are non-profit private organizations.

Look for some changes this winter, if not in corporate structure at least, in the appointment of full-time professional managers by the Toronto, Ottawa and Hamilton clubs.

ATTEND REMEMBRANCE SERVICE

This year The Canadian Legion, in launching its National Poppy Campaign, is asking the citizens of Canada to do two things.

First — Wear a poppy wreath. Second — Attend the Remembrance Day Ceremony which will be held in your city, town or village on November 11th. Take part in this annual tribute to those who gave their lives in two world wars.

CHANGING EGG PRICES

Eggs become a major conversation piece among consumers when the prices are high and among producers when the prices are low. The price of eggs fluctuates from season to season and from year to year probably more than any other farm product.

There are therefore two main fields in which the individual egg producer can gain maximum profits on his poultry flock. Firstly, he can "ride the poultry cycle" on a seasonal basis by preparing early layers in order to sell on the early market when the supply is low; and on a yearly basis by studying provincial poultry population to see whether egg production is likely to be above or below average for the coming year.

Secondly the individual egg producer can increase his poultry profits by lowering his production costs. Egg production per hen has the greatest effect on poultry production costs according to Alf Petersen of the Alberta Department of Agriculture. Mr. Petersen has been conducting the Mixed Farm Study for the Department over the last four years.

The Study revealed that a hen producing eggs at the rate of 125 eggs a year produces them at a cost of 27c per dozen. A hen producing eggs at the rate of more than 180 a year does so at 18c a dozen. In a year each 150-a-year-hen will save the producer $5.50 in production costs.

Mr. Petersen goes on to point out that the size of flock is another important profit feature. Farms with over 300 hens could produce eggs at 15c a dozen cheaper than those carrying less than 300 hens. Those with 3-500 birds would produce eggs 8c a dozen cheaper than those with less than 300 hens.

These then are the two main items to remember in lowering egg production costs. The two go hand in hand. A large flock with low production will not be profitable, but conversely, a small flock with good production will not give the operator a large overall profit. —Alberta Dept. of Agriculture

SEED TIPS — KNOW YOUR SEED

No technical services available to farmers today is more important and valuable than "Seed Testing." It is a key service for grain growers. Know Your Seed. It is not too early to find out whether or not the grain you intend to use for seed in 1950 is capable of germinating strongly, is free of smut and other diseases, and is true to a high degree of seed purity. Good seed must also, of course, be true to variety. Every farmer should know the germ value of the grain he will plant and pay his dollars on for a successful crop in 1950.

Germination Important Always is, by far, the most important seed test. Therefore, a germination test is above the interested control of a seed lot is of prime importance. And no one — not even the seed experts — can tell by merely looking at a seed sample how well it will germinate. For instance, wheat seed may be latter, plump, good in weight and color, and still germinate poorly.

Although most crops of wheat oats and flax harvested in Western Canada in 1950 yielded grain of good quality, the same cannot be said of barley. In many districts barley crops were severely damaged by aphids and by diseases. We find that the thin-bed grain from these damaged barley crops contains a high percentage of thin, weak kernels. Such thin, weak kernels, if they germinate at all, are likely to produce weak, diseased seedlings. We strongly advise farmers to have their barley seed tested for germination this year.

Seed Tests Available. To serve western grain growers, our Farm Service Laboratory operates a seed testing laboratory at Winnipeg. Without charge, seed any farmer may for germination by sending a sample of not less than one pound. Simply write to Farm Service Laboratory, Winnipeg, requesting a sample envelope and full directions for preparing and mailing your sample. Full germination tests are completed and the results reported to you by mail within a few days after the sample is received. Use this convenient service in 1950. It pays to "know your seed."

Health Thru Chiropractic

By Prof. H. W. HUNTS

DIABETES

For years Diabetes Mellitus has been considered incurable, and the use of insulin has been relied upon in order to save the life of the diabetic. Before the discovery of insulin the mortality rate among these patients was very high.

Today, as the result of scientific advances in the application of Chiropractic, many diabetics are being restored to normal health, are able to discontinue the use of insulin, and are in turn able to resume a normal diet.

The Loffler Chiropractic Clinic of Miami, Florida, has specialized in the care of diabetics. For the past five years the clinic has been renowned for diabetic patients. Loffler, in summarizing the work of the first three years, reports that in fully fifty per cent of the cases the patients recovered completely, and in every case some reduction was made in the daily insulin requirements.

All Chiropractors have experienced similar results with diabetics especially if the condition has been of less than ten years duration.

Diabetes is caused by the inability of the pancreas to supply the necessary quantity of insulin to meet daily requirements. Since the functioning of this gland is controlled upon energy supplied by the nerves controlling it, it is necessary to see here, by freeing these nerves of pressure caused by vertebral misalignment, the disease may be corrected.

On the basis of results achieved over the years, scientific Chiropractic offers diabetics a great hope of restoration to normal health.

With so many hunters taking to the fields, we are publishing this weekly column in being to stimulate rules and regulations. Hunters would do well to familiarize themselves with the text and learn to abide by them.

PROPAGATION

1 Notwithstanding any of the prohibitions contained in these regulations, the Minister or a person authorized in writing by him may issue a permit to any person to take migratory birds or their eggs for the purposes of propagation.

2. The birds or eggs so taken may be possessed by the permittee and may be sold or transported from one to any person holding a permit issued pursuant to section 11 but no bird taken from the wild shall under this section shall not be killed for consumption.

3. A person to whom a permit is issued pursuant to this section shall keep books and records which shall correctly set forth at all times the total number of migratory birds and their eggs of each species purchased, sold and transported, for consumption, by the permit-holder to any person, who may possess such carcasses and eggs for consumption without a permit.

4. A person to whom a permit is issued pursuant to this section shall keep books and records which shall correctly set forth at all times the total number of migratory birds and their eggs of each species purchased and sold during the year with the full name and address of each person from or to whom such birds or eggs were purchased or sold.

(a) the number of live birds in his possession at the end of the calendar year, and

(b) such other information as the Minister may require.

5 Notwithstanding anything contained in this section, carcasses of migratory birds shall not be sold in the Province of Ontario for consumption but live migratory birds or their eggs may be sold in the Province of Ontario for propagation purposes only by a person who holds a permit under this section.

6 The holder of a permit issued under section 4 and 5 shall allow a game officer to enter and inspect at all reasonable times the premises used in the operations and to inspect the books and records kept by him pursuant to these regulations.

7 (1) A permit-holder shall not sell any migratory bird that has been raised or killed in captivity unless a metal ring of the type approved by the Minister and bearing a number is fastened to such bird or is attached to the cage.

(2) No person shall remove the metal leg referred to in subsection (1) from the leg of a bird until it is being prepared for consumption.

8 (1) Migratory game birds possessed under a permit issued pursuant to section 4 and 5 shall during the open season for waterfowl be kept on an enclosure on the premises of the permit-holder or otherwise prevented from approaching within one-quarter mile of any area where waterfowl hunting is taking place.

(2) The possession of live migratory game birds held under a permit issued pursuant to section 4 or section 5, otherwise than on a permanent enclosure, within one-quarter mile of any area where waterfowl hunting is taking place is prima facie evidence that the permit-holder is using the birds as decoys.

9 (1) The Minister may require each applicant for a permit to take migratory birds or a permit to possess migratory birds for the purpose of propagation to furnish a bond in an amount to be fixed by the Minister.

(2) A permit shall not be issued under section 4 or section 5 to a person who has been convicted, within the two years immediately preceding his application for a permit, of an offence involving the killing, hunting or attempting to kill or hunt migratory birds by the use or aid of live birds as decoys.

(3) A permit issued under section 4 or section 5 is forfeited to the Crown by a conviction of the holder in respect of an offence involving the killing, hunting or attempting to kill or hunt migratory birds by the use or aid of live birds as decoys.

Damage to Crops and Birds

In this section and in sections 3 to 6, "crops" means field-cultivated agricultural crops, whether standing or cut, and does not include stubble fields or other fields from which the harvestable portion of the crop has been removed.

1. (1) Equipment other than firearms, designed to scare but not to kill or injure migratory birds, may be used to scare migratory birds that are causing or are likely to cause damage to crops or other interests.

(2) The chief game officer of a province may designate areas in that province in which any person residing in the province may, during such period as may be specified by the chief game officer, use firearms for the purpose of scaring migratory birds when such birds are causing or likely to cause damage to crops or other interests.

(3) When scaring birds pursuant to this section, no person shall use decoys, duck or goose calls or blinds or other concealment, or kill, wound or take such birds.

2. Where the chief game officer of a province is satisfied that scaring migratory birds is not likely to be a sufficient deterrent to prevent such birds from causing serious damage to crops or other interests, he may grant a permit authorizing all persons residing in that province or part of that province to kill in any area designated by him migratory birds that are causing or likely to cause serious damage to crops or other interests in that area.

(2) A permit issued under subsection (1) shall specify that it is valid from the date of issue to a date to be specified in the permit, but the chief game officer may cancel the permit at any time.

3 (1) A game officer may cause a permit to persons residing in an area not exceeding 1,280 acres as specified in the permit, to persons owning, leasing or managing property in such area, and to employees of such persons, to kill migratory birds that are causing or likely to cause serious damage to crops or other interests in that area.

(2) A permit issued under subsection (1) shall specify that it is valid from the date of issue to a date to be specified in the permit, but the chief game officer may cancel the permit at any time.

4 (1) A game officer may issue a permit to persons residing in an area not exceeding 1,280 acres as specified in the permit, to persons owning, leasing or managing property in such area, and to employees of such persons, to kill migratory birds that are causing or likely to cause serious damage to crops or other interests in that area.

(2) A permit issued under subsection (1) shall specify that it is valid from the date issued to a date to be specified in the permit, but the chief game officer or the chief game officer may cancel the permit at any time.

5 (1) Persons who are authorized to kill migratory birds pursuant to section 3 and 4 may carry on the operations authorized by such permit at any time unless otherwise specified in the permit.

(2) No person acting under the authority of a permit issued under section 2 or section 3 shall use decoys, duck or goose calls or blinds or other concealment.

(3) Where a permit is issued under section 2 and 3 to kill migratory birds that are causing or likely to cause damage to cereal crops, no person shall shoot such migratory birds elsewhere than on fields containing such crops, or shall discharge firearms within fifty yards of any water area.

(4) No migratory birds killed under the provisions of section 2 or section 3 shall be shipped, sold or offered for sale.

(5) Notwithstanding any of the prohibitions contained in these regulations, any person while acting under the authority of a permit issued pursuant to section 2 or section 3 is not subject to the bag limits.

Miscellaneous

No person shall engage in the business of a taxidermist unless he has a valid and subsisting permit issued by the Minister, or by a person authorized by him, entitling him to engage in such business.

General Provisions

1 Every permit issued under the Act or these regulations requires upon the date of expiry set out in the permit or, where a permit does not contain a date of expiry, on the 31st of December of the year in which it was issued.

2. A permit issued under the Act or these regulations is not transferable.

3. The Minister may revoke or refuse to issue a permit for any reason that to him seems sufficient.

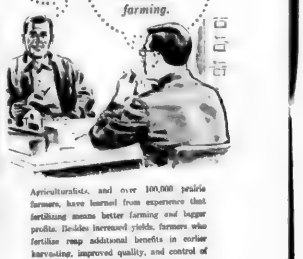
Will fertilizing pay on my farm?

Yes! in my work as an agriculturalist I've found fertilizer to be an important part of good farming.



Agriculturalists, and over 100,000 prairie farmers, have learned from experience that fertilizing means better farming and bigger profits. Besides increased yields, farmers who fertilize reap additional benefits in earlier harvesting, improved quality, and control of weeds. Ask your Elephant Brand agent about the right fertilizer for your farm.

Minister: Rev. Hatch

Next Sunday November 13th is Remembrance Sunday for the United Church in Elk Point.

A Remembrance service will be held at the United Church at 7 p.m. and Mr. W. A. Adam will be the preacher.

Members of those who died during the past year of the last two World Wars to end all wars between the nations, will be read poignant names of men who gave their lives.

To those too young to realize what all this means we would gently explain that we, who are left alive after such terrible slaughter and bloodshed enjoy a freedom and happiness which would have been lost to Canada and other free nations had countless hundreds of young men not been made.

Let each one of us, then, be more than grateful for this and be conscious of our real need for peace on earth in the truest sense. Come to this hallowed service in the House of God, therefore with a sense of real Thanksgiving.

All are welcome

NO MORE COACHING SAYS LIONS' STUKUS

Elected From his position as head coach of British Columbia Lions, Adam Stukus says he is "definitely not looking for any other employment now." The 41-year-old Hamilton star was fired as coach of the club on a "fairly unanimous" vote of club directors. The last Canadian football coach in the Western Finals came to Vancouver in 1955 on a two-year contract at $12,000 per season. During the Lions' first season their club won only one game, however they had a record of five wins against 11 losses.

Thatcher Wheat Still Popular With Farmers

At the 1958 season draws to a close, there are indications that, outside of the main rust areas in Manitoba and Saskatchewan and in a few areas where the wheat does severly is a problem, Thatcher wheat will continue to be grown by the majority of farmers whom it has served so well for so long.

The reasons, of course, is that during the past 18 years this variety has been tried, tested and improved under all kinds of soil and moisture conditions and, apart from its inability to resist race 15B, it has shown up remarkably from the standpoint of adaptability, yield, drought-resistance and shattering. It has in fact, demonstrated that it can take the punishment that no other wheat variety has yet been able to take and that is why it continues to be held in such high regard in Western Canada. Unless or until, therefore, a variety makes its appearance which is superior to Thatcher in all the above respects as well as possessing resistance to 15B, or unless, because of losses, a grower cannot afford to take a chance on possible loss from rust, it is likely that production generally will stay with "the old reliable."

Thus, the unusual appearance of 1956 when the rust scourge exploded for into the west, could be repeated, but that is a chance which a good many producers seem prepared to take.

Curling Club Plans Early Start On Season; Purchase Three New Sets Of Matched Rocks

DON GUTHRIE RETIRES AS PRESIDENT; EXECUTIVE TO CHOOSE REPLACEMENT

Hopeful that the cold snap will be a boon to curling, members of the St. Paul Club met Saturday afternoon to elect its new executive and to make plans for the new season.

Choice of President to replace retiring chairman, Don Guthrie, was referred to the executive who will select among the members, one to fill the post and that of the Vice-President. No Secretary has as yet been appointed.

On the Board of Directors are Messrs Ken Webber, Gilbert Hellinger, Armand Lamoine, Wilf Arsenault, Ted Genereux, Bert Caruso and J. A. Beauregard

The meeting decided to keep the fees the same as last year — $12.00 for men and lady supervisors and an extra $1.00 for the use of a member or associate of the family. A deadline was set for the collection of fees, probably January 1st and after that date only bona fide members will be allowed on the ice.

A membership committee will be selected by the executive to contact new members. Curlers will start immediately All those who are anxious to join more or those inadvertently omitted are urged to get in touch with any member of the above executive

After a controversial discussion on club personnel and structure, it was agreed to name 30 volunteer skips who in turn will pick and choose rinks for the entry in local competition. However, this operation will be closely supervised by the membership committee to see that equitable distribution and accumulation of new members is fair If you want to join the curling club this year, please get your name in . . . it may well be found for you . . . and don't be bashful during this recruiting drive Last year 27 rinks took part Anticipated It is hoped entry will be boosted to 30 during the curling year season

The club has purchased 3 complete new sets of rocks to supplement the other two sets and expects the entire five rinks will matched rocks, Ice should cause for complaint on house.

Curling fans will return to a rink which in the past summer season, has been almost completely renovated. New floors have been laid, new counters, new paint job, clock room for players and new modern comfort conveniences.

Consideration has been given to high school students by granting permission for curling on Saturday afternoons under proper supervision .

Turkey Shoot Sunday, 29th.

This will be good news to hunters when the traditional pre-season turkey shoot is held at the Turkey Shoot. A central location is being planned and scheduled for Sunday, November 29th., 2 p.m. at the Bell-Air Drive-In Theatre.

This is the time of the year when a turkey certainly comes in handy. Rules are simple — just shells are supplied by the Fish and Game Association, sponsoring the event.

All the shooting and fun you want with beautiful luscious turkeys as the target! Come on, all you hunters and nimrods

Legion Celebrate 25th Anniversary

The St Paul Branch of the Canadian Legion, this month celebrates its 25th., anniversary and will mark this important milestone of yesteryear progress with a banquet and social evening on November 22nd.

Legionnaires will further repose in a special ceremony which calls for burning of the mortgage on the Memorial Hall (Legion Hall).

The St. Paul Branch was established in 1935 by a handful of first war veterans and has grown to a membership of over 105. Along the years it purchased its present hall and club rooms, improved them to convenient quarters for veterans to relax and hold functions

SKATING RINK OPENS TUESDAY

What we believe is a record was established Tuesday night, when the kids' and many adults took to the ice in the Arena for the first rounds of the year.

The cold weather gave opportunity for early flooding by Clarence Richard and Mister Oliphant who had a fair' good, level top sheet of ice

Comparing to last year when the first league game for December 1st had to be postponed on account of soft ice, skating has been advanced by nearly a month and a half. It is doubtful if a mild spell would do much damage, at this time of the year, now that the ice base is firmly set.

Honor Heroes Of World Wars

Legionnaires And Militia Parade To Theatre For Memorial Service

Comrades-in-arms to war heroes of the last to great wars as well as of Korean Battlefields, St. Paul Legionnaires took the latter road and sometimes in their stride on November 11th parading on roads from the Legion Hall to the Lac Ste Anne Hotel and back to the Elks Theatre for an impressive memorial service held in commemoration of the great sacrifice which has kept this nation among the free in the world

Following the Legionnaires in the parade were the St. Paul Militia and Cadet Corps.

Standard Bearer Steve Maslan and the Parish with Cadet Duties Berthaume and Clearwater of the RCMP detachment Captain Thompson commanded the Cadet unit.

The service held included the customary Laying of Wreaths at the cenotaph, by Legionnaires and relatives of the dead were permitted the privilege of doing so at the Theatre

Legion President and Captain of the Militia, Maurice Mailloux called upon the assembly to remember fallen comrades and friends — who had given up their lives that we might go on living in peace.

Continued Mr Mailloux, "The real purpose of their sacrifice — Peace—should be remembered at this time when the countries of the world are agitating for another war. Did our boys die for that? Conflict is the going to be the extreme of their sacrifice? Those young men in the prime of their youth died so that we could . . . without the fear of war it . . . and only not to forsake them, so that the grave . . . not sacrifice . . . feel for . . . [illegible]

Rev. Fr. G. H. Primeau Parish Priest of Mallaig speaker of the memorable occasion said that we are much to . . . many that simple words seem empty and cannot express adequately our grateful . . . [illegible] . . . those who . . . [illegible] . . . the supreme sacrifice that they may live at Liberty.

Bringing home forcefully the difficult times of today, Rev Primeau reminded the congregation of the "cheerful optimism which exists in the world and advised that we will only have complete peace on this earth when man learns to live with himself and tolerates his fellow men in a christian manner.

We are not ready for peace To obtain it, we of the living, must also make huge sacrifices We must pray and work for it with a heart that is full of high ideals and remembrance towards those who have already died and left the way open for us to achieve it.

Rev. Wm. Morgan, Pastor of the United Church, spoke in reverence of the fallen war heroes, along with the fine spirit and the manner who left in hospitals to pay interest or the price of long freedom.

There we remember with the poppy . . . who are here in Flanders Fields, spoke of their rights and freedom with the force of arms, which they [illegible] Rev Morgan spoke of the future of Canada and the part which the youth of today will play in the future of our country.

A record choir of Legion in the Legion Auxiliary and others, sang with note assistance of a orchestra under the inspiring hymns Legion song, "O Canada" and the Laurenti Richard, Paul Letourneau and Joe Boutin accompanied and conducted by Mr Tomlow to record bugfills appropriate for the occasion.

SPECIAL BOOK OFFER — LIMITED
SEVERAL FREE COPIES TO GIVE AWAY

He longed to see how the same dire predictions, common some years ago, about the danger of our Western soils wearing out through the rapid depletion of soil fertility and the cropping practices followed, and the great emphasis is now upon the increased productivity of which, given the proper care and attention, our soils are capable

In other words, what has been accomplished in other lands, much of which have been produced, during wheat for hundreds of years without any loss and, in some cases, even a gain in yield can through careful husbandry and proper use of fertilizers, be accomplished here

At the Rothamsted Station in England, for instance it has been possible to maintain wheat yields for 111 years, other continuous production to some mineral fertilizers and the average yield of wheat in Britain in the past decade has been the most remarkable high level of 32.3 bushels per acre In one of the most newly developed countries, New Zealand, with a somewhat longer history in wheat growing than our own the average yield of wheat has been steadily from about 23 bushels per acre in the 80's of the last century to approximately 36 bushels in recent years, These two examples, then, serve to show that not only is no data similar to produce can be maintained if the principles of good husbandry are followed in

Perhaps the greatest threat to our soils is not the loss of fertility, but erosion which, through the action of wind or water, gradually removes the top layer of soil, on vital to production.

You & The Law

By P. R. BRODA
Barrister & Solicitor
St. Paul, Alberta

This is the first of a series of articles dealing with legal topics which we feel would be of general interest to the public At the outset we wish to emphasize that these articles will neither only broad general principles and no attempt will be made to cover any particular point in detail. The reader should remember that almost all rules are subject to exceptions and that no one statement of a legal principle is a complete statement to a particular problem. Our topic this week will deal with Wills, a subject that every person sooner or later thinks about.

The Law of Wills is governed by the Wills Act of Alberta. Three types of Wills are recognized as being valid in this Province. The first is the Formal Will which is the usual printed or typewritten document. This type of Will must be signed by the Testator in the presence of two witnesses who also sign in the Testator and of each other. The second type of Will is known as a Holographic Will, that is a document wholly in the handwriting of the Testator. A Holograph Will does not require any witnesses and is valid as long as it is signed by the Testator only Both a Formal and a Holograph will may be made only by a person over the age of twenty-one years. The third type of valid will in Alberta is a Nuncupative Will of the armed forces when in actual service This may be a printed form or merely verbal but does not require any witnesses It is valid even if made by a serviceman under the age of 21 years.

A person may dispose of all or part of his property in a Will, but such a disposition does not affected until such time as the Testator does and the Will is probated Both real and personal property may pass under a Will, but the Testator must ascertain whether or not particular property can be "disposable" is by him. For example, if A and B are owners of a Quarter section of land as joint tenants, and not as tenants in common, it would be useless for A to insert in his Will that his interest in the land shall go to C for under our law his interest as a joint tenant would automatically pass on to B, the survivor of the joint tenancy.

Witnesses to a Will must be mentally competent and should be over the age of 21 years. A beneficiary or a beneficiary's spouse should not be a witness although such a Will does not become invalid in such circumstances. The Executor of a Will at request to the witness shall be null and void. A number of Old Testaments and the Executor named in the will are competent witnesses.

There are several methods of revoking a Will. Generally a person is perhaps the making of a new Will As soon as a person completes a valid Will all previous testamentary dispositions immediately become ineffective whether the later Will says so or not. Physical destruction such as tearing or burning a Will has the effect of revoking the Will Under Section 14 of the Wills Act, marriage by the Testator after the date of the Will shall revoke the Will except in certain circumstances. The Testator may also revoke a Will by a subsequent declaration made in the presence of two witnesses who also sign in the Testator and of each other. The

Expresses Thanks To Farmers In District 4

The Editor,
St. Paul Journal,
St. Paul, Alberta

Dear Sir:

I would like to take this opportunity of expressing through your columns my appreciation to the people of the Fairview Dining, District 4 of Alberta, for their hospitality and kindness shown to me when I was in your district recently.

I must admit that I was greatly surprised as to the West we are all famed for hospitality that is. However, I do feel that the friendship extended to me every day and acknowledged at every place I visited was much greater than I had ever experienced in my short district.

Yours very truly,
Ken Hall,

Grandma Wouldn't Recognize Today's Poultry-Raising Methods

Central Press Canadian

Early innovations as feed conveyor belts and automatically ventilated "environment" have revolutionized the age-old business of poultry raising on the farms of Cyrus and Manning Elie of Portage la Prairie, Man. Plump products of the greatly modified poultry system, those Light Sussex chicks gather at feeding time around one of the 20 troughs contained on the ranch, one of the largest enterprises of its kind in Canada. Greatly increased feed conversion efficiency has made pre-shell, fresh eggs in Newfoundland important plank of the Elie's Sussex.

Federal Government Sets Forth Plan To Relieve Grain Situation

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 15.—Surplus grain production, and the problem of what to do with it, made headlines in the news from the capital city last week.

While Trade Minister C. D. Howe announced a plan to advance loans to farmers on their part combined on farm-stored grain, the provincial government took a critical attitude and the Alberta Social Credit League came up with a suggestion for disposing of surplus stocks.

Hon. L. C. Halmrast, minister of agriculture for Alberta, commented at length on the federal plan for help to meet the emergency faced by farmers who have a grain they are unable to sell. He said it would help some farmers to some extent, but he wasn't very enthusiastic.

Mr Halmrast felt that the federal government might have offered to absorb a portion of the interest on loans to farmers. In addition he pointed out that many farmers are reluctant to borrow — feel they already have borrowed all the money they can, and are thinking of grain as sacrifice prices in order to pay their bills.

In brief, the provincial minister of agriculture felt the federal plan would not provide too much relief to farmers.

There were also indications that the problem of surplus grain will be one of the main topics for discussion at the annual convention of the Alberta Social Credit League in Calgary, Nov. 29 to Dec 1st.

The Edmonton Constituency SC group was one of several to pass resolutions dealing with the wheat surplus to be submitted to the provincial convention. The Edmonton resolution suggests that surplus grain be donated to the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization for distribution to needy countries on a barter basis, if possible.

Mr Halmrast followed somewhat the same line in his comments on Mr Howe's announcement He said the federal government should not overlook the possibility of bartering grain with non-dollar countries.

The problem of surplus grain may be a serious one but according to Mr Halmrast it isn't so serious in Alberta as in some other provinces. Alberta farmers, he said, have learned not to rely heavily on grain for their income. Alberta farmers with the large domestic position of receiving a higher proportion of their total income from livestock products. The minister said he stated that during 1954, Alberta farmers earned about $174,000,000 from grain and about $211,000,000 from livestock.

Mr. Halmrast is one who likes to propound the idea of diversification of farming activity. He believes it is the secret of prosperity, and cites as an example his own success at raising grain and sheep in southern Alberta. It probably gives him a good deal of satisfaction to be able to say Alberta farmers don't rely solely on grain for their income.

The public accounts for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1955, were referred last week by C. E. Huckvale, provincial auditor. Among other things, they show that expenditures exceeded revenue for the first time in seven fiscal years, and the province had to dip into its reserves for $13,-604,795 to make up the difference.

The total cost of running government affairs in 1954-55 was $211,204,899. This was made up of expenditure on income account of $109,723,931, and on capital account of $10,2,080,758. The cost of government in the preceding year was $182,986,823.

Alberta's public debt picture improved again during the year. At March 31, the total debt was $81,308,796, a decrease of $2,784,-941 from the figure at the end of the previous year. To offset this, the province had cash and investments totaling $153,202,264, and can continue to claim debt-free status.

The Royal commission investigating charges of maladministration against the government now has been adjourned until Nov 28. The chairman, Mr. Justice Hugh John Macdonald, still is recovering from a back ailment, but could resume hearings Nov. 21. However the commission counsel, Mr. James Mahaffy, has other commitments for the week of Nov 21. When public hearings resume in Edmonton Nov. 28, the commission will continue its probe of treasury branch loans granted to members of the legislature.

Ashmont News

On Tuesday evening, November 8th., Emery and Mrs. Gideon of the district gathered in the hall for a farewell to Mr and Mrs W E Gulleon who will soon be leaving to take up residence in Edmonton. After a fine chow-out Wild Lake in the Beehive, Mrs Whetmore had a sing song. When Mr Woodcock presented a bouquet to Mrs. Gulleon and a beautiful electric clock to Mr Gulleon he expressed our regret at their leaving. He also thanked Mr Gulleon for his faithful service to the District as a member of the School Division and Hospital Boards, stressing also his help in the district in all who sought his aid. In reply Mr Gulleon said he had found the folks in Ashmont district the friendliest and most generous he had ever met. A presentation of Mr. Gulleon Mrs. Jack Green and Mr. H LeClerc voiced the sentiment of all when they sang their "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You," after which everyone joined in singing "So Long It's Been Good To Know You." A delightful lunch was served by the ladies.

On November 11th. at 2:30 p.m. some sixty persons gathered in the hall for the Annual Armistice Day memorial Service which Mr Bestnet conducted in impressive ceremony. Numerous wreaths were laid at the foot of a white cross by Legion members and honor was paid to the many men who gave their all that we might live in the freedom we know it. The United Church choir, with Mrs. Whitman organist, and leader rendered "Come to The Father in Prayer" in their usual pleasing manner At the close of the service lunch was served in the clubroom by the wives of Legion members

PILOTED BOMBERS INTO WIN FINALS

Coach Al Sherman of Winnipeg Blue Bombers is all smiles as his quarterback Buddy Leake, a boy player in Winnipeg's 15-15 semi-final victory over Saskatchewan Roughriders. The 25-year-old Leake ignored the experts," who said he can't pass, and completed 11 out of 12 attempts in second game of the semi-final. Although Saskatchewan won the contest, 3-2, Bombers gained the finals as a result of their 16-7 win in the first game. They now take on the 1954 Grey Cup champions, Edmonton Eskimos, in a best-of-three series opening Nov 19.

Traffic Safety Lane By J. W. McKay

THE ACCIDENT REPORT

I have just received a report from the Alberta Safety Council for the third quarter of this year

As I look at the report there is one outstanding fact that glares right at you. In September of 1954 there were fourteen (14) deaths on our highways in September of 1955 there is a tremendous increase to thirty-eight (38) deaths all in one month. What the game wrong? This is an increase of 200.7 per cent isn't the staggering.

Last year, for the first three-quarters the total fatalities were one hundred and thirty-five and for the same period this year has reached to one hundred and sixty-two deaths. Last year the total figure for the year was two hundred and thirty-two deaths

According to statistics then, there are at least seventy people more per month or eight or nine more deaths per month than last year.

I make no excuses whatever I have to do my work, short and high-way. I shudder to even to matter how careful and cautious I may be there was be someone who doesn't care a rest as to what happens.

Besides the fatalities there are three thousand and eighty-four people injured during the year to date, and five hundred and seventeen children orphaned. These sad and sad figures are beyond comprehension. Let's stop and think for a moment and see if there is anything we can do to help.

Accidents — whether — fatalities are on the increase

I urge you to do everything you possibly can to keep the demon killer from going rampant and making this the worst year in history.
